100 LIVES LOST ON LINER SUSSEX

Break to Come If Vessel Was Not Warned.

AFFIDAVITS SAY TORPEDOED

Marseilles, Mar. 27.—The British liner Minneapolis was sunk in the Mediterranean last Wednesday by a submarine, according to Captain Bibby of the British steamer Leicestershire, which has arrived here from Rangoon.

Dover, Mar. 27.—Official figures regarding the losses aboard the Sussex, sunk in the English channel, place the missing at 97. This does not include three Belgians who died in a hospital Sunday.

G. H. Crocker and W. C. Penfield, Americans, are still in the hospital here. The former is unconscious, but the latter regained consciousness. Penfield is suffering from a fractured leg in addition to injuries to the head.

Expects Action by Wilson.

Paris, Mar. 27.—Paris expects quick action by President Wilson on the torpedoing of the steamship Sussex. The Temps says:

"President Wilson is not likely to accept a repetition of the dilatory methods adopted by Germany after the Lusitania crime. We do not pro[illegible] be able to judge whether he is likely to declare war."

Break With Germany.

Washington, Mar. 27.—If the liner Sussex was torpedoed without warning and American lives were lost, as reported, the United States will break off negotiations with Germany.

This, according to high officials of the state department, is the tentative decision of the administration after receipt of reports from Ambassadors Page at London and Sharp at Paris, quoting the testimony of Americans who were saved from the Sussex that the ship was torpedoed.

Before acting in the matter, it is said, President Wilson and Secretary Lansing will hold a conference with congressional leaders, and if the facts show that the Sussex attack was a repetition by Germany of the Lusitania and Arabic disasters a break with Germany will follow.

Officials say the Sussex attack and the alleged torpedoing of the steamer Englishman, with four Americans reported lost, raise the gravest issues since the Lusitania and Arabic cases.

Washington Gets Report.

The reports received by the state department from the envoys at Paris and Berlin included affidavits of three Americans giving details of the explosion and the injury of three Americans. Ambassador Sharp transmitted a statement by Samuel Flagg Bemis, a Harvard graduate, who said he saw the wake of the torpedo.

LIMIT PUT ON NEWS STORIES

Field Headquarters, United States Army in Mexico, Mar. 27.—(by aeroplane to Columbus, N. M.).—Owing to the limited wire and wireless facilities, the total number of words which may be sent from here by correspondents is 250 or 300 daily.

This number of words has been divided equally among the correspondents in the field so that with the present wire limitations the number of words which any newspaper may receive by wire during a day is about 25.

BRITISH PLANES SINK TWO SHIPS

Raid Is Made on Schleswig-Holstein Coast.

Three of Invaders Captured

Two British Destroyers Which Conveyed Expedition Collide and One Is Sunk—Berlin Declares the Raid Did No Damage—German Vessels Lost Were Patrol Boats.

London, Mar. 27.—The second English air and naval raid on Germany since the war began took place on the west coast of Schleswig-Holstein, with the following results:

Two German armed patrol ships were sunk by British torpedo-boat destroyers.

Three British seaplanes were brought down and their occupants were captured by the Germans.

The British destroyers Medusa and Laverock collided and the British admiralty fears the Medusa was sunk.

Bombs were dropped by the British aeroplanes on the coast of Schleswig-Holstein, but Berlin says they did no damage. The English admiralty reports the operation achieved its object.

The British aeroplanes, five in number, were transported by two ships, which were accompanied by a cruiser squadron and a destroyer flotilla, the expedition being under command of Commodore Tyrwhitt.

Three Aeroplanes Brought Down.

Neither the official statement issued in Berlin nor the English official announcement indicate whether the warships bombarded the coast, but both agree that three of the British hydroplanes, including one battle plane, were brought down on or near the Island of Sylt, the largest of the North Frisian group. The occupants, four English officers and one noncommissioned officer, were taken prisoners, says the Berlin statement.

The British admiralty statement says:

"British seaplanes yesterday morning attacked the German airship sheds in Schleswig-Holstein, east of the Island of Sylt.

"Our seaplanes were conveyed to a rendezvous close to the German coast by an escorting force of light cruisers and destroyer under Commodore Tyrwhitt.

Destroyer Sunk, Is British Fear.

"Three of the seaplanes are missing. The British destroyer Medusa was in collision with the destroyer Laverock. It is feared that in the stormy weather which prevailed last night the Medusa was lost. No misgivings are felt for the safety of her crew.

"Two German armed patrol vessels were sunk by our destroyers.

"No detailed report has yet been received, but from the Danish press it would appear that the operation, which was carried out within the enemy's waters, achieved its object."

CHARLES J. MULLIGAN DIES

Chicago, Mar. 27.—Charles J. Mulligan, one of the noted sculptors of America, died at St. Luke's hospital. He had been ill a month.

Among the prize winning figures designed in recent years by Mr. Mulligan are "The Three Sisters," at the entrance of the supreme court building at Springfield; "The Rail Splitter," "The Fourth of July" figure, and the statue of "Col. Finnerty," all of which were purchased by the west park board. The most noted work of Mr. Mulligan was the group figure called the "Spirit of the Mines." During the last ten years he was prominently identified with the movement for a "Chicago Beautiful."

WILSON PUTS SOFT PEDAL ON JINGOISM

Warns Americans About Accepting Incendiary Tales.

Washington, Mar. 27.—President Wilson has issued warning that "sinister and unscrupulous influences" are spreading alarmist reports about the Mexican situation with the object of forcing intervention by the United States "in the interest of certain American owners of Mexican properties."

In a formal statement the President told the people of the United States to be on their guard and not to credit such stories. He urges those who disseminate news to test the source and authenticity of every report from the border, and called attention again to the government's announcement that the sole object of the punitive expedition now in Mexico was to punish Villa and his followers.

The news services supplying newspapers had been aked, the president said, to assist in keeping this view constantly before the Mexican and American people, to the end that the expedition should not be given the color of war.

The purpose of the American commanders was described as embracing cooperation "in every possible way" with the forces of General Carranza and withdrawal from Mexicn territory as soon as the object of the expedition is accomplished.

The Standard of Value and Quality

Now is the Time to Buy Your "Six-46"

Let us again urge you to place your order for a Fairfield "Six-46" as soon as you possibly can.

Don't wait too long—don't be too sure that you can buy to just as good advantage thirty or sixty days from now.

For—remember—there were three purchasers for each "Six-46" that we could turn out last year. And, up to the present time, there is every indication that this "sold out" condition will be repeated.

Then, also remember that the cost of manufacturing materials and labor is still soaring.

Already, several manufacturers have found it necessary to increase the list price of their cars, and more announcements of this kind are undoubtedly coming.

By early buying, we have done everything that we possibly could to protect ourselves and you. But in the face of a constantly rising market, we may be forced to increase prices proportionately.

From the present outlook there is no other alternative for we flatly refuse to compromise on the quality of our cars. We shall continue to use only the best materials—no matter how far the commodity prices may advance.

Of one thing you can be certain—the Paige "Six-46" will never cost less than $1295 this year. We absolutely guarantee this, but we can't undertake to guarantee against an advance.

Above all, please understand that this advertisement is written in a sincerely helpful spirit. It is by no means our purpose to "stampede" motor car buyers into early or ill-advised purchases.

We are merely telling you the facts—facts that can be readily substantiated by your banker or any man who is well informed in regard to industrial conditions.

We want you to drive a Paige, of course, but we have never found it necessary to resort to "expedients" in order to sell a single car of our production.

The "Six-46" now costs $1295. At that price, we honestly believe that it represents more actual dollar-for-dollar value than any other motor car on the market.

Wait too long—and you run the risk of paying more.

Place your order now, and you can rest assured that you will never regret the decision.

Telephone Number 36.

Monday morning I stood looking out of our office window and noticed a group of school children walking from the library toward the high school, and another group going the other way toward the library building. These pupils are taking a commercial course and were going to their class room at the library building.

The thought occurred to me at once here is a waste in time as these pupils have to walk five blocks to their class and then back again. Who is paying for this waste?

A good argument why we should have a building large enough to provide room for the commercial course and other subjects which ought to be included in our school curriculum.

Think it over. EDITOR

THE COMMITTEE OF TWENTY-FIVE.

Its Organization. What It Stands For.

During October of last year several tax-payers met to devise ways and means, whereby Tecumseh could secure a new school house. The few at this meeting decided first that a proper representation of most of the tax-payers was important to plan a building agreeable in both size and price to a majority of the voters of Tecumseh school district No. 7 before a bond issue could be carried at an election; others were called in and in a very few days a meeting of the entire committee, about twenty five in number, was called. It was decided at that meeting to circulate among the voters of this district and ascertain if possible what kind of a school house, and what priced school house would be most agreeable to the voters.

Since that first meeting held last October, by what is termed the committee of twenty-five, there have been frequent meetings and diligent work has been done, getting data on the cheapest form of good construction, besides the actual neccessary needs in the shape, size, etc. of a school building.

This committee until now has not felt that they were prepared to say just what should be done. Now however they are at a point where they can all say to the voters of this district exactly what they would recommend. In a very few days a petition will be presented to the school board asking that a school election shall be called embodying the reccommendations herein outlined.

The committee finds that a suitable building can be bulit and equipped, large enough to at once accomadate all of the school children of school district number seven, so that the east and north branches can at once be closed and eventually close the west branch, with a bond issue of $75,000.

This seventy-five thousand dollars will not put up a fancy structure, but will build A GOOD MODERN FIRE-PROOF BUILDING, that no one in this community need feel ashamed of. It was also taken into consideration that if a fifty thousand dollar building were build, it would only accomodate our present high school students, and as the east and north branches are in a deplorable condition, it would be only a question of a short time when thirty to thirty-five thousand dollars would have to be put into a grade school building which would make the ultimate cost greater than as now planned, also centralizing our school system into one building, would not only be a money saver, in coal, janitor salary etc, but would make a much more efficient school system, possible fewer teachers and less loss of time forour superintendent going from one school to another etc.

The findings of this committee have been explained to the school board, who have agreed that if a bond issue of seventy five thousand dollars is voted, they will build the kind of a building wanted, equip same and keep the entire cost down to the bond issue of seventy-five thousand dollars. They have also agreed to work together with this committee of twenty-five in the construction of the building.

An official announcement from the school board, confirming this statement will appear in this paper in an early issue.

Remember voters this recommendation is not spontaneous and the amount decided on, taken at random but has been decided on, after nearly five months research and hard work by the committee of twenty-five.

Very few people in Tecumseh but what know we not only need but must have a new school house. The differences of opinion come mostly from either size, cost, or general appointments of the building. The committee of twenty-five earnestly invite any arguments for or against this recommendation, and will answer to the best of their knowledge any questions asked. Send your questions to the Tecumseh Herald.

COMMITTEE OF TWENTY-FIVE

COMMUNICATIONS

EDITOR TECUMSEH HERALD,
Dear sir:

In studying Commission Government and the City Management system, one cannot help but be astounded by the overwhelming sentiment in favor of the new method, among the cities and towns which have adopted it.

In 1915 there were over 350 cities in the U. S. with Commission Government, and on February 1 1916, 88 towns with City Managers. Not ONE SINGLE municipality that has adopted the new methods has returned to its former charter.

The salaries paid the managers vary according to the size of the city, from Clark S. D., which pays $960 per annum to Dayton with $12,500, Jackson, Mich. pays $5,000, Manistee $2,000, Cadillac $3.000, Big Rapids $1,500, which is about what Tecumseh would have to pay for an efficient man.

In many places the City Manager has been engaged with the express stipulation that he must save his salary or multiples of his salary, out of the first year. The new purchasing department saved Dayton $20,000 in the first year, and $33,000 last year.

The city of Trenton, N. J., found a few weeks after the manager took charge, that the firm that supplies valves, hydrands, etc, for the water department had charged the city 30 to 50 per cent above the regular prices

I have corresponded with several town, in which they have Commission Government or City Managers, and the answers are uniformly in favor of the new system.

Big Rapids, population 4'519 says: "City Manager is improvement on previous system." Cadillac says, they "get more nearly a dollar's worth for every dollar spent." $3 700 was saved in first six months with better service. Adrian says "Tax rate is lower."

Harbor Beach, which has only 1,556 inhabitants, was the first city in Michigan to adopt Commission Government and the answer from there is positively enthusiastic. "The rate is very much lower under the Commission form of Government." "We expect to pave one half mile this year." "We pride ourselves on our High School, it is one of the finest that will be found in a city of the fourth class, would not think of going back to the old Form of Government."

In Niagara Falls, which has recently engaged a manager, the city purchasing will result in saving $10,000 per annum. Unnecessary offices have been abolished, or consolideted with others saving $3,500. The manager took office promising to save the city $25,000, five times his salary the first year, or quit. The manager of Sherman, Texas, has issued a report on his first eight months of work. "Useless positions paying salaries amounting to $4,500 abolished. A saving of from 10 to 25 per cent on cost of hardware, printing and other supplies." "Comparative cost under new and old system.

Cement	$2.00	$1 68
Gravel	2.25	1 90
Roofing	3.00	2 50
Water Meters	10.00	7.00

All night lights on the public square reduced from $32 00 per month to $8 00. Out of an annual budget of $10,000 Sherman expects a surplus of $8,000, instead of a deficit."

In St. Augustine, Florida, the City Manager cut the interest on the floating debt in half. Manistee, Mich., saved $3,500 the first year, and on a new sewer a potential saving of $50,000 to $60,000 was affected.

The University of Michigan recognizing that city management is a coming profession, has arranged for a complete course in city management, with the degree of Master of Science in Municipal Administration. The City Managers holding office at present are nearly all civil engineers.

With your permission, I expect to deal with local conditions in a future letter.

Yours very truly,
JENNY C. LAW HARDY

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, The great Ruler of the Universe has, in his infinite wisdom, removed from our midst our worthy and esteemed co-worker, Mrs. W. L. Jones, and

Whereas, The intimate relation held during a long business life by her with the members of Ladies Cemetery Asso of Ridgeway, makes it fitting that we record our appreciation of her; therefore

Resolved, That the wisdom and ability which she has exercised in aid of our Association work, by counsel, service, and funds, will be held in grateful remembrance

Resolved, That the sudden removal of such a woman from our Association leaves a vacancy and shadow that will be deeply realized by all members of the Ladies Cemetery Association of Ridgeway, and will prove a grievous loss to our village and the public

BOUNDARIES OF SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 7

School District No. 7 comprises the Village of Tecumseh and extends beyond the corporation line in every direction: North on Clinton road, the north boundary of the district is the north line of the J. K. Waldron farm. Returning to the Waldron corner and going east on the Saline road, the east line of district is the second road running north, being the east line of Thos. Murphy's farm. Back to Crosby corner and east on Macon road, the east line on the north side of the road is the east line of William Fisher farm. On the south side of road the district extends one-half mile further and includes the H. B. Roberts farm.

Crossing the road that line extends north along the east line of Joseph Tilden's farm to northeast corner of said Tilden farm. Thence west along the north line of said farm to road known as Bowen or Rentchler road Thence north including the Merritt Conklin farm. North on Newburg road to south line of farm known as Matteson farm now owned by Ernest G, Harris.

We have now practically "surrounded Jericho" and the reader will notice that Old Number 7 is a peculiarly shaped district having many winds and turns and jogs.

What do I think about a new school house? Well, now really, Mr. Editor, let me tell you something in strict confidence. Quite a long time ago a certain wise man I think it was either Billy Shakespeare or Dr. Hartzog—said that "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread." Perhaps that is what I shall be doing if I attempt to discuss the school house proposition at all.

But this fact stands out very clear. Whenever, in any community, a proposition comes up that involves the expenditure of any considerable sum of the taxpayer's money, there is sure to be some radical differences of opinion, and generally these differences can be the more quickly reconciled by a frank and free discussion of the matter by all classes, the large taxpayer and the smaller one.

In a way we are anticipating the whole matter. There is no question before the house The school board is not making any move. But the fact remains that we sadly need a new high school building.

When I came up from Ridgeway 45 years ago and entered Tecumseh high school, I thought it was a magnificent school house. And it was a good building for those times.

But in those days Ridgeway had a tri-weekly mail, brought in by stage coach. The stage coach is a thing of the past, gone never to return. Why? Simply because YOU CAN'T RUN A RAILROAD WITH A STAGE COACH EQUIPMENT.

Just how large the new school house shall be and what it shall cost I do not know. I know something about growing cabbages and tomatoes and celery and chickens and Jersey calves, but I could write a book on what I DON'T know about building school houses.

I agree with Henry Stevens that when the proposition is finally put before the people, the amount asked for shall cover entire cost of building and equipment No after part, no second appropriation. If the bonds can be put on the market at a low rate of interest, I would have the time of payment extend over a period of twenty years or more.

Is it right for us to thus mortgage the future and compel our children and our grandchildren to pay a debt that we incur? Emphatically, yes, because they will reap the benefit

Before I vote I shall want to know something about the proposed site. I think I shall not want to vote for any kind of a school house without knowing where that house is going to stand.

I want the school house to be only a fore runner of other things that Tecumseh needs. I want to see more factories erected, more wheels turning 'round, more workmen employed. I want Tecumseh to stand four square to the world, a well balanced town. I want Tecumseh to be known not only as the "Biggest Little Town on Earth," but also as "The Town of the Full Dinner Pail" and "The Town where there are Lots of Full Dinner Pails."

Never forget for a minute, Mr. Editor, that IT IS THE TIN PAIL BRIGADE THAT BUILDS UP A TOWN, NEVER THE KID GLOVE BRIGADE.

I would see in Tecumseh a high school building sufficiently commodious to accommodate all who would gather within its walls and equipped with all things necessary to the turning out of useful, practical citizens. I would see the grades filled with healthy, happy children coming from clean, well ordered homes where the mothers are real mothers having more interest in a clean, healthy baby than in a measly poodle dog. I would see the fathers of these children employed as a living wage in the various industries of Tecumseh.

To the end that these things may be brought about, I would see more of a genuine "community spirit" here. And now let us all rise and repeat together the following resolution: "Resolved that we, citizens of Tecumseh, taxpayers and non-taxpayers, do hereby agree to cease to knock and to criticize and do further agree, to give a helping hand to, and approval of, the other fellow's effort for the betterment of Tecumseh.

O. H. SNEDECOR.

SOME OF THE EVERY-DAY SCHOOL QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED

Why not repair the present school building?

If this were possible there would be three buildings to repair From the general plan of these structures it would be impossible to make a building to meet present day school requirements. Besides it is doubtful if the walls of the Union School are safe. It would be as possible to remodel a carriage of '56 into an automobile of 1916. When a farmer wants a sulky plow he buys one; he doesn't put new wheels on his old Oliver.

In our old buildings the lighting is wrong, the heating is dangerous and ventilation is lacking. The furnaces are burned out and cannot be used another year either in the Union or East Branch buildings.

The partition walls are not properly placed for a school building. If these were to be removed the old building would probably meet the fate of "The Deacon's Masterpiece." If it did not and new walls were put in the cost would be more than that of a new building.

Is the building unsafe?

Some say it has stood for sixty years therefore it cannot be very dangerous. You have never been struck by lightning, therefore lightning is not dangerous. The Collingwood fire, where so many children sacrificed their lives, happened just once. The loss of life was due to the rapid spread of fire through the flues of the heating system. We have that same system.

The little folks of Collingwood were martyrs to a good cause. Ohio learned her lesson and today has the only safe set of building laws in the United States Are you ready to sacrifice your child that Michigan may be awakened or are you a believer in "Safety First"?

Is it the teacher or building that makes a school?

Both, plus some boys and girls as pupils.

A good carpenter with a jack-knife may from a straight grained piece of pine make a whiffle-tree, but no matter how good a workman he is, he needs an ax, plane and hair-shave to fashion one from scrub hickory Likewise a good teacher with pupils thirsting for knowledge may have a good school in a barn: a poor teacher with such pupils will do nearly as well. But less than 20 per cent of our young people are thirsting for the knowledge offered by our present school conditions.

A good school building with a greater choice of work will attract many of the 80 per cent now falling by the way—the tough grained ones who never like a thing just because they should.

This 80 per cent in our problem—shall we solve it or not? Shall we endeavor to start these young people on life's journey with a high school training or shall we continue to let them go it alone; fail or succeed as fortune may dictate?

After all, friend, with heavy loads to pull, which whiffle-tree would you select? Pine or scrub hickory?

JOHN E. MURPHY'S NEW PERCHERON STALLION

This horse has a showing record equalled by no other Percheron of his age in Michigan. Was shown at the leading state fairs of Michigan and Ohio in 1913 as a yearling, winning first at Marshall, Grand Rapids, Detroit and Adrian and second at Toledo. In 1914 as a 2-year-old he won 4th at the Forest City Fair, Cleveland, and the Ohio State Fair, Columbus, and first at the Michigan State Fair, Detroit. He was never shown without strong competition.

His color is black with a few gray hairs mixed through his coat and he weighs about 1800 lbs. He is recorded in the Percheron Society of America and his number is 97405. He has been examined by Dr. Judson Black, secretary of the Michigan State Veterinary Board and received a pure-bred license governed by the laws of the State of Michigan

Harry 97405 will make the season of 1916 at my barn on Tecumseh—Clinton road, 2½ miles north of Tecumseh.

His pedigree and license will be printed on hand bills later or for further particulars enquire of owner.

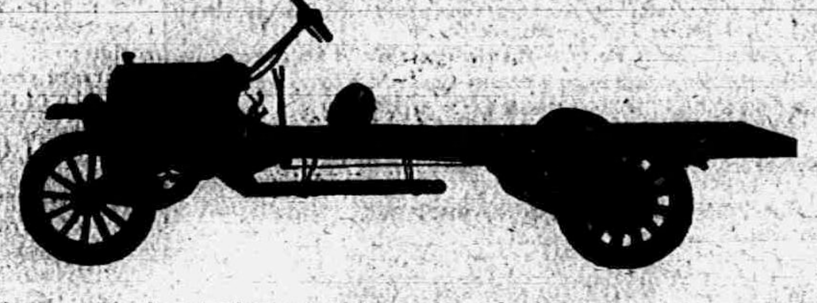
THE SMITH FORM-A-TRUCK ATTACHMENT

Why pay from $1000.00 to $1500.00 for a one ton truck when $350.00 and a Ford Car will give you its equal.

Just think over the possibility of a delivery truck with the dependiability, simplicity and low maintenance cost of a Ford, and the strength and carrying capacity of a high standard one ton truck.



The Form-a-Truck attachment makes a complete one-ton delivery truck when installed on a Ford chassis. The retail price is $350.00 f. o. b. Chicago. It forms practically the rear half of a motor truck. The frame is 14 feet in length and when attached to a Ford chassis, gives a body space of 8 feet 10 inches back of the gasoline tank. The method of attaching makes the Ford frame a sub-frame, and gives the combined frame far more strength and solidity than the original chassis of the car.

The Ford engine and transmission are the equal, if not superior, to any on the market today, but the frame and rear axle assembly are not intended for "dead weight" loads. The Form-a-Truck takes advantage of all the Ford good qualities and adds to them a truck attachment that will carry "dead weight" loads of one ton and over.

From the accompanying illustration you will notice the Form-a-Truck frame of 4-inch channel steel telescopes and reinforces the Ford frame. The two frames are bolted directly together at the front, and at the side, and at the rear the Ford frame is riveted to a steel cross member on the Form-a-truck frame, insuring great strength and rigidness The new frame is supported in the rear by carefully designed springs resting on a solid 2 x 1½ inch axle, equipped with roller bearings and heavy truck wheels with Firestone solid rubber tires. There is a heavy relief or bumper cross spring over the axle to take care of overloading.

The Form-a-Truck is so designed that practically 90 per cent. of the load is carried by the rear axle, and only about 10 per cent. of the load is carried on the Ford front axle and wheels, which is far less than when used as a touring car. The rear axle assembly of the Ford is converted into a jack shaft and rigidly attached to frame by especially designed hangers. The Ford wheels are replaced with heavy sprockets which transmit the power to the rear wheels by double side chains. Emergency brakes, ample to handle loads on heavy grades, are provided on rear wheels. This combination produces a solidly built one-ton truck with the simplicity, dependability, and low cost of a Ford delivery car.

Every piece of material entering into the construction of the Form-a-Truck is of the highest grade, and the parts are assembled and rigidly constructed by high-class mechanics The same careful attention to detail, mechanism and workmanship is exercised as in the construction of high-priced motor trucks.

The Form-a-Truck has now been in use two years, and is giving absolute satisfaction. There are over two hundred in actual use, demonstrating conclusively their praticability and usefulness.

Better Service to You

We don't want you to think of the Lilley State Bank just as a place to deposit your money, although of course we are glad to have you keep as large a balance with us as is possible.

It is our desire to render our patrons every service and accommodation that can reasonably be expected of us.

The Burroughs Bookkeeping Machine, which we have just added to our equipment, makes it possible for us to give you better service in the handling of your account than ever before.

By the machine method, your account is kept in balance all the time. If, as sometimes happens, you want a statement of your balance in a hurry, we can give it to you, including today's checks and deposits, in less than five minutes.

A neatly printed statement, made out on the Burroughs, goes to each depositor every month. This statement shows all checks and deposits and gives the balance of your account to date, taking the place of the tedious and unsatisfactory plan of calling in and balancing pass books.

The machine affords absolute protection against errors in figure handling. It can't make a mistake. You can always be sure that your machine-figured balance is correct.

The increased speed, accuracy and protection of this mechanical bookkeeping system, added to our thorough knowledge of good consistent banking and business methods, makes it possible for us to offer you an improved service that is equal to that furnished by the country's most progressive banks.

GRAUSTARK

Next Saturday evening, April 1st, the management of the Bradley will present the souveriegn of screen stars, Mr. Francis X. Bushman and the charming Beverly Bayne, in a magnificent six part production of George Barr McCutcheon's masterpiece "Graustark".

"Graustark" it can be truthfully said, [illegible] popular book ever written in America. The story, in play form, has been presented in Tecumseh three times, always to capacity houses Now the people have an opportunity of seeing this magnificent production on a much more pretentious scale than could even be thought of for a regular stage production where the scenes must needs be limited on account of the stage and scenery required, as the scenes for securing the different settings are unlimited to the camera man.

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN

Francis X Bushman, the sovereign of screen stars in "Graustark" at the Bradley, Saturday evening, April 1st.

In addition to this great feature a scene reel showing different scenes from some of the "DeLuxe" features that will be presented at the Bradley each Tuesday and Thursday, commencing Tuesday April 4th, will be shown. This reel is made up of scenes taken from the different subjects and give you an excellent idea of the good things in store for you in our coming program.

You see "Graustark" the story of a love behind a throne, this great scene reel all for the regular 10c admission, the 'kiddies' are always 5c. Continuous show commencing at 7:00 p. m.

SATURDAY IN TECUMSEH

The warm spring weather brought hosts of people in town Saturday. The streets were well lined with teams and all the stores were doing a fine bussness. The big attraction to the farmers was the annual sale of the Co Operative Ass'n. Much interest was shown and the buying was brisk. The sale lasted all the afternoon and those in attendance did not seem to mind the the mud and water, but stood ankle deep, and seemed to enjoy the situation. Saturday was a typical business day in Tecumseh and seemed like old times.

Special music will be provided, a girls' chorus, a boys' orchestra, and Miss Belle Collins of Blissfield with piano solo. Casper Rowe, formerly of Tecumseh, will be one of the speakers Gordon Bachman will speak on the "State Camps."

MRS. OLIVER DRAKE

Mrs. Oliver Drake, a former resident of Tecumseh, passed away at her home in Adrian Thursday, after a lingering illness, aged 77 years. The funeral was held Saturday, and the remains were brought to Tecumseh for burial in the family lot at Brookside. Mr. Drake died twelve years ago, and for a few years she lived on the home farm with her children, Misses Carrie and Leo and Charles, and then moved to Adrian, where she has since resided.

A USEFUL PAIN

Tecumseh People Should Heed Its Warning.

Have you a sharp pain or a dull ache across the small of your back? Do you realize that it's often a timely sign of kidney weakness? Prompt treatment is a safeguard against more serious kidney troubles. Use Doan's Kidney Pills Profit by a Tecumseh resident's experience

J. B. Smith, E Chicago St., Tecumseh, says: "I was caused a deal of suffering by pains in the small of my back. When the attacks were present, it was all I could do to work. When stooping, I became very dizzy and spots of fire seem to flash before my eyes. I rested poorly and in the morning when I got up, was unrefreshed. I doctored and used remedies of various kinds, but got no benefit until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They made me feel like a different person, ridding me of the trouble." (Statement given December 11, 1906.) MORE THAN FOUR YEARS LATER, Mr. Smith added: "I gladly confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. This medicine never fails to act just as represented."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mr. Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co, Props. Buffalo. N. Y. adv

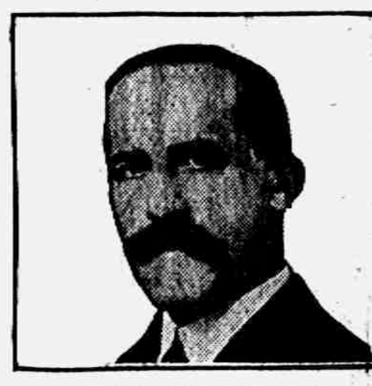
SOUTHERN DRUG MERCHANT MAKES UNUSUAL STATEMENT

Great Business Losses Due to Neglect



W. WITHERS MILLER

"I estimate that the business men of this country could increase their efficiency fully ten per cent by taking an occasional laxative and not neglecting the bowels as most of them do."

He also said that if the Department of Commerce in Washington would present each business man in the country with a box of Rexall Orderlies, it would be of great benefit to the national welfare. Rexall Orderlies are prompt in action, pleasant to take and never gripe, can be used by men, women or children, and are just the thing for toning up sluggish livers.

We have the exclusive selling rights for this great laxative.

No River of Doubt Goes on Guarcharo —Already In Museum.

Chicago, Mar. 27.—It may be of interest to Col. Theodore Roosevelt to hear that the guarcharo, or oil bird, which he discovered in his South American trip, has, in an embalmed state, been a resident of Chicago for more than a year. The bird the colonel claims to have discovered is not new to science, according to Professor Charles B. Cory, curator of zoology of the Field museum.

On the other hand, the bird was discovered by Von Humboldt and is so civilized and distinguished as to bear the name "steatorals carpipensis."

PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY ELECTION

NOTICE is Hereby Given that a PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY ELECTION will be held on MONDAY, APRIL 3, A. D 1916.

At the place of holding the ANNUAL TOWNSHIP MEETING in the Township of Tecumseh, County of Lenawee, State of Michigan, due legal notice of which place of holding said Annual Township Meeting has been given.

At which election the qualified voters of the several political parties shall have the opportunity of expressing their preference as to nominees of their respective parties for the office of President of the United States, in accordance with Act 9, Public Acts of the First Extra Session of 1912, as amended by Act No 219, Public Acts of 1916. Some of the provisions of said Act are briefly as follows:

The name of any candidate for the office of president will be printed on the official primary ballot, upon petition of their political supporters in Michigan, which petition must be signed by not less than 100 of the qualified voters of such political party, said petition to be filed on or before the first day of March, 1916; the names to be alternated on the ballot in accordance with the provisions of the State Primary Election Laws, the ballot to be in the following form:

INSTRUCTION TO VOTERS

To vote for a person whose name appears on the ballot, mark an (x) in the square in front of the name of the person for whom you wish to vote. To vote for a person whose name is not on the ballot, write his name on the blank space provided for. Vote only for one person.

John Jones
William Smith
Thomas Ryan

SEPARATE BALLOTS for EACH POLITICAL PARTY are to be provided. The candidate receiving the highest number of votes in the State at said election, shall be declared to be the candidate and the choice of such political party for this state.

NATIONAL COMMITTEEMEN PRIMARY

Notice is further hereby given, that at the time and place of holding the April Presidential Primary Election, as herein above designated, a separate and distinct PRIMARY ELECTION will be held for the nomination of a member of the National Committee of the various political parties of this State, in accordance with Act No 392, Public Acts of 1913. The provisions of this law are briefly as follows:

The name of any candidate for the office of national committeeman shall be printed on the official primary ballot solely upon the petition of their political supporters in Michigan, which petition shall be signed by not less than one hundred of the qualified voters of such political party, and said petition shall be filed with the secretary of state on or before twelve o'clock noon, March first, nineteen hundred sixteen, the names to be alternated on the ballot in accordance with the provisions of the State Primary Law.

On the first Monday in April, 1916, there shall be held a Primary Nominating Election in every voting precinct of this State, at which the qualified voters including those who shall be qualified on the first day of April, A. D. 1916, of the several political parties shall have the opportunity on separate ballots provided for that purpose to express their preference for the members of the National Committee of their respective parties.

To vote for one (1) person whose name appears on the ballot mark an (x) in the square in front of one of the names of the persons for whom you wish to vote. To vote for a person whose name is not on the ballot, write his name in the blank space provided for. Vote for only one (1) person.

John Jones
William Smith
Thomas Ryan

The candidate receiving the highest number of votes in the State at said election shall be declared to be the candidate and the choice of such political party for the office of National Committeeman

CONCERNING REGISTRATION

The Board of Primary Election Inspectors, will register the name of any person who shall on Primary day appear and make oath or affirmation to the effect that he is a qualified elector in such township or precinct, or when they personally know him to be such. Any person registered on primary day, as above prescribed, shall be entitled to vote at the succeeding election without other registration.

Any qualified elector may be registered and be eligible to vote at any primary election if he shall appear in person before the Township Clerk and take oath required as to the qualifications for registration and request that his name be registered. Blanks for this form of registration can be obtained at the Township Clerk's office.

No enrollment is required under the present Primary Law, but each elector must be duly registered and a qualified voter.

Also any qualified elector whose name is not on the Registration book in the precinct can have his name registered on the regular registration day for the annual spring election, and vote at both above primaries

THE POLLS of each of said Primary Elections herein above designated will be open at 7 o'clock a. m, and will remain open until 5 o'clock p. m. of said day of election, unless the Board of Primary Election Inspectors shall in their discretion adjourn the polls at 12 o'clock noon, for one hour

Dated March 11, 1916.

MICHIGAN PAIR ARE TAKEN AS ROBBERS

$30,000 of $150,000 Loot Is Alleged Recovered.

Grand Rapids, Mar. 27.—In a raid on a little house in the outskirts of Grand Rapids early in the morning three United States postal inspectors took into custody a man and a woman calling themselves Mr. and Mrs. John Evans and recovered, it is said, $5,000 in cash and $25,000 in securities which they say is a part of the $150,000 obtained by four robbers when they held up a train near Stanton, Va., six months ago.

One man, and possibly two, who have been living with the Evanses, eluded the federal officers, and in their flight they carried with them a traveling bag in which, the federal inspectors now believe, was the rest of the money and securities taken in the robbery.

In a belt around Mrs. Evans' waist the officers found $2,000 in currency. Earlier in the day they had intercepted an express package sent from the Evans home which contained nearly $3,000 in bills.

GREELEY SURVIVOR IS DEAD

Henry Biederbick Passes Away—Studied Chemistry in Germany.

New York, Mar. 27.—Henry Biederbick, said to be the last survivor of the Greeley Arctic expedition of 1881-1884, died on Saturday at his home in Jersey City. He was fifty-eight years old.

He was born in Germany and studied chemistry and pharmacy. He came to this country in 1879 and two years later joined the Greeley expedition. He served at Lady Franklin Bay as hospital steward for the expedition and assistant to the naturalist. On his return he married Miss Augusta Lemann of Brooklyn and became an apothecary.

For Croup—Mothers—Always Keep This Handy

The day of the Croup scare is over for those parents who wisely keep Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in the home ready for instant use.

Mrs. Chas. Reitz, Allen's Mills, Pa., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for the past eleven years and would not be without it. It has saved me many a doctor's bill for colds and croup."

If toward nightfall the little ones grow hoarse and croupy, if their breathing becomes wheezy and stuffy, give them Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Many a careful mother has been able to ward off an attack of spasmodic croup by its timely use.

If you are awakened by the hoarse brassy cough that means croup, give Foley's Honey and Tar Compound at once. It will ease the little sufferers quickly, cut the thick choking phlegm, and soon they will have easy breathing and peaceful quiet sleep.

At night and tosses restlessly, you feel worried. Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children break up colds in 24 hours, relieve Feverishness, Constipation, Teething Disorders and destroy worms. Used by Mothers for 28 years. All druggists, 25c. Sample FREE. Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N Y.

Be Sure You Get This Old Reliable Cough Medicine
Imitations always follow the trail of success. Hundreds of imitations have come and gone since FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND began, 40 years ago, to loosen the grip of coughs and colds.
Be sure you get the genuine
Foley's Honey and Tar Compound
And avoid the names that sound like it.
Here are three easy ways to tell the genuine. 1st—The name of "Foley's." 2nd—The yellow package. 3rd—The Beehive on the yellow package. You cannot get a substitute to do for you what FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND will do—for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial and lagrippe coughs, throat and lung trouble. Buy it of your druggist and be safe.

Colds Quickly Relieved

Many people cough and cough—from the beginning of Fall right through to Spring. Others get cold after cold. Take Dr. King's New Discovery and you will get almost immediate relief. It checks your cold, stops the racking, rasping, tissue-tearing cough, heals the inflammation, soothes the raw tubes. Easy to take. Antiseptic and healing. Get a 50c bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery today "It is certainly a great medicine and I keep a bottle of it continually on hand," writes W. C. Jesseman, Franconia, N. H. Money back if not satisfied. adv

Has Eight Children

Mrs P. Rehkamp, 2404 Herman St., Covington, Ky., writes, "I have been using Foley's Honey and Tar for nearly two years and can find no better cough syrup. I have eight children and give it to all of them. They were subject to croup from babies on." It is a safe and reliable medicine. Sold everywhere in Tecumseh. adv

An Ideal Spring Laxative

A good and time tried remedy is Dr King's New Life Pills. The first dose will move the sluggish bowels, stimulate the liver and clear the system of waste and blood impurities. You owe it to yourself to clear the system of body poisons accumulated during the winter. Dr. King's New Life Pills will do it. 25c. at your druggist. adv

A SIGNED INTERVIEW FROM HON. LAWTON T. HEMANS

Who came within 9,000 votes of being elected Governor of Michigan in 1908.

To the Democrats of Michigan:

For twenty years, at least, it has been my privilege to have intimate acquaintance with the men who in the larger sense have contributed the energy and the means to further the interest of the Democratic party in Michigan, and of both energy and means no man in the state in that time has made as large a contribution as Edwin O. Wood, of Flint.

Political parties are made potent through their organizations, and organizations are perfected and kept intact through the liberality and sacrifice of their members. If the Democratic party in Michigan has been to any degree impotent, it has been because it has had too few men of the loyalty, energy and liberality of Mr. Wood, and too many men like the few who now constitute themselves his critics, who, during the same years, have contributed nothing to make the party as potent as it has been.

Political disintigration either thru promoting factional differences or supporting candidates of the opposition has never been furthered by Edwin O. Wood; he has always supported loyally the candidates of his party.

Twice I was honored by the party as its candidate for the governorship, and I have never been aware that there was factional division within the party in the support which I received. In both campaigns, the first contributions to advance the work of the State Central Committee came in the form of remittances from Mr. Wood which aggregated from five hundred to a thousand dollars for each campaign and constituted from a fifth to a tenth of all the funds received by the Committee while the names of most of the gentlemen who now are asking that the direction of party affairs to be given over to them, were not on the list at all.

If loyalty to party principles and candidates, the sacrifice of thime, energy and money, and the promotion of party solidarity as against factional division, entitle a man to consideration in the party organization, Edwin O. Wood has pre-eminently earned a re-election as a member of the Democratic National Committee.

adv. LAWTOW T, HEMANS.

No River of Doubt Goes on Guarcharo —Already in Museum.

CHICAGO, ILL.—It may be of interest to Col. Theodore Roosevelt to hear that the guarcharo, or oil bird, which he discovered in his South American trip, has, in an embalmed state, been a resident of Chicago for more than a year. The bird the colonel claims to have discovered is not new to science, according to Professor Charles B. Cory, curator of zoology of the Field museum.

On the other hand, the bird was discovered by Von Humboldt and is so civilized and distinguished as to bear the name "steatornis caripensis."

BANQUET

TECUMSEH CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION GAVE ANNUAL BANQUET AT THEIR HALL

Tuesday, March 28

JOHN C. KETCHAM, MASTER OF STATE GRANGE, PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

The annual banquet given by the Tecumseh Co-Operative Association to its stockholders and their wives, was held Tuesday noon in the Association hall. The banquet was a pronounced success and an event long to be remembered by those in attendance.

The hall was decorated with American flags and bunting. The speakers table was arranged across the head of the room and three long tables were stretched the length of the rooms. On the speakers table was a boquet of red carnations the gift of Mrs. Mary Ives and at each plate was a carnation the gift of Dr. Waldron, president of the Association.

The doors of the hall were thrown open at 12:30, and the guests marched to their places. President, C A. Waldron, Manager. C. D. Beebe, the speaker of the day John C. Ketcham and the officers of the Association together with their wives, sat at the speakers table. The march was led by the Best orchestra. During the serving of the banquet the orchestra played several pieces which were much enjoyed. About 130 were seated at the tables Invocation by Dr. Hartzog after which the following menu was prepared and served by the ladies of the Grange

Roast fresh ham Scalloped potatoes
Macaroni and Cheese
Cranberries Pickles Jelly
Parker House rolls Brown bread
Ice cream and Cake
Coffee

The ladies of Grange evidently wished to care for the body as well as the mind, for every one was nicely and bountifully served.

Dr. Waldron, president of the Association, in his introductory remarks, apologized for not having a toastmaster but said that when he had advised with his fellow officers they stated that none was necessary but he certainly acted the part if not graced by the named

C D. Beebe, manager of the Association, was introduced as the first speaker and addressed his hearers as 'Fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers, a great Co-Operative family" which started one year ago "The Co Operative movement is growing" he stated. Farmers are organizing all over the country and Co-Operative Associations are to-day actively engaged in successful business in eight states in the union. Ohio has 72 organization. Michigan has a State Organizations which was having a meeting in Hillsdale to which he had been invited but declined because he wished to be present at this banquet. The State Organization hoped to accomplish many thing among them to create a central buying agency for the use of all associations affiliated with Adrian had taken Tecumseh as an example and the business men of that City are starting a movement similar to ours They had not waited for the farmers to take the initiative but had gone to the farmer with the proposition. Mr. Beebe spoke of the successful year just passed and pleaded for a Co-Operative spirit among members of the Association.

The speaker of the day, John C. Ketcham, was next presented by Dr Waldron. Mr. Ketcham took for his subject "Co-Operation" and demonstrated that the subject was not a new theme to him. Mr. Ketcham was a forceful and fluent speaker holding the closest attention of his hearers After a few personal remarks he entered into the theme of his discourse. A short time ago the speaker said he attended a National Grange meeting held at Newcastle, California and before going he enduced the fruit growers of Western Michigan to ship some Michigan apples out to the Convention This was done and although he saw all kinds of luscious California fruit, no fruit looked better to him nor attracted more attention than did our own Grimes Golden from Western Michigan.

Our church ladies are prone to gossip at their missionary meetings and when everything has been discussed they fill in the balance of their time discussing their children. We like to talk of old things, things that are vital to ourselves.

She divided his address into three parts—first, Today we are about ready for Co-Operation, the movement is spreading. Our early settlers had few neighbors and were busy in clearing their land, lived more by themselves and their family life was of greater importance to them. They were successful.

Later the speculative age came upon our farmers when they would buy and sell for gain, but today an organized effort is being made for Co-Operation.

Second, The importance of the great movement of Co-Operation—today we are thinking in terms of the whole nation and national wefare Years ago a protective tariff was introduced to protect our infant industries. Our industries have grown until in 1912 they have amassed more wealth than the wealth of the whole German Empire. In 1904 our industrial wealth was estimated at $16,000,000,000, in 1916 it has reached a total of $220,000,000,000 The farmer furnishes the fundamentals upon which all industry is based, the foundation on which all business depends He pleaded for a stronger foundation. A few years ago, nine out of ten stayed on the farm but today two out of every three leave the farm

Third, The farmer needs to Co-Operate, the farmer today is way behind as compared with the progress which is being made in our industrial world of today. Today the farmers are beginning to install accounting systems, whereby actual records are kept and net profits are shown. A comparative statement was mentioned showing the average labor income of families in three different counties of Michigan, eighty-six families in North county with an average labor income of $70.00 per year, one hundred and seventy families in Saginaw county with an average labor income of $423 00, while Branch county gives $325 00 per year. An employee at the Ford factory would have an average labor income of twice the above amount.

Co Operation will improve the economic condition. The census of 1910 placed the tenant farmers in the United States at 41 per cent; mortgage farmers at 31 per cent while the balance represented the owners or 28 per cent. According to Senator Borrah, an authority on farm statistics, the mortgages on farms of the country amount to $3 046,000,000, chattle mortgages $3 000,000,000, and the average rate paid for money was 8½ per cent It took the entire wheat crop in 1911 to pay the interest on the farm indebtedness. Better rural credit should be secured, whereby the farmer could secure a better rate of interest for the money borrowed. Co-Operation should be the cry of the farmer and they are beginning to feel the need of it Talk, act, and think "Co-Operation." A few years ago sugar cane was only used for the sugar that could be produced out of it, but now the portion left after the juice has been removed, bids fair of being worth more than the sugar

The by-products of Co-Operation should be first, to put agriculture back on the map, second to create a feeling of good fellowship, friendly spirit among farmers, and lastly to keep the young people on the farms, and to increase their interest in agriculture,

During the program, music was furnished by W. E Wilson and Justin R. Camp, who sang several Co-Operative songs. They were heartily applauded and responded to encores. The program ended by all singing our national song "America."

SOME OF THE EVERY-DAY SCHOOL QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED

Why do we need so large a building?

We have three buildings which for sanitary reasons are unfit for school purposes From the standpoint of heating, lighting and ventilating, they violate all modern rules for the conservation of health. The West Branch, while better than the others, is far behind the times If we have a modern building centrally located, no thoughtful parent will be satisfied to send his children to the old building.

We must, therefore, provide for all of the children in one school house or build two new ones.

Such a building must provide more room than our combined buildings now have, that we may have laboratory facilities which are now lacking. Such a building with its equipment cannot be secured for less than $75,000.

Why will one centralized building be better than the present arrangement of branches?

The modern tendency in towns of the size of Tecumseh is to build but one building and provide ample play grounds for all grades so that the little children will not have to play with the older ones. This plan is proving satisfactory where it has been tried.

It saves time of the supervising teachers and makes a closer supervision possible. The same number of teachers can do more work. It saves time of the students in going to classes. It saves in equipment, or makes the present equipment accessible to all. It saves in fuel, janitor hire and repair bills. Last but not least, it furnishes a community center where we may become acquainted with our neighbors.

What does supervised play mean?

Supervised play is directed by a teacher to correct certain physical weakness, to train in fair play, to teach co-operation and respect for the rights of others. It should be in the open air when weather permits, but as it will undoubtedly be a required subject in the near future, there should be a room in every building where the work may be carried on in bad weather.

MONDAY CLUB

This week's session of the Monday Club was very interesting. The main item of the business session was the reading by Mrs. C. A. Wright of a petition formulated by the historical committee asking the cemetery board to grant perpetual care to the lot occupied by the graves of the family of Gen. Brown and Mrs. Abi Evans and little ones. They ask that the monuments on this lot be cleaned and also for the privilege of erecting some sort of a monument to Mrs. Evans from the women of the town, honoring her as the first woman to come to Tecumseh.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Hardy who had been invited to the chair of leader by Mrs. Eugene Harris whose turn it was to act in this capacity.

Mrs. E. C. Hellman sang "Where My Caravan has Rested," accompanied by Mrs. F. B. Wood, also a 'Lullaby as an encore.

Then Mrs. Hardy introduced Mrs T. R. Robinson, a former countrywoman, 'and if the two Australians we have had the pleasure of meeting are similar to the others over there, we will gladly welcome the whole continent. It did not take long for us to understand that Mrs. Robinson is heart and soul in the Suffrage Cause and she gave a ringing appeal for The Cause in Michigan and the United States.

First she eulogized Michigan's climate saying that she had travelled very extensively over this old world of ~~ours and~~ believed she could truthfully say that Michigan had every known climate under the sun

In her travels over the United States Mrs. Hardy was only the fourth Australian she had met.

One assertion was impressed on our minds: "That only in countries where Jesus is loved are women respected;" that women have been coming forward rapidly lately now they are getting equal advantages with the men educationally.

The woman voter makes a big difference with politicians. If women, even if they do not have franchise, would use their God-given influence, they might work great reforms.

New Zealand was the first country in the Antipodes to give woman franchise and her vote is revolutionizing thing over there. English women live in such conditions that they are driven to militancy. Many of the working women are driven to lives of shame by the low wages paid. Progressive legislation is coming to California by the woman's vote, the 8-hour day for women being one of the improvements.

Susan B. Anthony thirty-eight years ago, clear ahead of her age, presented the equal suffrage plank for the constitution, to meet with defeat, but not forever as all women still have hopes of country wide recognition.

Upon the close of the address over eighty women signed their names to the role of the Congressional Union.

Quite a number from out of town were present and these were invited to address the meeting each telling of the good work of their clubs. Mrs. Chas Clark, Clinton, presided of County Federation. Mrs. Frank Dodge Adrian corresponding secretary of State Federation, Mrs. Ada Mumford president of Adrian Literary Club, Mrs. Grant Davis, president Clinton Culture Club, Mrs. Lora Billington, president Tipton Rural Club and Mrs Shull of the Monday Club.

The annual 2-weeks spring vacation at the Michigan Agricultural College started Friday noon and will contiue until April 4.

James Kelley, aged 72, who came to the Saginaw valley in 1862 from New York, is dead. He was identified with the lumber industry for many years.

A hundred-pound carbide gas tank exploded in the foundry of S. Fair & Son at Saginaw, injuring five men three of whom are in the hospital. One may die.

A loss of $6,000, at Albion, was caused by the burning of a garage owned by J. J. Collmenter and W. D. Pettibone. Seven automobiles were destroyed.

The man or woman who finds the person who interfered with the Holland fire department's weekly libation by pulling a false alarm, will receive $25 from the city.

Judge Chester L. Collins of Bay City, of the Eighteenth judicial district of Michigan is dead. He had been vice president and president of the Michigan Bar Association.

The Owosso high school has been closed to remain so until after the spring vacation next week because of a quarantine being established by direction of the state board of health.

Inspired by a letter to a newspaper written by a widow who found getting acquainted in Grand Rapids a difficult task, a social organization of unmarried middle-aged residents has been formed.

Talks on fruit growing will be given in Montcalm, Osceola, Wexford, Grand Traverse and Emmet counties beginning April 9, it is announced by L. R. Taft, of the Michigan Agriculture College.

The law just passed giving members of city fire departments one day off in four and two ten-day furloughs each year, was held unconstitutional by Circuit Judge William Glover Gage at Saginaw.

Just as Miss Kate McGivern, of Coldwater and aged about seventy five years, left her nephew's residence and startel to walk down town, she fell dead. The probable cause of her death was apoplexy.

Word from Los Angeles was received by Muskegan friends of marriage of Mrs. Kate B. Young, sixty-eight years old, a widow of that city, and Lafayette G. Ripley, of Montague, aged seventy-three years.

Sheriff Green, of Genesee county, returned from Scranton, Pa., with Richard P. Canning, accused of forging and passing a check for $2,300 on a Toronto bank, at Flint. The check was cashed by a man named Hibbler, who had just sold his house.

Governor Ferris ordered the return to Ionia prison of Dr. Nicholas Greusel's, who was paroled for the fourth time about four weeks ago. Dr. Greusel's term will not expire until 1922 and it is not believed that he will be paroled again.

On an alleged confession by a man giving his name as Sam Strauss, in which he says he was paid $210 for firing the Benjamin Foster livery barns at Brown City, Prosecuting Attorney Farr and Deputy Fire Marshal Sam Robinson are seeking a man in Detroit, who is said to have paid to have the property burned.

Gov. Ferris has paroled Mrs. Bertha has issued a parole to Mrs. Bertha Haker, sentenced from Clinton county in 1910, to serve from seven and one-half to fifteen years at the Detroit house of correction for second degree murder. Mrs. Haker pleaded guilty to shooting her husband, John Haker. She will reside with her children in Clinton county.

The D. S. S. & A. railroad is fitting out, near St. Ignace, a "seed special" train which will visit the stations on its line and on the Soo line. The train will be called the "Cloverland Seed Special" and the object will be to teach the farmers how to select the best varieties of seeds, how to prevent and treat smut and potato scab, and how to prune, spray and graft trees.

The Union Meetings are continuing in splendid interest and fine attendance. The music under the leadership of Rev. Hawkins is becoming more inspiring every night. It looks as if there would be a revival of congregational singing in all the churches. Last night was Bible night and the Baptists won first place in the Bible contest. The students of the high school have been invited to attend the service tonight. The address will be particularly for them. Make an effort to be present.

The union services have been interesting and helpful. The churches have all realized large benefits in the way of general inspiration. Doubtless the congregations will see more direct results when they come to work in their own way and in their own churches. Sunday evening Dr. W. B. Hartzog will speak at the Methodist church. Monday evening Rev. O. J Lyons of Clinton will make the address and on Tuesday evening Rev. W. A Rex will speak. These three meetings will be at the Methodist church.

"GRAUSTARK"

Regarding the great masterpiece "Graustark" which will be presented at the Bradley Opera House, Saturday (tomorrow) evening, April 1st, featuring the greatest of all screen stars Francis X. Bushman and the charming Beverly Bayne, the local management says:

From the moment that Lorry meets the Princess Yetive (played by the charming Beverly Bayne) until the wedding scene at the finish, the play is full of action, thrills and romance. Francis X. Bushman plays the role of Lorry, the young American.

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN

"Graustark" has been presented in Tecumseh three different times on the stage, always to packed houses. This is the first and last time here in pictures. No extra admission will be chaaged, regular 10c for adults and 5c for the children.

In addition to "Graustark" we have arranged with the World Film corporation to show their 'sales reel' on that night. This reel is made up of scenes from their different De Luke features which will be shown at the Bradley commencing Tuesday April fourth and each Tuesday and Thursday thereafter. This reel will give you an excellent idea of the good things in store for you on De Luxe programs. Don't fail to see it.

Refreshments were served by the young ladies and all declared it a most enjoyable session of the organizatson.

JOHN E. MURPHY'S NEW PERCHERON STALLION

This horse has a showing record equalled by no other Percheron of his age in Michigan. Was shown at the leading state fairs of Michigan and Ohio in 1913 as a yearling, winning first at Marshall, Grand Rapids, Detroit and Adrian and second at Toledo. In 1914 as a 2-year-old he won 4th at the Forest City Fair, Cleveland, and the Ohio State Fair, Columbus, and first at the Michigan State Fair, Detroit. He was never shown without strong competition.

His color is black with a few gray hairs mixed through his coat and he weighs about 1800 lbs. He is recorded in the Percheron Society of America and his number is 97405. He has been examined by Dr. Judson Black, secretary of the Michigan State Veterinary Board and received a pure-bred license governed by the laws of the State of Michigan.

Harry 97405 will make the season of 1916 at my barn on Tecumseh—Clinton road, 2½ miles north of Tecumseh.

His pedigree and license will be printed on hand bills later or for further particulars enquire of owner.

NEW FACTORY MAY LOCATE IN TECUMSEH.

Big Question Is Help, Will Need 100 Women and Girls.

Negotiations have been quietly going on for the past week or two between the Board of Commerce and a Skirt & Dress Company which wishes to locate its plant in our Town.

Representatives were in town Thursday going over the proposition in detail, looking up sites and express themselves as well pleased with conditions here. The big question is HELP. If 100 women and girls can be secured here, they promise to supply them with steady work.

This factory is doing a big business at the present time, in fact, are unabled to take care of the business offered them, because of a scarcity of help in their own town. They are well established, have been in business for 16 years and will locate a branch in Tecumseh if the necessary help can be secured here.

A building can be secured, centrally located, with plenty of light and in every way well fitted for the business. The work is clean, no dust or dirt and will consist of manufacturing ladies shirt waists, house dresses, bungalow aprons, bloomers and middles.

A committee has visited their plant looked up their responsibility and have gone over the matter in detail and expressed themselves as well pleased with their investigations. The name of the Company is with held until it is ascertained whether or not the necessary help can be secured here.

They promise to take on 100 women and girls at once, will pay beginners $4 50 per week and experienced operators from $6.00 to $12 00 per week. The work is easy to learn and an experienced instructor will be furnished.

Think what this will mean to Tecumseh. 100 people furnished with work. From $800 to $900 per week paid out in wages or about $45,000 per year going into the homes of our people.

Any girl or women interested is requested to make inquiries at once at Webster Anderson Co., Rosacrans & Sons or the Tecumseh Herald office.

Hand in your name and get in line for a good position where you can earn from $6.00 to $12.00 per week.

ALBERTA DEMING

Little Alberta, eldest daughter of Albert and Lulu Deming passed away Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock after a lingering illness, the immediate cause being pneumonia. She was twelve years of age and always a delicate child yet had kept up until about a year ago when she gave up school.

The funeral was held today at the home at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. A. Rex officiating with burial in Brookside.

O. & S. CLUB

The O. & S. Club was very pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr and Mrs. Dale Hodges Wednesday evening. Five hundred furnished the game of the evening with three tables of players. Mrs Duaine Service was given first prize and Fred Dickinson the consolation. At the close of the games refreshments were served.

A USEFUL PAIN

Tecumseh People Should Heed Its Warning.

Have you a sharp pain or a dull ache across the small of your back? Do you realize that it's often a timely sign of kidney weakness? Prompt treatment is a safeguard against more serious kidney troubles. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Profit by a Tecumseh resident's experience

J. B. Smith, E Chicago St., Tecumseh, says: "I was caused a deal of suffering by pains in the small of my back. When the attacks were present, it was all I could do to work. When stooping, I became very dizzy and spots of fire seem to flash before my eyes. I rested poorly and in the morning when I got up, was unrefreshed. I doctored and used remedies of various kinds, but got no benefit until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They made me feel like a different person, ridding me of the trouble." (Statement given December 11, 1906,) MORE THAN FOUR YEARS LATER, Mr. Smith added: "I gladly confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. This medicine never fails to act just as represented."

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Thursday, March 23.—That the Russian offensive along the entire eastern front is assuming tremendous proportions is admitted in German and Austrian official statements and corroborated by Petrograd announcement of gains at several points and the capture of more than 1,000 men and much booty.

French re-enforcements and new batteries rushed to the Verdun sector west of the Meuse temporarily checked the German advance of the last three days, but the continuation of a terrific German bombardment of the French positions is believed to forecast another smashing assault by the Crown Prince's forces.

Friday, March 24.—The midnight French communique reports that the Germans have begun a bombardment of the entire Verdun front on a line of thirty miles. Earlier in the day the Germans captured two more trenches in the Haucourt region west of Verdun. The French made a gain in the Argonne forest, which correlates with the Verdun positions.

In the Russian theater savage fighting is going on at Jacobstadt, eighty miles southeast of Riga, where the Russians, using liquid fire and gas bombs, took severe positions, Petrograd claims. At the same time the Slavs are attacking vigorously at Friedrichstadt, west of Jacobstadt, and at Illuxt, to the south.

The Dieppe steamer Sussex was struck by a torpedo in the English channed, and reports vary as to whether she was sunk. It is thought 380 passengers aboard were saved.

Several other smaller vessels were sunk by torpedoes, one being a Danish ship.

Saturday, March 25.—The sinking of the German raider Grief, disguised as a Norwegian merchantman, by an auxiliary British cruiser, the Alcantara, which was herself sunk, is told in an official statement issued by the admiralty.

Ambassador Page reported late in the day that 25 Americans abroad the Sussex only two, Edward H. Huxley and Francis E. Drake had been reported to him as saved. Ambassador Sharp at Paris transmitted a report from the American consul at Dieppe saying the Sussex was torpedoed and that from 60 to 80 persons were wounded or killed by the explosion.

Verdun village is reported fired by German shells.

Sunday, March 26.—Three British aeroplanes which took part in a raid on German airship sheds in Schleswig-Holstein are missing. Two German patrol vessels were sunk and a British destroyer is believed to have been lost.

After violent artillery exchanges in the Verdun region, there were hand-to-hand encounters near Fort Douaumont, resulting advantageously for the Germans, the Berlin war office statement says.

On the eastern front, the Russian attacks were renewed with strong forces, but were beaten off with heavy losses to the assailants, according to German reports.

WEAK, SORE LUNGS

Restored To Health By Vinol

Camden, N. J.—"I had a deep seated cough, was run-down, and my lungs were weak and sore. I had tried everything suggested without help. One evening I read about Vinol and decided to try it. Soon I noticed an improvement. I kept on taking it and today I am a well man. The soreness is all gone from my lungs, I do not have any cough and have gained fifteen pounds." — FRANK HILLMAN.

We guarantee Vinol for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis and for all weak, run-down conditions.

Stomach Trouble Solved

Most stomach troubles are not diseases. The stomach is simply weak. Tired out. The right kind of a tonic is what is needed. A few meals, well digested, will furnish [illegible] strength. That is what a tonic will do for you. It will start the stomach going right. Then the stomach will take care of itself.

PE-RU-NA
Good the Year 'Round

Always Ready-to-Take There is no use of writing a new prescription every time a remedy is needed for a weak stomach. No use whatever. The old, well-tried remedies, put up on purpose for such cases, are a great deal better than an offhand prescription. Peruna is the remedy that people have relied upon for a great many years. It is ready to take, composed of pure drugs, of uniform strength and composition. Not an experiment. Peruna is a substantial, household remedy, with forty years of splendid history behind it. In buying Peruna you take no risk. You know what you are getting.

TWO UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO GIRLS DIE

Run Down by Train, Bodies Hurled Into Lake.

CHICAGO, ILL. — Two graduate women students at the University of Chicago on a geological vacation in Wisconsin were struck and killed by a train near Baraboo, a dispatch received in Chicago stated. The victims were Miss Lola B. Whitmore of Utica, N. Y., and Miss Caroline Duror of New York. They were struck by a Chicago & Northwestern train and hurled fifteen feet into Devil's lake, the dispatch stated.

Miss Whitmore and Miss Duror concluded final quarterly examinations at the university Friday. They left for Wisconsin, expecting to spend the week of the spring vacation as much in the open as possible, doing field work in connection with their studies. They were stopping at the home of a friend just outside Baraboo.

The accident was said to have occurred on a sharp curve. On one side of the track is an abrupt cliff, on the other Devil's lake.

WILSON IS GIVEN FREE HAND

G. O. P. Flare Up Dies Out, All Are Back on Reservation.

WASHINGTON. — Failure of the senate Republicans to take any action at a conference on the Mexican situation leaves the administration unhampered in dealing with the problem.

The conference was called for the purpose of considering steps to force the dispatch of additional troops to the border for patrol duty. In the face of official advices denying alarming reports, however, and of Gen. Funston's apparent confidence that he has enough men for any present emergency, the Republicans adjourned with some of their leaders agreeing that there was nothing to do but support the administration's plans at this time.

MORGANTHAU WILL RETURN

Ambassador to Turkey Denies He Will Resign Post.

NEW YORK. — Henry Morganthau, ambassador to Turkey, contradicts a report that he has decided to resign his diplomatic post and head an organization that would work for the re-election of President Wilson.

"As matters now stand," he said. "I expect to return to Constantinople and am planning to sail from New York between May 2 and May 6."

AURORA PROWLER IS SEEN

Man Whose Acts Point to Him as Slayer of Two Attacks Women.

AURORA, ILL. — A prowler whose description and action, the police say, are strikingly remindful of the mysterious silent clubber who last winter slew two Aurora women—Jennie Miller, daughter of a former mayor, and Emma Peterson—late Saturday night trailed Helen Chitty, twenty years old, a maid, to her door in the fashionable west side district and then attacked her. Friday night the same man followed Miss Lillian Mullaney, twewnty-five, a waitress. Miss Mullaney, to escape her "shadow," ran into the St. Joseph hospital.

Miss Mullaney was followed in Lake street past the spot where Miss Peterson was slain.

RUSS DRIVEN FROM NEWLY WON POINT

Germans Recapture Positions Lost at Lake Narcocz.

BERLIN. — The first decisive defeat to the great Russian offensive which has been raging all along the eastern battle front for more than a week in chronicled in the official statement issued from German staff headquarters.

In a furious counter attack in the Lake Narocz region German troops recaptured the positions lost to the Slavs on March 20, adding 2,161 men and officers to the captives taken since the Czar's troops began their attacks in this region. Other defeats of the Russians at various points on the eastern front are announced.

JAMES B. ANGELL

Great Educator and Diplomatist Dead at Ann Arbor.

DR. ANGELL LAID TO REST AT ANN ARBOR

Ann Arbor, April 3.—The funeral of Dr. James Burrill Angell, was held at the Angell residence here at 2:30 p. m., conducted by Dr. Lloyd Douglas of the Congregational church. The interment was in Forest Hill cemetery.

Dr. Angell, for thirty-eight years president of the University of Michigan here, and since 1909 president emeritus of the same instution, one of America's best known educators and statesmen, died at his home here, at eighty-seven years of age. He had been critically ill for more than a week, although his health had been poor for a year. For several months he had been nearly blind and during that time had rallied more than once from sinking spells when his physician feared he had but a few hours to live.

His final breakdown in health was attributed largely to his attempts at personally answering a large number of congratulatory letters and cards received on Jan. 7 last, which was his eighty-seventh birthday.

Through the death of Dr. Angell, America has lost one of its foremost educators and diplomats. Since the latter '50s he had been most active in university work, and since 1880 he had, on several occasions, served this government in many complicated foreign relations.

"HEIR" IS SENT TO PRISON

Keith Dalrymple, Claimant to Millions, Cashed Bogus Checks.

Milwaukee, April 3.—It will be five years until the Dalrymple estate at Alleghany, Pa., is again claimed by Keith Edward Dalrymple, who declares he is the only heir to the millions. Keith was sentenced to serve half a decade in the penitentiary by Judge A. C. Backus on the charge of forgery. He was arrested in Chicago and claimed he passed the bogus checks to get money enough to fight his claim for the fortune.

SIXTEEN KILLED IN NEW AIR RAID

Battle Is Staged 9000 Feet Above Earth.

ZEPPELINS IN SECOND ATTACK

"East Coast of England" Is Scene of Bomb Dropping—Forty-three Killed and Sixty-six Wounded in Friday's Raid—Death Toll Increased by Sixteen Saturday.

London, April 3.—The second Zeppelin raid on the eastern coast of England within twenty-four hours was made Saturday night. Two Zeppelins were seen approaching the coast line, the other retreating over the sea. The single dirigible which prosecuted the raid dropped bombs which killed sixteen persons and injured a hundred others. The official British war office announcement of the raid says that a serious fire was caused, but does not name the town—the scene of the raid is located merely as "the northeast coast." Eight houses were demolished.

Further details of the raid of Friday night, in which at least five Zeppelins took part, one of them being lost and the survivors of the crew captured, were issued by the war office. The German official version of this raid also was received here by wireless.

Forty-three Killed, 66 Wounded.

The gradual repairing of the telegraph and telephone communications damaged in the recent storm made possible the complication of a more complete list of the casualties. Those are now given as forty-three killed and sixty-six wounded. The earlier partial figures, given out Saturday mentioned twenty-eight killed and forty-four injured.

Altogether, the number of bombs dropped on the night of Friday to Saturday in the eastern and northeastern counties was nearly 200, part of the explosives being of the incendiary sort.

Regarding the material damage done, the official statement says that a Baptist chapel, three houses and two cottages were demolished and a town hall, four houses, thirty-five cottages and a tram car shed were partially wrecked.

According to the war office, no military damage was done by the raid.

Fight 9,000 Feet in Air.

One of the British aviators who went up to meet the Zeppelins Friday night engaged in a fight with one of the invading dirigibles at an altitude of 9,000 feet, dropping bombs on it which he believed took effect. His own aeroplane was hit in the engagement by bullets from the machine guns of the Zeppelin.

FRENCH DRIVEN FROM 1,000 YARD TRENCHES

Berlin, However, Does Not Claim Their Capture.

London, April 3.—Reopening the assaults which carried them victoriously into Malancourt three days ago the Germans hurled a smashing attack upon the French lines east and south of the village and cleared more than 1,000 yards of French trenches.

This announcement, contained in the official report from Berlin, does not claim the capture of the trenches and it is possible that the French were able to prevent with their barrage fire the advance of the German infantry, even though the crown prince's artillery forced the defenders to abandon their trenches.

East of the Meuse the recent German assaults which have resulted in the capture of the village of Vaux were renewed with great violence and some of the French defense works northwest of Vaux were captured with 183 men falling into the German hands.

TORNADO VICTIM SUCCUMBS

Florence Erwin, Seven Weeks Old, Was Blown Over 100 Yards.

Lafayette, Ind., April 3.—Florence Erwin, the seven-weeks-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Erwin of Monon, who was terribly injured in the tornado of a week ago, is dead. When the storm struck the Erwin home, the child was blown from its mother's arms and hurled a distance of more than 100 yards, landing on its head in a stubble field.

The child was found by the parents when the burning home lighted the vicinity.

WAITE GIVES UP; INSANITY FAKED

Pecks and Wants to Die, Dentist Says He Murdered the

PLANNED TO KILL HIS WIFE

Story About "Dark Man from Egypt" Sheer Nonsense, He Declares—Dentist Says He Committed Crimes With Motive to Gain Money—Easy Life Spoiled Him.

New York, April 3.—Arthur Warren Waite, the dentist under indictment for poisoning his father-in-law, John E. Peck, has made a new confession, his fourth. He sent for his lawyer, Walter R. Deuel and made a long statement which Dr. Deuel, at Waite's request, made public.

"I want to go to the electric chair," Waite said. "I do not fear death—in fact, I seek it. It is the only atonement I can make for my crimes. My conscience has been quickened.

Greed for Money Caused It.

"It is true, and there is no sense in offering a defense, that I murdered both my mother-in-law and my father-in-law. If people ask why a young man of my opportunities in life, of my education and social position, fell so low as to kill his benefactors, they can be told that it was solely and simply for the greed of money. I wanted money, a lot of it and I was not willing to wait until it came to me naturally and honorably. The trouble with me was that I had too easy a time. I made friends too easily. I had got out of the habit of work. I had acquired expensive tastes. I wanted automobiles and luxurious living. I wanted to travel. I wanted to be able to sign checks for big sums. I wanted to feel the crinkle of bank bills.

Bad Man from Egypt Faked.

"There is no use to try to make it appear that I am insane. I am perfectly sane. My mind is as clear as a bell and I think in straight lines. That 'Bad Man from Egypt' story is sheer nonense."

FOES BREAK EDITOR'S LEG

L. Garfield Snow, of Valparaiso, Is Attacked Three Times.

Valparaiso, Ind., April 3.—L. Garfield Snow, editor of The Independent, a reform paper here, suffered a fracture of his left leg when he fell or was thrown from a second-story window in his office. He declares three men, whom he does not name, attempted to kidnap him and that they shoved him from the window when he he was taken to a hospital. It is said that the men desired to take Snow to University Hill to be horsewhipped by a young woman who had been mentioned in his paper.

Three assaults were made upon Snow—one in a restaurant and a second on Main street—and are said to have been the result of articles published in his paper, which caused a sensation in the city. Public officials were the objects of bitter attacks, in which it was charged that law violators had been shielded. An alleged resort operated by "Skip" Reddington was mentioned.

PRISONER HELD FOR ARSON

Fort Wayne Man Tries to Convince Woman He Loves Her.

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 3.—Because Mrs. Lora Dysert refused to permit him to call on her any more, Fred Lepper sought revenge by burning her house, and, according to the police, confessed his crime.

He is held on a charge of arson. Mrs. Dysert returned home Thursday night and found laundry worth $35 destroyed, with more burning, and an oil lamp under a bed, starting a blaze in a mattress, the result of Lepper's work, the police say.

The Specter of Pauperism.

Do you know that in the United States sixty-six out of every hundred people that die leave no estate whatever? Do you know that out of the remaining thirty-four only nine leave estates larger than $5,000 and that the average of the balance of twenty-five is a little less than $1,300? Do you know that at the age of sixty-five ninety-seven out of every hundred in America are partly or wholly dependent upon relatives, friends or the public for their daily bread, for their clothing and a roof under which to sleep? We all know that the one safeguard against pauperism by the countries of Europe has been thrift. France, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland have been the leaders in thrift. Do you realize that according to government statistics 98 per cent of the American people are living from day to day on their wages and that a loss of employment would mean pauperism for all but 2 per cent of us?—S. W. Straus in Leslie's.

Curious Shadow Casting.

"Did you ever see a waterfall cast a shadow?" asked Stephen T. Mather of the group around the club table. Mr. Mather, who is assistant to Secretary Lane in charge of the new development work which the department of the interior is doing in the national parks, had just returned from a strenuous summer among the mountain tops.

"Well, Yosemite falls cast my shadow very distinctly one night last August. I was half a mile or more away, gazing, beauty bound, at the effect of the full moon upon these giant falls, which are, by the way, as high as sixteen Niagaras piled one on top of the other.

"The moon was behind me, of course. The double falls, shining like silver, lit brilliantly by reflected light the dense shadows of the trees which hid me from the moon. Turning, I saw my shadow outlined vividly upon the grass."—Our National Parks.

Ring Life Preservers.

"The worst trouble about a life preserver," said an old sailor, "is that few people know what to do with one when it's thrown to them. Many a man would drown in trying to get a life preserver over his head. The average person struggling about in the water would try to lift up the big life ring and put it over his head. That only causes the man to sink deeper and take more water into his lungs.

"The proper way to approach a life preserver in the water is to take hold of the side nearest you and press upon it with all your weight. That causes the other side to fly up in the air and down over your head, 'ringing' you as neatly as a man ringing a cane at a country fair. After that the drowning man can be rescued."

Fulton's Demologas.

On March 14, 1814, the congress of the United States appropriated the sum of $320,000 for the construction of a war vessel in the shape of a "floating battery," designed by Robert Fulton. This battery was intended to be a deadly affair, for it was planned to shoot scalding water and redhot cannon balls at the enemy. This was the first steam war vessel built by the American government. She was Christened the Demologas, but after the designer's death her name was changed to the Fulton in his honor. She was launched Oct. 29, 1814, but her engine was not put in until the following May. By that time the war of 1812 was over, and the terrible battleship never got a chance to squirt hot water at the British navy.—Argonaut.

Sherlock.

The great detective, laying aside professional cares for the evening, is attending a dance. Introduced to a beautiful woman, he asks her to dance with him, and she graciously consents.

"You have been married several years," he murmurs after a couple rounds of the floor.

"How could you guess that?" she asks. "I am not wearing my wedding ring. Do I look like a married woman?"

"Not at all," he replies gallantly. "But I knew you were married the moment we started to dance. You at once began doing the leading."—Judge.

Somewhat Different.

"This question whether a word should have its adverbial or its adjective form seems to me to have little to do with the sense. Now, what is the difference between talking loud and talking loudly?"

"No difference," replied the pedagogical friend. "But look here. For a large fee you give legal advice freely, but you don't give it free. I think that will retain you for awhile."

SOME OF THE EVERY-DAY SCHOOL QUESTIONS ASKED AND AN[illegible]

Are you planning for a swimming pool and gymnasium?

No swimming pool has been considered. A building without a gymnasium is not modern. The modern use of the gymnasium however is not generally understood. The physical and moral laboratory would be a more suitable name. It takes the place of the old time wood pile and saw, a substitute for the barn and chores of former days, the spinning wheel, the knitting needles, the candle moulds, the apple pearing and corn husking bees, and the singing school furnished valuable employment and innocent recreation for our fathers and mothers. The present generation has missed the valuable influence of these and nothing has been offered to take their places. The result is unsatisfactory. Through supervised play we aim to give the growing generation the physical training which passed with the wood pile and the chores. We expect to substitute community entertainment in place of husking bees and singing schools. We hope to give the boys and girls, old and young a suitable place to spend their leisure moments, the moments in which character is fixed. This is the modern use of the gymnasium, a use that leads to community betterment. The room costs less than any other in the building and is of greater service.

What does new education mean and how will it benefit my child?

The term, new education, is very broad in meaning. Primarily it means a broader course of study to meet the needs of all children rather than the present limited course which is suited to a few. The new education aims to fit one hundred per cent of our people for a livelihood rather than ten or twenty per cent as we are now doing.

Under the new plan, work in the first six grades is much the same as it is now with some hand work added. This is required of all, that common habits of thought may be developed, leading in later years to co-operative citizenship. In the seventh and eighth grades pupils are offered one or two elective subjects. This adds interest to the work and keeps many children in school.

The high school offers besides the present college preparatory subjects, courses in business and the trades for boys; and cooking, sewing and millinery for the girls. A community may provide as many of these as it is willing to support. The aim of the old education was to fit your children for college; that of the new to fit them to make a living if they cannot go to college.

Does the new education cost more than the old?

We pay for all improvements. The amount of increase in cost will depend upon what the community wishes to invest, in other words upon the extent of the improvement. A school system must grow gradually, the amount of improvement depending upon the demands of the patrons. A community will have just as good a school as it wants and no better.

A building well heated, lighted, and ventilated will help to keep your children well and may save money. Pleasant surroundings will make their school life more attractive and tend to keep many in school who now leave before they should. If this is not true why are places of vice made so attractive by use of art and music? The public school should be more attractive than the public saloon. All of these benefits would be secured with the new building. If further improvements are desired, pay for what you want.

The Margin of Leisure.

A broad margin of leisure is as beautiful in a man's life as in a book. Haste makes waste no less in life than in housekeeping. Keep the time, observe the hours of the universe, not of the cars. What are threescore years and ten hurriedly and coarsely lived to moments of divine leisure in which your life is coincident with the life of the universe? We live too fast and coarsely, just as we eat too fast and do not know the true savor of our food. We consult our will and understanding and the expectation of men, not our genius.—Thoreau.

Sticking to His Post.

With but three minutes to catch his train the traveling salesman inquired of the street car conductor. "Can't you go faster than this?"

FOR CONGRESS 1916

MARK R. BACON

PROSPECTS? FIGURE FOR Yourself.

Counties	Bacon	Larwill	Reese	Total
Jackson	1095	375	1875	3345
Lenawee	220	1173	42	1435
Monroe	1336	204	190	1730
Washtenaw	1136	320	394	1850
Wayne	2151	173	178	2502

If you will take the total vote of Wayne county 3502, from the total Bacon vote 5938, you will still find Bacon ahead by 3436 votes.

Or you may take the combined total vote of MONROE, Washtenaw, and Lenawee counties, from Bacon's total vote 5938, and you will find him ahead by 923 votes.

Yes, you may take the combined total vote of MONROE, LENAWEE and WAYNE counties, from Bacon's total vote 5938, and you will still find him ahead by 271 votes.

You may combine Jackson and Wayne, or make a combination of any two counties in the District, and take it away from the Bacon vote of 5938, and you will still find him ahead.

You cannot reasonably say that he received many Democrat votes, as they had a contest on for the congressional nomination among themselves, and no votes to throw away.

Now, with his campaign last year, his acquaintance over the district, with justice in his claim for the nomination; with his appealing directly to the people and not to the politicians:—being one of Lincoln's "plain people" himself; being a business man:— born to labor, and on a farm; and with his known energy in a campaign; can you reasonably believe his chances for the nomination are not really better than either of the several candidates now seeking the nomination?

GRANGE ROUND-UP

Saturday April first was the grand round-up of the Tecumseh Grange and a good crowd were in attendance.

The losing side in the contest for new members gave a banquet to the winners. Covers were laid for 115

As the season was so far advanced oysters were out of the question and chicken was used instead, the menu was of the very best. To be sure the horse radish was a little bit peculiar as cabbage and turnip entered into its construction. Rev. G W. Jennings and others made speeches and the event proved a very pleasant one. As the company rose from the table they found some difficulty in getting away as their chairs were firmly tied together another April fool trick which caused much merriment. This is the last meeting of the Grange for the season as the farmers will now get busy.

ALBERTA DEMING

The funeral of Alberta was held Friday afternoon, Rev W. A. Rex speaking words of comfort and cheer to the mourning friends, and then the little form was laid to rest in our silent city. A group of her schoolmates bore the wealth of flowers to the grave, acting as honorary pall bearers. James, Wade, and Louis Jones and Russell Smith were the active bearers.

This beautiful life was so precious, so full of blessing to her parents that only the sunshine of God's love can lift the shadow of grief from their aching hearts. Those from out of town who were present for the funeral were Mrs. F. D. Teachout and Harriet and Mrs. Elsworth Cairnes of Toledo, Mrs. Cyrus Probert of Portland, Mich., Mr. and Mrs Geo Smith, Russell Smith and family, and Mrs Cyrus Smith of Britton.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many kind friends and neighbors, who by their loving deeds of kindness and sympathy have helped Alberta and her family during her long illness. Also to those who gave the beautiful flowers for our loved one.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Deming and family.

Recognizing Book Lovers.

You may recognize the book lover as soon as you glance at his shelves, though they may be few. Some people, especially servants, if allowed to interfere, marshal books according to colors, as they would like to buy them by the yard. Not so the book lover (I mean the man who loves books for their contents). He is kind to his books and, knowing they have souls, wishes them to live happily together. He would not, to take an extreme case, sandwich "Bradshaw" between "Stones of Venice" and "Modern Painters."—London Globe.

SAVE BELGIUM

FLAG DAY TO HELP BELGIUM

Starvation Within Three or Four Weeks If Food Shipments to Belgium Should Stop Now.

The Daughters of the American Revolution to uphold the spirit and ideals for which their grandfathers fought, have started a nation campaign for contributions to save from actual starvation the three million destitute non combatants in Belgium.

This will culminate in a "Flag Day" April 8. Ten millions miniature Belgium flags have been placed on sale at not less than 7c each, the cost of maintaining an adult Belgium one day the ration for a whole day being one pint of soup, and three slices of bread.

Approximately 90,000,000 people in America have done nothing for the war sufferers.

Mr. Woolcott, agent of the Rockefeller foundation says:

"I have seen thous[illegible] lined up in snow or rain, soaked and chilly, waiting for bread and soup. I have returned to the distribution stations at the end of the day and have found men, women and children sometimes still standing in line, but later compelled to go back to their pitiful homes, cold, wet and miserable. It was not until eighteen weary hours afterward that they get the meal they missed."

We alone of all the great nations are prosperous and happy, it is our privilege to prove our patriotism and high ideals by making some small sacrifice for the benefit of Belgium, who has sacrificed her ALL for her patriotism.

Two years ago Belgium was as happy and prosperous as we are now, WHO can prophesy that we individually may not be cold and hungry, and ruined by war two years hence?

GIVE, IN GOD'S NAME AND GIVE NOW HELP THE CAUSE BY BUYING A FLAG.

For sale, at not less than 7c each at: C. A. Wright's drug store, Mr. Frank Temple, Lilley State Bank and Mrs. J. C Law Hardy.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Friday evening the service will be at the Baptist church Dr. Fred A. Perry of Adrian will speak.

This will be Sunday School night All the teachers and pupils of the several Sunday Schools are invited to attend. Dr. Perry will speak with special difference to the Sunday School.

APPLICATIONS ARE COMING IN FOR WORK IN SKIRT FACTORY

Applications for work in the new Skirt Factory are coming in rapidly and already about half of the required number (100) have been handed in. This is considered very favorable and the out look at present is good for the factory coming to Tecumseh.

Those who would like work are urged to apply at once at Rosecrans & Sons,' Webster Anderson Co., store or at the Herald office. The work is easy to learn mostly machine work.

The machines are all run by electric motors, thus making it easy for the operator. A light well ventilated building will be provided which will make cheerful surroundings for those employed. Send in your applications as once.

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, High Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and consider myself in a truly normal condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills ten months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 16-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

BATTLE CREEK FIEND TELLS OF DRUG PLOT

Declares Organization Brings Supplies From Canada.

Battle Creek, April 3.—Calhoun drug fiends are getting their supply of heroin, morphine and other opiates from Canada, according to a confession made at Battle Creek to Police Lieutenant Hugh Gordon by a victim, who has just been committed to the Kalamazoo state hospital for treatment.

The traffic, according to the story, is carried on by a syndicate of wealthy men, themselves nonusers of the drugs. Men in their employ drive motor cars into Canada, buy up drug supplies and bring them into the United States. A central point, believed to be Detroit, is maintained and from there the operators send out regular traveling salesmen who call upon their organized trade in the country and disseminate the dope. According to the confession of the local victim, the "salesman" for this vicinity reaches Battle Creek every two weeks.

He that rises again quickly and continues the race is as if he had never fallen.—Molineux.

$10,833 FOR SON'S DEATH

Victim Lost Life When Gasoline and Kerosene Were Mixed.

Grand Rapids, April 3.—Frank McLawson, as administrator of the estate of his late son, Arthur I. McLawson, has obtained a judgment against the Paragon Oil company for $10,833.33.

Arthur I. McLawson was injured October 7, 1915, while kindling a fire with what was supposed to be kerosene oil, but which proved to be a mixture of kerosene and gasoline. He died a few days later. The oil and gasoline had been mixed, it is alleged, by a mistake of the driver of the Paragon Oil company's wagon from Lansing.

Recognizing Book Lovers.

You may recognize the book lover as soon as you glance at his shelves, though they may be few. Some people, especially servants, if allowed to interfere, marshal books according to colors, as they would like to buy them by the yard. Not so the book lover (I mean the man who loves books for their contents). He is kind to his books and, knowing they have souls, wishes them to live happily together. He would not, to take an extreme case, sandwich "Bradshaw" between "Stones of Venice" and "Modern Painters."—London Globe.

Edward Temple, Scamp

Showing How Sometimes a Rogue Will Win

By LOUISE B. CUMMINGS

Ned Temple at twenty-one inherited a fortune, which he proceeded to spend lavishly. Ned was one of those lovable fellows who cannot refuse any one a favor, and the most of his money went in satisfying the cravings of the needy and in loans to his supposed friends. When his money was all gone he proceeded to live on credit, and when his credit was gone the bailiffs got after him.

One of Ned's creditors, his tailor, whose profits on Ned's orders had been large, not being especially grateful for past favors, trumped up a charge of swindling against him in order to force him to pay a bill of $10 and swore out a warrant for his arrest. Ned got wind of the matter, and, throwing a few articles into a suit case, he made for a train and the same evening found himself in another city.

He had been there before in his halcyon days and had spent a lot of money there. Not having a cent in his pocket, he was obliged to find shelter and food by means of his assurance. Marching into a club where he had several times been "put up" by a friend, he called the gentleman up on the [illegible] favor. Not succeeding in getting him, Ned told the manager that his former introducer would be around in the morning to introduce him again.

During the evening he fell in with Lord Tinterton, a young English nobleman, who possessed letters of introduction to prominent American families. One of these was to the Meriweathers. Ned had heard that there were several pretty girls in the family, and it occurred to him to put in a brief period as a guest at their house by borrowing his lordship's letter. Tinterton, being assured that Ned wished the introduction to assist him in a love affair, consented. Ned sat down to a table, wrote a note on club stationery, inclosed the letter and dispatched it by special messenger.

The next morning Miss Grace Meriweather was driven up to the club in a limousine, and the chauffeur called for Lord Tinterton. Ned, who was on watch, responded, went out to the car and was invited to transfer himself during his stay in the city to the Meriweather domicile. Returning to the club, he left word for his friend, who was to "put him up," that he would not be able to avail himself of his kind act. Then a servant carried his suit case to the car and he and Miss Meriweather were driven away.

Miss Meriweather proposed a drive before going home, to which Ned cheerfully assented, and before they drew up at her residence the couple had entered upon a desperate flirtation. No one could spend an hour with Ned without a flirtation, and to girls he was irresistible. He remained all of three days with the Meriweathers, then received a letter from a friend to whom he had loaned $500, containing a check for the amount. He bade goodby to his hosts and, returning to the city, showed himself boldly on the street, stopping at the tailor's to settle his bill.

In the three days spent with the Meriweathers Ned had carried Miss Grace completely off her feet and had left her engaged to him as Lord Tinterton. Had not the scamp been oblivious to future exposure he would have been much troubled, for he could not always remain a lord and his deception must soon come out.

However, he forgot the deception with as much ease as he forgot his debts. He was recalled to the former by receiving a note from Miss Meriweather addressed to him as Lord Tinterton, expressing wonder and reproach that he had not written and summoning him to her presence at once on pain of having their engagement broken. Ned had enough left of the loan repaid him on which to make the journey and took the next train to visit his fiancee.

Now, it happened that soon after Ned had left Miss Meriweather she had heard that Lord Tinterton was being entertained socially in the city, and naturally she wondered. Ned had seen Tinterton before going home, thanked him for the loan of his letter, which he returned to him, informing him at the same time that it had enabled him to pass several days with the girl he loved and begged his lordship not to give him away. Tinterton, who was a jolly good fellow and a bit of a scamp himself, promised that on no account would he see Ned suffer if he could help it.

One morning Tinterton received a note from Miss Grace Meriweather, stating that a man had delivered a letter of introduction, from him to her family. He seemed to be an entirely different person from the one she now addressed. Would he kindly explain?

Tinterton saw at once that Temple was on the brink of exposure and, remembering his promise, racked his brains for a method to protect the man who had used his letter. He finally wrote Miss Meriweather that he would explain the matter on her promise to keep it a secret. Receiving an assenting reply to this, he wrote her that he was Lord Tinterton's secretary and that his lordship had brought him to America with him for the express purpose of personating him at such times as he might wish to escape the attentions of "tuft hunters." Lord Tinterton was a very retiring man and, having found himself importuned to accept invitations that would be irksome to him, had requested his secretary to relieve him of the onus, thereby sparing his lordship the necessity of offending a number of persons. The secretary closed his letter by stating that he hoped the lady would be careful not to let the matter get out, since his lordship had so far honored him as to tell him that he had won the heart and hand of one of America's fairest daughters and an exposure during Tinterton's absence might cause a good deal of trouble. The note was signed "Henry Brewerton, secretary."

When Ned returned to his fiancee she told him of her correspondence with his secretary and expressed a desire to see the man who had been so successful in personating him. Ned held his breath till the story was finished, then remarked with perfect assurance that Brewerton was very useful to him when an avalanche of invitations came down, and he didn't know what he would do without him. He came of an excellent family in England, and his breeding rendered him capable of playing the part of a king.

Miss Meriweather approved his lordship's plan of escaping the hordes of persons who were hunting him and expressed a desire [illegible]tary. She asked his lordship to extend to Mr. Brewerton an invitation for her to dinner. At this Ned looked blank, but only for a moment, saying that he would be most happy to do so. He was commissioned to ask Mr. Brewerton to dine on the first day that he had no other engagement.

On leaving his fiancee Ned at once sought Lord Tinterton and pressed his hand gratefully, praising his marvelous tact and ingenuity in getting him out of the scrape. "But we are not out of the woods," said Ned. "There are more quicksands to get over. I [illegible]se by your letter to Miss Meriweather you are now involved with me. I have promised to bring you—my secretary—ha, ha!—to dine with my fiancee. Isn't it funny?"

"But, man," said his lordship earnestly, "when are we going to reach the denouement?"

"The denouement! There is an adage 'Never try to cross a bridge till you get to it.' Let that be our guide."

His lordship was not reassured by this, but since he saw no way out of the matter and had the advantage of being the real lord, while Ned was the spurious one, he gave him authority to accept the dinner invitation for him.

It is to be confessed that, notwithstanding this advantage, Tinterton on meeting Miss Meriweather was less at ease than Ned, who introduced him with a flourish and bestowed upon him encomiums that made his lordship wince, considering that he was simply a man of the world bent on pleasure. But when the lady indicated by her manner that she was especially taken with the secretary it was Ned's turn to wince, and he felt like bestowing on his rival blows instead of praises.

However, the dinner passed off without anything occurring to give away these two precious deceivers, and there was no ill feeling except a bit of jealousy on Ned's part. This was stimulated by Miss Meriweather inviting the secretary to go with her for a spin in her car the following morning. Ned departed in company with his rival with his nose in the air, and, notwithstanding the delicate position he occupied, had the latter not been very good natured, would have quarreled with him.

When Tinterton returned to his room after the drive with Miss Meriweather he found Ned waiting for him. Tinterton did everything to reassure Ned that he was not trying to win his girl away from him, but the green monster had fastened his fangs on Ned's heart and would not let go his grip. Tinterton bore a message to Ned from Miss Meriweather that she desired him to call upon her the same evening.

Ned believed that she had accepted him, supposing him to be a lord, but notwithstanding this faith was about to throw him over for a lord's secretary, with whom she had become infatuated. He would have stayed away, thus rendering it incumbent on her to write him his dismissal, but he was certain of nothing, and curiosity prompted him to go to her.

On being ushered into the drawing room, what was his surprise to see Tinterton sitting with Miss Meriweather. Ned entered with a scowl at the nobleman and a look of contemptuous reproach at the lady. Both rose as the spurious lord entered, Tinterton looking embarrassed, Miss Meriweather maintaining a reserved dignity.

"I have sent for you, Lord Tinterton," she said to Ned, "to make a confession. Captivated with the idea of being Lady Tinterton, I accepted your offer without loving you. I have decided that this would be unjust to you; therefore"—

"You have transferred your affections to that blooming Englishman."

Both the real Tinterton and Miss Meriweather burst into a laugh. Ned, red as a beet, turned and was stalking out of the room when Miss Meriweather threw her arms about him and held him.

"That was an awful game for you to play," she said, "and I didn't see it till the day I invited you and the real Lord Tinterton to dinner. Yesterday when we drove out together I confided my knowledge of the situation to him. I suppose I should have you arrested for false pretenses, but instead I"—

Ned stepped from a hall bedroom into a four story stone front house. His motto is, "Dishonesty is the best policy."

Protect School Children

Measles, scarlet fever and whooping cough are prevalent among school children in many cities. A common cold never should be neglected as it weakens the system so that it is not in condition to throw off more serious diseases. Foley's Honey and Tar is pleasant to take, acts quickly, contains no opiates. Sold everywhere in Tecumseh. adv

Dangers of Draft

Drafts feel best when we are hot and perspiring, just when they are most dangerous and the result is neuralgia, stiff neck, sore muscles or sometimes an attack of rheumatism. In such cases apply Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the sore and painful part. The blood flows freely and in a short time the stiffness and pain leaves. Those suffering from neuralgia or neuralgic headache will find one or two applications of Sloan's Liniment will give grateful relief. The agonizing pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth and quiet rest and sleep is possible. Good for neuritis, too. Price 25c at your druggist's. adv

Taken with Croup

"A few nights ago one of my patrons had a child taken with croup," writes M. T. Davis, merchant, Bearsville, W. Va. "About midnight he came to my store and bought a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Before morning the child was entirely recovered." Many such letters have been written. LEADS PURSUERS TEN MILES

New Clash is Reported—General Pershing's Men Said to Have Encountered Bandits, but Details of Fight Are Not Received—Pershing With Fighters.

COLUMBUS, N. M. — Dispatches from the front said the fight between the American troops and the Villistas was so hot that there had been no time to report on the engagement.

Signal corps men who are trailing the most advanced column with the field telegraph flashed the message that sounds of firing could be heard from their temporary station. This brief message is all the information that has come through regarding the encounter. General Pershing went to the Guerrero district to take personal com[illegible]bell, his chief of staff at the Dublan base, said yesterday "Pershing is still out."

EL PASO, TEXAS.—Villa, with his knee shattered, is now reported in the San Andreas hills, heading for Chihuahua, with the Americans ten miles off. Spanish residents, fearing massacre, are ready to flee to the border.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS. — The fear expresed at army headquarters that Francisco Villa has escaped from the region in which General Pershing's cavalry columns are operating has almost become a conviction. All information obtainable indicated that he had disappeared.

General Pershing's report received after noon, contained the news that at least a part of the dispersed Villa force that was driven from Guerrero March 29 still was moving in the district northeast of that place, but no mention of Villa's whereabouts was made.

Villa Band Located.

Six columns of cavalry were yet riding the hills and plains in that section, while scouts were endeavoring to pick up the trail of Villa or his scattered bands. One force of Villa's men, estimated at 100, commanded by Colonel Beltram, was located near Bacineva, about twenty-five miles northeast of Guerrero. Information also was gathered that indicated the remainder of the 400 or 500 still were in that region.

No reference was made in that report of an encounter that was mentioned in press dispatches from the front.

Information Is Unreliable.

Information gathered from various sources and confirmed by General Pershing, indicated that the intelligence officers of the punitive force were having to contend with difficulties created by the receipt of misinformation liberally supplied in districts through which Villa or his followers had passed. General Pershing also reported that he had difficulty in obtaining reliable guides.

His statement that it had been reported to him that Colonel Cano had engaged a Villa force in a fight on the same day that the Americans were driving the bandits from Guerrero, served to allay, somewhat, the fear that had arisen here that Cano had revolted, a report that appeared well founded.

Scouts Must Find Trail.

Which way Villa had gone is now largely a question for General Pershing's scouts to answer. It was pointed out at General Funston's headquarters that once the trail was picked out the troops would resume the chase farther into the interior, although it was realized that this second phase of the punitive expedition's work will be far more difficult than was the first.

It is not improbable, it was said, that more troops than those already in Mexico will be required.

DUTCH SOLDIERS MOBILIZING

Secretary Lansing Reports War Move by Holland.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Secretary Lansing announces that the state department has official knowledge that Holland is mobilizing troops in addition to those which have been kept in a state of preparedness since the war started.

Officials of the state department do not regard the meeting of the parliament of The Netherlands as important. Officials were more concerned over the mobilization orders. The unofficial opinion is that the excitement in Holland is traceable directly to the sinking of the Palembang and the Tubantia.

A high foreign diplomat says that neither Germany nor Holland would go to war over the Tubantia and Palembang cases.

Dr. Angell Laid to Rest.

ANN ARBOR. — The funeral of Dr. James Burrill Angell, was held at the Angell residence here at 2:30 p. m., conducted by Dr. Lloyd Douglas of the Congregational church. The interment was in Forest Hill cemetery.

FAMILY SLAYING IS AVENGED

Villa General, Who Ordered Corralitos Murder Killed at Geronimo.

COLUMBUS. — The murder of five Mexican employes of the Corralitos ranch by a band of Villistas on their retreat from Columbus on March 10, was avenged Friday night when, in an attack upon a party of bandits east of Sam Geronimo, the American cavalry killed a number of Villistas including Manuel Boyca, one of Villa's chief lieutenants and the man who is said to have ordered the killing of the men at Corralitos.

This information comes from Carranzista sources and is not vouched for by the military authorities. No details of the Friday night engagement are available.

SHERIFFS UNABLE TO CONTROL

Chicago Health Officials Warn Public Against the Uninspected Product—Scarcity Already Felt by Large Concerns—Governor Dunne May Be Asked for Aid—Babies Before Bars.

CHICAGO, ILL.—"Do without milk if you can. If you must have it, use as little as possible, and what you do use—pasteurize."

Chicago's health officials thus admit the arrival of the predicted milk famine. At the same time they admitted that uninspected milk had been smugled into chicago. They urged Chicago's milk dealers to call upon Governor Dunne for assistance if the rural police were unable to protect Chicago-bound milk from the 10,000 "striking" farmers in northern Illinois and Indiana and southern Wis-[illegible]

Wagon Supply Is Cut.

The drouth reached Chicago's doorsteps Monday, for milk wagon drivers of two of the biggest distributing companies are reported to have been ordered to "squeeze their sales." When the drivers for the Borden company started on their route Monday morning they are said to have each had thirty-six quarts less than their normal daily supply.

"Deliver to the babies first and the saloons last," Dr. John Dill Robertson ordered the dealers at the conference "My milk inspectors tell me that the situation is serious. They do not look for an early settlement of the trouble. I cannot deny that uninspected milk probably was delivered in Chicago Monday. I have [illegible] inspect[illegible] be doubly vigilant. Uninspected milk must not come in."

This was the department's answer to the dealers' pleas for leniency in inspection.

May Ask for Militia.

Officials of the largest distributing companies attributed the famine to the "shotgun tactics" of the belligerent Milk Producers association.

"They have menaced milk shipments to Chicago with guns in their hands," said A. M. Bowman, vice president of the Bowman Dairy company. "The country sheriffs do not seem able to control the farmers. If they're afraid of them we will call on the governor, and it looks as if we shall have to."

HARD PRIVATE BANK YEAR

Eleven of 16 Failures in Illinois for 1915 Were Unsupervised.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Failures of state and private banks in the United States in the fiscal year of 1915, although not heacy enough to threaten past records, were more numerous, with the exception of 1908, than in any other year since 1897. They numbered 110, according to the report of the controller of the currency.

Of these Illinois had sixteen, exceeded in number only by New York, with nineteen failures. All but two in New York were private banks and in Illinois there were eleven unsupervised.

$60,000,000 to Control Rivers.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A bill for comprehensive control of rivers, prevention of floods and development of water power was introduced by Representative Rainey of Illinois. It carries an appropriation of $60,000,000 a year for ten years.

Jap Ship Abandoned.

HONGKONG, CHINA. — Japanese steamer Chiyo Maru, stranded in a storm off Lema Islands, has been abandoned. The 229 passengers of the steamer were rescued.

Allies Bringing Pressure to Bear.

THE HAGUE. — Reports that the allies have brought pressure to bear upon Holland to take action derogatory to the commercial interests of Germany have caused much uneasiness.

Postal inspectors have positively identified the man arrested at Grand Rapids in connection with the train robbery at Stanton, W. Va., as "Dick" Harrison, a half brother of "Jeff" Harrison, who was arrested in January at San Antonio, Tex., for holding up a B. & O. mail train.

Insufficiency of beet seed, owing to the prevention of seed exportations by the Eurpean war has caused the Mt. Pleasant and Alma sugar companies to abandon contracts made for acreage with many farmers in that section, while the Owosso Sugar company is cancelling contracts with farmers remote from its Owosso and Lansing factories.

FRENCH WIN LOST LINES NEAR VAUX

Germans Driven from Part of Caillette Wood.

LONDON, ENG.—With the recent violent offensive by the Germans east of the Meuse lapsing into comparative quiet, the French forces east of the river launched a violent attack between Douaumont and Vaux and regained part of the ground in the Caillette wood lost to the Germans Sunday.

New batteries of large caliber have been moved up closer to the French front and the German infantry has been rested and reorganized.

Fighting continued all night in the Verdun region east of the Meuse, between Douaumont and Vaux. The issue turned generally, the war office announcement says, in favor of the French, who gained ground in the northern part of the Caillette wood, which was occupied by the Germans Sunday.

LOWDEN LEADS STRAW VOTE

Republican Is Choice of Downstate Newspapers—Sherman Weak.

MARION, ILL. — The Republican Leader of Marion has just closed a straw ballot of the newspapers of southern Illinois. Colonel Frank O. Lowden was the leader by 4 to 1 for the republican party as candidate for governor, and Edward F. Dunne was the leader of the Democratic party for the same office.

Sherman did not poll as strong a vote of confidence as had been expected.

10 DIE IN ZEPPELIN RAID IN EDINBURGH

Berlin Declares Dirigible Bombarded Scotch Capital.

LONDON, ENG.—Ten persons were killed and eleven wounded in the Zeppelin raid over Scotland and England Sunday night, the third attack in three consecutive nights, according to an official report by the war office. An official statement from Berlin declares the dirigibles bombarded Edinburgh, the capital of Scotland, the shipyards at Leith and docks and shipyards on the Tyne, but the British statement makes no admission of such an attack.

The casualties in the latest raid, however, were entirely in Scotland, though the northeast coast of England was also attacked. The total casualties in the three raids are now placed at 69 killed and 177 wounded.

FIXES AMHERST WRECK ONUS

General Manager Blames Engineer Herman Hess of Train 86.

CLEVELAND, OHIO. — Blame for the New York Central wreck at Amherst last Wednesday in which twenty-eight persons were killed and forty injured was placed on Herman Hess, engineer of the second section while running fifty miles an hour through a dense fog, by D. C. Moon, general manager of the company, in an official statement.

PAIGE

The Standard of Value and Quality

You Must Place Your Order Now If You Want "Immediate Delivery"

Once again, we must urge you to act quickly in placing your order for a Paige Fairfield seven passenger "Six-46."

Don't delay. Don't put the matter off one day longer than is absolutely necessary if you would avoid disappointment later on.

Despite the fact that our manufacturing facilities have been tripled, we are facing an immediate shortage of Fairfields, and the spring retail season is only a few weeks off.

Just stop for a minute and consider the significance of the statement when we tell you that, so far in 1916, we have marketed more seven passenger cars than any other manufacturer in our price class.

Also, ponder over the fact that during March we shipped 25 solid train loads of the Fairfield model exclusively.

Last year, you will remember, there was a long Paige "waiting list."

Hundreds of people delayed their purchases until the last minute—and were then compelled to accept sixty and ninety days delivery—or compromise on a "second best."

So, be fair to yourself. Protect your own good interests. Go to the Paige dealer—place a cash deposit in his hands—and make sure that you will receive the car of your choice.

It is by no means our purpose to "stampede" motor car buyers into early or ill-advised purchases, but we know that a shortage is coming and offer this information in a sincerely helpful spirit.

And now let us say a word about the car itself.

First and foremost, we want to remind you that the Paige Fairfield "Six-46" is a tried and proven success.

When you buy a Paige "Six-46" today, you are buying a car which has passed the experimental stage. You are buying a car of known quality—known ability.

In a word, the "Six-46" is an eminently safe automobile investment.

It is a good car—not merely because we say so—but because its owners have conclusively established this goodness in the gruelling tests of more than a year's actual road work.

Here, then, is one substantial reason for the overwhelming demand which the "Six-46" enjoys. And there is another—a basic reason which has made this record possible.

Time and time again, we have stated our policy of scrupulously avoiding any expression in Paige advertising which might savor of exaggeration or misrepresentation. We make an honest product and we propose to sell it in an honest way.

But, facts are facts, and we boldly and fearlessly claim that the Paige Fairfield "Six-46" represents more actual dollar-for-dollar value than any other motor car on the market.

If this appears to be a broad statement we invite you to check us up by inspecting the car, riding in it, and conducting any comparative investigation which you may care to make.

Understand, we do not claim to make the only good motor car, nor do we ask you to believe that our Fairfield is the best American make.

But we do most emphatically insist that the "Six-46" offers a greater value for its price—$1295—than any other automobile produced in this country or abroad.

Futhermore, you will heartily agree with us if you will permit the Paige Dealer to give you one thorough demonstration—just one.

But, please don't forget—you must act quickly. Get your order in now—before it is too late.

LOW CLOVERLEAF

The Low Cloverleaf Gives the Manure Two Healthy Beatings

WE used to think that if we threw manure onto the ground any old way and plowed it under, we were doing a good job. But now we know that won't do. To do any real good, the manure must be broken up into small pieces and spread evenly.

The Low Cloverleaf spreader is the one that does this work best. It gives the manure two healthy beatings, one with the regular beater, the other with the wide spread disks. When the manure reaches the ground in that condition your soil gets all the good there is in it, and gets it quickly. The Low Cloverleaf is one spreader it will pay you to see before you buy. See the local dealer who has one set up for you to look at.

THE PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL WILL NOT EXCEED $75,000

Elsewhere in this issue we publish a signed statement from the school board pledging themselves that if a bond issue is voted by the taxpayers of District No. 7 for the purpose of erecting and equipping a new schoolhouse, that they pledge themselves that no contract shall be let for the said construction of such schoolhouse and equipment at a cost to the district greater than the funds made available by the issue of such bonds.

Public opinion is almost a unit in regard to this fact, "That we need a new school." People are giving this school house question a good deal of thought these days and, if we catch the pulse beat aright, the sentiment is for and not against a new building.

With the school board and the committee who have been putting their time and energy into the work of organizing this campaign for a new school, a unit for a school to cost $75 000 and no more, there may be no uneasiness in the minds of the voters that the cost of the proposed building will exceed the amount raised. It [illegible] be built for $75,000 and a building that we will all be proud of can be built for the money.

What good will it do to vote it down? This will not help the matter You will still have three old buildings unfit for school purposes. You can't go on forever with the buildings you have; it would only mean that the question would have to be brought up again at some future date, or more likely it would mean that the state authorities would compel you to build and we would all resent such a move from the state. Remember they have the authority to close our schools and force the district to make such improvements as they think necessary.

It is your privilege and duty to vote for the new school. Give it your earnest considerative and we are sure that the voters of Old Number 7 will do their duty.

OF INTEREST TO YOUNG AUTHORS.

Clarendon Publishing Company, 311 Majestic Building Detroit, offers $300 in cash prizes for the best short stories, poems, sonnets and songs. The contest opened March 27, and will close August 1, 1916. There are no restrictions as to age or nationality and all residents of the United States and Canada are eligible to compete. Circular giving the rules may be had by sending a stamp to the secretary.

The stories, poems and sonnets which win a prize will be published in book form and will contain, besides the portraits of the authors, a list of the contestants names who receive Honorable Mention.

The song must not exceed three verses and a chorus. It must be written upon sheet music, with the music and piano accompaniment correctly arranged ready for publication.

The judges will be three prominent persons well known in the literary and journalistic world.

Readers of the Herald will be interested in knowing that E. Cora DePuy, the author and journalist, of Detroit is a member of the prize committee of both of these contests, and is regared by her associates as one of the best and most capable critics of short stories, of the entire staff,

EXPANDING THE ARMY

The authorized maximum of our standing army, under existing laws, has for some time been 100,000 men. It has not, however, kept recruited up to that number. On March 14 five days after the Columbus raid, President Wilson and the cabinet decided to request Congress to authorize immediate recruiting to the extent of the maximum. The matter was stated to the House of Representatives by Mr. Hay, chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, and within four minutes the House had taken action, one New York Socialist being the only member to object. The resolution was unanimously passed by the Senate on the following day. The actual army roll then amounted to 80,053 men. It was necessary to add 19,947 to make the full number of 100,000. Figures given to the press showed 14,775 coast defense troops, with 568 officers, who could not properly be taken away from their present posts. Soldiers to the aggregate number of about 25,000 were in the Philippines, Hawaii, Alasa, Porto Rico and Panama. There were left in the United States 34,510 mobile troops, commanded by 1923 officers. Including regiments that were at once ordered to the Mexican border, there were about 25,000 soldiers in that region. The recruiting of approximately 20,000 more men would virtually double the force available for use in a situation like in Northern Mexico.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for April, 1916.

JACKSON, MISS., MAN

Tells How To Cure Chronic Cough

Jackson, Miss.—"I am a carpenter, and the grippe left me with a chronic cough, run-down, worn out and weak. I took all kinds of cough syrups without help. I read about Vinol and decided to try it. Before I had taken a bottle I felt better, and after taking two bottles my cough is entirely cured, and I have gained new vim and energy."—JOHN L. DENNIS.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Chicago Ill., April 2, 1916.

EDITOR TECUMSEH HERALD,

Dear Sir:

Some kind friend sent me a copy of the Herald dated March 28, in which is an invitation by the Committee of Twenty-five to all who wish to discuss the new school project. Being one of those who still have a warm spot for Tecumseh and her good people, I naturally feel like entering the discussion that this school project should call forth.

It strikes me that the first thing that should be taken up and weighed thoroughly, is the health of the children who are to attend this institution of learning. THE BRANCH SCHOOLS are in my opinion one of the factors that make Tecumseh "the biggest little town" in the world of letters. Think of sending little tots who make up the first and second grades from the outskirts to a centrally located school in all kinds of weather with no means of transportation but their cold or wet little feet. Who pays the cost of mortality in that case? Having been robbed to a great extent of my childhood makes me very considerate of the tender little sprigs of today.

The next thing that occurs to me is where will the money come from to build school houses? This leads into the realm of taxation and that is what should bring out the best thought in the district. To maintain an efficient school makes District No. 7 a magnet that will attract people who have children to fit for life's struggle.

To maintain good schools makes no merchant's goods more valuable than if there were no good schools at a given spot. Neither will good schools have any effect on factory buildings, machinery or their products. Neither will good schools make houses more valuable, but on the other hand it may produce pupils who will discover a method whereby they can be built more cheaply.

If there be anything that will be benefitted by a public improvement of any kind, it is that part of the earth's surface which comprises School District No. 7 of Tecumseh. Where the benefit accrues is the place to get the money to pay the expense. Location or site values are the proper things to assess to pay for public improvements.

If Tecumseh would exempt factories from taxation she would soon grow out of her swaddling clothes and become a factor as a location for factories. Philadelphia has exempted factories a long term of years and is recognizing the benefit, is untaxing improvements 10 per cent. annually which will make improvements and personal property free from taxation in 1928.

Yours for the growth of Tecumseh,
MICHAEL ECKERT,
1808 Ogden Ave., Chicago.

MRS. W. R. WILSON

Mrs. William R. Wilson of Ridgeway Mich., died at her home on the farm just west of the village at eight twenty-five on Sunday evening, March 26th.

Mary A Kelley was born in the township of Sidney, Kennebec Co., Me., March 26th, 1831 and was married to William R Wilson on the 5th of May 1852. She is the daughter of Wing and Anna (Varney) Kelly of, Maine.

The father for some years followed the trade of a blacksmith in connection with the cultivation of a farm in Maine till 1839, when the family came via canal and lakes to Toledo, Ohio and thence to Tecumseh by the "horse power-car railroad", where they located in Raisin township, securing a farm which they made their home until their death the father dying Feb. 19, 1854, the mother Dec. 1 1886. They belonged to the society of Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are the parents of three children, Julia E., who was born Dec. 12, 1862 and died Aug 30, 1864. Henry C. was with her at the time of her demise, and Eugene A. superintendent of schools at Berwyn, Ill. The husband died Feb 9 1903.

The deceased was converted about 1866 during the pastorate of Rev. Ira W. Donaldson and joined the Methodist church at Ridgeway. The husband followed the example of the wife was converted, joined the church soon afterward and both were engaged in the activities of the church, and the Sunday school for many years thereafter.

She set up the family altar after conversion and kept it up daily during her entire life. She was thoroughly devoted to her family, her church and to her religion, and as her vitality and strength weakened, her faith in God seemed to grow stronger. She fell asleep upon her eighty fifth birthday.

The son Eugene and wife prepared a nice birthday box and shipped it, expecting her to enjoy it upon that occasion, also a letter containing birthday congratulations and farther explanations as to the box arrived in due time and was eagerly read by the recipient yet something better seemed to be in store for her, and and an All Wise Heavenly Father who doeth all things well thought it best to call her quickly to his own, and she passed peacefully away to her reward and to the great beyond.

Two sisters of the deceased survive, Mrs. Louisa H. Arner, Mrs E B. Raymond of Oscola, Iowa, three grandchildren, Robert Wilson, Harriet Mary Wilson, William Tessman Wilson, other nieces and nephews were present.

JOHN E. MURPHY'S NEW PERCHERON STALLION

This horse has a showing record equalled by no other Percheron of his age in Michigan. Was shown at the leading state fairs of Michigan and Ohio in 1913 as a yearling, winning first at Marshall, Grand Rapids, Detroit and Adrian and second at Toledo. In 1914 as a 2-year-old he won 4th at the Forest City Fair, Cleveland, and the Ohio State Fair, Columbus, and first at the Michigan State Fair, Detroit. He was never shown without strong competition.

His color is black with a few gray hairs mixed through his coat and he weighs about 1800 lbs. He is recorded in the Percheron Society of America and his number is 97405. He has been examined by Dr. Judson Black, secretary of the Michigan State Veterinary Board and received a pure-bred license governed by the laws of the State of Michigan

Harry 97405 will make the season of 1916 at my barn on Tecumseh—Clinton road, 2½ miles north of Tecumseh.

His pedigree and license will be printed on hand bills later or for further particulars enquire of owner,

THAT CHEERFUL FRIEND

When all the world seems kind o' wrong,
And things ain't goin' right,
And when you've got the blues so bad,
You'd most give up the fight,
Your cheerful friend comes down the street;
His features seem to shine;
He greets you with these words: "By George,
Old chap, you're lookin' fine!"
You've simply got to tone up then,
No matter how you feel;
The world takes on a different look;
A smile begins to steal
Across your beaming countenance;
The very air is wine;
You pass on with the knowledge that
"By George, you're lookin' fine!"
You soon forget your aches an' pains;
It puts you back in tune
If there's any better tonic,
It would be earth's greatest boon—
The friend who slaps you on the back
With gusto half divine,
You're looking simply fine!"

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HERALD ADDS TO ITS EQUIPMENT.

Model 15 Mergenthaler Linotype Will Be Installed About May 1.

The above is a cut of the new linotype recently purchased by the Herald and which will be installed in our office about the first of May. This wonderful piece of machinery which has revolutionized the newspaper business and made it possible for newspapers to handle large quantities of copy is known as a Mergenthaler Linotype model 15 and is especially adopted for weekly and semi-weekly papers.

A linotype is operated by a key board similar to that of a typewriter. A magazine which contains the various matrices from which the type is cast occupies the upper part of the machine. The operator presses a key which releases a matrice. This matrice falls into place and when the operator assembles a line of them, he pushes a lever which shoves them into the casting device. A pot of molten metal is automatically tipped forward in such a manner as to pour the metal against the matrices. The impression of the letters to be cast is cut on the matrices so that after the metal is pressed against them a perfect line of type is the result.

After the type has been cast an arm of the machine reaches down, grabs the matrices and elevates them to the top of the magazine where they are again distributed into their seperate compartments and are ready for use again. The linotype will be operated by an electric motor.

This improvement will add greatly to the efficiency of the Herald equipment and will enable us to handle far more copy than formerly. The public is cordially invited to inspect this linotype after it has been set up and put in running order.

Thousands of the best women in the world are bearing the burden of backache, headache, dragging pains, a miserable half-dead, half-alive condition, produced by [illegible] internal derangements. Mrs. [illegible] Lacelle, 124 Glenora Ave., Ottawa East, Ontario, Canada, is one of the fair women of America who has had her experience with this sort of a burden. Her experience is similar to the multitude of other women whose letters are recorded in the "Ills of Life." A copy of this free booklet ought to be in the hands of every housewife in the United States. Read what Mrs. Lacelle says:

"I suffered with backache, headache and dragging pains for over nine months, and nothing relieved me until I took Peruna. This medicine is by far better than any other medicine for these troubles. A few bottles relieved me of my miserable half-dead, half-alive condition. I am now in good health, have neither ache nor pain, nor have I had any for the past year. If every suffering woman would take Peruna, they would soon know its value and never be without it."

DON'T MISTAKE THE CAUSE

Many Tecumseh People Have Kidney Trouble and Do Not Know It.

Do you have backache?
Are you tired and worn out?
Feel dizzy, nervous and depressed?
Are the kidney secretions irregular,
Highly colored, contain sediment?
Likely your kidneys are at fault.

Read this Tecumseh testimony.

George Chaplin, carpenter N. Ottawa St., Tecumseh says: "My kidneys were disordered and made me miserable. Knowing of several people in this vicinity who had used Doan's Kidney Pills with success, I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Son's Drug store and began using them. The results were very satisfactory. I am in hopes that other kidney sufferers will profit by reading of my experience."

AFTER A LAPSE OF OVER THREE YEARS, Mr. Chaplin said: "I willingly confirm the statement I gave before praising Doan's Pills. They always act just as represented."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mr. Chaplin had. Foster-Milburn Co, Props. Buffalo. N. Y. adv contraptions for corns. Here's some 'Gets-It', it's just wonderful how easy, 'clear and clean' it makes any corn come right off. Takes but a few seconds to apply. It dries at once. Put your sock on right over it,—there's nothing to stick or roll up, form a bundle of your toe, or press on the corn. It's painless, simple as rolling off a log. Now put away those knives, razors and scissors, use 'Gets-It' and you'll have a sweeter disposition and no more corns and calluses."

JAN CHRISTIAN SMUTZ

British Boer General Who Is Fighting In East Africa.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Thursday, Mar. 30.—Several German infantry attacks upon Avocourt wood, in an endeavor to take lost positions, failed, Paris reports. East of the Meuse there was heavy artillery fighting.

Berlin reports the repulse of repeated attacks by the French in efforts to recapture positions they had lost in the wood northwest of Avocourt.

Notwithstanding Count Von Bernstorff's statement that the numerous steamers sunk with Americans aboard without warning were victims of British mines, Washington is reported to be convinced that the sinkings were the work of submarines.

Friday, March 31.—Launching powerful attacks to increase the great advantage gained in the storming and capture of the village of Malancourt from the French, which is admitted by Paris, the Germans attempted to storm Hill 295 in the Mort Home region of the Verdun front and gained a footing in the French trenches. The midnight communique from Paris, which admits this advance, declared the Germans were promptly driven back by a furious counter attack.

Saturday, April 1.—The Germans by massed attacks from two directions, have obtained a footing in the village of Vaux, the French war office admits.

Berlin summarizes the recent Russian offensive, now apparently at a standstill, as barren of results for Emperor Nicholas's forces, while the Russian losses are estimated by the German headquarters staff to have been at least 140,000.

The air raids of Friday night over the English east counties resulted, according to the official British reports, in the killing of twenty-eight persons and injury of forty-four. The sensational feature of the raid was the falling of a damaged Zeppelin, the L-15, in the Thames estuary, where it was captured by British patrol boats, its crew surrendering.

Sunday, April 2.—Three Zeppelin raids were made over Great Britain in 36 hours. The raids Friday and Saturday nights resulted in 59 deaths and over 160 injuries. The third raid was over Edinburgh, Scotland, Sunday night.

The Germans launched heavy attacks against the French positions both to the west and east of the Meuse. To the west the attacks were repulsed, but to the east in the neighborhood of Fort Douaumont, the assaulting forces were able to penetrate the Caille wood, lying to the south. From the northern part of the wood they were almost immediately ejected by French counter attacks.

The British steamers Ashburton and Gold Mouth have been sunk by submarines

A city of 12,000 with about six modern, desirable dwellings for rent is the predicament Benton Harbor faces as result of a factory boom. Last week two score of workers moved into the city and 150 more are expected within the next month.

Olivet college it is announced is to have as its president Thomas F. Kane, Ph. D., LL. D., former president of the University of Washington and president (1913-14) of the National Association of State Universities. He will enter upon his new work July 1.

With feet frozen in walking from Lansing to Grand Rapids in his stockings, Walter Simmons, sixteen years old, who, with two other boys escaped from the State Industrial School for Boys at Lansing, was caught in the Black hills, southwest of Grand Rapids.

At a Chelsea crossing Mrs. Wm. G. Kerns and Mrs. John Bohnet, prominent Lansing women, were instantly killed when the Michigan Central Wolverine flyer struck the automobile in which they were returning with their husbands on a motor trip from Florida.

After mortgaging his Saginaw home to borrow money, Mayor H. F. Paddock, former treasurer, sent to the country treasurer a draft for $9,660.74, the amount he received from the Commercial National bank as interest on money placed in a fund in the bank known as "special."

MINES TELLS ALL ABOUT HIS CASE

Retired Merchant is Very Enthusiastic About Tanlac.

William Mines, a retired merchant of Coopersville, Michigan, and widely known all through that section of the state, makes the following interesting statement about Tanlac:

"I am past 70 years of age and recently became all run down following an attack of grippe. I was in rather bad condition, but used Tanlac and began to improve right away. I now feel fine. I eat heartily and sleep soundly from 9 p. m. to 6 a. m. I always take every opportunity of praising Tanlac".

Tanlac is endorsed by thousands as a great reconstructive tonic and appetizer Tanlac contains no harmful drugs or injurious minerals.

Misses Inez and Gladys, daughters of William Hartley, a Kawkawlin farmer, had a narrow escape from drowning when their horse slipped and went over the roadside into the Kawkawlin river, and was drowned.

J. E. Harrington, Deerfield, was in Monroe county jail on a charge of practicing medicine in LaSalle township, without being properly qualified in accordance with the Michigan statutes. The complaint was made by August Nebel.

Word has been received that Mrs. George Tebo, widow of Captain George Tebo, died in Chicago. Captain and Mrs. Tebo were former residents of Port Huron. The captain for years was one of the best-known marine men along the lakes.

Junior Lieutenant Ormand C. Pallthrop, who committed suicide on the cruiser Saratoga, was a resident of Petoskey. He was a graduate from the high school there and obtained his appointment to Annapolis from there. Judge C. S. Pallthrop was his father.

C. E. Churchill, 26 years connected with Petoskey newspapers and for 16 years owner and manager of the Petoskey Evening News and Reporter, Petoskey Independent Record and Churchill Printery, dropped dead. He had been ill four years. He was a Mason, Maccabee, Odd Fellow, Elk and secretary of Durand lodge F. & A. M., No 344, for 17 years.

U. S. SOLDIER IS KILLED IN RIOT

RACE WAR OVER NEGRO TROOPS

Villa Has Decamped and Moves South. General Pershing, in Report, Reiterates Outlaw Leader Is Wounded. Arrietta Brothers, Former Villistas, Cause American Concern Million Loss.

El Paso, April 10.—Private Ward, Company A, Twenty-fourth infantry, was killed in a riot at Del Rio, Tex. Several other soldiers were injured.

Washington, April 10.—Serious trouble has developed between the colored troops of the Twenty-fourth infantry at Del Rio, Tex., and residents of Del Rio, according to a telegram received by Representative Garner, of Texas, and referred by Mr. Garner to Secretary Baker. The telgram, which is signed by District Judge Joseph Jones, District Attorney C. C. Belcher and Sheriff John R. Ammond, declares that the trouble at Del Rio started following the shooting of a soldier of the Twenty-fourth infantry [illegible] the Texas rangers. It adds that a large number of negro soldiers of the Twenty-fourth infantry surrounded the ranger's house, firing volleys of shots, but without casualties. The telegram urged that steps be taken at once to prevent bloodshed. Immediately upon receipt of the telegram the secretary of war telegraphed General Funston to make an investigation and to take precautions to obviate the possibility of further trouble. Secretary Baker also directed that a full report of the incident be sent to him without delay.

El Paso, April 10.—Reiteration of the report that Francisco Villa is wounded was received in a report from Bigadier General Pershing, commanding the punitive expedition seeking the bnadit who a month ago made a raid across the international boundary into Columbus N. M., where he commanded at a massacre of soldiers and civilians. General Pershing's report to Major General Funston again asserting Villa is wounded does not reveal the bandit's location.

People Refuse Villa Help.

Colonel George A. Dodd's cavalry has reached Parral, the general understanding is. Villa has been reported as having arrived on the outskirts of Parral and sent in emissaries to obtain supplies and to sound sentiment to determine if he could rally the armed forces at that place to his standard. Apparently he failed in this and may have hastened away.

While Colonel W. C. Brown and the Tenth cavalry was believed to be leading in the race to Parral, army headquarters officers have information inclining them to believe that Colonel Dodd, with his picked detachment of troopers was the American column to reach that point, which is not far from the border between the states of Chihuahua and Durango.

Arousing Anti-American Sentiment.

Anti-American sentiment is spreading in the section Villa is entering, it was shown by the confirmation of the news that the Arietta brothers, formerly identified with the bandit general, have inflicted a million dollar loss on an American concern by burning the big lumber plant of the Compania Madera, in the state of Durango.

Shouting, "Down with the gringoes," the Arietta bandits made a raid upon the plant and deliberately applied the torch. Hiram Smith, president of the company, owning the plant, received advices telling of the raid.

Villa Orders Americans Killed.

Villa has been trying to reach this section of Durango, where bands of outlaws, formerly of his command, have been terrorizing the residents. He has sent ahead word to kill all Americans and destroy all American property.

News has just reached here of the raid on a small garrison in a town near Jiminez. The Villistas, retreating south before the driving American advance, entered the town, attacked the garrison, killed Colonel Flores, commander of the Carranza troops, and looted the place. They appealed to the Carranza soldiers to join them in opposing the Americans.

Villistas Discuss Peace Terms.

Telegrams from Torreon announce that a peace commission is meeting near there with General Jose Banderas and his band of Villistas to discuss terms by which the Villa adherents can surrender. Banderas offers to surrender within a week if allowed six weeks in which to bring in all his men, but the Carranzistas insisted on shorter time, fearing Banderas was playing for time in which to permit Villa to reach that section and take command.

Lieut.-Col. Rivers Near Death.

The telegrams from the field hospital at Colonia Dublen, Mexico, said that Leutenant-Colonel Rivers, thisteenth cavalry, is ill with pneumonia and that his recovery is doubtful. He is too ill to be brought to the border. Of the entire force now in Mexico, estimated here at 12,000 men, only a little more than 200 have been brought back to the border ill since the expedition entered Mexico. This is considered by army medical men as a small percentage, considering the hardships undergone by the men and the cold weather they have encountered.

Prisoners Help Americans.

Columbus, April 10.—Fifteen prisoners taken by the advance column as suspected Villistas are doing much to turn the sentiment of the natives in favor of the Americans on account of the treatment received by the prisoners. The American dollar is bringing many Mexican merchants with their goods into the U. S. camps as the column penetrates the territory reached by the southern railroads.

General Pershing is in receipt of information from his advance columns which declares the pursuit of Villa is now to the south of here and reports all men and horses well acclimated by this time and in excellent condition.

BETHINCOURT IS LOST BY FRENCH

Teutons Win Important Salient on Verdun Front.

PARIS ADMITS EVACUATION

Teutons Follow Up Victory With Furious Assaults—French Gain in Cross Trench Warfare Near Douaumont. Many Prisoners Taken—French Strategic Railroad in Peril.

London, April 10.—The great German drive west of the Meuse has at last captured Bethincourt. The peak of the French salient, which has been the object of the German attacks for nearly two weeks, was evacuated by the French Saturday night, according to the midnight communiqué from Paris, and a terrific battle raged along the entire line from Bethincourt to the Meuse Sunday, with the crown prince's forces moking furious attacks to break through to the Verdun-St. Menehould railway.

Military critics here agree that the advance is the most important made by the Germans since the drive southward along Forges Creek [illegible] nearly four weeks ago, and though the French retreat has been predicted for days its importance is in no way minimized.

Menace to Germans.

Bethincourt, lying approximately ten miles northwest of the city of Verdun, has been held by the French in the face of terrific German attacks for many days, while the Teuton advance continued both east and west of the town, leaving that stronghold as a serious flanking menace to the Germans advancing around Malancourt and west of Mort Homme. The danger of a flanking attack by the French was a constant check on the German drive, while the French on the other hand faced a cross fire which threatened to cut off 120,000 men defending the salient.

French Strengthen Line.

By the retreat from the town and the abandonment of this position projecting like a spear into the German front the French have straightened out their line to a position much more easily defended, but offering the Germans a clearer line of attack.

At the same time the advance may mean serious result if the new French lines are not strongly held, as the move toward the French connecting railway is now opened to straight attacks.

French Gain Near Douaumont.

Hand-to-hand fighting in the communication trenches south of Douaumont village, where the chief French attacks have been launched for the past ten days, resulted in the capture of nearly 200 yards of German trenches, according to the official report received from Paris, which says a number of prisoners were taken.

Italian Progress Reported.

Rome, April 10.—Violent artillery duels on several points of the Austro-Italian front and several local successes are reported by the war office. Between Ozli and Vodli, where the Italians executed a successful surprise attack a few days ago, 131 prisoners, including five officers were taken.

BIG EXCURSION BOAT SOLD

S. S. Theodore Roosevelt Brings $90,000 at Foreclosure Proceedings.

Laporte, April 10.—The steamer Theodore Roosevelt, owned by the Indiana Transportation company, was sold in the Superior court here. The vessel has operated for a number of years between Chicago and Michigan City.

Foreclosure proceedings upon unpaid bonds, had been brought by the Detroit Trust company and Philip Zorn, who asked judgment for $90,000. The ship was bid in by Charles E. Arnt of Michigan City for $90,173.61.

GREEK TREASURY BANKRUPT

Minister of Finance Resigns and Whole Government May Quit.

London, April 10.—Stephen W. Dragoumis, Greek minister of finance, has resigned because of the depletion of the treasury, according to the Athens correspondent of Reuters. Former Premier Rallis is his successor.

The Central News correspondent in Rome says it is believed the entire ministry will resign.

BADLY HURT, GIVES ALARM

Youth Injured in Smash-Up Saves His Boarding House.

Lansing, April 10.—Walter Street, aged twenty-three years, was injured in a motorcycle smashup and has been confined to his bed with bruises and sprains. Fire broke out in his rooming house. As all of the others were out, Walter ran for the fire engine house, two blocks away. He fell twice on his trip, cut one foot badly but finally managed to limp into the engine house, leaving a trail of blood behind him.

TRY TO WRECK M. C. TRAIN

Miscreants Pile Ties in Front of Flyer at Battle Creek.

Battle Creek, April 10.—The fact has leaked out that an attempt was made to wreck the eastbound Pullman train on the Michigan Central, due in Battle Creek at 9:26 p. m., by piling three big ties across the tracks near the Advance Rumely plant. The ties were knocked aside by the engine.

The near accident was not discovered until the pilot of a passenger engine was found smashed next day.

Civil War Veteran Dies.

Grant, Mar. 27.—Conrad Kritzer, seventy-eight years of age, of Grant, was buried. He settled in this county in 1894. He was a civil war veteran.

LA FOLLETTE WINS IN WISCONSIN PRIMARIES

Final Figures Show Great Upset in Results.

Milwaukee, April 10.—One of the biggest surprises in the political history of Wisconsin was sprung when the final figures in the vote for candidates for delegates to the Republican national convention were totaled and showed that Robert M. La Follette, heretofore considered beaten, would control the Wisconsin delegation by two votes. The delegation will stand: Progressives, 14; conservatives, 12.

The returns from the first had given Philipp and his delegates a majority of anywhere from 4 to 14. The conservatives carried the industrial centers outside of Milwaukee, such as Beloit and Janesville, considered strong La Follette territory previously.

La Follette will have three delegates at large. Philipp received the highest number of votes of the candidates for delegates at large, 69,161.

TANNER WINS IN NEW YORK

[illegible] April 10.—The newly elected Republican state committee re-elected as chairman Frederick C. Tanner of this city.

The result was regarded by the chairman's friends as adding strength to the movement favoring Supreme Court Justice Charles E. Hughes for the presidency and toward a renomination for Governor Charles S. Whitman. Mr. Tanner's second choice is Elihu Root, and he says there is no sentiment in the delegation for Roosevelt.

DAUGHTER OF MAYOR DIES IN AUTO CRASH

Elsie Fathers and Charles Carr Killed at Janesville.

Janesville, Wis., April 10.—Miss Elsie Fathers and Charles Carr were killed at South Janesville when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Rockford and Janesville interurban car.

The bodies were horribly mangled and the force with which the interurban struck the auto reduced it to scraps.

Turn Down Canal Project.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The army engineers reported adversly on the construction of a water way from Lake Superior to the Mississippi river by way of Allouez bay and the Amicon, Moose and St. Croix rivers.

DANISH VESSEL IS DAMAGED

Two British Ships Are Reported Sunk by Lloyds.

London, April 10.—The Danish steamer Asger Ryg, of 1,134 registered tons, has been seen badly damaged south of the Isle of Wight, says a report to Lloyds.

Lloyds also report the British steamer Avon, 1,574 tons, has been sunk and the British steamship Adamton of 2,304 tons has been reported sunk.

Dublin Journalist Dies.

London, April 10.—Wilfred Philip Ward, author and editor of the Dublin Review, died at Hampstead, aged sixty years.

REO

This Is Reo Year

EVERYTHING POINTS to that—everything indicates not only that the coming year will be the greatest Reo has ever known, but that the Reo policy will exert a greater influence on the automobile industry than ever before.

ALREADY YOU'VE NOTICED the tendency to emulate Reo in many features of design and construction—the "Sheerline" body of the New Reo Six is the acknowledged fashion plate, while Reo cantilever springs, Reo control and countless other mechanical features are being imitated as nearly as may be.

BUT AS THE YEAR PASSES you'll see more evidence of Reo influence on the trade generally.

FOR EXAMPLE, there's a greater divergence of engineering ideas this year than ever before. There's more types of motors and of cars—and no one dominant type.

OUT OF THAT CONFUSION—that babel of tongues arguing about and disputing over countless new and radical ideas—will come the decision that most or all of them are only engineering fallacies.

REO HAS BEEN CRITICISED for what some term our ultra-conservatism.

WE DON'T MIND—that has been the chief factor in the splendid Reo success. We don't change easily or often so we make less mistakes than others,

WE DON'T EXPLOIT our friends—so we keep them. We hold as sacred the confidence of Reo buyers—and as a result, this industry knows nothing that quite equals the loyalty of the Reo clientele.

AND SO WE SAY that this year of radicalism; this year of wild experimenting; this year of confusion will prove to be the Reo Year—because it will vindicate as no other year ever has, the Reo policy.

IF YOU ARE of an inventive or an adventurous turn, this is a great year to gratify your propensity for experimenting.

BUT IF YOU ARE one of those more serious minded persons who want value for your every dollar; who buy an automobile for service, not for the stunts it will perform;—

AND ABOVE ALL if you'd be certain when you draw your check that you are getting the best there is to be had in Simon-pure automobile value and the lowest maintenance cost—then come along with us—for this is Reo Year.

Formosa's Umbrella Snake.

Venomous snakes take the place of wild beasts in Formosa, and their attacks are formidable, says a Japanese traveler, who has just returned from a trip in the southern island. There is a venomous snake on that island by the name of amagasahebi, so called from its umbrella-like head. This snake is generally found in watery places, often in a ditch flowing out of a kitchen. A maid working in a kitchen is not infrequently startled at the ugly appearance of the snake. The animal makes a peculiar noise by the nimble movement of its tongue. A slight touch of its fangs is fatal. A native of the island was bitten by the snake in the thumb. A doctor who treated the wound made a simple application. The man returned home, thinking the wound would soon be cured, but to his consternation his arm had swollen up. He soon lost sight and hearing. Next morning he was dead. —East and West News.

Animal and Plant Life In Brine.

Human Sacrifices.

In battle the Aztecs strove to save life so that they could use their prisoners as human sacrifices to the gods. They had the art of ambush reduced to such a science that it was nothing unusual for them to bring home 25,000 prisoners after a campaign. Their battles were not fought for the sake of any principle, nor yet to gain territory. They fought in order to capture prisoners, and the hot headed young soldiers were given wooden swords, for fear they might in the heat of battle unwittingly slay a foe. A dead enemy was already dead, and hence of no value for sacrificial purposes. Were the Aztecs humans? Well, not so that you could notice. But their destruction of prisoners on the altars of their beautiful temples was done in the name of religion and hence not reprehensible.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Test For a Field Glass.

Inquiry has it that the absolute and infallible test of a field glass by the purchaser is to see what size letters can be read across the street from the optician's shop.

It isn't. The real test is to climb up a long and bushy hill until the breath comes a hundred to the minute, then snatch for the glass, reposing in a shirt pocket, to see whether the buck is the one you want before you fire. If it won't go in your shirt pocket it is not the glass you want; others are made that will. If it shakes in your agitated hands it is not the glass you want. You cannot see enough more with a high power glass to pay for the times when it is unusable, because you cannot hold it steady.—Outing.

A Literary Coincidence.

"My father, W. Clark Russell," said Herbert Russell in telling of a literary coincidence, "had finished maturing the plot of his novel, 'The Death Ship,' which is a version of the legend of Vanderdecken. I was his amanuensis at the time. He said to me, 'Tomorrow we will begin the story.' On the following morning when I entered his study to take his dictation of the opening lines he showed me a letter he had just received. It was from W. S. Gilbert, the well known dramatist, asking him why he did not write a novel about the Flying Dutchman."

Eternal Lamps.

A common superstition that the ancients possessed the art of making lamps which would burn forever for a long time obtained, and it was claimed that one such lamp was discovered in the tomb of Rosicrucius. Science, however, has long set this, together with other superstitions, forever at rest, since it has been demonstrated that fire will not burn in a chamber from which the air has been exhausted.

Clear Air.

The air is so clear at Arequipa, Peru, that from the observatory at that place, 8,000 feet above the sea, a black spot one inch in diameter placed on a white disk has been seen on Mount Charchani, a distance of eleven miles, through a thirteen inch telescope.

Both Busy.

"I'm worn out. I've been breaking in a new cook."

"I've got my hands full too. I'm breaking in a new husband."—Browning's Magazine.

PETITION TO THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

The following is a copy of the petition to be submitted to the School Board of District No. 7 together with the signers asking that a special meeting be called for the purpose of submitting the school house question to the vote of the tax-payers.

To the Hon. Board of Education of School District, No. 7, Township of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan:

We, the undersigned tax payers and legal voters in said district, hereby request that a special meeting of said district be called, to be held about the middle of the month of April, 1916, and that there be then submitted to said district the question of bonding the district in the sum of Seventy-five Thousand Dollars (75,000) for the purpose of a new school building.

WILLIAM TUCKER

The funeral of William Tucker was held at St. Elizabeth Catholic church Saturday at 10 a. m. Rev. Father O'Donald officiating. The Church was filled with sympathizing neighbors and friends. The little form was laid to rest in Brookside cemetery. Those from out-of-town who were here for the funeral were Miss Margret Tucker of Wheeling, W. Virginia, Clarence Jack and son Jack and Mrs. Alvin Lancy of Toledo.

Soy Beans a Human Food.

Soy bean flour may be used much the same way as cornmeal. Although this crop has been grown in America for a quarter of a century, says the Farm and Home, it has been used only for a stock feed, while in China and Japan it has been used for human food for many centuries.

Practically the only use made of soy bean flour so far in this country is in certain types of illness where it is desirable to limit the amount of starch fed the patient. Flour made from ripe soy beans, although rich in protein and oil, contains little or no starch. This, mixed with wheat flour, therefore increases the protein content and lowers the starch content, while the bread is very similar in appearance to ordinary wheat bread. When more than 25 per cent soy bean flour is used the character of the bread or cakes is materially altered.

Wanted the Test.

A western professor said one day that he could tell good soil by tasting it, and a man in the east end who saw the statement promptly packed a box and sent it to him by parcel post. He also inclosed this note:

"Dear Professor—I saw what you said about tasting soil and am sending a sample selected haphazard from my back yard. I wish you'd give it the palate test and tell me frankly what you think. I don't seem to have any luck with it myself. My cabbages came up without heads, my potatoes have been mistaken for chestnuts, my onions are scentless, and my corn looks like bird shot. Bite off a chunk and let me hear from you. Never mind about returning the balance. Keep it for dessert. Write soon."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mystery of the Egg.

An egg for one thing is a succession of bags bagged up in one another, a series of envelopes enveloped in one another, bags and envelopes without joints, seams or openings. Puzzles, ships built up and full rigged in bottles, flies in amber, are simplicity itself as puzzles when it comes to how these bags wrap one another up, bag in bag. In a hen's egg there are eight or nine or ten of the sacks in sacks ensacked. Everybody thinks he knows what an egg is, but after weary reading and study in many languages he begins to learn that nobody knows a tiny fraction of all the world of secrets; and mysteries hidden in an egg. "As full of meat as an egg" is not the true comparison, but "as full of mystery as an egg" is nearer the truth.—Exchange.

ELWIN B. CLARK

Elwin B Clark announces himself as a candidate on the Republican ticket at the August primaries for the office of Register of Deeds. Mr. Clark was born in the township of Rollin, where he continued to reside until about eight years ago, all this time was spent on the same farm on which he was born. He was educated in the public schools of the township, and later attended the high school in the city of Hudson. About [illegible] Mr. Clark removed to the city of Adrian, and for the most of the time since removing to the city of Adrian he has been engaged in the real estate business, the last five years being a member of the firm of Goodsell & Clark. Mr. Clark is a young man has a wife and children, and feels that his education and experience is such that he is well qualified to perform the duties of this office. Mr. Clark has a wide acquaintance throughout the entire country, and asks the support of the voters at the primaries. If nominated and elected to the office he promises to use his best endeavors in carrying on the duties of the office, treat all impartially, and to conduct the office in accordance with the law. He has never held or been a candidate for any public office. He is a Republican and believes in the principles of the Republican party. adv

FRED NUTTEN

Announcement is made of the candidacy of Fred Nutten, the present Under-Sheriff of Lenawee County, for Republican nomination of Sheriff, at the August primary, 1916. Mr Nutten is a man experienced along the various duties required of an officer. He was Deputy Sheriff for four years under Ex-Sheriff Knowles and has served as Under Sheriff under Charles E Henig, the present Sheriff of Lenawee County, for over three years.

Fred Nutten is a man in the prime of life and believes he is well qualified to fulfil the obligations of Sheriff in a firm and impartial manner.

He has always been a staunch Republican and an energetic worker in the advancement of the fundamental principles of that party. In 1912 Mr. Nutten was elected clerk of Woodstock Township, being the only Republican to attain a majority of votes over the opponent in that Democratic township.

He earnestly solicits the support of all qualified voters at the August primary. In case of his nomination and election, he pledges himself to perform the duties of Sheriff in a fair and impartial manner. adv.

COMMUNICATIONS

SHALL WE OR SHALL WE NOT?

MR. MERCHANT:

There are some merchants who make a practice of lowering the shades of their show windows on Sundays, presumably on the assumption that if the displays were left open to view, sales would be made and that would be contrary to our religious teachings regarding the Sabbath.

Without wishing to appear in the least cynical, however, I have generally ascribed this custom to another motive that may not be altogether untainted by commercialism. Some merchants, at least, have frankly told me that they considered the practice of keeping the windows closed on Sunday a good advertisement for the store. They hold that it gives "class" to the store and sets it apart from the common run of stores which permits the public to inspect the merchandise in the windows seven days in the week.

Yet this may be, it seems a bit odd to walk down a business street and see a big store with the window shades tightly drawn, while on either side are stores selling equally good merchandise to the same trade with the windows wide open.

I am irrevocably opposed to Sunday store-keeping, but there are many cities in which, in fine weather, a considerable part of the population gets a good deal of pleasure from strolling along and looking at window displays. Many of these people find it impossible or inconvenient to inspect the windows on week days, so for their sakes, trim your windows (They may 'phone for something.) This, however, is a matter that has to be decided by the individual merchant according as he may receive light from his inner consciousness.

"HULLO"

When you see a man in woe
Walk right up and say "hullo"
Say "hullo," an' "how d'ye do!
How's the world a-usin' you?
Slap the fellow on his back
Bring you han' down with a whack;
Waltz right up, an' don't go slow,
Grin an' shake an' say "hullo!"

Is he clothed in rags? O sho!
Walk right up an' say "hullo"!
Rags is but a cotton roll
Jest for wrappin' up a soul;
An' a soul is worth a true,
Hale an' hearty "how d'ye do!"
Don't wait for the crowd to go
Walk right up and say "hullo!"

When big vessels meet, they say,
They saloot an' sail away
Jest the some are you an' me,
Lonesome ships on a sea;
Each one sailing his own jog,
For a port beyond the bog.
Let your speakin' trumpet blow,
Lift your horn an' say "Hullo!"

Say "Hullo" an' "How d'ye do!"
Other folks are good as you
W'en you leave your house of clay,
Wanderin' in the Far Away
W'en you travel through the strange
Country t'other side the range.
Then the souls you've cheered will know,
Who you be an' say "Hullo!"

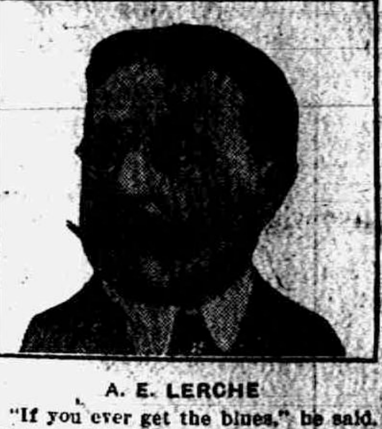
A. E. Lerche of Springfield Gives a Recipe for Getting Over the Blues



A. E. LERCHE

"If you ever get the blues," he said, "it is well to know the simplest and best way to get rid of them. Crankiness, nervousness and general upset condition preceding the blues usually are due to the relentless grip of constipation on the nervous system. The simplest way to meet this condition is to have a box of Rexall Orderlies in your pocket and the best way is to take one when you feel the attack coming on. It is the finest laxative for men, women and children I know of, and is a regular antidote for the blues—the best ever."

Spain as a Republic.

Isabella II. when thirteen years old was declared of age by the cortes in 1846, and after a stormy reign of twenty-five years was deposed by a revolution which began in the fleet on Sept. 18, 1868, and was joined by the garrison and city of Cadiz and by nearly all of Spain during the month. A provisional government was established and Marshal Serrano was made regent. The cortes voted for a monarchy on May 21, 1869, and after several offers of the throne had been refused it was finally accepted by Amadeus, duke of Aosta, who was proclaimed king on Nov. 7, 1870.

After an uncomfortable reign he abdicated in 1873 and was succeeded by another republic, which lasted for two years, when Alfonso XII, son of Queen Isabella and father of the present king, was elevated to the throne.

SAVE BELGIUM

A Few Cents From Each Will Help

Tecumseh always responds nobly to the care of the helpless. The demand for the Belgian flags was so great the supply was soon exhausted. A fresh lot is now on hand, and may be purchased at not less than seven cents from C. A. Wrights store, F. J. Temple at Lilley State Bank and Mrs. J. C. Law Hardy.

The number of destitute in Belgium is so great that if every one of these flags printed is sold at seven cents, it means only half a weeks supply of food to those stricken people. Remember we cannot forecast our own fate if war should come to US. The success of our flag day (Saturday) was largely due to the Misses Gertrude Turner and Marjory Field, Georgiana Conklin and Helen McIntyre, Ariel Cummins, Lena Gratz and Edna Taylor.

Dr. Hayden has had thirty years experience and was formerly medical examiner for the United States government, now authorized and licensed by the state of Mich. to treat all chronic diseases of men, women and children.

That every one may have an opportunity to consult the doctor without cost, it has been decided that the doctor will visit principal towns at least once every 90 days and demonstrate to the sick and afflicted in every community the latest successful methods of treating these long standing diseases without surgical operation.

The diseases treated are: Diseases of stomach, bowels, liver, blood, skin, kidneys nerves, heart, spleen, eye, ear, nose, throat, falling of the hair, hydrocele, varicocele, swelling of the limbs enlarged veins, leg ulcers, rheumatism, sciatica (sciatic rheumatism), paralysis, weak lung, catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, appendicitis, tumors, enlarged glands, goitre, piles, backward children and all diseases of long standing of men, women and children that have baffled the skill of the family physician.

Married ladies must be accompanied by their husbands and minors with their parents.

Burns and Fame.

It is amusing to learn that Burns when just emerging from obscurity jocularly anticipated that his birthday would come to be noted among other remarkable events. In a letter to his early patron, Gavin Hamilton, in 1786 he says, "For my own affairs I am in a fair way of becoming as eminent as Thomas à Kempis or John Bunyan, and you may henceforth expect to see my birthday inscribed among the wonderful events in the Poor Robin and Aberdeen almanacs along with the Black Monday and the battle of Bothwell Bridge."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

An Eye-opener About

FERTILIZER

Last week the man I used to buy fertiliser of called. I was glad to see him as he has a better job now and doesn't get out of Chicago very often. He talked to me a lot about fertiliser, I can't tell you all he said, but one thing I remember; I spoke about the high price of fertiliser: now, he said.

"Do you realise that the difference is the price of fertiliser now and last year is only the price of one bushel of corn per acre. If you don't use fertiliser this year, you will be saving at the tap and losing at the bung."

He went on to say that just because the Germans won't let us have any potash is no reason to go back and sit down and say we won't raise as much grain this year. Now potash is about the only thing in fertiliser that has gone up in price to amount to anything. You can buy blood, bone, and tankage of ARMOUR at the same old price and put back on the soil what you take off when you sell a bunch of hogs, steers, or sheep.

Better get your order in at once; there is such a demand for guns and shells that there are not enough box cars to go around. Later shipments may be delayed. Suppose you write or phone in so we can save you some of the first that comes.

DOLPH HEESEN HEARD FROM

In a recent letter from our friend R. A. Heesen, who is spending several months in lower California, he has the following to say about our school house question;

"I have forgotten the date on which they vote on the school house proposition but hope it will not be until I return." The people there do not know what a schoolhouse means to a country." "I was up in San Fernando Valley with Bert Garlinghouse a few days ago and we took our dinners with us and had a picnic dinner on the schoolhouse steps" "It was in the north end of this valley and we found five or ten workmen in the building." "The contractor told me that they had 100 pupils last year and would have probably 126 this year," "They have built a schoolhouse that to my best judgement would cost from $50,000.00 to $75,000.00 with all the modern improvements, an auditorium with stage settings and all the scenery, together with a picture show, cooking schools, etc." "This building was two stories high, with a library at each end of the building, school rooms on both floors, the auditorium and the cooking school were built in the rear and the gentleman that I was talking to said that that schoolhouse in that district would sell the land much more quickly in five and ten acre plats than it would if they did not have a schoolhouse," "Across the corner from this new building was a schoolhouse about the size of the west branch and why anyone in our school district should have their hammers out after seeing what I have seen in California is a mystery to me."

"They think nothing of building school houses out here from $50,000.00 to $750,000.00 in a country where it seems that they would not have school children enough to even occupy the first floor." "So when this thing comes to an election I hope that the people will bury their hammers and vote unanimously for a school building for our town anywhere from $50,000.00 to $100,000.00" "Try and do things as they do in California and we will have just as good a country as they have here."

WORK THAT TELLS

Plenty of It Has Been Done Right Here In Tecumseh

To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine you must investigate its work Doan's Kidney Pills stand this test and plenty of proof exists right here in Tecumseh. People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders, now give confirmed testimony—declare the results have lasted. How can any Tecumseh sufferer longer doubt the evidence?

Mrs. Sarah E. Austin, Pearl St., Tecumseh, says: I suffered from distressing symptoms of kidney complaint for more than a year. When some one told me that Doan's Kidney Pills were good in such cases, I got a supply at Wright & Son's Drug store. They helped me immediately and I continued using them until well."

NO KIDNEY TROUBLE SINCE. OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mrs. Austin added: "I have had no need of Doan's Kidney Pills or any other kidney medicine since giving my former endorsement. I can still recommend this medicine highly."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mrs Austin had. Foster-Milburn Co, Props Buffalo N. Y. adv

WHERE DRUGGISTS FLOURISH.

How the Business Is Run In the South American Republics.

Latin Americans are great believers in medicines and, due to the scarcity of physicians, are obliged to "doctor" themselves. Pharmacy is consequently profitable. With the exception of modern Europe, Canada and the United States pharmacy is practiced in other lands of the world much as it was in the United States seventy-five or a hundred years ago, and this is particularly true of the republics to the south of us.

The individual druggist makes his own pills, extracts, tinctures, infusions and pulverizes his own crude drugs. Soda water fountains are few. The usual rubber goods, toilet articles, soaps, perfumes, instruments and sundries are carried.

Each druggist makes a line of his own specialties which he pushes. In addition to the standard drugs and medicines, he also carries remedies and medicaments known only in his immediate vicinity. They are mostly of Indian origin, compounded from roots, herbs or other ingredients, produced only in the country where he lives. These find a ready sale among all classes.

Superstitious ideas are prevalent, and these are frequently taken advantage of by the unscrupulous. One pharmacist made a fortune selling Indians, half castes, and whites, for that matter, too, "pink love powders" and "white love powders." The white love powder was pulverized sugar, while the pink love powder was made of the same material colored. Indians would walk hundreds of miles to buy this precious powder.—Leslie's Weekly.

THE GARDEN OF EDEN.

It Is Said to Have the Most Trying Climate In the World.

The chief peculiarity about Kurna is that the natives believe the place where they live is the exact site of the garden of Eden.

The climate of Kurna is acknowledged to be the most trying in all the world. The heat is terrific in the summer time. It is claimed that the British government has a record of 159 degrees in the shade upon the bridge of a boat anchored in the river at Busreh, a little to the south.

The missionaries at Busreh tell of nights when the thermometer registers not less than 125 degrees. British sailors bound for the Persian gulf in the summer time usually desert if they can. Perhaps in Arizona the thermometer rises nearly as high, but there is the dry air, while in the Persian gulf it is exceedingly moist.

The Europeans at Busreh must pass the days in underground chambers, or serdaubs, while a native boy pulls a huge fan, or punkah, suspended from the ceiling to keep the air in circulation. The nights are spent on the roof, for it is impossible to sleep below.

In the winter time the air seems exceedingly cold, for the marshes are filled with salt, and as the wind sweeps over the plain the moist air is peculiarly penetrating. Frequently the Arab, benumbed by the cold, falls from his horse.—Christian Herald.

Where Plato Taught.

The famous academy of Plato was in a suburb of Athens, about a mile north of the Dypilum gate. It is said to have belonged to the hero Academus; hence the name. It was surrounded with a wall and adorned with walks, groves and fountains. Plato possessed a small estate in the neighborhood and for some fifty years taught his "divine philosophy" to young and old assembled in the academy to listen to his wise words. After Plato's death in 348 B. C. the academy lost much of its fame, but the beauty remained for centuries after the great teacher was no more.—New York American.

CLEVELAND GETS SPEAKER

New York, April 10.—Tristram Speaker, one of the greatest outfielders in baseball and for the last two years the highest salaried player in the game, was traded by the Boston Americans to the Cleveland club of the same league. In return for Speaker Boston will receive two players, Pitcher S. P. Jones and another to be chosen later, and a cash consideration.

Cincinnati, O., April 10.—James Dunn, owner of the Cleveland Indians, said that the price paid for Tris Speaker, star Red Sox center fielder, was over $50,000.

"WILD BOB" BURMAN KILLED IN AUTO RACE

Mechanician Also Dies In Crash at Corona.

Corona, Cal., April 10.—"Wild Bob" Burman of Detroit, Mechanician Eric Schrader of Chicago, and Track Policeman W. H. Speer, dead, and five spectators injured, three of whom may die—that made up the tragedy that wound up the third annual Corona road race.

Burman suffered a fractured skull, several ribs were crushed and both legs were broken. Burman died in the city hospital at Riverside, where he was taken from the track. Mrs. Burman was with her husband soon after the accident and remained with him until he died.

"Wild Bob" Burman deserved the name. He was noted more for his disregard of danger than for his triumps.

OCTOGENARIAN AT 81 WEDS HOTEL COOK 34

If He Gets Poor He's Sure of His Eats.

Hillsdale, April 10.—The story has just been learned of the wedding in Hillsdale a few days ago of Cyrus K. Fairfield, eighty-one years old, of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Mary Edith Fogle, thirty-four years old, of Muncie, Ind.

Mr. Fairfield said while here that he owns worth about $500,000 and had only one child, a daughter, who refused to make a home for him, so that he had to live at a hotel for several years.

The woman he was marrying had been the pastry cook at the hotel where he had been living, he said, and she was willing to look after him the rest of his life, so they decided to cast their fortunes together.

PLANNING TO RAISE FUNDS

Poor Relief Survey Suffers for Lack of Financial Provision.

Lansing, April 10.—The commission authorized by the last legislature to make a survey of the existing system of relief for the poor in Michigan organized in the office of the state board of charities and corrections by electing Benjamin P. Merrick of Grand Rapids chairman and Marl T. Murray, of the board of charities and corrections, secretary.

Although the commission is hampered by lack of any money appropriation, plans were laid tentatively, for the actual carrying on of the work. The sum of $6,000, it is estimated, will be needed and it is thought that philanthropists in Detroit and Grand Rapids and in other sections of the state can be prevailed upon to finance the work.

TO ORGANIZE AGAINST RUM

Anti-Saloon League Will Organize for a Dry Michigan.

Lansing, April 10.—Arrangements for the complete organization of the entire state county by county between now and September 1 were made at a meeting of the executive committee of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league.

Before another month is over the leaders expect to have in every one of the 83 counties a nucleus of an organization. To accomplish this two parties of state organizers will start at the lower line of the state the middle of the month. One party will take the east side and the other the west side. In counties where the league now has an organization there will be an injection of "ginger." When the lower peninsula is finished the two parties will move on to the upper.

"Catch Jennie," Youth's Request.

Grand Rapids, April 10.—A wail for $5 given a girl in distress was heard clear across Lake Michigan when Superintendent of Police Carroll received a letter from Frank Foerstee, of Sheboygan, Wis., asking that a girl named "Jennie" be arrested for swindling him.

Well Known Stockman Dies.

Detroit, April 10.—Edwin J. Roe, promtnent commission merchant and son of Charles Roe, founder of the first live stock commission company in Michigan, died after an illness of only four days. His death occurred on his father's birthday anniversary

Cheboyganites In Wreck.

Cheboygan, April 10.—Mrs. M. D. Olds and daughters, Florence, Blanche and Gertrude, of Cheboygan, were among the passengers picked up from lifeboats by the British destroyer when the Japanese steamship Chiyo Maru grounded off Hong Kong.

Old Board Bill Comes Back.

Their Fate.

VERDUN BATTLE GROWS IN FURY

Germans Gain New Line, Lose 74,500 in Drive.

DEAD PILED HIGH IN ASSAULT

Paris Admits Loss of 500 Yards of Trenches—Declares Terrific Onslaught Following Bethincourt Evacuation Have Been Checked—Berlin Claims Capture of Pepper Hill.

LONDON, ENG. — With German losses estimated at 74,500 men killed, wounded and captured in the terrific assaults which began on Friday and resulted in squeezing the French out of the Bethincourt salient, the great battle for Verdun has entered its forty-first day with the crown prince hurling new masses of men against the reorganized French lines extending from Avocourt on the west to Vaux on the northeast of the fortress.

Undeterred by their losses, which are undoubtedly enormous, the Germans continue their furious offensive against the French lines on Dead Man's hill and Hill No. 295, capturing 500 yards of French trenches on the latter eminence. Violent infantry attacks were also made against Hill No. 304, which is the peak of a new salient in the French lines west of the Meuse, similar to but much smaller than the evacuated Bethincourt salient.

In this fighting, Paris reports, the Germans used their old massed formation and were repulsed with enormous losses, leaving great heaps of dead on the field.

Berlin, however, claims the capture of nearly 1,000 prisoners in the day's fighting, and declares the lost positions on Pepper hill, north of Verdun, have been taken and the ravine to the south of this height cleared of French.

Paris admits the violence of the attacks, which are unequaled in history, with the possible exception of the fighting around Verdun and Vaux earlier in the Verdun battle. The French military critics and official statements, however, still appear optimistic.

LA FOLLETTE ADDS TO LEAD

Will Control 15 of 26 Representatives at G. O. P. Convention.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—With complete but unofficial returns from sixty of the seventy-one counties and practically complete returns from the remainder, the result of Tuesday's primary shows that La Follette will be represented by fifteen of the twenty-six delegates from Wisconsin at the republican national convention.

The district delegation is split evenly between the La Follette and what is termed the regular republican tickets, while Governor Philipp is the only delegate-at-yarge elected by the regulars.

GERMANY DISAVOWS SINKING FIVE BOATS

Kaiser's Reply on Submarines Sent Embassy.

BERLIN. — The German note in response to inquiries of the American government regarding the channel steamer Sussex and the steamers Englishman, Manchester Engineer, Eagle Point and Berwindvale has been transmitted to the American embassy.

The note declares that the reports of the commanders of submarines which might possibly have been involved in an attack on the Sussex, make it absolutely certain that the Sussex was not destroyed by a German torpedo.

Likewise, Germany denies responsibility for the sinking of the other steamers, evidence having been adduced at the investigation to show that no blame attached to Germany.

G. O. P. HEAD IS INDICTED

Francis A. Becker, Chicago, Charged With Operating Confidence Game.

CHICAGO, ILL. — Francis A. Becker, 21st ward politician, and republican state central committeeman, Thomas ("Spike") Hennessey, north side saloonkeeper, Paul Schoop, former saloonkeeper, and Isadore Rosen were jointly indicted by the April grand jury for conspiracy and operating a confidence game. The indictment returned before Judge Charles A. McDonald in the afternoon contains seventeen counts.

Fifteen of the counts refer to the conspiracy fraudulently and feloniously to extort money from saloonkeepers women and others, and two counts charge money was obtained by operation of a confidence game.

American Slain in War.

OTTAWA, ONTARIO.—A list of casualties among Canadian troops issued includes the name of Captain A. Whiteside of San Francisco killed in action March 28.

The body of Herman Krapohl, Bay City trapper, thirty-eight years of age, missing three days, was found in eight feet of water in the flooded farm of George Whitney for whom he was working. Krapohl went muskrat hunting on the flooded flats.

Villa Outlaws Dynamite Car; Rob Passengers.

BANDIT LEADER GOING SOUTH

Villa Sixty Miles Below Parral—Carranzistas Impatient Over Long Chase by Americans—Seeking to Learn When They Will Leave Country—Troops to Keep On.

EL PASO, TEX. — Calixto Contreras, commanding a force of Villistas, dynamited a train March 27 at Mena station, between Durango City and Torreon, causing a wreck in which eighty persons were killed. A letter containing this information has been received by civil authorities here.

A large number of fatalities is said to have been due to fire which started in the wreckage before the passengers could extradite themselves. After getting all the obtainable loot, the bandits are reported to have ridden away without offering any assistance.

Calixto Contreas commands one of the [illegible] which have been operating in conjunction with the forces of Canuto Reyes.

EL PASO, TEXAS. — Confirmation of reports that Francisco Villa was in the neighborhood of Parral or had passed it was brought to Juarez by General Francisco Bertani, the Carranza commander at Madera.

U. S. Hopes for Early Capture.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Hope for the early capture of Francisco Villa pervaded official circles, despite the fact that several days have passed since news of the operations of the American troops in Mexico has come to the war department. Many officials were of the opinion that important military developments may have occurred and that it was impossible for the extreme advancing columns, last reported to be close on Villa's heels near Satevo, to communicate with their field base.

Silent on Dead Line Report.

Secretary Lansing and Secretary Baker refused to comment on border reports that an agreement between Washington and the Carranza government had fixed a "dead line" beyond which the American troops would not go in their pursuit of the Villa bandits. Secretary Baker declared in answer to questions that such an agreement would come under the pending protocol and was a subject not under the war department's jurisdiction.

The proposed protocol, of which little has become known, still is under discussion at General Carranza's provisional capital, Queretaro. Special Agent Rodgers left the provisional capital for Mexico City last week, but expects to return to General Carranza's headquarters soon, whereupon the negotiations will be resumed.

Ask How Long U. S. Will Stay.

State department dispatches indicate that officials of the Mexican de facto government are viewing with some anxiety the continued presence of American troops in Mexico. One dispatch authoritatively was described as containing a hint that certain Mexican officals believed the purpose of the American punitive expedition has been accomplished. This belief was said to be based upon the assumpton that the bandits under Villa have been dispersed.

Petrograd Says Report of Sinking of Transports Is False.

PETROGRAD. — The following official communication has been issued by the navy department:

"The Turkish government publishes an official communication, alleging the destruction of two of our transports loaded with troops and munitions. That communication is a pure invention, for now sufficient time has elapsed for us to be able to say that no warship, auxiliary or trading ship has been sunk in the Black sea, except the Portugal. Our torpedo boats continue to carry out with complete success their work of protecting that sea against enemy submarines."

Maxim Gorky Dangerously Ill.

LONDON, ENG. — A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Amsterdam says that reports reaching Holland through Berlin are to the effect that Maxim Gorky, the Russian author, is suffering from pneumonia at Moscow. His condition is declared to be alarming.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Thursday, April 6.—By means of a series of small engagements, the French troops, which are slowly recovering ground between the Caillette wood and Douaumont, regained 200 meters (219 yards) of positions on a front of 500 meters (547 yards).

A heavy German attack on the western bank of the river Wednesday night gained a foothold in the village of Haucourt.

Simultaneously with the German attack, the French forces at the Avocourt redoubt made a successful sortie. In the course of the operation the French occupied the greater part of the Bois Carre and took fifty prisoners.

Friday, April 7.—On the western front the Germans penetrated French trenches on the Bethincourt-Chattincourt road, but were rejected from all but 300 yards in a French counter attack, Paris asserts.

Berlin reports the retaking of mine crater positions south of St. Eloi, near Yyres. The positions were held by Canadian troops.

The British again defeated the Turks on the Tigris in Mesopotamia, the town of Felahie was captured, and the advance toward Kut-el-Amara has progressed nearly 10 miles.

In the taking of Svetkavtz, near Tarnopol, the Russians captured forty-two land mines and much other booty. Austrian attempts to retake the place were repulsed, Petrograd reports.

Russian troops are now advancing on the Turkish Black Sea port of Trebizond, from both east and south.

Saturday, April 8.—The German war office announced the capture of French positions more than two kilometers wide in the Verdun region west of the Meuse.

Paris says the Germans renewed their attack south of Haucourt, in the Verdun region, and gained a footing in two small field works between Haucourt and Hill No. 287.

It was officially announced by the French marine department that a French submarine has sunk an Austrian transport in the Adriatic.

Sunday, April 9.—The French evacuated the Bethincourt salient Saturday night, and the Germans attacked with great violence their new line from Avocourt to Cumieres, but were repulsed with sanguinary losses.

Only at one point northeast of Avocourt did the Germans succeed in entering the French trenches, and from this position they were immediately ejected through a counter attack, according to the French official communication.

A successful attack by four German seaplanes on a Russian aviation station on Oesel Island, at the entrance to the Gulf of Rgia, is announced in an official German statement by the chief of the admiralty staff.

Three British and a Danish steamer are reported sunk by torpedoes.

CLEVELAND GETS SPEAKER

NEW YORK. — Tyistram Speaker, one of the greatest outfielders in baseball and for the last two years the highest salaried player in the game, was traded by the Boston Americans to the Cleveland club of the same league. In return for Speaker Boston will receive two players, Pitcher S. P. Jones and another to be chosen later, and a cash consideration.

"Wild Bob" Burman Killed.

CORONA, CAL. — "Wild Bob" Burman of Detroit, Mechanician Eric Schrader of Chicago, and Track Policeman W. H. Speer, dead, and five spectators injured, three of whom may die—that made up the tragedy that wound up the third annual Corona road race.

Dublin Journalist Dies.

LONDON, ENG.—Wilfred Philip Ward, author and editor of the Dublin Review, died at Hampstead, aged sixty years.

Frank A. Gause, who was a former superintendent of schools in the Panama canal zone and for two years superintendent of Bay City schools, has accepted an offer at South Bend as superintendent of schools in that city.

Buffeted by water which gained added force by a fall over the dam of the Alpena Power company the Ninth street bridge at Alpena across the Thunder Bay river crashed into the water. It is estimated that a new bridge will cost $15,000.

The crew of the Glenalmond was saved.

A Lloyd's dispatch from Cardiff, Wales, says the British steamship Libra has landed the captain and crew of the Norwegian steamer Sjolyst, 997 tons, which was sunk without warning by a torpedo from a German submarine at a point twenty-five miles north of the Island of Ouessant, off the French coast.

Other boats sunk were: Avon (British), 670 tons; Adamton (British), 2,304 tons; Asger Ryg (Danish), 1,101 tons, reported torpedoed and helpless off the Isle of Wight.

LOOK FOR BOMB PLOT IN MAIL

Windsor, Across Canadian Line, Opens Mails from This Side.

DETROIT, MICH. — All the mail Detroit, Mich., April 12.—All mail from the United States that crossed into Canada at this point Monday was taken to the Windsor postoffice opened and read, and then resealed with "sticker" bearing the word "censored."

Asked for an explanation Postmaster Wigle of Windsor refused to discuss the matter in any way further than to admit that the mail from the United States had been opened. The belief in Windsor is that the remarkable proceedings has to do with efforts to run down another bomb plot of which the authorities have received information.

School Election Called for Next Thursday.

A petition signed by about 100 taxpayers of district No. 7 was presented to the school board Wednesday evening asking that the Board call a special meeting of said district for the purpose of bonding the district in the sum of $75,000 for a new school.

The Board declared that a new school was necessary and that one costing $75,000 should be built. It was voted to issue a call for a special meeting (the official call appears elsewhere in this issue) to be held Thursday, April 20th, at the Council building, said meeting to be called at 9 o'clock in the forenoon and that the polls be open from 9 o'clock a. m. to 5 o'clock p. m.

We believe that the general sentiment is very largely in favor of the new building and that when Thursdays vote is counted it will show a good majority for it.

Remember that very few living in Tecumseh to-day were ever called on to build a high school but years ago your fathers and grandfathers made the sacrifice that you might have the benefits of a good school.

Is it not our duty and privilege to do as much for our children and the children of the coming generation?

Adrian recently had a great celebration and went through the ceremony of burying the hammer. Let us get together here in Tecumseh and bury our hammer. Get out this coming week and boost. Don't say we don't need a new building, that the old one is good enough, can be tinkered up etc.

Just take a walk around to the old building and look it over. Many people haven't seen it in months and it might be a wise thing to look it over before you vote.

WE DO NEED THIS SCHOOL and we need it badly. Give your influence to the cause and vote for the new school Thursday.

SPECIAL SCHOOL ELECTION

TO THE VOTERS OF SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 7, TOWNSHIP OF TECUMSEH, COUNTY OF LENAWEE AND STATE OF MICHIGAN:

A special meeting of the legal voters of School District No. 7 of said Township, is hereby called at nine o'clock a. m., on Thursday, the 20th day of April, A. D. 1916: the business to come before said meeting is the purpose of voting upon the issuing of the bonds of said District for the purpose of building therein a new school house, and to furnish the same. The District Board has estimated Seventy-five Thousand Dollrrs to be the necessary amount for such purpose.

Drive It Into the Barn

As we told you, a Low Cloverleaf gives the manure a double beating. It also spreads manure eight feet wide or better. But the wonderful thing is that it does this from a box only 45 inches wide. The spreader itself is so narrow that it can be driven into any modern barn and loaded from the gutters. Only one handling of the manure for the quickest, best job of spreading you ever did. How does that sound to you?

If you have even begun to think about buying a spreader, see this Low Cloverleaf. You will say you never saw a better manure spreader. It won't take long to look it over. Your dealer has one set up for you to see.

Rumors are afloat in Cheboygan politics that steps will be taken to oust Raymond D. Taborn, Kalamazoo negro, who took over the customs house office under an appointment received through the civil service commission.

The Michigan historical commission has planned for the publication of a series of volumes on the letters, papers and messages of the governors of the state beginning with Governor Stevens T. Mason.

Because his wife fainted in the circuit court room at Kalamazoo just as he was to be sentenced, won for Josept Saint Peter his freedom on probation. Saint Peter was recently arrested upon a charge of wife desertion.

Frank N. Green, the postmaster at Olivet for the past seventeen years, has retired and turned over the office to Thomas Maveety, the new appointee.

After a long illness, Warren W. Atwood, of Frontier, aged eighty-six years, a pioneer resident and one of the best known men in the community, is dead.

Mrs. Robert H. Easton has asked the Saginaw police that a search for her husband be instituted. He left home several days ago to seek employment at Flint and has not been heard from since.

APRIL WALTMASONED

When April trips along the road with violets in her hand, her smile is like a golden dream that brightens all the land. Her hair, unbound, floats on the breeze; her voice of tender mirth sweeps joyously across the fields, and wakes the sleeping earth. A rainbow glimmers in her smile, bright dewdrops crown her head, and at her touch the trees bud out that long have been as dead. She pauses by a frozen stream and melts it with the glow of love and youth and happy days; and hearts, that faltered slow, beat high again with life and hope. Ah! breathlessly we stand, and watch as April passes by with violets in her hand.

When April trips along the road the children seem to know before the rest, for childish eyes are quick, and ours are slow. They sing to her with merry song and laughter light as foam and lovingly they ask her in and bid her welcome home. And April, smiling, brings to them a wealth of treasure rare; she brings them pale anemones, and wild arbutus fair. She brings them sunlight warm and bright, and though she scatters rain, the children know that April's tears are not the tears of pain.

[illegible] trips along the road, the snow-wreaths melt away, and little creatures of the earth come out to frisk and play. The frog, the cricket and the toad, the butterfly and bee, are followers in April's train that every one may see. The robins come to build again in trees that live once more; the swallow sings beneath the eaves as he has sung of yore. A flash of orange cuts the air—an oriole sweeps by, for April brings a feathered flock of beauty to the eye.

When April trips along the road and twilight settles down, she passes lightly through the mist of springtime gray and brown. And as she goes along her way the stars peep out and glow, the moon smiles down with merry smile, a gleaming silver bow. And old folk, sitting in the dusk, lift up their weary eyes, and look along the springtime road with unconcealed surprise. And, half surprised, they hear the song of love, the song of youth and happiness, the songs from Heaven above. And half bewildered, half amazed, they know that through the land a train of lovers softly walk together, hand in hand. They know that farmers plant their crops, that mothers sit and sew; that robins build again their nests; that music, gentle, slow is singing on the breeze of night; they know that flowers spring upon the brown of well-loved graves; that moss and ivy cling with tender arms about the earth that guards each sleeping form; they know that resurrection comes and banishes the storm.—Margaret E. Sangster, Jr., in The Christian Herald.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars. free

Tree Bark Glue Brush.

An excellent glue brush for the cabinetmaker or carpenter can be made from a piece of elm tree bark. which may usually be found in the yard of a furniture factory, wagon shop or any hardwood lumber yard. With a sharp knife whittle away the brittle outer bark down to the white fiber or inner side of the bark of which the brush is to be made. Cut a piece of this to the length and width required for the brush. Soak one end of this piece in hot water for a few minutes. Lay the water soaked end on a hard substance, such as a piece of iron or hard wood, and beat it out with a hammer, dipping it in the water occasionally to keep it thoroughly wet. The beating will cause the tough fibers of the bark to separate at the end, these forming an excellent and inexpensive brush which never sheds hairs and lasts longer than the cheap brush commonly sold at the stores.—Popular Science.

How It Looked to Him.

"Ah, do tell me something about the play last night. They say that climax at the close of the third act was simply grand," she said.

"Yes, I am inclined to think it was very good," he replied without any marked degree of enthusiasm.

"Why," explained he, "the heroine came stealthily on the stage and knelt, dagger in hand, behind a clump of blue ribbons. The hero emerged from a large bunch of lilacs, and as soon as she perceived him she fell upon, stabbed him twice and sank, half conscious, into a very handsome aigret. This may sound a trifle queer, but the lady in front of me came in late for the performance and became so intensely interested that she forgot to remove her hat, and that's how it looked to me."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

An Eye-opener About

FERTILIZER

Last week the man I used to buy fertilizer of called. I was glad to see him as he has a better job now and doesn't get out of Chicago very often. He talked to me a lot about fertilizer, I can't tell you all he said, but one thing I remember; I spoke about the high price of fertilizer: now, he said,

"Do you realize that the difference in the price of fertilizer now and last year is only the price of one bushel of corn per acre. If you don't use fertilizer this year, you will be saving at the tap and losing at the bung."

He went on to say that just because the Germans won't let us have any potash is no reason to go back and sit down and say we won't raise as much grain this year. Now potash is about the only thing in fertilizer that has gone up in price to amount to anything. You can buy blood, bone, and tankage of ARMOUR at the same old price and put back on the soil what you take off when you sell a bunch of hogs, steers, or sheep.

Better get your order in at once; there is such a demand for guns and shells that there are not enough box cars to go around. Later shipments may be delayed. Suppose you write or phone in so we can save you some of the first that comes.

WORK THAT TELLS

To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine you must investigate its work Doan's Kidney Pills stand this test and plenty of proof exists right here in Tecumseh. People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders, now give confirmed testimony—declare the results have lasted. How can any Tecumseh sufferer longer doubt the evidence?

Mrs. Sarah E. Austin, Pearl St., Tecumseh, says: I suffered from distressing symptoms of kidney complaint for more than a year. When some one told me that Doan's Kidney Pills were good in such cases, I got a supply at Wright & Son's Drug store. They helped me immediately and I continued using them until well."

NO KIDNEY TROUBLE SINCE. OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mrs. Austin added: "I have had no need of Doan's Kidney Pills or any other kidney medicine since giving my former endorsement. I can still recommend this medicine highly."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mrs. Austin had. Foster-Milburn Co, Props. Buffalo, N. Y. adv

A Cavse of Vnrest.

Vndoubtedly for everything there is an ample cavse. Far be it from the likes of me to knock on natvre's laws. Bvt why do modern architects assvme that U is V and carve in stone that palpable and bold absvrdity? The langvage [illegible] so poor, so terribly in debt, that it covld not afford a [illegible] to grace the alphabet.

Bvt now that we possess the U with soft and gracefvl cvrve, of vnexcelled docility and willingness to serve, why do they carve Vnited States and pvblic school and svch and make the English langvage look as fvnny as the Dvtch, with restavrant and Pvllman car and vniversity and other marks of edvcational perversity?

That V impresses some of vs as cheap and gavdy blvff, which parvenvs may pvll in place of more svbstantial stvff, bvt people who are fashioned ovt of vnpretentiovs dvst view all svch affection with an vnassvmed disgvst. Svch exhibitions always make me very glvm and blve. Now, honest Injvn, don't they have the same effect on yov?—Printer's Ink.

Hospitality In Greece.

Hospitality as understood in the west is not characteristic of the Greeks, who in their own country rarely invite friends to their tables. In her "Greece of the Hellenes" Miss Lucy Garnets relates how on one occasion she and a friend were invited into the suburbs of Greece by a Grecian lady who was giving a birthday tea to her young son and his playmates. "My share of the entertainment," says Miss Garnets, "consisted in watching the little lions feed, for neither a cup of tea nor a slice of the birthday cake came my way or the way of my companion, whose hospitality the hostess herself frequently enjoyed." This apparent niggardliness is, of course, entirely due to the custom of the country. The writer adds that the same hostess on coming to England entertained like the average Briton.—London Chronicle.

The First Bomb.

The bomb came into being during the troublous times in France toward the close of the eighteenth century. Its inventor was a French fanatic named Chevalier, who had conceived such an intense hatred of Napoleon that he determined to kill him.

Being employed at a government small arms factory, he had gained some knowledge of explosives, and with this knowledge he managed to construct a bomb out of a barrel, which he filled with a mixture of powder, bullets, broken glass and white arsenic.

Chevalier's idea was for the bomb to explode under Napoleon's carriage as it passed through the streets of Paris A miscalculation, however, caused it to go off a few seconds too soon.

Had Chevalier succeeded in his object the whole history of Europe would of course have been changed.—Pearson's Weekly.

Getting Into a Scrape.

Many years ago the wild deer that roamed through the forests of England used to dig holes in the earth with their forefeet. They pawed it out sometimes to the depth of several inches, sometimes a foot or more. These holes were called "scrapes," and travelers at dusk or night or those who were careless about their footing often tumbled into them. They were laughed at for their heedlessness when they came home covered with mud, and as this frequently occurred after they had been imbibing a bit they were said to have "got into a scrape." Some Cambridge students took up this expression, and thus it came to be applied to people who had got into difficulties of various sorts.

The Sun In Winter.

In winter we are 3,000,000 miles nearer the sun than in summer. Some may think that if this statement is true we ought to have warmer weather in winter than in summer, but it must be remembered that the heat we receive from the sun depends very much upon the direction of its rays. In summer the sun's rays are more vertical than in winter; hence the days are warmer.

Seeing Around Corners.

There are many insects which have a very much larger field of vision than we have. This is due to the greater concavity of their eyes, enabling them to see around the corner, so to speak, behind and at the sides. This development in man would have its objectionable points, but also its good ones, not the least of which might be the detection of pickpockets.—Chambers' Journal.

Freezing Water.

Water contracts until it is reduced to 40 degrees and then expands till it freezes. The expansion of frozen water is because the ice crystals fit less closely than the particles of water did. Nine cubic inches of water will become, when frozen, ten cubic inches of ice.

A DELICATE CHILD
Made Strong By Our Vinol

Fayetteville, N.C.—"My little daughter was in poor health, delicate and so weak it made us very uneasy. I heard about Vinol and decided to try it and the results were marvelous, her appetite improved, she gained in weight, and is now one of the healthiest children in town. Mothers of delicate children should try Vinol."—Mrs. GORDON JESSUP.

Vinol is a delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, a constitutional remedy which creates an appetite, aids digestion and makes pure healthy blood. All children love to take it.

Artificial Indigo.

Artificial indigo owes much of its commercial success to an accident. Although synthetic indigo was first produced in 1870, it did not become a serious rival to the natural article until a thermometer was accidentally broken and the contents of the bulb ran into the heated mixture of naphthalene that was all too slowly being converted into phthalic acid, the basis of artificial indigo. It was then observed that the conversion became much more rapid, and from that day the use of mercury has played a big part in making artificial indigo a commercial success. The accident occurred after years of patient research, and it is now the boast of chemists that they are able to produce on a commercial basis a compound "exactly the same" as natural indigo.—London Standard.

Frederick the Great's Joke.

Among the embellishments which Berlin owes to Frederick the Great the "new palace" is the most conspicuous. This magnificent building was erected, it is said, to show Frederick's enemies that his many wars had not exhausted his exchequer. And further to show his contempt for the countries which had sought to crush him at the top of the cupola he placed a group of three women dancing together, the figuring representing Catherine the Great, Maria Theresa and Mme. de Pompadour. The wrath of the two empresses was unbounded at finding themselves depicted in such an attitude, and such company, so Frederick was able to congratulate himself on a thoroughly successful joke.

Sofia, the Bulgarian Capital.

No city in the east has undergone such a magic transformation as Sofia. Prior to the emancipation of the Bulgars it was a small Turkish town of 20,000, with narrow, dirty streets. There was practically no trade, and the people were in a hideous state of poverty. The city which has now risen up has a population of about 125,000 and is rapidly becoming one of the best in eastern Europe. Architecturally it has far more claim to respect than is at first apparent. The streets, which are well paved and beautifully clean, are too narrow for the adequate display of the fine proportions of the czar's palace, the National theater, the general postoffice, the war office, the Bulgarian National bank, the William Gladstone High School For Boys, the Grand Hotel de Bulgarie, the National Agricultural bank, the Sobranje and many other public buildings which are of fine sandstone. The ecclesiastical edifices are of remarkable beauty, especially the new cathedral.—Review of Reviews.

Wild Hogs as Watchdogs.

In some parts of Mexico the wild hogs, which the natives call jabalis, are used as watchdogs. If they are caught young and brought up with goats they will go out into the hills with the herd and fight coyotes or other wild animals. If they are raised with chickens they will protect them. They are as useful as any dog around a house at night and can be trained to follow their master like a dog.

England's "Regicides."

"Regicides" in English history were the commissioners appointed to try King Charles I., 150 in number, of whom seventy acted and fifty-nine signed the death warrant January, 1649. Of these last twenty-nine were tried and executed.

Folk Songs of Servia.

The folk songs of Servia are less known outside the borders of that country than the songs of any other nation, but some day a great musician is expected to arise and make the Servian music known throughout the world, just as the composers of Austria, Vienna and Russia have made their folk songs known.

It is in these folk songs that the Servians express chiefly their devotion to their country and their intense patriotism. There are, of course, love songs, death songs and harvest songs, but it is in these wild patriotic outbursts that the Servian spirit is best shown.

For the Servian is intensely patriotic. As a nation it is home loving. The principal industry is agriculture, and the natives, on account of the mountainous regions, have much of the spirit of the Swiss patriots.—Exchange.

Carrots Fed Cows to Color Milk.

Carrots are sometimes fed to color the cow's butter. Milk is not richer when yellow, but only has more coloring matter from the cow's feed.—Farm and Fireside.

He Removed the Danger Signal

Frank W. Sherman, Laconia, N. H., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble, had a tired feeling in my back, did not have any ambition and felt all tired out. I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered and have had no return of my painful symptoms."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

Howard City Creamery Man Is Kidnaped, He Declares.

Reed City, April 17.—Leo Leiter, manager of L. Barber company's creamery at Howard City, was found at Reed City. He disappeared from Howard City and it was feared that he had been murdered.

Leiter says that he was sand bagged by four men while in his office at Howard City, was taken away in an automobile and latter dragged and kept unconscious. His story is that a Chicago man with whom he had invested $550 for mining stocks, is responsible. Leiter says he was to have received principal and dividends early in April from the Chicagoan.

Charge Insolvency.

Grand Rapids, April 17.—Charging insolvency, Crowley Brothers, of Detroit, and the Herold-Bertsch Shoe company, of Grand Rapids, and others, have brought proceedings in the United States court to have the Fair corporation, which operates a large department store at Grand Rapids, adjudged bankrupt.

PROSPERITY STRIKES THOUSANDS IN MILLS

Good Times Hitting People Indiscriminately in U. S.

Paterson, N. J., April 17.—The American Locomotive works posted notices in all departments stating that beginning Monday, April 17, a nine hour work day and a 10-per cent increase in wages will be put into effect.

Biddeford, Me., April 17.—A wage increase for 7,000 cotton mill operatives was announced by the Pepperell Manufacturing company of this city and the York corporation of Waco.

Pittsfield, Mass., April 17.—The Berkshire Woolen company has announced a voluntary wage increase of 10 per cent, to become effective April 24. This makes a total wage increase of 15 per cent since Jan. 1.

St. Louis, Mo., April 17.—Wage increases have been granted 4,000 or 5,000 brewery employes here it was learned, as a result of negotiations between the brewers and the allied brewing unions.

Fort Dodge, Ia., April 17.—Five hundred employes of the local gypsum mills have received an increase of 2¼ cents an hour beginning Monday, April 17, it is [illegible]

CLAIMS SHE IS 118 YEARS

Iowa Colored Woman Says She Was Born Before Washington Died.

Ottumwa, Ia., April 17.—Mrs. Mary Talbot, who lives in Riverview, a suberb of this city, lays claim to the record of being the oldest colored woman in the United States She says she is 118 years old, and that she was born in Garrett county, Ky., in 1797, on Christmas day.

Mrs. Talbot is able to back up her assertions of great age by relating many experiences of her youth which history bears out. She is living with her great-grandson here.

KUT-EL-AMARA ARMY DOOMED, TURKS THINK

Constantinople Says Townshend Force Must Surrender.

Berlin, April 17.—Dispatches from Constantinople voice the absolute certainty that the 40,000 British troops under General Charles V. Townshend, bottled up by the Turks since the beginning of the year in Kut-el-Amara, are doomed to surrender. Cut off from the outside world except by occasional aeroplane communication and mer, about twenty-three miles down the nearest relief, under General Aylthe river, the main British army in Mesopotamia, according to advices from the Turkish capital is being gradually starved out.

Comments in the German press on the Mesopotamian situation are extremely optimistic. Military critics here assert that the Turkish war office has been conservative in all its statements and offer the psychological explanation that Turkey proposes to have the blow which is declared inevitable, to strike hard and above all suddenly.

MARYE BACK FROM RUSSIA

New York, April 17.—Former American ambassador to Petrograd George Thomas Marye of San Francisco, arrived here with Mrs. Marye, from the Russian capital, on the Kristianiafjord. Just before leaving his post he was decorated with the Order Alexandria Nevsky by the czar.

Mrs. Marye said the American hospital in Petrograd is doing splendid work, and is always crowded, even when there are empty bedsr in others.

Women Adopt Trousers for Drill.

New York, April 17.—American woman soldiers will wear trousers as part of their uniform if they follow the example set by the 20 members of the American Woman's League for Self-Defense. These women have been attending weekly drills here throughout the winter.

The Weather.

Increasing cloudiness with showers.

Power of Ocean Breakers.

Experiments made at the Bell Rock and Skerryvore lighthouses, on the Scottish coast, have shown that, while the force of breakers in the German ocean may be taken as about a ton and a half on every square foot of surface, Atlantic breakers fall with a weight of about three tons to the square foot. On one occasion during a heavy gale huge blocks of granite were washed about like pebbles at the Plymouth breakwater, carried 200 feet up its inclined plane and scattered beyond it in all directions. One of the blocks weighed two tons.

Motions of the Earth.

The time occupied by the earth in its circuit of 580,000,000 miles is 365 days, 6 hours, 9 minutes, giving an average velocity of about 66,000 miles an hour. The earth wabbles as it spins, just as a top will wabble if it is prevented from spinning upright. One wabble takes about 20,000 years.

Imagination.

It is imagination rather than reason that distinguishes man from brute, and no person who is devoid of imagination can know extremes of happiness or misery. Happiness in a great measure depends on the faculty for forgetting.

9,000 GET WAGE INCREASE

Sheet and Tube Workers at Youngstown Granted 10 Per Cent Raise.

Youngstown, April 17.—The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company announced a wage of 10 per cent, effective May 1, for all its employes except salaried men. The raise effects 9,000 men.

Other steel mills in the valley employing a total of 25,000 men, say they will be forced to follow the example of the tube company.

Comes Out for Roosevelt.

Topeka, Kas., April 17.—The Topeka State Journal, Taft supporter in 1912, in an editorial announces it will support Col. Roosevelt for the Republican namination for president Dreams.

One reads some so very silly articles upon the subject of recurrence of dreams that it is necessary to repeat that our dreams are nothing more than a continuation of the state previous to sleep when we lie with no bodily or mental occupation beyond following out whatever train of thought happens to have been suggested.

Two common dream experiences frequently recurring are those of the sensation of flying and of the uneasy impression of being about in public in insufficient attire. The first is caused by the physical fact that we are at the moment without noticeable pressure actually suspended in space; the second by the equally physical fact that few people in these days go to bed in their boots.

It is beyond question that dreams are started or suggested not only by these personal hints, but by external events, usually a noise.—London Observer.

DEFENDS U. OF M. TEACHERS

President Denies Intent to Commit University as Favoring Allies.

Ann Arbor, April 17.—In a telegram replying to the charges of Congressman Louis Crampton that fourteen professors of the University of Michigan violated the spirit of American neutrality in signing a memorial expressing sympathy for the cause of the entente allies, president Harry B. Hutchins of the university said:

"The signing of the address by the persons named in your telegram was, in my judgment, if the name of the university was used in connection with their signatures, unwise, unfortunate and to be deplored, but upon investigation I am satisfied that no one signed it with any intention of committing the university to any propaganda whatsoever."

HENRY FORD NOT CANDIDATE

Denies He Will Run for President as New Party Leader.

Detroit, April 17.—"I'm a business man—not a politician. I have no political ambitions. Under no condition would I consent to run for the presidency."

This was Henry Fard's statement here in response to persistent reports that he would organize a third political party. He refused to comment on a peace platform. He refused to comment in any way on reports of political activities by his lieutenants.

Mrs. Lyman E. Cooley Dies.

Chicago, April 17.—Mrs. Lyman E. Cooley, wife of the well known civil engineer, died in the Evanston hospital. She had been ill at times for the last three years and underwent a major operation last September and recently a minor operation which prove to be ineffective.

Holland to Set Clocks Back.

The Hague, April 17.—The government anounced that it would shortly introduce a daylight saving bill to provide for setting back clocks one hour during the summer season.

MILITIA FUNDS ARE MISUSED

Senator Borah Charges That In Some Cases They Are Embezzled.

Washington, April 17.—Senator Borah of Idaho charged in the senate that federal funds provided for the national guard in past years had been thrown away foolishly and in some cases embezzled.

Borah made his attack on guard officers in a speech opposing an amendment by Senator Reed of Missouri for federal pay. He alleged that the $8,000,000 available annually for use of the guard under the Dick militia law, had been "shamefully" utilized by officers to the exclusion of enlisted men and that some of it actually had been "embezzled."

SCHURMAN IS FOR HUGHES

Thinks His Aloofness from Factions Makes Him Party Unifier.

New York, April 17.—President Jacob Gould Schurman of Cornell university came out for Justice Hughes. He says that Hughes is the man in whose record and character the nation can rely as a guarantee of statesmanship in the management of foreign and domestic affairs.

He said that as Governor Hughes became a supreme court justice two years before the split in the party his nomination would consummate a reunion of the party as that of no other man could, and a united party is essential to republican success.

8,000 Miners Get Benefit Fund.

Ishpeming, April 17.—Through a friendly suit, 8,000 miners, former employes of Captain Thomas Walters, when he owned the Lake Angeline mine here, will receive back their respective portions in a $30,000 mutual benefit fund.

Cologne Drunks, Takes Warning.

Cadillac, April 17.—"Bay rum drunks" are to be stiffly dealt with hereafter in recorders court, according to Judge Walter Ardis, who sent three, Fred Geraux, Geo. Traux and Will Andrews to jail for a total of 145 days.

TWO NEW BATTLES FOUGHT IN MEXICO

Engagement Near Parral; Bandits Attack Supply Train.

El Paso, April 17.—Colonel W. C. Brown and his black troopers of the Tenth U. S. cavalry had an engagement of some character Thursday evening at a point north of Parral, in which city they fought with the civilian populace on Tuesday last.

The colonel sent a message from a point north of Parral to American Consul Letcher in Chihuahua asking that an aeroplane be sent him that he might report.

Twenty bandits attacked the United States army supply train twenty miles north of Satevo Saturday night, but were repulsed. One of the bandits was killed and several wounded. None of the Americans were injured. General Pershing was personally with the train when attacked.

General Pershing sent through a message by wire to the border reporting an engagement Saturday night with a band of forty bandits between San Antonio and Satevo when a truck train of the American army was attacked. General Pershing was with the train. He stated that the attack had been repulsed and that one of the bandits had been killed. None of the Americans were wounded.

Enlist in Aeronautical Corps.

Muskegon, April 17.—Twelve young men enlisted in the aeronautical corps of the United States army. They will be employed at the Continental Motors plant at Muskegon under on arrangement between the company and the war department.

Taft Talks April 20.

Port Huron, Mar. 27.—Word was received from William H. Taft that he will speak at Port Huron on the evening of April 20.

VILLA DEATH IS NOT CONFIRMED

Washington Hopes, However, Report Is True.

WOULD RECALL U. S. TROOPS

U. S. Official Fear Hoax Has Been Concocted to Bring About End to Punitive Expedition—Report from General Pershing Is Awaited at the Capital.

Washington, April 17.—There is no confirmation at either the state or war departments of reports from the border that Villa is dead and his body is being brought to northern Mexico to satisfy American authorities.

The Mexican embassy has received similar reports of the death of Villa, but places little credence in them.

Reports Are Scouted.

Officials generally fear reports of the death of Villa are being circulated with a view to hurrying the retirement of American troops from Mexico.

Consul Garcia at El Paso has notified American authorities that messages have been received at the Mexican military headquarters in Juarez that Villa's body is being brought to Chihuahua City.

He reports also receipt of a dispatch from San Antonio, Mex., saying that Villa's body is being brought to that city by Colonel Carlos Carranza, nephew of the first chief.

Hope Report Is True.

Nothing would give the administration greater satisfaction than to have clearly established the fact of the capture or death of Villa, but nothing short of absolute proof of one or the other condition can be accepted at this time.

Many rumors concerning Villa, his physical condition, plans and whereabouts have reached the war department since the chase of him was ordered March 10, but most of these rumors when run down were found to be untrue.

Purpose Behind Reports.

It was learned that some of them had been started in Mexico by sympathizers with Villa who were desirous of assisting the bandit to escape the American pursuit.

However, should either of these latest reports from Consul Garcia prove true and confirmation comes from American military and other officials, orders will be flashed over the wires to General Funston to direct the American forces from Mexico.

Would Withdraw Quickly.

General Pershing will be reached by wireless, aeroplane or in some other way, directing him to return with his punitive expeditionary forces with all possible speed and in as few hours as human agency can compass Mexico will be freed from the presence of American troops.

Men Earn Their Schooling.

Ypsilanti, April 17.—Through a survey among the men attending the Michigan State Normal college, it was learned that seventy per cent of them earn their way through school.

McCarthy Is a Suicide.

Battle Creek, April 17.—Michael McCarthy, fifty years old, committed suicide. He was found on the floor of his kitchen with all the burners of a gas stove turned on.

Couldn't Stop Nose Bleed, Dies.

Kalamazoo, April 17.—William Egberts is dead as a result of being unable to stop a nose hemorrhage for thirty-six hours. The young man's mother died in the same way.

WHY SPEND YOUR MONEY IN REPAIRS?

If the new school house is voted down our School Board will be forced to spend next year quite a large sum of the districts money on repairs. The heating plants at the central and East Branch Schools will have to be replaced as they are worn out and beyond repair. Put these repairs into a new building by voting for the new school.

SHALL WE HAVE A NEW SCHOOL HOUSE IN TECUMSEH?

We ask [illegible] school girl the above question [illegible] and here is her answer, "If we don't I shan't go to school any more here." They are the ones who are mostly benefited by a new building and it looks—as if they were pretty solid for it. She might not carry out her threat, but it showed what a serious matter it was with her.

And have you stopped to consider Mr. Voter, that this same young girl will probably be called on to pay some of these school bonds, and that before the 15 years roll around some of you will have passed over the great divide?

Our last appeal to you is that you consider this matter very carefully and when you go to the polls be sure and cast your vote for the improvement. The polls will be open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. You do not have to register, all that is required, is that you are 21 years of age own property which is assessed for school taxes in the district (this includes the purchaser of land upon a land contract who actually pays the taxes upon such land and resides thereon). A husband and wife holding property jointly may vote. Be sure and vote Thursday and vote right.

Have you thought what a fire would mean in this old building? It has never happened in Tecumseh to be sure but are we proof against it? It has happened in other places and you know the result. We want to apply a little of this preparedness to our own town and give our children the benefit of a modern fire proof building. We can't afford to take the risk Mr. Voter, especially with the old heating plant you have in the building.

You will never have an attractive town until you remove these old buildings from our midst. Good schools attract people to your town, poor schools keep them away. If you really care for your town, want to make it a better place to live in. and measure up to the standard you have set for it "The Biggest Little Town on Earth", get out Thursday and do your duty. Are we asking you to do for this town something that other places have not asked for? We are far behind the times here in Tecumseh in regard to our schools. Ninety per cent of the cities and towns in Michigan have taken care of their school question and provided suitable schools.

Do they regret the money spent? Ask them. Ask the people of Hudson what they think of their $77,000 school We have asked some of them and they are pleased to think they have made the investment. Build your school here and you won't regret it Your tax will be 43c on each $100.00 of assessed valuation the first year and will decrease 1c per $100.00 each year until at the end of 15 years it will be 27c per $100 00 of assessment Surely we can make this small sacrifice.

What do we gain if we vote it down? Nothing at all. We will save ourselves a little tax, but the question will only have to be taken up again and in such a way, perhaps, that you will not want. The state officials will not permit you to use this central building and if they close it as they have a perfect right to do, you will be forced to make the improvement whether you want to or not. So lets bury our hammer and get out and do our duty so that Tecumseh may have a good modern building.

The plans for the new building have been on exhibit at the Herald office for several days. We cordially invite the public to call and inspect them.

In a Queer Town.

Margaret Illington was making a coast to coast tour as the star in a new play. She had reached the land of the one night stands, and to break a long jump she was to play in a new community that expects to have 50,000 inhabitants some day.

As the actress, in the early morning, dismounted from the through train, with her maid and her manager and the supporting company, an aged darky laid hold of her hand baggage and led the way, bowing and scraping, to where the hotel bus waited. Following him, Miss Illington emerged from the station shed on an expanse of one story stores flanking each side of a dusty road.

"Uncle," she asked, "is this the principal street?"

"Dis yere one? No'm," he said. "Dis yere town ain't got no principal street."—Saturday Evening Post.

COMMUNICATIONS

Chicago, Ill., April 16, 1916.
EDITOR TECUMSEH HERALD,
Dear Sir:

In your issue of April 11th I read a nice letter from our friend R. A Heesen who says something about schools that the good people of School District No. 7 should ponder.

It stands to reason that good schools will create a demand for land and it requires no eminent economist to discern it, either.

As good schools attract inhabitants so also will untaxing of improvements and personal property act as a magnet to attract manufacturing, because it gives them an advantage over their competitors It is much better than the usual bonus because they benefit only during the time they are located in your midst, and increase of population makes only land more valuable. Try it and see "The Biggest Little Town in the World" grow.

When you have a good enterprise in your midst, don't drive it away through antiquated taxation. With best wishes I am

Respectfully yours,
MICHAEL ECKERT,
1803 Ogden Ave., Chicago, Ill

DEAR EDITOR,

I am a woman, a tax payer, and self supporting and I am asked "Do you favor a new school building" "Yes" most emphatically. Sixty years ago May 29 our family landed in Tecumseh and the week following I entered school in which was then the old court house which was situated where the stand pipe is now located.

Our new school house was under construction and it was a proud day for all when we marched into it, we thought it a palace, and it was fine for those days. [illegible] like people grow old with the years and no patching or mending will ever make them quite as good as new and the time comes when they have to make room for others.

This seems to be the auspicious time for a new school house for Tecumseh and if perchance it draws on on our pocket books more heavily for taxes. It behooves us to do it willingly, thus paying in part for the benefits we have received from those who gave their best. years ago, thus exemplifying the Golden Rule, "As ye would that others should do unto you, do ye also unto them." TAXPAYER,

TO THE VOTERS OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 7

We, the undersigned members of the Board of Education of School District No. 7, Township of Tecumseh, Lenawee County, Michigan, do hereby pledge ourselves to the tax payers of said district that, in the event an issue of the bonds of said district for the purpose of building a new schoolhouse therein be authorized by said tax payers, that no contract shall be let for the construction of such schoolhouse and equipment at a cost to the district greater than the funds made available by the issue of such bonds

BLISSFIELD DEFEATS TECUMSEH

Saturday the Blissfield High School defeated Tecumseh High School by a score of 8 to 6. A great deal of pep (?) was shown by both teams from the very beginning and the game was a good one throughout. The high school team have not lost hope as this was the first game and the players are as yet not thoroughly in shape.

Waring played a good game as catcher as well as at the bat. Bachman started out strong on the mound but weakened a little before the nine innings were up. Hunt, Skinner and Babcock gave good support at the bases. Cuthbert showed up well at short. Howe, VanWinkle and Satterthwaite played well in the field positions.

The team goes to Addison Saturday to play the team there.

The Beaver's Tooth.

No carpenter's chisel can do more effective work than is turned out with ease and neatness by the beaver's tooth. This is the principal tool with which these patient, clever builders construct their dams. The outer surface of the tooth is a scale of very hard enamel, while the body of it is of softer dentine. As the softer substance wears away in use the end of the tooth takes a chisel-like bevel, leaving a thin, slightly projecting edge of hard enamel as sharp as any carpenter's tool fresh from the oilstone. The thin scale of enamel gives keenness, the softer dentine supplies strength, and thus the combination forms a formidable tool, which actually sharpens itself by use.

Seasoning Cast Iron.

In the manufacture of the higher types of machinery care is taken to lessen the cooling stress of iron castings by annealing or some other means in order to make the iron homogeneous and less liable to breakage or distortion. This process is known as "seasoning." It has been found in the case of ordinary test bars one inch square in section that there was a gain in strength of about 20 per cent due to the shocks sustained during an hour in a tumbling barrel as compared with companion bars from the same ladle not so treated.

A SMALL WORD MAKES A LOT OF TROUBLE SOMETIMES

Tecumseh people were very much up in arms Friday afternoon over an article which appeared in the Adrian Telegram which made the announcement that there were 22 cases of smallpox in town. This of course was an error as there are no cases reported here. There are 22 cases of chickenpox which have been reported and Dr. Hammel health officer stated that this was the report which he made to the Telegram reporter.

Coming as it did in Fridays paper our merchants were much excited about it and a hurry call was set in motion to check the spread of the report, especially in our rural districts, who might be influenced to stay away from town Saturday.

On learning of the error our local Telegram reporter did everything in her power to check the spread of the news as she put in a general call on every telephone line leading out of Tecumseh and secured Rev Rex to make an announcement calling attention to the error at the school entertainment which was held at the Opera House, that evening

[illegible] Telegram was busy over at Adrian the wires were put in motion and the various postmasters in this section of the county were requested to hold their papers until they could replace them with extras. Early Saturday morning extras were run off to replace the regular run going out on the Rural Routes and were sent out to them by autos.

This action taken by the Telegram was highly commendable and showed their willingness to do all their power to right the matter. Their action was generous and prompt

FOR "AULD LANG SYNE"

Mrs. Leonard Mangus was hostess Thursday to a group of old schoolmates of 50 years ago in the school in the Spaulding district in Franklin.

Those present were Mrs. Mary Taylor—Woods of Hillsdale, Mrs Libbie McCollum—Winton of Clayton, Mrs. Augusta Allen—Wisner of Franklin, Mrs. Almeda Spaulding—Depuy of Ridgeway, Mrs. Ida Spaulding—Spencer of Detroit, and Mrs. Lois Spaulding—Mangus of Tecumseh. The combined ages of this company was 385 years.

The hours were past in a very delightful manner, in recalling events of the long ago Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Depuy had not met before in 30 years so the event was especially interesting to them. A bountiful three course dinner was served, the table having a beautiful bunch of carnations for the center piece, a gift given to Mrs. Mangus for this occasion, with dainty baskets of salted peanuts at each plate.

This was the first meeting of these old schoolmates all together since these school days, and it proved such a happy occasion that its repetition is looked forwarded to for another year.

Old friends are dear, old friends are best,
We count each one a loving guest,
From far and near, we greetings send;
To welcome home, each old time friend.

And when the hours of parting come
And each returns unto her home,
We breathe a prayer, with this refrain;
God grant that we may meet again.

"A NIGHT OF JOY"

At the Bradley Opera House Wednesday evening April 26.

The annual home talent show of the Young Mens Club, of Tecumseh will be held at the Bradley Opera House, Wednesday evening, April 26

Following their precedent of other years of putting on a better show each year this one promises to be the greatest yet

The show will be a big musical review, and the entire production will be under the personal supervision of C. George Nunn, who has been with the greatest minstrel shows in the world, and is now of the firm of Lewis & Nunn, producers of Modern Musical Reviews.

The title of the show is, "A Night of Joy" being a mingling of music, comedy and pathos. The scene takes place on a roof garden in New York City on New Year's evening.

Novelties and surprises are promised in surprising numbers among them being the Ultra Fashion Review, Fashion plates from Paris (displaying the latest model gowns brought here from Detroit) and also the inimitable Comedy Quartette.

FATHER AND MOTHER BURIED IN ONE GRAVE

The following was clipped from the Telegram of April 16. Mr and Mrs. Greenwald were the parents of Leonard Greenwald, late in the employ of Guy E Belding, but now of Bay City.

The funeral services of John Greenwald was held this afternoon at 1 o'clock, standard time, at the Everiss undertaking rooms. Rev. J. H. Nicolai officiated. A quartette, composed of Mrs. Burr, Miss Burr, J. E Everiss and Walter Everiss sang several selections The bearers were relatives. Just two weeks ago Friday the funeral of Mrs John Greenwald was held and her remains were placed in the Oakwood receiving vault. There were two funeral cars in the cortege today, as Mr. and Mrs. Greenwald were placed side by side in the same grave in the Gurnee cemetery, the family burying ground, north of Adrian.

"BOY BLUE"

School Operetta a Big Success

Tecumseh is very loyal to any thing coming from her own people and this holds true with home talent shows for they will call a full house every time, and especially anything in which the little people take part. This was splendidly demonstrated Friday night when the children from the first to the sixth grade put on the dainty little operetta, "Boy Blue"

Clement McClelland was Boy Blue and with his alarm clock and fish pole took his part well. Miss Mary Barrett as Mollie shows much talent in this line for such a little girl and is very easy and graceful in her appearance as also were Alice Gaston Hall as Katy She Did and Marion Williamson as Katy-She Didn't. The last two were dressed as Katydids with large green wings and green caps and the horns wobbling around true to life.

The fishing party and the haying bee were the older ones dressed for a picnic. The Echo Elves, all in white with flowers and wings were pretty indeed and the firefly boys with their black and red suits were lively enough but those frogs were the cap sheaf. The teacher who arranged those frogs suits certainly has a calling for larger things, and those poor little pollywogs you had ought to have seen them hop.

The musical numbers were all good that H. S. orchestra is a No I and we hope for its appearance soon and often Miss Edna Taylor and Harold Lowry sang in their usual fine voices and the Girls and Boys Glee Club gave songs. The Boys Club perhaps pleased better for their voices are so much stronger but both showed excellent training.

The credit for this very fine entertainment is due to the grade teachers headed by Miss Caldwell, the teacher of music in the schools They have been drilling their charges patiently for weeks so that Friday night, no one forgot his lines and everything went along without a hitch anywhere.

We want to especially praise the teachers for keeping the little people so in order while off the stage. Everyone knew his especial place and had been trained to keep it.

We understand the net proceeds amounted to 75 or $80 which go toward the school music and athletics.

GOOD FRIDAY AT ST PETER'S

This is the most solemn day of all the year to members of the Episcopal church Service of The Three Hours will be held in the church from 12 m. to 3 p m. The service is divided into seven sections Special prayers and seven addresses to be given.

Section 1. Topic: "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do" Luke 23:3

Section 2. "Today thou shalt be with me in Paradise." Ssoloist. Miss Lillian Kennedy.

Section 3. "Woman, behold thy son," John 19:26. Soloist, Lester Waring.

Section 4. "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" Matt. 27:46 Soloist, Mrs R. Moore, "The Lord is my Shepherd."

Section 5 "I thirst," John 19:28. Soloist, W S. Dickinson.

Section 6 "It is finished," John 19:30 Soloist, Miss Edna Taylor, 'There is a green hill far away."

Section 7. "Father into Thy hands I commend my spirit," Luke 23:46.

During the various sections over 100 people attended last year, we hope there will be a better attendance this year. The public are invited to attend any or all of the sections. Those who cannot come except at the noon hour are specially invited to come at that time. "If we suffer with Him we shall reign with Him." The cross before the crown. Will you plan to come?

Universal Demand.

"The trouble with our son," said father, "is that he wants his own way about everything." "Yes," replied mother, "and I suppose that's what he thinks about us."—Washington Star.

A Trace of Kindness.

He—Can't you find anything pleasant to say about the members of my family? She—Well, I remember they were all opposed to our marriage.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

THE SEED CORN SITUATION

On account of the continued cold and wet weather during the summer of 1915, the corn crop made a much slower growth than usual, and with few exceptions, failed to mature.

Immature corn, when used for seed does not germinate well and the plants are apt to be weak and backward in their growth. Moreover, the unripe corn harvested last fall contained an excessive amount of moisture which favored the development of mold and other fungus diseases and was responsible for serious injuries from freezing

In order to determine the seriousness of the seed corn situation the Department of Farm Crops made a limited seed corn survey in representative sections in ten counties in Southern Michigan Inquiries were made as to the amount of seed corn available and samples were secured for germination tests.

While results varied somewhat in different sections, the conditions were found to be very unsatisfactory in all of the ten counties. It was found that only 59 per cent of the farmers had saved seed corn, and many of these had not enough for their own [illegible] which [illegible] been saved was not fit for planting. The average per cent, of germination including the weak sprouts, was 53 4 per cent.

It is readily seen from these figures that the seed corn situation in Michigan is very serious. It is a situation that will result in thousands, if not millions of dollars loss to Michigan farmers the coming season unless an unusual effort is made by all corn growers to secure the best possible grade of seed corn,

It is a matter of prime importance that all seed corn used for 1916 planting should be tested. A very satisfactory germination test may be made as follows: Make a flat box 3x20x30 inches inside measure and fill nearly full with moist sand; then mark into squares two inches across by a cord which is passed around nails driven in the sides of the box. The squares in the first row beginning at one end are numbered 1 to 10, the second 11 to 20 etc, After placing six grains from each ear in their respective checks, another one-half inch of moist sand is used to cover the corn. If in any check all of the grains do not grow or if the sprouts do not show sufficient vigor, the corresponding ear should be discarded. It is frequently possible by the use of the individual ear test and discarding of the dead and weak ears to secure a good grade of seed corn from a supply which averages low in germination,

It is not advisable, as a rule to go to other states for seed corn or even to go very far south in Michigan, especially if the corn has been grown on a more fertile soil. In most sections of the state there is some fairly well matured corn of the 1915 crop and some 1914 corn that has been stored in dry, well ventilated cribs that is suited for planting if carefully tested by the individual ear method. Farmers who wish to purchase seed corn should first investigate the supply in their own sections If a satisfactory supply is not located in this way, application should be made to the local county agent or to the Agricultural College.

The seriousness of the seed corn situation is not generally appreciated and it is feared that many farmers will have very thin stands which will produce only a small percentage of the usual crop. It is important that every corn grower who has not already done so should test his seed corn at once Use the individual ear method and throw out the dead and weak ears, making a good grade from your own variety if possible, If necessary to purchase seed corn, make arrangements to do so as early as possible, securing varieties adapted to local conditions

LUNCHEON PARTY

Mrs. W. T Eccles was hostess to a party of friends Monday with a luncheon given in honor of her sister Mrs Sarah E. Stevens. Those present were Mesdames John Tuttle, Myra Kilby, Addie Walls, Mary Gulwitts and Mary Lancaster of Clinton and Mrs. H W. Stevens of Tecumseh,

As we listened over the phone we could hear the chatter of many voices and we were impressed with the fact that they were having a merry time, and the announcement made by their hostess that they were to be put in the paper was met with laughter. It goes without saying that the company enjoyed every moment of the day.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free

An Eye-opener About

FERTILIZER

Last week the man I used to buy fertilizer of called. I was glad to see him as he has a better job now and doesn't get out of Chicago very often. He talked to me a lot about fertilizer, I can't tell you all he said, but one thing I remember; I spoke about the high price of fertilizer: now, he said.

"Do you realise that the difference in the price of fertilizer now and last year is only the price of one bushel of corn per acre. If you don't use fertilizer this year, you will be saving at the tap and losing at the bung."

He went on to say that just because the Germans won't let us have any potash is no reason to go back and sit down and say we won't raise as much grain this year. Now potash is about the only thing in fertilizer that has gone up in price to amount to anything. You can buy blood, bone, and tankage of ARMOUR at the same old price and put back on the soil what you take off when you sell a bunch of hogs, steers, or sheep.

Better get your order in at once; there is such a demand for guns and shells that there are not enough box cars to go around. Later shipments may be delayed. Suppose you write or phone in so we can save you some of the first that comes.

PROSPECTS GOODS FOR NEW FACTORY

Negotiation are proceeding favorably between the Board of Commerce and the Jackson Skirt and Novelty Co. of Jackson who are considering the advisability of locating a branch of their factory in Tecumseh. While it is not definately decided our Board of Commerce considers that their chances are good for securing this branch factory for our town.

Options have been secured on the rooms in the third story over Satterthwaites and Wrights store. These rooms are satisfactory to the Jackson people and if they locate here can be used until a better location can be secured

Applications have been pouring in for work and there is little doubt but what the required number could be secured.

Sumptuary Laws of Cape Town.

Cape Town once lived under so severe a code of sumptuary laws that anything like display was restricted to the governor and his immediate circle. Thus runs article 6 of the Dutch laws against luxury and ostentation: "No one less in rank than a junior merchant and those among the citizens of equal rank and the wives and daughters only of those who are or have been members of any council shall venture to use umbrellas." In practice this restricted the possession and use of umbrellas to about fifty persons in Cape Town.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because It's For One Thing Only, and Tecumseh People Appreciate This.

For weak or disordered kidneys.

E. C Brisbin, farmer, north Democrat st., Tecumseh, says: I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of the trouble and did me much good." NEARLY THREE YEARS LATER, Mr. Brisbin said: "You may continue to use my name as a reference for the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this remedy and it acts promptly and effectively."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mr. Brisbin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props. Buffalo, N. Y. adv

"Mrs. Dubwaite doesn't seem to mind how much Mr. Dubwaite operates the phonograph."

"In the language of a well known advertiser, 'There's a reason.'"

"Yes?"

"As a choice between two evils, Mrs. Dubwaite much prefers the phonograph. Mr. Dubwaite's favorite diversion in the evening used to be picking out a tune on the piano with one finger."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Perils of Tropical Waters.

Raising a vessel submerged in tropical waters is dangerous business, according to an account in Shipping Illustrated of the salvage of a gunboat that had been sunk in the harbor of Progreso, Yucatan. The sailors were in constant danger owing to the attacks of "voracious fishes, some of which are more ferocious than sharks and far more determined in their methods of attacking human prey."

Valley of the Jordan.

The valley of the Jordan constitutes the deepest depression on the face of the earth, the sea of Galilee itself being over 700 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, while the Dead sea is over 1,300 feet below the level of all the oceans of the world.

This Very Day.

"Seize your opportunity," was the advice of Pittacus, one of the seven wise men of Greece. To grasp the swiftly moving moment is the repeated injunction of the Bible. "Teach me to number my days," said Moses. "Make me to know mine end and the number of my days," said David, and Job, who had a peculiarly sane grasp on the things that make for success in all departments of life, is conscious that the days fly through his hands "swifter than the weaver's shuttle."

Lord Chesterfield said that the Duke of Newcastle lost an hour in the morning and spent the rest of the day looking for it. Benjamin Constant's cry of regret should be a warning to us who do not regard the systematizing of our day's task: "How I lose my time! What an unarrangeable life mine is!"

The uncertainty of life as well as its swift passage should incite us to live to the top of our ability today. We say, "Some day I hope to get time to read," "Some day I hope to get time to attend to cultivating religious habits." But "some day" is today or probably never.—Christian Herald.

Painting Hooks and Eyes.

There are many methods of mechanical painting, and some of the most extraordinary are described by Arthur Seymour Jennings in his book, "Painting by Immersion and by Compressed Air." One method, for such articles as hooks and eyes, eyelets and very small iron parts generally which cannot be successfully dipped or sprayed, is known as "tumbling." The articles are placed in a machine something like a churn, together with a number of steel balls, usually of very small diameter, and a given quantity of japan. The churn is then closed down and given a dozen or so rapid turns, during which the steel balls carry the japan to every part of the articles. The contents of the churn are then dumped out on to wire trays. These being agitated, the steel balls fall through the meshes, leaving the painted iron parts behind.

Disinfect Your Pets.

Many children and adults acquire skin diseases from the household pets. Such diseases as ringworm and barber's itch are transmitted by the cats and dogs. An epidemic may be started by germs being carried into the home. Every member of the household may develop disease acquired from carelessly petting a stray cat or dog on the street. Dogs are fond of filth. They delight in groveling in heaps of manure or refuse of any kind and for this reason should be regarded with suspicion.

The stray pets should be treated to an antiseptic bath before being fondled. Your own pet dog after a run out of doors should have a disinfectant bath before it is again permitted to sleep on the lounge or sit upon your lap.—Philadelphia Record.

Building a House In Japan.

In Japan if one wishes to build a house he first proceeds to make certain that the site is "respectable." If it is not he must have the ground purified. A curious incident of this nature developed not long ago when a native decided to build in Tokyo on the ground formerly occupied by the Ichigaya jail. The carpenters would not begin work until the priest had been called in and purified the spot. He brought with him bamboo rods and shimmei and rice and with weird incantations turned north, south, east and west, uttering his formula four times and scattering bits of paper and rice at each delivery. The spirits of jail inmates long dead thus propitiated, the carpenters went contentedly to work.

In an Ancient Korean Coffin.

Workmen engaged in repairing the ruins of the old Shiragi dynasty tombs in Korea, while employed in a nine story tower, discovered a stone coffin about two square feet in the third story of the tower. In the coffin were a jeweled ornament, a gold bell, a silver bell, some old coins, a gold vase, a stone gourd, some comma shaped jewels and several other rare articles, all relics of ancient times, dating back 1,800 years.

VILLA IS DEAD GARCIA CLAIMS

Two Reports Come from Mexico Containing Story.

BODY IS ON WAY TO BORDER

Death and Burial Secret Betrayed By Captured Colonel—Bandit's Corpse [illegible] at Francisco Boyja. Leg Found Gangrened With Knee Shattered by Wound.

El Paso, April 17.—Pancho Villa's body was taken out of its lonely grave at Francisco Borja near Cusihuiriachic, Chihuahua, and positively identified according to Mexican official advices and private messages from San Antonio, Mex. The bandit died from gangrene, as a result of a wound in his left knee.

News from Several Sources.

The story of the finding of the body came from several sources. First—Carranza officials received messages from San Antonio and Madera, both in the State of Chihuahua. Later a private message from San Antonio, Chihuahua, confirmed the finding of the body and gave the details. This message said that a former Villa colonel, captured by General Cavazos, a Carranza commander, offered, if his life was spared, to show where Villa was buried. The offer was accepted and he led a command under Colonel Carlos Carranza, nephew of the first chief of the Constitutionalists, to the lonely grave of the former [illegible] czar. The message said the body was positively identified on being taken up and that an examination showed that death had resulted from gangrene, as a result of a gunshot wound in the left knee. The body was being brought to San Antonio, to be taken to Chihuahua City and then Juarez, the message said.

Wants Americans to View It.

Andres Garcia, Carranza consul in El Paso, as soon as he received the first report of the capture of Villa sent a telegram to Governor Gutierrez, of the State of Chihuahua, asking him to have the body of Villa sent to Juarez that Americans might view it and satisfy themselves of the death of the bandit.

Bears Out Previous Report.

The story of the location of the body tallies with that of a week ago regarding the death of Villa. It was stated at that time that he died somewhere in the vicinity of San Antonio or Satevo and had been buried on a ranch. One of the Mexican informants of General Pershing's men at the time said he could point out the grave, but it is not known if he was given a chance to do so or not.

The Americans did not credit the report of the death and continued their chase after the men who had been known to be with Villa, in the hope that Villa was with them or at least if he was he would be captured.

The Carranzistas placed more credit in the report and immediately took steps to locate the body if possible. By Accident General Garazos who fought with Villa at Guerrero and whose forces drove the Villistas out of the town made a prisoner of a former colonel on the staff of Villa. The prisoner admitted that he had been with his chief in his last days and said he was present at the burial. For the price of his life he offered to convey the Carranzistas to the grave where they could exhume the body and satisfy themselves. General Cavazos detailed Colonel Carranza for the command and instructed him to shoot the former Villista if he attempted to get away or his story proved false. They were sent out from Cusi, the informer aserting that Villa's body could be found at Francisco Boyja, thirty miles south.

Says Body Is Identified.

Sunday messengers brought in the news, according to the dispatches from San Antonio and Madera, that the body had been taken out of its grave and had been positively identified. Villa had been buried, it was stated, as he had caused so many others to be interred, with his fighting apparel. The message from San Antonio said Villa's trousers on his right leg had been split because of the terrible swelling resulting from the gangrene in the gunshot wound received at Guerrero.

State Department Gets News.

Washington, April 17—The state department made the following announcement:

"Zack Cobb, collector of customs at El Paso, reports that customs authorities at Juarez informed him that the dead body of Villa has been found in a place and manner not stated.

"The body will be brought into Chihuahua from Cusi by special train."

Reason For It.

Wilfer—These are hard times. Why, I heard of a man the other day who couldn't raise money even on government bonds. Slimwit—Indeed What was the reason? Wilfer—Well, you see, he didn't have the bonds.—Exchange.

A Substitute.

"What is a picayune?"

"A picayune is what a man says he doesn't care when he doesn't wish to use stronger language."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Overworking the Superstition.

"Henry," said the superstitious hostess to her husband, "you simply must find another guest."

"What's the trouble now?" he asked "There are thirty of us to sit down."

"I know, but there were forty-three invited and exactly thirteen didn't come."—Boston Transcript.

Dodging.

"If I had my way," said the positive woman, "I'd make every unmarried man pay a special tax."

"What would be the use?" rejoined Miss Cayenne. "Any man who can successfully dodge matrimony would surely succeed in dodging his taxes."—Washington Star.

Religion of India.

The religious beliefs of India are numerous and range from Buddhists in the east, pagans in the north and Mohammedans in the northwest, through the great bulk of Hindus in the center, to Buddhists and Christians in the extreme south.

Legend of King Marko.

King Marko, who ranks as the Servian King Arthur, was the son of King Vukashin, whom he denounced for usurping the throne, which rightly belonged to Urosh, son of Dushan. Vukashin cursed him and prayed that he might have neither tomb nor posterity and be doomed to serve "the czar of the Turks." But Urosh blessed him and prayed that he might know no equal in wisdom or prowess and be remembered as long as the earth endured.

"Thus they spake and thus it came to pass," says an old Servian ballad. Marko fought for the sultan, but "the sultan feared him, for his wrath was terrible," and, though he knew no sepulture, he lived, say the legends, for 300 years. He still lives in the hearts of patriotic Servians, many of whom believe that one day he will awake and come forth to restore the glories of the former empire.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Athenian "Liturgy."

One of the most interesting cases of voluntary taxation is the ancient Athenian "liturgy," which meant something very different from the liturgy of to-day, the etymological meaning of the word being "public work." The liturgy was a special contribution made to the state by a wealthy citizen or group of citizens. There were ordinary liturgies, such as the provision of the chorus for a great tragedy, and extraordinary ones, such as the equipment or maintenance of a warship. The liturgy was fundamentally a tax, and it was often evaded by all sorts of shifts. But in the palmy days of Athens it was considered disgraceful for those upon whom it was imposed to do no more than the law exacted, and sometimes rich citizens would volunteer a liturgy from public spirit or to win popularity.—London Chronicle.

Keen on the Cash.

Shrilling loudly in the silence of the night, the chemist's bell aroused him from slumber. With reluctance he wrapped himself in a dressing gown and went downstairs, shivering, to be met at the door by a placid looking man who merely wanted a bottle of soda water.

The chemist's feelings were strong, but he resolved to do business.

"Twopence extra on the bottle," he murmured blandly, "which will be allowed on return."

Then he returned to bed.

Two hours later the bell rang again. Once more he went down. Again it was the placid looking man.

"There's your bottle," he said calmly. "Gimme my twopence."—London Answers.

The Unicorn.

Chinese annals of great antiquity contain numerous detailed accounts of the supposedly fabulous unicorn, in which the descriptions are identical with those handed down from the earliest times in the mythology of occidental countries. From this it is inferred that at some time in the remote past there actually did exist a single horned equine or cervine animal of some sort.

Rheumatic Pain Stopped

The drawing of muscles, the soreness, stiffness and agonizing pain of rheumatism quickly yield to Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the painful part. Just apply as directed to the sore spots. In a short time the pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth. Here's proof—"I have had wonderful relief since I used your Liniment on my knee. To think one application gave me relief. Sorry I haven't space to tell you the history. Thanking you for what your remedy has done for me"—James S. Ferguson, Philadelphia, Pa. Sloan's Liniment kills pain 25c at druggists.' adv

Protect School Children

Measles, scarlet fever and whooping cough are prevalent among school children in many cities. A common cold never should be neglected as it weakens the system so that it is not in condition to throw off more serious diseases. Foley's Honey and Tar is pleasant to take, acts quickly, contains no opiates. Sold everywhere in Tecumseh. adv

To Rid Child of Worms

Don't scold the fretful, nervous child, Often its due to worms. Get rid of these by giving one-half to one lozenge Kickapoo Worm Killer, a laxative worm candy. Give only plain nourishing food, lots of out-door exercise and put to bed early. Watch stools and continue giving Kickapoo Worm Lozenges, they will positively remove the worms. 25c at druggists.' adv

Taken with Croup

"A few nights ago one of my patrons had a child taken with croup." writes M. T Davis, merchant, Bearsville, W. Va. "About midnight he came to my store and bought a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Before morning the child was entirely recovered." Many such letters have been written. Sold everywhere in Tecumseh adv

Avoid Spring Colds

Sudden changes, high winds, shifting seasons cause colds and grippe and these spring colds are annoying and dangerous and are likely to turn into a chronic summer cough. In such cases take a treatment of Dr. King's New Discovery, a pleasant laxative Tar Syrup. It soothes the cough, checks the cold and helps break up an attack of grippe. It's already prepared, no mixing or fussing. Just ask your druggist for a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. Tested and tried for over 40 years, adv

MEN'S BANQUET

The business men held their banquet at the Barrett tea rooms Tuesday evening with covers laid for fifty. Rev. G. W. Jennings pronounced the invocation after which a four course dinner was served. At the close of the banquet, the meeting was called to order by F. S. Anderson who was appointed Chairman of the meeting with H. S. Temple Secretary.

Att'y Geo. A. Rathbun was called upon by the chairman for a review of the work done on the school question up to the present time, which he did in a most able manner and made a strong place for co-operation of those present for personal work and urged each one to bring at least four to the polls Thursday to vote for the school. He gave a good account of the ways and means used by the committee and gave assurance that no member had ever tried to conceal anything from the public, but worked for the best interest of all to further the school campaign.

Mr. Anderson read the names of the committee of 25 so called and called for a general discussion and suggestions for campaign ideas

After the discussion it was decided to hold a public meeting Wednesday from 3 to 8 p. m. at the Barrett tea rooms when the school house plans would be on exhibition and the architect with a committee would be present to explain and help the voters to a better understanding of the question. Dodgers were printed and scattered over the village advertizing this meeting.

The next question under discussion was the Jackson Skirt & Novelty proposition as presented to the Commerce Club and the developments up to the present which were discussed in detail those present expressing their satisfaction and hopes that we might secure this factory.

The question of holding Wednesday specials the same as were held last year was unanimously approved and a committee appointed to look after details and report later.

It was voted to hold a business mens luncheon once a month where matters of importance will be taken up and discussed. The principal speakers at this banquet were G. A. Rathbun and Dr. Hartzog on the school question. John Nyland on the factory and Wade Jones for the Wednesday specials, with good support by others. It was a late hour when the company dispersed but everyone felt that the evening has been well spent.

TROOPS INVITED INTO PARRAL, NEW REPORT

Pershing Tells More of Wednesday's Fight—Casualty List.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS.—A report from General Pershing contained the names of dead and wounded in the Parral fight Wednesday and gave more details of the incident that preceded Major Tompkins' entry into Parral. He said a captain of General Lozano visited the American camp Tuesday night, leaving after breakfast Wednesday morning. It was his insistent invitation that they go directly into Parral that caused Tompkins to enter the city, but to guard further against any unpleasant incident he sent forward a courier, who remained unreported.

Following are the names of the dead in the action at Parral: Sergt. Joe Ridley, Private Herbert Ledford.

The wounded are: Maj. Frank Tompkins, Lieut. James B. Ord, Corporal Benjamin McGiliel, Corporal W. E. Willingham, Corporal Richard Taunous, Private I. M. Shedyer. In addition, Private Charles Eichenberger was reported missing. With the exception of Lieut. Ord of the sixth infantry, all belong to the thirteenth cavalry. Corporal Taunous' injury is the only one reported as serious.

LULL BEFORE VERDUN STORM

German Artillery Preparing for Another Attack on Positions.

LONDON, ENG. — The calm before the storm which marked the Verdun front for several days except for a number of vain counter attacks by the French, continues. A new drive by the Crown Prince's right wing on the western bank of the Meuse is foreshadowed by intense "drum fire" against the French positions in the Avocourt wood and between Dead Man's Hill and Cumieres as reported by the French war office. It is here that the Germans are expected to launch the next great drive, their objective being Hill 304, considered the key to the Verdun-Paris railroad.

Berlin in its official statement disposes of the operations on the western front by saying "there are no incidents to report."

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Thursday, April 13.—The French report claims an attack by the Germans on Hill 304 northwest of Verdun was stopped by the curtain of fire from the French guns.

[illegible] claims French losses at Verdun have been 150,000.

Petrograd reports the Turks counter attacking with great energy to hold Baiburt, an important city at the chief junction of the roads between Erzerum and Trebizond.

Friday, April 14.—General Lake, commanding the British relief expedition on the Tigris, reports the defeat of the Turks and a British advance of three miles.

Constantinople reports that Turks and Persians put to flight two regiments of Russian cavalry along the western Persian border.

A violent bombardment of the French lines west of Hill 304 was reported by the French war office. Repulse of an attack south of Douaumont also was announced.

Saturday, April 15.—A French counter attack against all the German positions along the wooded strip reaching to the westward from the Meuse was initiated. Centering on Dead Man Hill, the attack spread to all the German positions south of the Corbeaux Wood and in the Cumieres Wood. The French gained a footing on Dead Man [illegible] were driven out at the point of the bayonet.

Vienna reports that seven Russian aeroplanes, among them four battleplanes, and several Austro-Hungarian fliers fought a two-hour battle in the air over Czernowitz today, in which one Rusian battleplane was shot down at a distance of 30 feet.

A German steamer was sunk today by a mine, a British steamer and a Danish schooner were sunk by submarines, and a Danish steamer was captured by a German submarine.

Sunday, April 16.—Paris and Berlin report successes in the Verdun sector. The French made an attack on the Vaux-Douaumont front, after artillery preparation, and Paris claims a section of foe's trenches with 200 prisoners were taken. Berlin reports the attack failed and 200 of the attackers were captured.

British naval planes raided Constantinople and destroyed a powder factory and a hangar.

British troops made steady progress in an attack against Turk positions on the Tigris, the war office reports. Turk advanced lines were occupied and many dead and prisoners were left.

LOW CLOVERLEAF

The Low Cloverleaf Gives the Manure Two Healthy Beatings

WE used to think that if we threw manure onto the ground any old way and plowed it under, we were doing a good job. But now we know that won't do. To do any real good, the manure must be broken up into small pieces and spread evenly.

The Low Cloverleaf spreader is the one that does this work best. It gives the manure two healthy beatings, one with the regular beater, the other with the wide spread disks. When the manure reaches the ground in that condition your soil gets all the good there is in it, and gets it quickly. The Low Cloverleaf is one spreader it will pay you to see before you buy. See the local dealer who has one set up for you to look at.

U-BOAT ATTACK KILLS AMERICAN

Second U. S. Citizen Wounded on Ship Sunk by Submarine.

PRESIDENT COMPLETES NOTE

Senator Stone Is Called Into Conference—Congressional Leaders Agree That Time Has Come to Force an Accounting With Germany on the Submarine Issue.

LIVERPOOL, ENG. — At least one American perished when the British steamer Inverlyon was torpedoed off Fastnet Light, according to two Americans, survivors, arriving here.

American Is Wounded.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—One of two Americans aboard the Russian steamer Imparator, from Gulfport, Miss., for Marseilles, France, was wounded when the vessel was fired upon without warning by an Austrian submarine off the Culumbrede Islands, according to official advices to the state department. This brings Austria once more into submarine complications with the United States.

The American injured was Gustav Olson, whose father is bandmaster at Fort Warren, Boston. The other American aboard was Aner Sweensson, whose brother is foreman of a Minneapolis furniture factory.

Information from U. S. Consul.

The state department's information came from the American consul at Barcelona, Spain. He said the ship was fired upon without warning on April 11. Three shots were fired, one taking effect. The vessel was set afire by the submarine. Olson was reported to be in a hospital at Barcelona, suffering from shrapnel wounds.

Secretary Lansing said he probably would take the destruction of the Imperator up with the Austrian government and that a full investigation would be made.

William Smith and Nathan Tilton, two Americans, were among those saved from the British steamer Eastern City, sunk 150 miles off Cardiff, Wales, April 9, the American consul at Cardiff cabled the state department.

President Completes Note.

President Wilson completed the communication to Germany on submarine warfare and sent for Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee and Congressman Flood of the house foreign affairs committee for a conference. This action is in line with the President's policy of keeping congress informed of the progress of the negotiations. Both agreed that the time had come for an accounting by Germany with the submarine issue.

Mrs. Wm. Meir, aged 94, oldest resident of Saginaw county, died from injuries received from falling down stairs. She was born in Berlin, Germany, coming to this country when forty-three years of age. She lived in Ogemaw county thirty-seven years.

William Ward, aged 94 years, the oldest pioneer resident of Eaton Rapids township and the last of the old stock of pioneer settlers on the Montgomery plains, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ben Sayles, on the old Ward homestead, two miles east of Eaton Rapids.

TECUMSEH GETS NEW SCHOOL HOUSE

NEW SCHOOL VOTE CARRIES BY 145 MAJORITY

One of the most Exciting Elections that Tecumseh has had in Years.

Out of a total of 460 votes cast at Thursday's special school election, 303 votes were for, and 158 votes were against, with 3 blank, making a majority vote for the improvement of 145. The day was an ideal one for the election and the large vote showed how much the people had this question at heart. An interesting feature of the election was the interest the ladies of our town took in it, there being a total of 172 votes cast by the ladies alone. Prior elections have been held in the rooms on the second floor, but the Board decided that at this election the ground floor should be used, so the booths were moved down and placed in the engine room which made a very convenient place for all.

A good deal of energetic work was done by both sides and committees were busy with autos carrying those who could not easily get out to the polls, as a result people who had not voted for years. come to cast their votes

The victory was announced by the ringing of the fire bell which was followed by blasts from the water works whistle and the ringing of church bells and everywhere excitement reigned. In the evening the school children showed their joy by marching up the streets, singing and clanging tin pails, while a squad of boys formed a kind of "Cox's Army" and entertained? the public by making doleful sounds on brass horns and various other instruments.

This is the third time Tecumseh has voted on the school question, the first election calling for a bond issue of $50,000 for the purpose of building a new high school, was called June 24th, 1913. The total vote cast at this election was 214 of which 96 were for, and 117 against, the issue losing by 21 votes. The second vote was taken Oct 14th of the same year, and called for a bond issue of $50,000 for a high school. The issue was lost as at the earlier election by a majority of 90, there being a total of 356 votes cast, 133 for, and 223 against.

The question was not again taken up until last fall when the people, feeling the great need of a modern building and, we beleive feeling very much ashamed of the buildings now in use, began to agitate the question of providing suitable buildings for our children. A building was decided upon which would take the place of three of the oldest, the present High school, the East Branch, and the Brownville school. A committee of some 25 or 30 men was formed to study the question and to work out ways and means for erecting a new modern building and to carry the election. This committee acting in unison with the school board, put in a lot of hard, earnest work, which proved its value in the success of yesterday's election.

Thus, the old school which has stood so many years, and which has rendered such valuable service to the people of Tecumseh, will soon be a thing of the past, and our people will emulate the grand old folks of by-gone days, by erecting a building which will be a credit to this community.

EARL DUNN WINS HONORS IN ORATORY FOR CENTRAL HIGH AT PORT HURON MEET.

Members of Grand Rapids Central High are enthusiastic over the showing made by Earl Dunn, one of their number, who won the final oratorial contest of the Federated House of Representatives at Port Huron Friday night. The contest was held to decide the championship in oratory among the members of the houses of representatives of the various high schools in Michigan, and the Grand Rapids boy led all the way. The contestants were: Moses, Ann Arbor; Chamberlain, Port Huron; Secard, Muskegon; Dunn, Grand Rapids. Moses of Ann Arbor was given second place

Earl Dunn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J William Dunn, 539 LaGrave avenue, S. E. Mr. Dunn is a detective in the Grand Rapids police department.

The above was clipped from a Detroit paper and is of interest to many in Tecumseh who know Earl Dunn, who is a grandson of Mr and Mrs. Alva Waring.

LAPEER PAINTER GIVES OUT FACTS

Richard Davis Tells of An Interesting Experience With Tanlac.

"Stomach trouble of long standing served to cause my whole system to become run down and I never got any better until I used Tanlac", said Richard Davis, a well known Lapeer, Michigan painter and paper hanger, in a recent interview.

"I now am heartily in favor of Tanlac because I know that it will do what is claimed for it.

"I was so nervous", continued Mr. Davis, "that I could not get the proper amount of sleep. Consequently, I lost much strength and energy. I never felt like I had any life to me at all. I was always tired and listless. My condition was generally run down and I could get no better it seemed

"I saw Tanlac advertised and, becoming interested, got a bottle of the medicine. It has restored my appetite and has given me much strength and vigor I feel much better since using the remedy and want all who suffer as I did to try Tanlac"

Tanlac may be obtained here at the store of B. J. Pulver.

MRS. KERNS' ADVICE

To Weak, Nervous, Run-Down Women

So. Cumberland, Md.—"For a long time I suffered from a nervous breakdown. I could not eat or sleep and was so weak I could hardly walk. My husband heard about Vinol and got me to try it. Now I have a good appetite, sleep soundly and am well and strong. Every nervous, weak, run-down woman should try Vinol.—Mrs. D. W. KERNS.

Vinol is a delicious cod liver and iron tonic, without oil, which we guarantee to create a healthy appetite, aid digestion and make pure healthy blood.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Adrian April 18, 1916

The republicans of Lenawee county met in session at Adrian Tuesday for the purpose of electing delegates to the State Convention to be held in Lansing and to the district convention to be held at Ann Arbor. Twenty members were elected for each convention.

Among the many, Tecumseh was honored by the election of our townsman, H. C. Cockling as a state delegate to Lansing. Despite his 91 years Mr. Conklin was as active and bright as any of the others and when called upon gave a very interesting talk and pledged his fidelity to the Republican party. Grant Fellows made the speech of the afternoon and paid a fine eulogy to Mr Conkling and said should he live to attain the age of 92 years he hoped to be a republican still.

An Eye-opener About
FERTILIZER

Last week the man I used to buy fertilizer of called. I was glad to see him as he has a better job now and doesn't get out of Chicago very often. He talked to me a lot about fertilizer, I can't tell you all he said, but one thing I remember; I spoke about the high price of fertilizer: now, he said.

"Do you realize that the difference in the price of fertilizer now and last year is only the price of one bushel of corn per acre. If you don't use fertilizer this year, you will be saving at the tap and losing at the bung."

He went on to say that just because the Germans won't let us have any potash is no reason to go back and sit down and say we won't raise so much grain this year. Now potash is about the only thing in fertilizer that has gone up in price to amount to anything. You can buy blood, bone, and tankage of ARMOUR at the same old price and put back on the soil what you take off when you sell a bunch of hogs, steers, or sheep.

Better get your order in at once; there is such a demand for guns and shells that there are not enough box cars to go around. Later shipments may be delayed. Suppose you write or phone in so we can save you some of the first that comes.

A GENUINE SURPRISE

A most genuine surprise was that given Mrs. A. J. Bigelow at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. S. Turner and family, Wednesday of this week, when some forty of her friends walked in upon her. It was the aim of those who proposed the party, to invite those who knew her best, so far as they could remember, at the time Rev. A. J. Bigelow [illegible] church.

The day was a most delightful one for everyone present, and the hours passed all too quickly in social visiting. After a most bountiful pot luck dinner, nimble fingers were busy with tatting and crochet, and nimble tongues discussed the various topics of the day. A number of piano selections were given, and Mrs Bigelow favored her friends with several vocal solos Though teardropping April was busy without, yet within doors all was sunshine and good cheer.

BIRTHDAY VISIT

Saturday April 15, being the 78d birthday of Miss Lydia McNiel, the members of the T. B A. and the neighbors met at her home to celebrate the occasion.

She was the recipient of a number of presents, pleasant reminders of her friends.

CHICKEN THEIVES CAUGHT

Deputy John B. Smith was called Tuesday to locate some chicken theives who had been appropriating a flock belonging to Rollo Dunham on the old Coller farm near Holloway Monday evening Sheriff Smith called under sheriff Nutten of Adrian, and together they proceeded in the search. Arriving at Dundee, Mr. Reynolds, who is in the poultry business, told them he believed he, or one of his men, had purchased the chickens, and on inquiry, it was found that Frank June and Roy Brown had sold them. Following this clue, the men were arrested at the home of June near Britton, and were lodged in the Adrian jail.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because It's For One Thing Only and Tecumseh People Appreciate This.

For weak or disordered kidneys.

E. C. Brisbin, farmer, north Democrat st., Tecumseh, says: I began to suffer from kidney complaint twenty years ago and the medicine I took brought me only temporary relief. Often my back ached intensely and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills went to the seat of the trouble and did me much good." NEARLY THREE YEARS LATER, Mr. Brisbin said: "You may continue to use my name as a reference for the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take this remedy and it acts promply and effectively."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mr. Brisbin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props. Buffalo. N. Y. adv

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars. free.

The "Peepul" Are Expensive.

CHICAGO, ILL.—It is estimated that the Illinois presidential primaries cost $700,000 or about $2.80 per ballot cast.

I. L. Stone, Battle Creek philanthopist, has made it easier for the local Young Women's Christian association to erect its new building, for which he had previously donated $50,000, by offering to pay $5,000 additional for the purchase of the Hickman property, one of the three parcels composing the site for the new structure.

Tuesday April 18 we gathered a large bouquet of hipaticas in the woods and on the creek flats we found the curious flower of the skunk cabbage hiding securely away in its thick purplehood. In the woods too we found the thick mottled leaves of the dog toothed violet, otherwise fawn or trout lily, otherwise adder tongue. This plant is not a violet at all but is a member of the lily family.

Good Health Doubles the Value of Your Services

A half sick man is not worth half pay. A man or woman in poor health makes a poor leader, a poor sort of a parent.

The value of Peruna in the home can scarcely be estimated. It prevents many of the common ailments. It is an excellent remedy for coughs, colds, catarrh, grip, spring fever, tired-out feeling.

Sit down and think it over. See whether you can afford to go on half sick.

Some people prefer Peruna Tablets to the fluid Peruna.

2 DOUBLE SLAYINGS MYSTIFY INDIANANS

Heiress Shot by Kin, Who Ends Own Life.

WASHINGTON, INDIANA.—Miss Daisy M. Jones, thirty-six years old, daughter of a former sheriff of Daviess county, and heiress to part of an estate of $150,000, was shot and killed at the home of her brother-in-law, James Perkins, a wealthy farmer, near here. Perkins, who is charged with the crime, was found dead with his throat cut with a razor.

His sixteen-year-old daughter, seriously ill, is said to have attempted to prevent her aunt's death. There is no reason known for the tragedy.

SPENCER, IND.—Miss Fern Brumit, eighteen years old, was shot and killed, it is charged, by Harry Dyer, forty, while waiting for a traction car to return to Indianapolis from the funeral of Dyer's mother. Dyer then attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself. Miss Brumit and Dyer walked away from the traction station, and in a few seconds four shots were heard. No reason is known for the shooting unless Dyer had become insane from grief.

Dangers of Draft

Drafts feel best when we are hot and perspiring, just when they are most dangerous and the result is neuralgia, stiff neck, sore muscles or sometimes an attack of rheumatism. In such cases apply Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the sore and painful part. The blood flows freely and in a short time the stiffness and pain leaves. Those suffering from neuralgia or neuralgic headache will find one or two applications of Sloan's Liniment will give grateful relief. The agonizing pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth and quiet rest and sleep is possible. Good for neuritis, too. Price 25c at your druggist's. adv

Protect School Children

Measles, scarlet fever and whooping cough are prevalent among school children in many cities. A common cold never should be neglected as it weakens the system so that it is not in condition to throw off more serious diseases. Foley's Honey and Tar is pleasant to take, acts quickly, contains no opiates. Sold everywhere in Tecumseh. adv

Watch Child for Worms

Worms sap child's strength, rob child of food and make child fretful, irritated, nervous. Watch stool and at first sign or suspicion of worms give one-half to one lozenge Kickapoo Worm Killer, a candy worm remover. Gives immediate results, is laxative. Paralyzes and removes the worms, improves digestion and general health of child. Continue giving Kickapoo Worm Killer until all signs of worms are gone. 25c. at your druggist's. adv

Taken with Croup

"A few nights ago one of my patrons had a child taken with croup," writes M. T. Davis, merchant, Bearsville, W. Va. "About midnight he came to my store and bought a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Before morning the child was entirely recovered." Many such letters have been written. GURGLING BEER LOST AT DUMPING GROUND

Menominee Brewery May Sue City of Crystal Falls.

Crystal Falls, April 24.—Because Crystal Falls authorities seized a quantity of Menominee beer and poured it out on the dumping grounds, the city may become the defendant in a suit for the value of the beer by the brewing company who sent it.

The possibility arose when Carlo [illegible] was given a hearing in a Crystal Falls court for delivering beer and Ed. [illegible] for having beer on his person. Both men were cleared of the charges against them.

"But who's going to pay for that beer?" was asked of the city marshal, who had sworn that he had seized the beer on order of Mayor Muns.

The beer, after being seized, was taken to the persons to whom it was said to have been consigned, but they refused to accept it. Then the dumping ground got the beer.

Sues Ex-Husband's Bride.

Owosso, April 24.—Margaret Angus, divorced last winter from Joseph N. Angus, an Owosso contractor, brought suit for [illegible] damages against Hattie Kent Angus, to whom her divorced husband was married two months ago, and who was named in her divorce suit.

Saluting the Anthem.

When began the custom for individuals and audiences to be standing when the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung or played?

It is a fair question. It was adopted by the army and navy long ago, but the army and navy did not originate the very appropriate and patriotic custom.

Many years ago when Jenny Lind, one of the sweetest singers the world ever produced, was the chief attraction at a Boston concert Daniel Webster, the great senator, secretary of state and patriot, was present.

Jenny Lind sang the "Star Spangled Banner" as only that song bird could sing it. The audience called her back several times, and she sang a verse of our present national anthem. Each time one man stood up and at the close gracefully bowed to the singer. That was Daniel Webster. It was a good example to set, a needed custom to establish, and one that has been an important factor in impressing patriotic lessons.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

KAISER STRIVES TO AVOID BREAK

Berlin Will Ask Exactly What Wilson Desires.

GERARD CONFERS WITH JAGOW

Ultimatum by President Demands More Than International Law Forbids, Germans Think—Ready to Make Amends for Sussex Sinking. Officials See Hope for Settlement.

Washington, April 24.—There is reason to believe from information which has reached Washington that Germany's answer to President Wilson's demands will not precipitate an immediate rupture of diplomatic relations.

There may be further discussion during which the submarine methods which have received the condemnation of the United States will not be followed, and in the end be modified.

Germany will not, however, abandon submarine warfare, because she regards it as an important element in her campaign against her enemies.

Seek U. S. Exact Demands.

Before making a formal reply to the American communication Germany desires to know precisely what the United States desires. Then, so informed, she will determine what attitude to adopt.

The President's demands were couched in general terms and require the imperial government "immediately to declare and effect an abandonment of its present submarine warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels."

Germany insists that she has warned, that she has given passengers and crews opportunity to escape before destroying ships and that vessels have been attacked only when they have resisted or attempted to escape.

Ask End of All U-Boat War?

Is it the purpose of the United States to deprive Germany entirely of the right to overhaul vessels and sink them without reference to the rules of international law which under specified conditions permit such action? If this be not the purpose of the United States, then is it not desirable, in order that no further misunderstanding may develop, for President Wilson to state exactly what rules shall be observed.

In the case of the Sussex, denounced by the President "as one of the most terrible examples of the inhumanity of submarine warfare," only the facts were transmitted. What reparation would be acceptable to the United States?

Perilous But Hopeful.

While it is impossible to learn the exact contents of the telegrams which Ambassador Gerard has sent to the state department in regard to the conference he has had with Former Minister von Jagow, sufficient is known to justify the statement that a frank exchange of views occurred.

TUITE HAS DETROIT RECORD

Man Mixed Up in Papen Plot Had Bad Michigan Record.

Detroit, April 24.—Dispatches telling of the confessions of Horst von der Goltz, under arrest in London as a German spy, make prominent mention of T. P. Tuite, of 372 West One hundred and twentieth street, New York, who is named as one who "made proposals, supplied maps, diagrams of canals, etc."

Thomas P. Tuite, said to be the same person named in the dispatches, was city treasurer of Detroit in 1888, was re-elected for a second term, and then was arrested when his successor found the funds sadly mixed, and an apparent shortage of $150,000 which Tuite was unable to explain, except that bad business methods had been used.

1,000 RATS GET FREE BOARD

But Don't Shriek About Hungry Children; They Are Experimented On.

Madison, Wis., April 24.—More than 1,000 rats are being used in the agricultural chemistry department of the University of Wisconsin in an effort on the part of Professor E. V. MacCollum to discover the ideal food that will make people live the most efficient lives and grow at the best practical rate.

Although the experiments are being made upon rats, the results are known to be the same as if they were made upon human beings. Professor MacCullum has already been at work for seven years on this problem.

CZAR IS WOUNDED AS FLYER HITS POSITION

Russ Ruler Has Narrow Escape, Says Agency.

Berlin, April 24.—Czar Nicholas was injured by a bomb dropped by an aviator during his recent visit to the southwest front, according to Stockholm reports, says the Transocean News bureau. The bureau statement follows:

"Stockholm reports say that during the last visit of the Czar to the southwest front an Austro-Hungarian airman caused a serious alarm. The Czar was reviewing recruits in company with General Brusseloff, when suddenly an Austro-Hungarian flyer appeared and dropped numerous bombs, which hit part of the troops. The panic-stricken recruits fled in wild disorder.

"The Czar was hurt and had a narrow escape from death, while he completely lost countenance.

"As a consequence General Brusseloff was bitterly reproached and General Icanoff was recalled to headquarters on the southwest front."

FORD'S MAJORI[illegible]

But Charley Chaplin Also Scored in Michigan Primary.

Lansing, April 24.—Henry Ford was the choice of just 5,186 more Michigan Republican voters for president than William Alden Smith, according to the official returns of the state presidential primary, as entered by the state canvassing board.

There were 177,186 votes cast in the Republican primary. Of these Mr. Ford received 83,058; Senator Smith, 77,872; William Gerald Simpson, 14,365; Theodore Roosevelt, 1,074; and Justice Charles E. Hughes, 303. Congressman Fordney, Congressman Cannon and other leading lights of the party were given votes, while Charlie Chaplin and Chase S. Osborn both scored.

HUNGARY PAPERS FOR PEACE

Press Shows Anxiety Because of German Attitude Toward Small Nations.

London, April 24.—The Daily Telegraph's Milan correspondent says that a significant symptom regarding the Hapsburg monarchy is shown by an outburst of the Hungarian newspapers in favor of peace.

Premier Asquith's recent speech regarding peace conditions, the dispatch says, has been commended by Hungarians, who are anxious on account of German aggressiveness respecting small nationalities at the end of the war.

BULL ASSISTS HIM ACROSS

But He Had Already Tossed Farmer To the Fence.

Grand Rapids, Wis., April 24.—Herman Klussman, a farmer living several miles west of here, had a narrow escape from death when attacked by an angry bull. Mr. Klussman's ankle was broken, but he managed to run to a fence, the bull assisting him over.

U. S. Watching Felix Diaz.

Washington, April 24.—Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate, was informed at the state department that the department is following up many vague clues which have led the Washington officials to view the Felix Diaz movement as having serious possibilities, but that no definite word has been received from any American agencies.

Saves Smuggled Feathers from Stove.

Houston, Tex., April 24.—Federal Judge W. T. Burns rescinded the order to burn the 527 bird of paradise feathers, valued at $9,000, which customs agents seized from A. Kellman, a New York exporter, who pleaded guilty to charges of smuggling.

REJECTS POSTOFFICE JOB

New York, April 24.—State Senator F. Wagner, when informed that he had been nominated by President Wilson for the place of postmaster of New York City, announced that he would be unable to accept the position. The office pays $8,000 per annum.

"The sending in of my name is a complete surprise to me," said Senator Wagner. "I have indicated before that I did not seek the office, and that if I had any political ambitions they were in other directions. Naturally the president's offer of the position is an honor which I do not underestimate, but which I find impossible to accept."

Villa Commander Surrenders.

El Paso, April 24.—General Severino Ceniceros and his command of Villa bandits have surrendered to the military commander in Durango City and have been granted an amnesty.

Excludes Visitors from Exchange.

New York, April 24.—Comment was caused in Wall street by a new order enforced by special policemen, which excludes all but members from the lobbies of the stock exchange.

A Norfolk Coast Garden.

Unique among English parishes is Wingland, on the Norfolk coast. Rich, with soil producing almost unbelievable amounts to the acre, it has no school, postoffice, public house or tax collector. Wingland has a churchyard, and in it lies one grave, that of a boy thrown up by the Wash. Along the north coast of the county, where the cliffs are chalk, sand, clay and loam, the incessant sea is making inroads. Once happy and fruitful villages now lie seven fathoms deep below the waters. The land is practically all reclaimed and is only a few feet above the sea, but is one great garden. An acre has produced more than $1,000 worth of flowers, fruit and vegetables in a year. Here bulbs of hyacinth and narcissus as good as if not better than those that come from Holland can be bought. Here they grow millions of flowers that grace the tables of Lancashire and Yorkshire.—Argonaut.

TROOPS TO STAY ACROSS BORDER

Pursuit of Villa Will Go On, Says Baker.

EXPECT CLASH WITH MEXICANS

Carranza Forces Probably Will Break Away from Authority and Attack U. S. Soldiers—Redistribution of Troops Is Agreed to by War Secretary and President.

Washington, April 24.—American troops will not be withdrawn from Mexico.

Secretary Baker made this announcement after a thirty-minute conference with President Wilson. The conference, as well as the one held Saturday night, was to consider the reports received from General Scott, chief of staff, following his consultation at San Antonio with General Funston in regard to border conditions and the actual status of the army in Mexico.

Keep After Pancho.

The punitive expedition will be continued after "Pancho" Villa. Secretary Baker did not say the column will be hurled across the Carranza "deadline" and into the state of Durango, whither the bandit leader has fled, but that the troops are not to be withdrawn indicates that any measures necessary to "get" Villa will be undertaken.

The fact that Mexican De Facto Minister of War Obregon is renewing his demands for the withdrawal of the troops, that Carranza's power is known to be tottering and that his commanders in Northern Mexico are concentrating every available man in Chihuahua along the long, thin American supply line are known to have been taken into consideration both by Funston and Scott in their San Antonio conferences and by President Wilson and Secretary Baker in their discussions of Scott's reports, which began to reach Washington early Sunday night.

Means Trouble Officials Think.

It is freely predicted in official circles that the decision to keep the troops in Mexico means trouble either with the de facto government itself or with Carranza's rebellious generals in Northern Mexico.

ARNOLD MYSTERY UNSOLVED

Detectives Dig in Cellar for Body of Long-Missing Girl.

New York, April 24.—About an old, rambling colonial house, secluded on the bank of the Hudson river, near West Point, centered a search for the body of Dorothy Arnold, missing New York heiress, whose disappearance five years ago has furnished a mystery baffling the police of Europe and America.

Inspector Faurot, in New York, admitted that a portion of the cellar had been dug up. He had failed to find the body, but the search has not been abandoned. On the contrary, the information gained so far leads Faurot and his men to believe that the convict, Glenorris, must have had a part in some crime in the section he had been able to describe so minutely.

CARRANZA MONEY IS CHEAP

Mexico Is Thinking of Free Coinage of Silver.

El Paso, April 24.—Banks in Mexico are not refusing Carranza paper because of any secret agreement with Carranza government, as has been alleged, but because they feel the paper has no value, according to Andres Garcia, the Mexican consul here.

Consul Garcia admitted that the financial situation in Mexico looked rather dark, but said he thought the problem could be solved by the free and unlimited coinage of silver, a recommendation he has already made.

24,000 MINERS TO STRIKE

Action Follows Refusal of Operators to Abide by Agreement.

Pittsburgh, April 24.—Twenty-four thousand coal miners in the bituminous fields of this section were ordered to strike by President Van Bitner and other union officials of district No. 5.

THIEF CHLOROFORMS CHICKS

Indiana Woman Discovers Her Poultry Purloined by New Method.

Mrs. Thomas Patterson, living at the city limits, lost forty chickens, which were stolen, and it is believed that the thief first chloroformed them.

Find Pearl 5,000,000 Years Old.

Stanford University, Cal., April 24.—A pearl, estimated to have been formed five million years ago and said to be the oldest specimen of its kind in the world, was found by Stanley C. Herold, a Stanford student, six months ago. The pearl will be presented to the Stanford museum.

A Simple Matter.

"So you are in the market for an automobile?"

"Yes," said the man who likes to attract attention.

EXPORTS TO ENTENTE ARE $1,595,750,294

Washington, April 24.—The latest official figures on exports obtainable at the department of commerce give an idea of the fabulous sums realized by American manufacturers from their trade with the allies. They reveal also the small trade done with the central powers.

In the eight months ending with February, this year, the value of the exports from the United States to England, France, Russia and Italy was $1,595,750,294. In the same period the value of the exports to Germany and Austria-Hungary was $435,851. The difference was $1,595,314,443.

The figures disclose also that the export trade to the allies is constantly increasing.

In February this year the exports to England, France, Russia and Italy were valued at $262,916,743. For the same month a year ago they were valued at $173,196,356, a difference of $89,720,387.

In February this year the exports to Germany and Austria-Hungary totaled $17,123.

The difference was $262,899,641.

CAPT. VON PAPEN IS INDICTED

Recalled Military Attache of Germany Is Hit by Grand Jury.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Captain Franz von Papen, recalled military attache to the German embassy at Washington, was indicted by the federal grand jury in connection with the alleged plot to blow up the Welland canal in September, 1914.

Von Papen was one of five persons indicted in the case, including Captain Hans Tauscher, who is already under arrest, charged with being concerned in the plot.

BRIDE BALKS AT RED WIG

Groom Don't Understand Why She Just Went Home to Mother.

Detroit, April 24.—Alla Mallad was in complete disguise at the time of his marriage to May Hassan. His new little red wig didn't look like a wig at all. It looked just like his own hair. His bride hadn't discovered the disguise when friends in Hghland Park, near this city, gathered to welcome the couple to their new home. It was then that Mallad drew his bride to him for the first kiss, and it was then that she discovered the disguise and went home to mother.

"I don't know what was the matter with that woman," Mallad said to Judge Mandell, while testifying for a divorce. "She never kissed me and never lived with me."

Blind Children Have Wanderlust.

Lansing, April 24.—Stung by spring wanderlust, Peter Miller, aged ten; George Campbell, aged ten, and Floyd Simpson, aged fourteen, inmates of the Michigan School for the Blind, disappeared from the institution. The next night a farmer living near Lainsburg, fifteen miles away, reported that he had found the trio sleeping in his barn.

WHERE SHALL WE LOCATE OUR NEW SCHOOL?

Now that the new school is assured for Tecumseh the question arises, Where shall we locate it?

Tecumseh is fortunate in having several public parks centrally located any of which could be utilized as a site for the new school. But in choosing a site we should take several things in consideration.

First—The site must be central.

Second—It should be large enough to furnish ample room for the new building and grounds which could be used for the children's play.

Third—The property about the new building should not be such that would detract.

The present site would make a fine location with the new building facing Monument Park, providing land could be purchased at a reasonable figure to give needed space about the school, the present site being too small.

Monument Park would be large enough but here we would have the railroad running the full length of the park on the west, Brewers' old factory across from it on the north and Moore Bros, and Brown & Co., sheds on the south. The only pleasant outlook would be toward the east.

If the Brewer Foundry location could be purchased, it would remove these old buildings from our midst, give us a pleasant outlook each way as we should have the Episcopal church park between the school and the railroad on the west, Monument Park on the south, nothing objectionable on the east and on the north the land leading down to Evans Creek now owned by Geo. Harriott. A short street separates the Harriott land from the Brewer site and if this street could be closed it would make ample room for the building.

This Harriott land is surrounded by a hill which forms a natural amphitheatre, the low lands would give ample room for a play ground provided the district cared to purchase it. This site is worthy of careful consideration.

In various other places in the central part of town are sites such as the site now occupied by the East Branch school, Adams Park and the old Cemetery Park. All of these places would be rather small and more land would be needed.

Our preference would be either the Brewer Foundry site provided the street to the north could be closed or the present high school site, with additional land added to give the necessary room, the school to face Monument Park. What is your suggestion?

His Gilded Promises.

"Why did you break off the match? Didn't you love the girl?"

"Yes, I loved her, but I saw that our married life would not be happy. It was better to part in time, was it not?"

"I suppose so. But how do you know that your married life would not have been happy?"

"Well, I had promised her a grand piano and an automobile. In fact, I had made her more promises than I could keep."—Pittsburgh Post.

DANCES AND DIES.

The May Fly Lives Only a Day, but Has a Gay Time While He Lasts.

Foolish insect! He lives only one day and spends the greater part of it dancing. You've doubtless been a guest at one of their dances, held over a stream on a warm summer's evening You've seen the insects in swarms, leaping up and down in fancy steps and intricate figures. You've attended the dance of the May flies.

There is a general supposition that all May flies live only for a day. As a matter of fact, they will live several days if the atmosphere isn't too dry. Then again they may survive only through a single night. Even this impending fate cannot stop them from dancing.

This brief lived characteristic, however, applies only to the winged existence of the insect. Before they grow wings they pass through several stages from the larvae, which live in water, through several molts and transformations. So while it is a May fly only for a short time it exists for a longer time, and perhaps we can pardon it if it dances during the brief period it lives in the air.

The fly has two pairs of wings, one pair much larger than the other, and two or three long, bristle-like tails. Its mouth is small and soft and not made for eating. The May fly has no time to eat. He's too busy dancing.—Philadelphia North American.

A GERMAN ARMY CORPS.

What It Means to Move and Feed and Form In Fighting Line.

In the nonmilitary mind there is only a vague idea as to the space required for an army corps.

According to a German writer, a German army corps consists of 41,000 men, 14,000 horses and 2,400 vehicles, including the cannon. Such a body of men and their belongings on a single road make a procession about thirty miles long.

Even when in fairly close touch with the enemy the length of a corps is about fifteen miles, and when the front detachments become engaged in a battle it is five or six hours before the men in the rear get into action to assist them.

An army of ten corps would fight on a front about thirty-seven miles long, and a man who undertook to walk from one wing to the other would require twelve or fourteen hours to do it.

An army corps consumes nearly 300,000 pounds of food a day, about 100,000 pounds for the men and 200,000 pounds for the horses. Even under the most favorable conditions it requires a train of 150 wagons to bring up a day's food.

BEVERIDGE PROPERTY IS BOUGHT BY BETRAM DAY

Price for Suburban Estate is not Announced

ABOUT FOUR ACRES IN TRACT

The residence property known as Woodford, lying along Pleasant run, near North Audubon road in Irvington, has been sold to Bertram Day through John S. Spann & Co. The property, comprising about four acres, was long the home of the H. L. Beveridge family and is known as one of the most delightful suburban estates in Indianapolis in point of its natural setting and its parklike developement.

The home and the main grounds are on the south bank of Pleasant run, but the estate extends to the north side of Pleasant run which is spanned by a rustic private bridge. There are four houses on the tract, and Mr. Day may dispose of one or two. He will retain the main house and grounds and will develop the property

Mr. Beveridge took a great pride in the natural beauty of the property and spent a large amount of money in beautifying the banks of the creek, and in planting many fine trees and shrubs in addition to the large trees which were already on the site. The consideration for the property has not been announced.

Clipped from an Indianapolis paper Bert was a former Tecumseh boy and his wife is a daughter of John S Temple.

WIT AND WISDOM

The Wit and Wisdom club was entertained Monday evening by Henry C. Conkling and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eaton at the home of Mrs. J. F. N Bowen.

Mrs. H. R. Conklin, leader. The topic of the evening was "With the Churches, Local and Foreign."

F S. Turner gave a brief history of the churches of our village, with a sketch of them from their earliest times. Mr. Turner called on several of the members to relate some of their recollections along this line, which were quite interesting.

The Misses Edna Taylor and Gretel Conklin sang the Rock of Ages, which was beautifully illustrated by the Misses Marjorie Rosacrans and Georgianna Conklin. At the close of the program light refreshments were served

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

"EASTER" AT THE CHURCHES

At the Presbyterian church the Sunday school gave their Easter program at 10 o'clock. The junior and primary departments gave splendid exercises and each class of the whole school gave either a song or reading.

The front of the church was beautiful with banks of potted plants, Easter lillies and flowers, the decorations being in charge of Miss Nannie Kyle's class. At 11 o'clock the choir gave a most delightful musical, with solos by Mrs Ed Helman and W. S. Dickinson, the male quintette giving several songs and J. Dualne Service rendering "Ave Maria" a violin solo. Expressions of appreciation by the congregation were many and all deserved. The director of the choir, Fred S. Dickinson is to be congratulated upon the high standard and perfect balance of this musical service.

At 6 o'clock at a meeting of the session four little children and quite a number of adults were baptized and 21 received into the church by letter, confirmation and baptism. This makes 29 received as members since Friday last and 71 received in the two years of Mr. Rex' pastorate. At 7 p. m. Holy communion was observed by the congregation in the auditorium.

The junior church conducted the services at 7:30, the crowd of some 80 young people crowding the rostrum and choir loft. The bright faces finding a pretty background with the flowers and plants. The young voices rang out clearly with the grand old hymns and Clement McClelland and Harry Duncan sang a solo, Miss Hazel Roberts and Leon McLachlin played [illegible]

Rev. Rex put his young students through a stiff catechism in which acquitted themselves very creditably. Later he took for his text "I am the Light of the World" and "Ye are the Light of the World."

He used one large candle to represent Christ and from it lighted the many small ones. Then he sent volunteers "two by two" to the far corners of the Church bearing the lighted candles representing the sending of missionaries bearing the light of the gospel to the far corners of the world, carefully retaining some to spread the gospel in Tecumseh. The lights in the auditorum were turned off and the little people travelling over the large room with their tapers left a solumn hush as a fitting climax to a beautiful Easter day.

Larger congregations than usual attended the Baptist church on Easter Sunday. The choir rendered special music at the morning service, Rev. Hartzog delivered a short sermon on, "The Argument for Immortality," after which two were received into the Church, making ten in all for the week. The opportunity was given for others who wished to join next Sunday. There were six who received baptism

There was a large attendance at the Sunday School, a special program being conducted by Supt Jay Morse.

The concert at 5 o'clock was enjoyed by a large congregation of people The processional singing, "We March We March to Victory," making a very effective entrance with the Senior and Junior choirs in line.

The decorations of Easter lillies and other flowers used in profusion, a large white cross occupying a conspicuous place and with drapery of white and green vines made a very pretty effect. The program was exceptionally fine, each one taking their part in their usual delightful manner

At the Friends church speaking and special music in the Sunday School and an Easter sermon by the pastor at the morning service commemorated the day.

Easter morning was ushered in at six o'clock at the Methodist church with a service of prayer and song and several brief talks.

There were about 100 at this service which was a very helpful and happy one to all.

At the close of the services the Epworth League served a light breakfast to about 75. The auditorium of the Church was most beautifully decorated with palms and flowers, the Gate Ajar and the Cross being twined with white and green.

The 10 o'clock service was of unusual interest with beautiful music, the sermon by the pastor on the Resurrection exceptionally good.

At the morning and evening services there were twenty-five baptisms and 26 were taken into the Church.

At the 6 o'clock p. m. service the church was filled to its capacity including the gallery and standing room at a premium. An excellent program was well rendered and the music was splendid.

Rev. F. Hewitt commenced with a service at St John's Clinton at 6 a m and a second service at Tecumseh at 8 a m. Both services were well attended. Easter Baptisms came to 17, at Clinton 12, Tecumseh 5. Total attendance at the two churches for the day was 760. In the evening at Clinton some had to stand through the service. At the children's service at St. Peter's the church was full

The missionary offertory came to $43 from the children, $30 from St. Peters, $18 from St John's. The total offertory on the plate at Tecumseh Easter Sunday was $359.22. The Alter Guild gave $100 of this and as a special Easter offertory various members of the Church gave $125 also the men's class gave $25 The rest was given in paid up pledges.

APRIL RAINS

It isn't raining rain to me
It's raining daffodils!
In every dimpling drop I see
Wild flowers on the hills.
A cloud of gray engulfs the days
And overwhelms the town—
It isn't raining rain to me,
It's raining roses down.
It isn't raining rain to me,
But fields of clover bloom
Where any buccaneering bee
May find a bed and room,
A health then to the happy,
A fig to him who frets
It isn't raining rain to me—
It's raining violets.

RECEPTION GIVEN PASTOR AND HIS WIFE

The reception given last night by Rev. and Mrs. W. F Jones to the members of the Presbyterian church on the fifth anniversary of their coming to Kewanee, proved to be one of the most pleasant social affairs yet given in this church. The church had been decorated with flowers contributed by friends who could not be present, and made home like with rugs, etc

An unusually large proportion of the membership was present, and all seemed in the happiest mood A victrola contributed by P. M. Griggs added much to the pleasure of the occasion Interspersed through the evening were songs by Miss Amy Donaldson, Miss Margaret Milligan and E. F. Anson, each of whom responded to an enthusiastic encore.

Refreshments were served during the evening, and a general informal good time was enjoyed.

Toward the close of the evening Mr. and Mrs Jones were lined up in the middle of the room, and E. F Anson informed them that the congregation, having discovered that this was their silver wedding anniversary, and desirous of expressing their good will and love, presented to them a box full of silver coin of the realm. Mr and Mrs. Jones replied to the presentation speech, expressing surprise and appreciation. Each member present then offered congratulations and expressed the wish that they might live to see their golden wedding anniversary, and serve many more years in this church. It was altogether a most delightful occasion.

Don't Talk Too Much.

Recently a voluble salesman was trying to close a deal with a good customer. The salesman was doing all the talking, and the buyer was becoming not a little annoyed. Several times the customer started to speak, but the salesman would choke him off and start on another line of argument. Finally the manager saw what was up and suggested to the seller that he allow the buyer to say something. This the buyer did and quickly. He said that he had been trying for half an hour to tell the salesman that he would take the goods. — Farm Machinery.

Of the many kidney remedies on the market today, none other is recommended like Doan's Kidney Pills. Thirtyfive thousand benefited people gladly testimony in the newspapers of their own towns. Forty-five hundred American newspapers publish this home proof of Doan's merit. The type used in one year to tell this story would make a solid column of metal twice as high as the world's highest mountain. Placed end to end the lines of type would reach from New York to Chicago. These miles of good words told by 35000 tongues sound glad tidings to any Tecumseh sufferer who wants relief from kidney and bladder ills. Here's a Tecumseh case. Don't experiment. Use the remedy endorsed by people you know:

Henry Kempf, carpenter, Kilbuck St., Tecumseh, says: "My Kidneys were not doing their work as they should and I was suffering from a lame and aching back. I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Son's drug store and it did not take them long to remove the trouble."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mr. Kempf had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props. Buffalo, N. Y. adv

LET IN THE LIGHT.

Faded Carpets Are Not as Pitiful as Faded Cheeks.

Fresh air enthusiasts are familiar enough to most of us, but we hear less of enthusiasm for light. Darkened parlors, darkened bedrooms, darkened sickrooms are too common.

Sir B. W. Richardson, the eminent London scientist and physician, declared that when the professors of healing enter a sickroom their first words in most cases ought to be Goethe's dying exclamation, "More light, more light!"

The light of the sun is God's own microbe killer, germicide, disinfectant, prophylactic, sickness healer. There is no physician, no chemical antidote, no compounded prescription to be compared with sunlight. Without it nature could not perform her functions. Man, beast, bird, insect would fall victims to the deadly gases that would prevail. The horrid mists and deadly gases are dispersed and decomposed by the action of light.

Let it in, everywhere! Let the light in more and more abundantly. Faded carpets are not as pitiful as faded cheeks. Spoiled cushions are trivial compared with spoiled health. Darkened rooms are too suggestive of darkened lives.—Christian Herald.

TIRES OF A MOTORCAR.

Why They Are Found Heated After a Long and Fast Run.

It is well known that after a long and fast run the tires of an automobile are found to be very hot, and many have supposed this is the result of the friction of the tire on the road. The Scientific American says that such is not the case, at least as to the greater portion of the heat.

"The real cause of heating," says that magazine, "is the internal friction of the tire itself, for as the tire is being constantly deflected by contact with the road the various plies, or layers which compose the tire do not act uniformly, and consequently there is more or less motion between them that results in friction and heat. The greater the change in shape in the tire as it contacts with the road the greater will be the friction.

"Of course the harder the tire is pumped the less will be the friction, but it is evident that, while a perfectly rigid tire would generate but little heat, it would fail in giving easy riding. So we must put up with some heating and consequent wear of the tire. The subject is one that is being successfully studied by the tiremaker."

Hanged the Clever Forger.

Of curious petitions against the death penalty being enforced one recalls the eighteenth century case of William Lyland, who was sentenced for forging a bill for £7,114 on the East India House. The forgery was a work of art. No less than thirty signatures were imitated, and at the trial not one of the victims could swear that the signature was not his own. However, with the help of the paper manufacturers Ryland's guilt was brought home. Then came the petition of his friends. So clever a man ought never to be hanged, they pleaded. His craftsmanship should save him. It gained him a respite. He was allowed to finish a fine engraving he had begun, but nothing more. Though the engraver was a favorite of George III., that king quite failed to see how a forgery could be excused on the ground that it was a clever forgery.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Knew Just How.

Many years ago in Paris, at the first presentation of a tragedy that had for its closing scene the murder of a Swedish king which had taken place nearly half a century earlier, all went well till the murder scene came on, when a very dignified old gentleman in the stage box called out angrily:

"Absurd! They've got it all wrong!"

The manager himself heard this plain spoken comment, and, being naturally disturbed by so sweeping a condemnation, he sought out the critic and politely begged to know what fault he had to find with it.

"Why, my good sir," cried the old man, with an air of authority, "the whole grouping of the scene is incorrect! You have made them kill the king to the right of the door, whereas we murdered him on the left!"

Barbarous Tattooing.

Formerly the Marquesans had such a barbarous manner of doing their tattoo work that it often took nearly six months to heal that which had been done in a single day. They covered the whole body of the males with crudely imitated rough designs, circles, curves and many designs of small work, including round and angular spots, even to the finger nails and the top of the head. Thus, beginning at virility, some were upward of thirty years old before their tattooing was completed. Marquesan tattooing was perhaps more remarkable in appearance than that of any other primitive race.

Mrs. Chas. Reitz, Allen's Mills, Pa., writes: "Tha[illegible] Tar Compound f[illegible] and would not be without it. It has saved me many a doctor's bill for colds and croup."
If toward nightfall the little ones grow hoarse and croupy, if their breathing becomes wheezy and stuffy, give them Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Many a careful mother has been able to ward off an attack of spasmodic croup by its timely use.
If you are awakened by the hoarse brassy cough that means croup, give Foley's Honey and Tar Compound at once. It will ease the little sufferers quickly, cut the thick choking phlegm, and soon they will have easy breathing and peaceful quiet sleep.

SNEEZING OMENS.

At One Time to Sneeze Was Regarded as a Death Warrant.

Sneezing from very remote times has been regarded with superstition.

Our forefathers went to bed again if they sneezed while putting on their shoes. A sneeze to the right was deemed lucky; to the left, of evil portent. To sneeze near a burial place was very unlucky.

Tradition has it that sneezing was at first a fatal sign—every human being sneezed but once and then died—but Jacob petitioned the Creator to remove the sneezing ban and succeeded. Thence arose the once universal custom of saluting a sneezer with "God bless you!" or "May you live long!" The custom still obtains in some parts of Europe.

In England not only was a sneezer blessed, but friends raised their hats to him as well. In an old book, "The Code of Conduct," it is directed that "if his lordship sneezes ye are not to bawl out, 'God bless you!' but bow to him handsomely." All over the world the sneeze was recognized. Whole nations were under orders to make exclamations when their king sneezed.

Sneezing was believed to be a sure cure for hiccough and was also looked upon as a sign of sanity. If ancient and universal belief goes for anything it is good to sneeze. — London Telegraph.

WHEN WORK BECOMES PLAY.

The Secret of Contentment Is Found In Proper Employment.

A philosopher once said that "no man properly employed was ever miserable." And a more truthful statement was never made.

To be properly employed one must be engaged in a business in which he has faith and confidence and for which he has respect. If he doubts the legitimacy of the business, if he must resort to practices which he feels are questionable, if he isn't proud of his occupation, he is not properly employed. If the work he is given to perform palls upon him, if he feels that he ought to be doing something else, if he envies the other employee his place in the shop or factory, then the work deadens and destroys, and misery follows.

The writers got things balled up when they talked about work and play. Too great a distinction was drawn. Play was pictured as something that gave happiness and work as something which one performed only because he was hungry.

The truth is, it is all play or ought to be, for the man who is properly employed is only engaged in playing. He gets as much delight from it as he formerly got from the childish games or should. Certainly there can be no misery where a man has found his work. —Dayton News.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Thursday, April 20.—A large force of Russian troops has landed in France at Marseillees, having been transported from Archangel on the White Sea. The move created a profound impression among the allies. The troops are to fill gaps in the French army.

The Berlin official report claims victories over the British in Belgium, but admits that French attacks in the Caillette woods penetrated "salient" trenches.

Large forces of Germans are being withdrawn from the Balkan and Russ fronts to Grance, Paris reports.

Friday, April 21.—On the Verdun front French gains have been made at dead Man's Hill, the threatened angle of the new front, west of the Meuse. Paris reports the capture of German trenches on the slope of this vital point, and the taking of 150 men and four officers prisoners.

In Flanders the Germans captured between 600 and 700 yards of first-line trench on the road between Langemarck and Ypres and two mine craters.

The British repulsed a Turk attack on the Tigris on the night of April 17-18, killing 3,000 of the foe, London reports.

Saturday, April 22.—In the fiercest fighting of the war, Paris admits the Germans secured a fothold in some of the new French trenches on the Meuse, but declares the ground [illegible] won was afterward recaptur[illegible]

A French gain in the Caurette wood, just west of the Meuse where trenches have frequently changed hands recently, is admitted by Berlin.

Rusians in Armenia continue their advance, the Turks being defeated wherever they made a stand.

Sunday, April 23.—German forces were compelled to evacuate newly won trenches on the Langemarck Ypres road on account of high floods.

A hand-grenade attack made by the English south of St. Eloi was repulsed. French trenches on the left bank of the Meuse, southeast of Haucourt and west of Dead Man's Hill, were captured.

The Russians have met with a check in their operations in southern Armenia, according to the official statement by the Turkish war office, having been defeated in a battle south of Bitlis.

Further efforts by the British to advance on the Tigris toward Kut-El-Amara have been futile, the failure of an attack on the Turkish lines at Sannafyat being attributed in an official statement largely to flood conditions.

Russians occupied mine craters exploded by Austrians near Kremenetz. In the Aschkala region in the Caucasus the Turks were defeated at all points.

AIR RAID IN TRIESTE, 9 DIE

Vienna Says Monastery in Which Were 400 Children Was Struck.

BERLIN. — The AUSTRIAN CITY of Trieste has been raided by a squadron of seven Italian aeroplanes. Bombs dropped killed nine persons, wounded five and destroyed a monastery, in which were 400 children.

LONDON, ENG. — A hostile aeroplane appeared over Dover in the morning and was shelled by British guns. It was driven off and dropped no bombs.

Carranza Asks Early Reply.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—General Carranza has asked for an early reply to his note of April 12 suggesting that American troops be recalled from Mexico. The request is understood to have been made directly by General Carranza through Special Agent Rodgers at Mexico City.

Evans to Get Judgeship.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Wilson has practically decided to appoint Evan Evans of Baraboo, Wis., United States Circuit judge in the district including Wisconsin.

O. K. BORDER CONFERENCE

Carranza Sanctions Meeting of Scott and Obregon.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Further developments in the pursuit of Villa and the relations between the United States and the de facto government of Mexico now await personal discussion of these subjects by the senior military advisors of the two governments.

A conference between Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the American army, and General Alvaro Obregon, minister of war of the de facto government, has been arranged to take place probably in Juarez.

Another Steamship Is Sunk.

LONDON, ENG. — The steamship Parisiana has been sunk, the admiralty announces. The crew was saved.

Arthur Hamminger and [illegible] Gorter, two Grand Rapids delivery men, narrowly escaped being killed when a truck they were driving and which carried a ton of flour, turned turtle, pinning them underneath.

Love which he professes for Miss Alice Dale, a Kalamazoo woman, led to the arrest of Herman Meyers, who the police believe knows something about numerous robberies, one of which includes two diamonds he gave Alice.

"Bay rum and cologne drunks" are to be stifly dealt with at Cadillac hereafter in recorders court, according to Judge Walter Ardis, who sent three, Fred Geroux, Geo. Traux and Will Andrews to jail for a total of 105 days.

Blood poisoning, developing while at Flint, from a bruise on her foot caused the death of Miss Minnie White, forty-eight years old, a nurse at the Michigan School for the Deaf, there. The wound became infected from a stocking.

Members of the family of Andrew Sherman living near Saginaw were driven from their home by an early morning fire. Harold Sherman jumped from the second story window when all other means of escape were blocked.

GERMANY SEEKS TO AVERT BREAK

German Reply to U. S. Demands Being Discussed.

CHANCELLOR SEES GERARD

Washington Hears from Its Envoy at Berlin That Kaiser Will Go to Great Lengths to Prevent Rupture—Maximilian Harden, Great German Editor, Upholds Wilson.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Confidential dispatches from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin indicate that Germany will make certain concessions to the United States in response to the note demanding the immediate abandonment of present methods of submarine warfare.

Whether the concesions will be sufficiently broad to meet the American demands appears uncertain, but officials reflected an air of hopefulness for an amicable settlement of the issue.

Jagow Seeks Way Out.

It is understood Ambassador Gerard has received broad intimations that the German government will go to great lengths to preserve friendly relations with the United States. He is understood to have gained his impressions from officials of the Berlin foreign office, including Foreign Minister von Jagow.

The Berlin government is confronted with finding a way to satisfy the United States without arousing the element which insists upon a relentless submarine campaign.

Mr. Gerard's dispatches are of a highly confidential nature and were received during the night.

Harden Upholds President.

ROTTERDAM, HOLLOND. — Probably the most remarkable article which has come from the pen of Maximilian Harden has appeared in Die Zukunft.

Under the title, "If I Were Wilson," Herr Harden writes an imaginary speech for the President and puts into his mouth the most stinging indictment of Germany's relations with America under this thin disguise. He warns Germany of the untenable nature of her demands and of the consequences that will inevitably follow a breach with America, and says in part:

Attacks Submarine Commanders.

"I demand that Germany shall, without reserve, protect the life and priperty of American citizens. She can protecct them, for no longer may the question of the future of two great peoples—whether they shall live in friendship or in enmity—depend upon the whim or nerve of a young submarine commander who wishes to serve his fatherland, to carve his name on German oak and who only listens to his conscience when it says 'Down with everything I can attack.'

Would Lose Interned Ships.

"The leaders of the empire's business know what the results of a breach would be. Our whole hemisphere north and south would be made enemies of Germany. And not only for war time. Germany would lose all her ships lying in American harbors and would have to reckon with a considerable increase of enemy's tonnage. From the day of the breach she would have to provision Belgium itself. Holland and Scandinavia could scarcely hope any more for supplies by sea, for Germany would need them herself, and would be able to give nothing more to strangers. Whether at such a high price loss of power to England through lack of food and shipping could be bought Germany alone must decide.

Confronts United America.

"That the end of the war would then disappear into an unforeseeable distance is certain, and not less so becaues from that moment we should have a united front in America. The Germans, Irish and Austro-Hungarians of our land would forget at once everything but that they were then one under the stars and stripes."

ARMY GETS 4,699 RECRUITS

That Number Join Under 20,000 Increase Plan, Is Report.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—While 4,699 men have enlisted in the army since March 15, when congress authorized an increase of 20,000, army officials estimated that the actual net gain has been something over 3,000. Army officials said the present recruiting is satisfactory and above normal.

Villa Reported Headed North.

EL PASO, TEXAS. — According to Mexicans arriving here from the interior, reports have been spread that Villa is coming north again with the object of attacking the American forces. According to them, the bandit has about 300 followers and will be joined later by Pedro Bracamonte of the Torreon district, who has 1,500 men, and Gen. Banuelos, whose command numbers 1,000 men.

Liner With Gun in Port.

NEW YORK, N. Y. — The French line steamship Rochambeau arrived here from Bordeaux with a gun mounted on its stern. It is the first French passenger ship to reach this port thus armed.

Major George R. Richardson of Kalamazoo, a civil war veteran, is dead. He was the military governor of Nashville, Tenn., when it was conquered by the northern armies.

Francis Gray Shaver, of Highland Park, filed a $15,000 suit for money advanced for household expenses against Baroness May de Pallandt who recently figured in a London pearl necklace scandal.

Quinton Weller, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weller, of Rockford, who has lived all his life nearer death than any other person in Kent county, died of a stroke of paralysis from loss of blood by unexplained hemorrhages.

Death has come to two pioneers of Mason county, Mrs. John Cooney, seventy-four years, was a resident of Summit since 1862. W. J. Nelson, of Victory, had lived on his farm fifty years and was seventy-five years of age.

BRITISH CATCH TITLED TRAITOR

Sir Roger Casement Captured in Irish Revolt.

WAS LANDING GERMAN ARMS

Celtic Leader Was Aboard Teuton Blockade Runner, and Was Taken Prisoner When Ship Went Down—Had Agitated Against "Anglo-Saxons" in United States.

LONDON, ENG. — An official statement issued by the Admiralty announces the capture of Sir Roger Casement, Irish rebel leader, during a German attempt to land arms and ammunition in Ireland. The statement says:

"During the period between the afternoon of April 20 and the afternoon of April 21 an attempt to land arms and ammunition in Ireland was made by a vessel under the guise of a neutral merchant ship, but which in reality was a German auxiliary in conjunction with a German submarine.

"The auxiliary sank and a number of prisoners were made, among whom was Sir Roger Casement."

Visited America in 1914.

CHICAGO, ILL. — Sir Roger has been in Germany for some time. In spite of the fact that he was formerly British consul general at Rio Janeiro, he has been for years a violent hater of England. He has been suspected at various times of fomenting revolutions in Ireland.

In 1914, Sir Roger was in America on behalf of the Irish volunteer movement. While here he spoke before leading Irish societies.

From this country he went to Norway and thence to Berlin. The German Foreign Office shortly afterward published a pamphlet from his pen urging a German-Irish-American alliance and bitterly assailing any Anglo-American league. The pamphlet was entitled "The Crime Against Ireland and How the Next War May Right It."

AUSTRIA LOSES A MOUNTAIN

Vienna Admits the Top of Eminence in Enemy's Hands.

BERLIN, GER. — An official statement issued at the Austro-Hungarian army headquarters under date of April 20 says:

"Owing to favorable weather the artillery engagements have become more lively at numerous places on the Italian front. The top of Col di Talia is in the hands of the enemy. In the Sugane sector the enemy attacked our newly conquered positions without success."

BRITAIN DEFENDS SEA PLAN

France Concurs in Interference with Neutral Commerce.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The British ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, delivered to Secretary Lansing his government's reply to the American protest against interference with neutral commerce.

France concurs in the main with her ally, but will particularize for herself on minor points. The note is a legal and technical defense of the sea policy of the two nations.

In an opinion which was filed in the superior court at Grand Rapids, Judge M. L. Dunham upheld the constitutionality of the Michigan blue sky law, the validity of which has been questioned by Howe, Snow, Corrigan & Bertles, local brokers, who were arrested some time ago for selling stocks and bonds of Clifford Realty company, Detroit, which had not been approved by the state securities commission.

It is announced that the Northeastern Michigan Rural Carriers' association will meet at Tawas City May 30

A canvass made by the board of commerce of Pontiac discloses the fact that there are but five empty houses in the city.

Mrs. Geo. Hammond, 74, Granville, a resident of that village all her life died of pneumonia following a four day illness.

A boy of Joseph Radcliffe, of Monroe, was accidentally shot in the forehead by an air gun in the hands of another lad. He may recover.

The body of Evelyn, daughter of J. Caroffino, a farmer near Marlette, was found by Basil Minard. The child was drowned in the Cass river April 5.

A. G. Mitchell, Gene Ryan and William Rowan, three Hillsdale men, were arrested and fined for taking black bass out of season at Baw Beese lake.

Almost complete figures show that about 165,000 votes were cast in the Republican primary. Henry Ford leads William Alden Smith by practically 5,100.

Mrs. E. R. Carter was struck by the engine of a westbound fast mail train at White Pigeon as she turned from mailing a letter and perhaps fatally injured.

F. Erickson, Flint, a railroad freight conductor, was asphyxiated and his wife nearly met the same fate when gas escaped from a range in the kitchen of their home.

Marvel Rayner, aged 40, residing 1 miles east of Temple, met his death from a gunshot wound. He was alone with a brother-in-law, who said the shot was accidental.

Appeal sponsored by manufacturers to owners of vacant lots in Jackson to build houses to take care of the rapidly-increasing population was made at a great mass meeting.

Frank S. Kedzie, acting president since last September of the Michigan Agricultural college, has been made permanent president by the state board of agriculture.

Suits Some; Death to Others.

"Iron may be good for the blood of some," remarked the worm as the angler threaded the hook through him gently, "but I fear it will be the death of me."

And yet the fish that swallowed the iron a little later was quite carried away with it.

GREGORY URGES U. S. TO HOLD DOCUMENTS

Papers Involving Von Bernstorff Should Not Be Given Up.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The state department received from Attorney General Gregory advice against giving to Ambassador Bernstorff the papers seized from Wolf von Igel, secretary to Captain von Papen.

The recommendation is not final, it is said. Gregory has offered to subordinate his opinion to any "large question," but the attorney general and officers under him are said to be opposed to being hampered in any way in making use of the papers.

Gregory, in offering to give up what officials consider the most valuable evidence they have obtained indicated the extent to which German officials are involved. That Ambassador Bernstorff's name is mentioned frequently in letters taken from Von Igel was apparent from the view Gregory took.

NOT CRAZY ABOUT CUMMINS

Ford Regains Lead in Nebraska, and Hughes Has Many Delegates.

OMAHA, NEB. — Returns from the late primary give Henry Ford a lead over A. B. Cummins of 97 votes in the race for indorsement for president. This vote represents sixty counties complete and seventy-five scattering precincts.

It has developed that the delegates from the second congressional district (Omaha) will go to the convention instructed to support Charles E. Hughes. At least ten other delegates elected are said to favor Hughes.

Tea Chewers of Siam.

"Chewing tea comes from Siam," said a traveler. "They call it mieng. It is in a plug, like chewing tobacco, and it has a villainous smell. This smell is due to the fermentation it has undergone. The tea that the Siamese employ for chewing purposes is a very coarse, rank plant. It is gathered like ordinary tea, but the leaves after being compressed into plugs are buried for fifteen days. They ferment during burial. On their resurrection they are very, very fragrant indeed. The Siamese boatmen chew tea. The rickshaw men chew it. The litterateurs chew it. They say it makes them work better. This is probably the truth, for I chewed a plug myself in Anam, and it exhilarated me strangely. But the aftermath was bad—a headache, smarting eyes and nervous depression."

PLAN 56 NEW SHIPS FOR AMERICAN NAVY

Appropriation Bill for 1917 Carries $217,652,174

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The naval appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1917 framed by a house subcommittee and submitted to the committee carries $217,652,174, against $149,656,805 appropriated for the current fiscal year. This is on the basis of the navy department's proposed building program for 1917.

That program calls for two battleships, two battle cruisers, three scout cruisers, fifteen destroyers, thirty submarines, two gunboats, one hospital ship and one fuel-oil ship. These would cost $85,372,127, against $45,053,801 for this year.

For aviation the bill carries $2,000,000, and, in addition, $85,000 for the naval advisory committee for aeronautics. The naval militia is given $387,737, instead of $250,000, as at present.

In personnel the bill provides for 13,500 additional men. For naval auxiliaries $950,000 is allowed, an increase of $150,000.

The bill creates "the Naval Flying Corps" of 150 officers and student flyers and 350 enlisted men, distributed in various navy grades and ratings.

BRITISH WIN; LOSE IN EGYPT

Official Statement Reports One Victory and One Defeat.

LONDON, ENG. — Fighting has been resumed in Egypt, where several British successes have been reported recently. An official statement says two engagements occurred Saturday in the Quatia district. The British repulsed one attack at Dueidar, but a small force holding the village of Quatia was compelled to withdraw after a sharp fight.

The British forces in Mesopotamia are maintaining steadily their efforts to relive Kut-el-Amara, notwithstanding the check sustained at the hands of the Turks. Official reports say that the bombardment of the Sannayiat position on the Tigris was continued.

ATTENTION! LOCAL INVESTORS.

The Board of Education of School District No. 7, Township of Tecumseh, will receive sealed bids from local bidders only, for the purchase of the bonds of said District which were authorised April 20th, 1916. Bids must be in the hands of Mr. Charles F. Patterson, Secretary of said Board, by noon of the 8th day of May, 1916; they must clearly indicate the amount desired; the price to be paid, and year of maturity selected, together with denomination of bonds desired, and signed by the bidder; it being distinctly understood that the Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, should such course be determined to be for the best interests of the District considered as a whole.

J. H. Smith
Pres. Board of Education.
C. F. Patterson,
Sec. Board of Education.
E. D. Brown
Treas. Board of Education.
Flora Bidwell.
Fred B. Wood.

All the members of the Board of Education would be best pleased if the entire issue of the school bonds lately authorised, could be taken by local buyers. It is, however, the duty, and also the earnest desire of all members of the Board to dispose of these bonds in such manner as shall result to the greatest benefit for all, and in such case the benefits to the few must be subordinated to that of the many.

It has been the universal experience, [illegible] to be made, that the best price is obtained by offering the entire issue in tact; and the most money for the District can undoubtedly be obtained by such disposition; and it is a well established fact, that if this issue is not offered complete and entire, that, to produce the next best price, withdrawals therefrom must be only the maturities of one or more certain years, and not allowing such withdrawals (bonds sold locally) to be scattered throughout the years of maturity

It is hardly to be supposed that the entire amount of these bonds ($75,000) can possibly be taken by local purchasers, as these bonds are not ordinarily purchased by individual investors. Such bonds as these, having very low income return, are only marketable because banks, required to hold certain portions of their deposits in reserve, and large investors, such as large insurance companies, etc., find them desirable for their purposes and are usually the final purchasers from the bond companies, who are generally the only buyers from municipalities originally issuing the same, the successful distribution (or digestion) of such securities having come necessarily to be through individuals or corporations acting in the business world as brokers.

However, while the proposition of authorising this issue of bonds was under discussion, there were many expressions by local residents of a possible desire to purchase these bonds, and the Board of Education, realising that it is merely representative of all the tax payers and school patrons of the District, desiring to serve all, is anxious that every opportunity for the absorption of these bonds locally to be given which shall be consistent with the best interests of the Distrsct as a whole.

For these reasons, as soon as all the bids are in, the same will be accepted, providing a price high enough is offered and if the bids can be so arranged that they will absorb all, or substantially all, of the maturities of any one or more years, and if the issuance of such bonds can be made without serious loss to the District in the final sale of the remainder of the bonds, and necessarily the time for local bidding must be made as short as possible, that the final sale of all the bonds may not be delayed. The members of the Board of Education will gladly give prospective bidders any information which may be desired at any time.

"A NIGHT OF JOY"

Annual Production of the Young Men's Club.

"A Night of Joy" was the title of the entertainment given Wednesday evening by the Young Men's Club, and as the title implies it was "A Night of Joy." Getting away from the old style of minstrel show with its circle, the first scene represented a New York roof garden. Seated about many tables were the guests, while six black faced artists attended to their wants. Dale Hodges as manager, presided at the cash register, [illegible] music was furnished by an orchestra composed of a number of Tecumseh's popular musicians.

The settings for this scene were very pretty, special scenery being used to give the appearance of alcoves, in which tables were set. Electric lights adorned each table, and with their many colored shades, blended in with the general scheme, which made a most pleasing effect.

Songs were rendered by Fred Dickinson, John Taylor, Ernest Church, Harold Lowry and John Kline, while the black faced artists (Geo. Rathbun, W. L. Jones, Chas. Hanna, Glenn Tansley, Ralph Smith and Harry Wells) were heard in jokes and song, all of which called forth a round of applause from the audience. The music used was catchy, and the boys put a good deal of pep into their parts.

The second part opened with a quartet composed of Messrs. Jones, Tansley, "Cork", and Wells, who introduced "The Dance of the Four Squirrels." They were well received and called back repeatedly. The Ultra Fashion Review was a new feature, with 10 cash girls in descriptive chorus. Between the verses models made their appearance dressed in the very latest fashion. The costumes shown were donated by the Webster Anderson Co., and hats by Miss Myrtle Foster. The models were Mary Avery, Lydia Babcock, Mary Vriken, Hazel Stahler, Ione Sisson, Doris Kloffenstein, and Lillian Kennedy.

We anticipate a big run of business for these two progressive business houses as most of our lady folks left the Opera house determined to buy at their earliest opportunity. The Acme Trio, composed of Munn, Taylor and Lowry presented "The Wedding of the Sunshine and the Rose." The song, together with the echo chorus, made a big hit.

The closing feature, comprised of a [illegible] Rathbun, vocal solo by Edna Taylor, whistling stunt by H. S. Shoemann, of New York and a dancing conglomeration by the following, Anna Mitchell, Eslie March, Ruth Kloffenstein, Tom Elliott, Doris Kloffenstein, Paul Hunt, Inez Fay, Dale Hodges, Lydia Babcock and Percy Bowen, was well received. Mrs. Ella Hodges presided at the piano with Duaine Servicin charge of the orchestra.

A good house was in attendence and the evening was a source of enjoyment to all.

DELUDES ITS ENEMIES.

Cunning of the Castor Oil Plant In Protecting Its Seeds.

Dressing them up to look like foul tasting bugs, this plant protects her children from hungry birds. If it were not for their disguises the children might be eaten and never have a chance to grow and become big plants. The wise mother plant realizes this, hence the masquerade. It's the castor oil plant.

To the average person anything relating to castor oil is not regarded as much of a delicacy. Birds, however, think otherwise. The seeds of the plant are like candy to them.

So the mother plant schemes to protect them. When she sends them out into the world she clothes them in variegated and fantastic dress until the seeds resemble coccinella beetles.

Now, if there is anything birds dislike more than anything else it is a coccinella beetle. As a result they make a wry face when they see the castor oil beans and pass them by.

These seeds are oval and about a half inch long. They grow in spiny capsules, three seeds in each capsule. To show that the castor oil plant is no newcomer on the earth, archaeologists write of finding seeds in tombs of ancient Egyptians.—Philadelphia North American.

FIRE BAGS AT SEA.

The Kind They Used In the Day of the Old Tinder Box.

Every whaler and sealer that sailed the seas in the days of wooden ships carried a fire bag. This was a tarpaulin bag about a foot long and six inches wide lined with waterproof material, with interlinings of oilcloth and thick flannel. Into this was placed the flint and tinder box for kindling fire, and the bag was then securely fastened with double flaps and tied to keep its contents dry.

It was the special duty of the second mate to look after the fire bag and in case of shipwreck to attach it at once to his person by means of stout straps provided for the purpose. Thus if officers and crew were cast away on some deserted shore in the desolate arctic circle the means of obtaining a fire to warm themselves by and to heat food and drink would not be wanting as long as the precious fire bag was safe.

The steam whalers and sealers of the present day still carry a fire bag stowed in the lifeboat with the bread and water, but now it is of rubber and contains half a dozen tin boxes of matches.—New York Press.

Double Eyed Fish.

There is a fish equipped with bifocal eyes, one-half of the lens for seeing above the surface of the water and the other for submarine use. This characteristic also gives the fish its popular name—double eyes.

The fish inhabits the shores of South America. Sometimes they swim with the eyes half out of water. Examination shows that each lens is divided into two parts by a dark band. The half above the band is out of water and the other half below the surface.

Naturalists tell us that the fish's eyes became "double" from its practice in swimming with them half submerged. Nature made the part of the eye above water adapted for seeing in the air, while the other part remained adapted for vision under water.

The double eyes grow to about a foot in length and in Brazil are caught for food.—Philadelphia North American.

TO THE PEOPLE OF LENAWEE COUNTY:

I will be a candidate on the Republican ticket, for the office of Sheriff of this county, if chosen at the Primary election to be held August 29, next. All my life has been spent in Lenawee County. I have spent twelve years as deputy sheriff and believe that I have the experience required for a proper discharge of the duties of sheriff.

To those who know me it is not necessary to refer to my attitude upon the matter of the enforcement of the laws. To those whom I have not met, I desire to say that I believe that our laws governing the rights and duties of our people ought to be construed to mean what they say and should be enforced upon that basis. I ask your support and if it is given to me, it will be my aim, if elected, to see that you have made no mistake in doing so.

Sincerely,

Obituary

HORACE H. WESCOTT

Horace Herbert Westcott was born in Tecumseh, Mich., March 16, 1852, and died in Petersburg, Mich., April 19, 1916 at the home of his daughter.

In the passing of this highly respected citizen, Tecumseh looses a man of sterling worth and noble character. He filled one position in Brewer's foundry [illegible] found in his place. Then failing health made it necessary to find out side employment, and for the past few years he has kept several homes beautiful by his skillful arrangement and care of schrubs and flowers.

His disease, sugar diabetes, caused him great suffering at times most excruciating, still he always met one with a smile and cheery greeting.

Everybody liked Horace; he has been a familiar figure on our streets for many years; all his life having been spent in Tecumseh. A Universalist in belief, leading an earnest Christian life, devoted to his family, his home life was beautiful. Especially tender has he been of his frail companion; and to those who have visited the home of this esteemable couple will always be a pleasant memory.

In 1873 he was married to Elizabeth Hannah Austin, to them two children were born, Mrs. Bird of Petersburg, Mich., and Lotie who died in infancy. They also raised one foster daughter, Mrs. Nina Marsh of Tecumseh, Mich., besides these and his wife, are left to mourn the seperation, one brother, Hiram of Tecumseh, and three sisters, Mrs. Lois Trauer of Detroit, Mrs. Jennie ONeill of Tipton, Mich. and Mrs Hattie Whiting of Kenmore, Ohio., also eight grandchildren.

And we spoke in softened voices,
As he cast aside all strife;
And went forth to meet his Savior,
Oh! The glory of his life!

Fondest memories linger with us,
Of this loved one gone before;
He has crossed the shining threshold,
Of the ever open door.

MRS. JOHN B. MILLS

Angeline A. Armstrong was born in Kalamazoo, Co., Mich., on Jan. 18, 1840. When nine years of age her mother was called home and five years later the father was taken. At the age of 21 she came to Macon where a year later she was united in marriage to John B. Mills. To this union two children were born Rolfe and Blanche.

At the age of 27 she was left a widow with the responsibility of caring for her children. This responsibility she nobly fulfilled with loving care and thought for their welfare.

She was always ready to care for the sick and needy was a lover of flowers and fond of good reading. Five years ago her health began to fail. On April first she was striken down and grew rapidly worse until the morning of the 22 her spirit took its flight to its eternal home.

Funeral services were held at the home on Monday afternoon Rev. J. E. Somers officiating. Interment was in the family lot at Macon cemetery.

Naming the Aegean Sea.

The Aegean sea is remarkable among the seas of the world for the obscurity in which the origin of its name is involved. Even the ancients could not give a certain answer on the point. A popular view was that it was named after Aegeus, the father of Theseus, who threw himself into it when his son forgot to hoist the white sail upon his return from Crete as a signal that he had slain the Minotaur. But others derived the name from Aegea, a queen of the Amazons, who also perished in this sea; others from the town of Aegae, in Euboea (Negropont), and a fourth theory traced it to the word "aiges," goats, which the islands of the archipelago were fancifully thought to resemble.

Who Is to Blame?

It is a very conservative thing to say that there are four women to every man in the church membership of America. Many people are wont to lay the blame for this upon the churches. Quite a number of folks would like to lay it upon the men. Some fault the women for it. Is it not possible that the responsibility rests upon our social structure?—Bernard I. Bell in Atlantic.

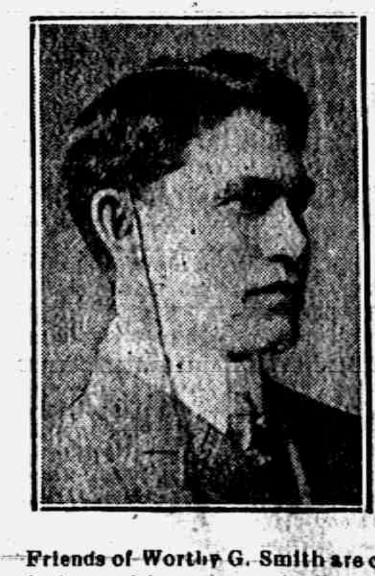
WORTHY G. SMITH



Friends of Worthy G. Smith are circulating petitions among the Republican voters asking that he be a candidate at the Republican primaries, to be held August 29 for the office of Register of Deeds of Lenawee county.

Mr. Smith's name has been mentioned before in connection with this office, but he has never become an active candidate for any public office. He has been a resident of this city for the past 15 years, coming here from Blissfield, where he formerly resided, and which is the present home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Smith.

Mr. Smith has always affiliated himself with the interests of the Republican party and has at all times been an active worker in the ranks of the old organization. He is widely known throughout the county and will appreciate the support of his friends at the coming primaries.

Some Big Trees.

What undoubtedly is the largest deciduous tree now growing in the United States is a sycamore near Worthington, Ind., which at five feet from the ground measures forty-two feet three inches in circumference. Its height is approximately 150 feet. According to local claims, this remarkable specimen is inferior to one long since felled in the same district, which had a girth of sixty-seven feet. A valley oak which measures thirty-seven feet six inches in circumference was the largest nut bearing tree found during a contest. This is situated in San Benito county, Cal., and reaches to a height of 125 feet. In a good season it bears a ton of acorns. America's largest elm seems to be "the great elm" at Wethersfield, Conn., which at the base has a circumference of over fifty-five feet. It is supposed to be about 250 years old.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

ARBOR AND BIRD DAY PROCLAMATION.

By the Governor.

Long years ago a loyal Michigan citizen planted hundreds of maples on either side of the highway fronting his large farm. These trees are now large and beautiful. These trees do not affect the productivity of his farm. When he planted these trees he had in mind the thousands of men women and children who would receive real joy from his gift to this "main traveled road." Some day both city and country will come to appreciate the importance of tree planting along the highways, on the hillsides, in yards and in parks.

Trees without birds would get lonesome. Trees and shrubs are the natural homes of many of our birds. These winged creatures are mans best friends. They not only destroy millions of destructive insects, but they appeal to man's sense of beauty, in their plumage, in their song and in their graceful movements.

The trees and the birds teach "mutual aid," teach a universal poetry, teach the beneficence of the Father of us all.

Therefore, I, Woodbridge N. Ferris, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby designate Friday, May 5, 1916, as Arbor and Bird Day, and do request that this day be observed by all schools, public and private, and other educational institutions by the planting of trees for beautifying school grounds and parks, and by conducting suitable exercises for promoting the spirit of protection to trees and birds.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this twenty-fourth day of April, in the year of Our Lord one thousand, nine hundred and sixteen, and of the Commonwealth the eightieth.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and, that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inf[illegible]ing of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free

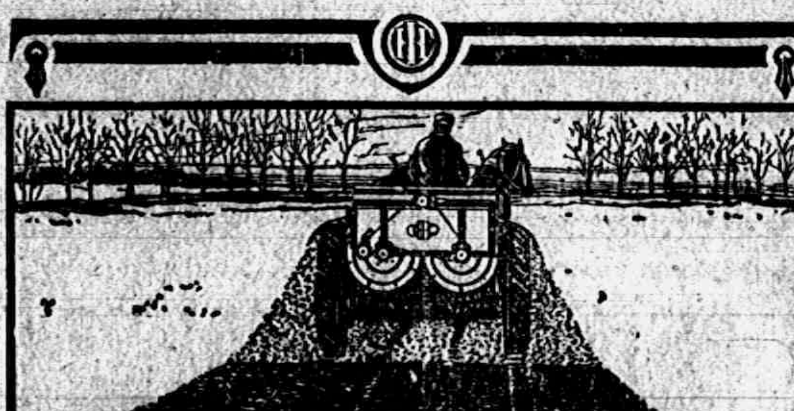
FITTERS OF FEET.



Drive It Into the Barn

As we told you, a Low Cloverleaf gives the manure a double beating. It also spreads manure eight feet wide or better. But the wonderful thing is that it does this from a box only 45 inches wide. The spreader itself is so narrow that it can be driven into any modern barn and loaded from the gutters. Only one handling of the manure for the quickest, best job of spreading you ever did. How does that sound to you?

If you have even begun to think about buying a spreader, see this Low Cloverleaf. You will say you never saw a better manure spreader. It won't take long to look it over. Your dealer has one set up for you to see.

When Bobbie Burns wrote the lines

"O, wad some Pow'r the giftie gie us
To see oursels as ithers see us,"

He had no idea of the wonders of the generation—the kodak with its wonderful power of taking your picture wherever you may be, the stereopticon that throws the picture on the canvas. Had Bobbie lived in our time he might have changed his plea. The pictures at the opera house Monday and Tuesday evenings were very interesting and brought out much laughter from the audience. It was a change from the usual program and was much appreciated.

HELD ANNUAL MEETING

St. Peter's Parish Heard Good Financial Reports and Elected Vestry.

The annual meeting of St. Peter's parish was held at the Church last evening with a fair attendance of the congregation present. Rev. Frederick Hewitt presided and opened the meeting with a brief prayer service.

The treasurers of St Peter's Guild, the Altar Guild, Woman's Auxiliary and the Sunday school gave interesting reports showing the excellent work done by these several branches of church work during the year.

The Church treasurer, Lester Rogers gave the report of the Church finances which showed that the outstanding would about take care of the bills payable.

The election of the vestry for the coming year resulted in the choice of the following T. C Harris, Tom W. Mingay, Lester Logers, C. F. Patterson, Geo. J. Ziehr, George B. Hines, R. C. Brown, E. T. LaBaron, C A Barber, B. J. Slater, Floyd Freeman, and Geo. W. Harriott.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to the ladies for their good work during the year after which the meeting adjourned.

It was resolved to erect a brass tablet in the parish house with an inscription on it giving the names of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Hicks and the fact that they had donated the parish house to the people of the church

Of the many kidney remedies on the market today, none other is recommended like Doan's Kidney Pills. Thirtyfive thousand benefited people gladly testimony in the newspapers of their own towns. Forty-five hundred American newspapers publish this home proof of Doan's merit. The type used in one year to tell this story would make a solid column of metal twice as high as the world's highest [illegible]. Placed end to end the lines of type would reach from New York to Chicago. These miles of good words told by 35000 tongues sound glad tidings to any Tecumseh sufferer who wants relief from kidney and bladder ills. Here's a Tecumseh case. Don't experiment. Use the remedy endorsed by people you know.

Henry Kempf, carpenter, Killbuck St., Tecumseh, says: "My Kidneys were not doing their work as they should and I was suffering from a lame and aching back. I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Son's drug store and it did not take them long to remove the trouble."

M'COMBS LAYS DOWN DUTIES

Chairman of Democratic National Committee Resigns Job.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—William F. McCombs, chairman of the democratic national committee, notified President Wilson that he will be unable to continue in his present position after the democratic national convention in St Louis and will be unable to direct Mr. Wilson's campaign for re-election.

Replying to Mr. McCombs' letter, the president expressed regret. Fred B. Lynch, national committeeman from Minnesota, is expected to succeed Mr. McCombs and conduct the campaign.

Forcing Flower Seeds.

It is a help to soak all hard seeds such as sweet peas, nasturtiums, balsams, moonflower, etc., at least twelve hours and to file especially large seeds such as canna and moonflower. This is done by rubbing the sharpest end (or any part away from the germ) over a file, just enough to have the white show. Filing must be done before soaking. Sweet peas may be soaked three or four days.

Another way to hurry coarse, slow to germinate seeds is to force between canton flannel. Take double pieces of canton flannel, wet thoroughly, place seeds between them and put in a warm place. Keep cloths moist all the time, and seeds will sprout in from one to three days. Transfer carefully to the ground with the root sprout down. —Farm and Home.

Outrageous.

When Tolstoy Tried to Fly.

From earliest childhood Tolstoy was remarkably observant of the things that were going on in the world around him. Thus, while still in his teens, we find him taking an interest in the art of flying that was too practical to suit his devoted mother. With characteristic thoroughness he invented a design of his own and with equally characteristic courage proceeded to put it to an immediate test from a second story window. But the boy who was afterward to find food for thought for the whole civilized world was not destined to make his mark as an infant aeroplanist. He fell instantly to the ground, and, though by great good fortune no bones were actually broken, the concussion was so great that young Tolstoy afterward slept for sixteen hours on end.

A Curious Relic.

A curious relic of Louis XVII. is the "game of dominos" made of pieces of the Bastille which were given to the dauphin before he and his parents left Versailles forever. It is said that when the box containing it was brought in the queen exclaimed to her bedchamber woman, Mme. Campan, "What a sinister plaything to give a child!" The sinister plaything is, with other revolutionary objects, preserved in Paris.

ORIGIN OF ORE DEPOSITS.

Deep Down Hot Springs Form Veins of Precious Metals.

Steamboat Springs, Nevada, has figured prominently in discussions of the origin of ore deposits. The waters of these springs contain the precious metals in minute quantities, and the sinter deposited by them contains several minerals that are common constituents of ores, as well as small quantities of many of the rarer metallic constituents of ore deposits, including gold and silver.

Such springs, therefore, suggest that many and perhaps most ore bearing veins have been formed by hot waters rising from great depths, which have brought their metal contents up in solution and deposited them in open spaces or fissures in the rocks through which the waters passed, the deposition of some ores being influenced by chemical reaction with the surrounding rock. Many ore deposits are undoubtedly formed in other ways, for some are unquestionably of sedimentary origin, and the metal content of some others has been carried down, redeposited and concentrated by rain water that descended into the earth's crust; but the "hydrothermal" origin—that is, their deposition from ascending hot water—of many of the more valuable ore deposits is indicated by the close relation observed at many places between mineral veins and eruptive rocks. Thermal waters are believed to be, in part at least, given off by slowly cooling and solidifying masses of igneous rock (magma) deep within the earth.—Geological Survey Bulletin.

English and French.

It is truly a graceful speech, the French tongue. Plain, homely things of life, so bald and bare and disheartening in the Anglo-Saxon, are less unlovely in the French. Indeed, the French word for "rags" is so pretty that we have conferred chiffon on one of our daintiest fabrics. But in the grace of the language lies also its weakness. It does not rise to the supreme utterances. I have been reading the Bible texts on the tombstones in the little cemetery of Chardonne. "L'Eternal est mon berger" can never rank in loftiness with "The Lord is my shepherd," nor, "Que votre coeur ne se trouble point" with "Let not your heart be troubled."—Baltimore American.

Wife—Mabel has just informed me that she is going to be married.

Husband—Have you seen the young man?

"But you must remember, dear, that the girls of today are so thoughtless!" —Life.

Do not talk about disgrace from a thing being known when the disgrace is that the thing should exist.—Falconer.

SENDING A MAN BY MAIL.

It Is Quite Possible Under British Parcel Post Rules.

The parcel post has made its usefulness felt in many ways, unexpected as well as foreseen. But the English parcel post does one surprising thing that has not yet been introduced into our own system.

An Englishman wished to reach a customer living in a remote part of Balham, one of the suburbs of London, and it was very necessary that he find him quickly. Knowing nothing of the district, he called at the general post office at St. Martin's-le-Grand to consult a directory. On explaining his case to a clerk he was amazed to learn that he could be sent to the address by parcel post by paying a fee of threepence a mile.

The gentleman had never heard of such a thing, and it is said that very few persons in England know that it can be done. He was placed in charge of a messenger who was familiar with all parts of the city and was soon on his way. The boy carried a printed slip on which was written a description of the "parcel" in charge under the heading "Article Required to Be Delivered," and before leaving the customer's house both the customer and the gentleman had to put their signatures on the paper.

The limit in weight for anything delivered by parcel post in England is generally understood to be eleven pounds, but there is one clause that reads, "A person may be conducted by express messenger to any address on payment of the mileage fee."—Youth's Companion.

THE NORTHEAST PASSAGE.

Only Two Expeditions Succeeded In Getting Through It.

Most attempts of European countries to find a comparatively short passage from the Atlantic to oriental countries were by way of the northwest passage, north of America, because, having first tried the northeast passage, north of Europe and Asia, and in every instance having met with dire failure, they concentrated attention upon the northwest passage as probably more feasible.

Practically all the arctic expeditions from Sir John Ross to Sir John Franklin were fitted out most of all to find the northwest passage. The passage was found during the search for the lost party of Sir John Franklin, but it was never traversed by a ship till Amundsen took his little boat, the Gjoa, through it in August, 1905.

The attempts to make the northeast passage began with the hardy Dutch sailor Barents in 1595, whose party was the first to spend the dark winter night in the arctic "in most greate cold and extreme miserie." The only achievement of the northeast passage prior to Vilkitski's success in 1914-15 was by Baron A. E. Nordenskjold, who sailed from Tromsoe with his Swedish expedition in June, 1878, triumphed over the great obstacle of Cape Chelyuskin and was within 120 miles of Bering strait when winter closed upon him. He entered Bering strait in July, 1879, thirteen months from the time he sailed.—Cyrus C. Adams in New York Times.

I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered and have had no return of my painful symptoms."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

SIXTY-FIFTH YEAR NO. 55 | TECUMSEH MICHIGAN, TUESDAY, MAY 2 1916 | WHOLE NUMBER 4512

TECUMSEH AND THE

have been inseparable for the past twelve years. In that time the people of Tecumseh have placed thousands and thousands of dollars with us for safe keeping and their trust has never been betrayed. That accounts for our continued growth and success.

At the same time the Tecumseh State Savings Bank has performed its duty by doing its part in the upbuilding of Tecumseh. A bank is a place to put your money, but it must be more than that. It must be a prime factor in the upbuilding of the community. That's what the Tecumsen State Savings Bank has been doing for the past decade.

We have loaned money conservatively and wisely and where it would be a benefit to the whole community as well as our depositors and stockholders. Tecumseh's best interests have always had first consideration with us. That's another reason for our continued growth and success, because our customers have profited by the support we have given them.

Among the patrons of this bank you will find the successful men of this community. They are as much a part of this institution as though they had official connection with it.

MICHIGAN GETS TWO OF 52 HERO AWARDS

One Woman and a Man, Latter Dead, Honored.

Pittsburgh, May 1.—The Carnegie hero fund commission, at its spring meeting here, recognized fifty-two acts of heroism in various parts of the country; two of them in Michigan. The Michigan people are Mrs. Eva E. Prince, of Mason, and Frederick Hellenga, deceased, of Three Oaks.

Mrs. Prince saved Florence Parker, Elsie V. Pierce and four young children from an enraged bull at Mason, October 18, 1913. The women and children had taken refuge in a frame shack when a wild bull charged toward them, but the shack was of flimsy construction and the bull had nearly butted in the door when Mrs. Prince succeeded in attracting it around to the rear of the shack, where from a broken window she fought with a broken shovel, while the other women and children escaped through the front door and over the fence. When Mrs. Prince knew that the others had escaped, she herself outmaneuvered the bull and while it was entangled in its efforts to butt in the shack, she also escaped. [illegible] dal.

Hellenga attempted to save Leo Annabelle, a schoolboy, and Benjamin Annabelle, a chauffeur, from drowning in Lake Michigan at New Buffalo, July 5, 1915. Bronze medal and $40 a month, with additional sums for children, to widow at Three Oaks, Mich.

THINK ROBBERS STARTED IT

Richmond, May 1.—Officers are investigating rumors to the effect that Hotel Elliott and Cooper & Son company's fires were the result of accident while the places were being burglarized.

A bundle containing a woman's suit of clothing and a man's suit and a jug of catsup, the latter from the hotel storeroom, was found hidden behind a store three doors from where the fire occurred.

Veteran Refused Divorce.

Corunna, May 1.—Judge Miner dismissed the divorce bill of Hattie Northwood, sixty, against Colonel John Northwood, of New Lothrop, and also Northwood's cross bill. Northwood, who is seventy-six, was a colonel in the civil war.

Plead Guilty to Robbery.

Grand Rapids, May 1.—Ray Henson, alias James Beach, and Clarence Stockhlim, both seventeen years old, charged with holding up Frank Stover and robbing him of $150 and his automobile, pleaded guilty to charges of highway robbery.

South Haven Woman Killed by Fall.

South Haven, May 1.—Mrs. Anna Sorrenson was found dead at her home near Grand Junction. Her death is believed to have resulted from a fall down stairs.

Finds Copper on Farm in Kent.

Grand Rapids, May 1.—George F. Clark, a farmer of Alpine township, has reported the discovery of a copper nugget weighing 57 pounds in a field on his farm.

Souter Heads Pardon Board.

Lansing, May 1.—Alfred E. Souter, of Shelby, was elected chairman of the state pardon board at the annual meeting held in the executive office.

Miner Falls to Death.

Iron River, May 1.—Joe Kucinski, a miner, employed in Homer, fell down the shaft and was instantly killed.

KUT GARRISON SURRENDERS

British and Indian Forces Had Been Besieged 143 Days.

London, May 1.—The British garrison, numbering nearly 10,000 men, at Kut-el-Amara, Mesopotamia, 105 miles southeast of Bagdad, has surrendered to the Turks. The forces surrendering were composed of 2,970 British and 6,000 Indian troops. A Turkish report places the number of British prisoners at 13,300 men.

Gen. Townshend surrendered to the enemy after a siege of 143 days and only after ineffectual attempts had been made to send supplies to his camp. The last failure was chronicled when a supply ship went aground in the Tigris within four miles of its destination.

Military Salute's Origin.

The military salute had a curious origin, if tradition is to be believed. It is said that it originated in the days of the tournament, at which a queen of beauty was chosen to preside. The knights and their esquires and all who took part in the tourney on presenting themselves before the queen lifted each one a hand level with the brows as though dazzled by the light of her presence. A nicely thought out compliment this, and, though its significance is now forgotten, the natural dignity of the gesture has preserved it as an everyday mark of recognition of a superior rank.—London Chronicle.

Willing to Be the Goat.

"'Why should the spirit of mortal be proud?'" quoted the impassioned orator.

Then he paused a moment to let it take effect.

"Well," spoke up a half inebriated man in the audience, "I'll be the goat. Why should it?"—Chicago Tribune.

Matter of Sentiment.

"What makes you go in through the kitchen?"

"I don't know your servants very well," replied Mr. Cumrox. "Some way, the front hall seems kind of formal and distant. Around at the kitchen steps they've got an old doormat with 'Welcome' on it."—Washington Star.

ARSONIST HUNTED BY POLICE

Ishpeming Is Stirred by Series of Incendiary Blazes.

Ishpeming, May 1.—Three incendiary fires occurred in the business district in 24 hours.

The officials have been asked to offer a reward for the arrest of the incendiary and to employ detectives. An attempt was made to burn down the block of the Meyers Mercantile company with a fire set from the outside. In the morning hours two separate fires were started on the premises of the Nelson House, the leading hotel. The department extinguished the flames before they had made much headway. Two weeks ago, a succession of fires were attributed to an incendiary, whose work lately has been interrupted by the wet weather. Ten fires within a month have occurred, all under suspicious circumstances.

NEGRESS TELLS DEATH PLOT

Hartford Woman Says Paramour Planned Three Murders.

St. Joseph, May 1.—Carrying five razor wounds in her left arm, Julia Irbin, forty-five years of age, Hartford negress, told the police of a plot by Frank Lee, with whom she had been living for two years, which aimed at her life and those of Martin Lee, his brother, and Harry Curtiss, of Cassopolis.

She says jealousy was the ground for the assault. The attacker has disappeared.

COPPER REACHES HIGH MARK

Product of United States Passes 2,000,000,000 Pounds for 1915.

Washington, May 1.—Stimulated by the enormous demand resulting from the war, copper production in the United States reached and passed the 2,000,000,000 pound mark for the first time in the history of the 1915 industry last year.

The total value of the 1915 smelter output of primary copper at an average price of 17.5 cents a pound was $242,900,000, an increase of $90,000,000 over 1914.

Harper's Weekly Merges.

New York, May 1.—Harper's Weekly is to be incorporated with the Independent. With the merging of two of the oldest of American periodicals, Norman Hapgood, editor of Harper's Weekly, retires. A report that he had been selected by the Wilson administration for an important appointment was not denied.

Traveling Man Hung.

Beaumont, Tex., May 1.—Ralph H. Burgess, thirty-five years old, a traveling man, was hanged here for the murder of his wife on Jan. 27, 1915. He was given the death penalty in April, 1915. An hour before Burgess went to the gallows he attempted to swallow poison, but was prevented by guards.

Forest Fires in Wisconsin.

Birchwood, Wis., May 1.—Although rain fell almost continuously in this vicinity last week, forest fires are burning in many places near Birchwood. The fire so far have been confined to the wooded sections and little property damage to farmers has resulted.

FLIGHT OF THE ALBATROSS.

Wing Movements That a Chance Snap With a Camera Revealed.

During the voyage of a vessel from British Columbia to San Francisco the photographic test was applied to a long disputed point in natural history. A large albatross had been following the steamer and keeping pace with it for several hours, and the wonder grew among the watchers on board the ship how the bird was able to fly so swiftly while apparently keeping its wings extended without flapping them. As this is a common method of flight with the albatross, the explanation used to be offered that the bird took advantage of slight winds and air currents, and was so able to glide upon what might be called atmospheric slopes.

As the albatross sailed alongside the ship, about fifteen feet away, the naturalist snapped his camera at it and obtained a photograph that astonished him and his fellow passengers.

The photograph revealed, what no eye had caught, the wings of the albatross, each some five feet long, in the act of making a downward stroke. The explanation naturally suggested was that more or less frequently the bird must have made a stroke of this kind with its wings, although the eye could not detect the motion, and that the camera chanced to be snapped at precisely the right moment.—New York Post.

TROOPS TO STAY, FUNSTON'S FIAT

"Army to Go Only on Orders from Capital."

U. S. GENERALS STAND PAT

Scott and Funston Read to Obregon San Antonio Report Urging Continuance of Villa Chase—U. S. Also Demands Use of Rails and Official Co-operation by Mexico.

El Paso, May 1.—If the United States troops are withdrawn from Mexico because of the ultimatum from Minister of War Obregon of the de facto government it will be contrary to the recommendations and advice of Major Generals Hugh L. Scott and Frederick Funston.

It can be authoritatively stated that at the conference in Juarez General Scott, in answer to Obregon's demands, read the joint report made by General Funston and himself to Washington a week ago.

That report recommended the troops remain in Mexico and continue operations until the purpose of the expedition had been accomplished.

It stated that a lack of the promised co-operation from the Constitutional forces had greatly hampered General Pershing's columns, and asked authority to employ such measures as were necessary to the success of the expedition.

Situation Not Changed.

When General Scott had concluded reading a copy of the report to General Obregon, he said:

"That was the position we took after a careful survey of the situation. We have not changed our minds. All that we can do is to report your attitude to the secretary of state and to the secretary of war. Any change in the plans of the expeditionary forces must come from Washington."

Obregon Demands [illegible] Cabinet.

Washington, May 1.—It became apparent the administration is deeply concerned over the progress of the conferences being held in Juarez and El Paso between Generals Scott and Funston and Alvaro Obregon, minister of war for the Carranza de facto government of Mexico.

Detailed reports of Saturday's conference, received at once from General Scott, were studied closely by President Wilson and Secretary of War Baker. It is believed Secretary of State Lansing also received copies of the report, which was filed by General Scott as soon as possible after the session at Juarez.

American Demands.

El Paso, May 1.—Following are the American demands to be insisted upon by Generals Scott and Funston in their conference with Minister of War Obregon of Mexico:

Open and effective co-operation of the Carranzistas with the Americans.

Extension of the American lines into Mexico at least as far south as Casas Grandes and probably farther.

Relegation to the American military the duty of policing "a northern zone" consisting of the territory directly south of the international boundary.

NEUTRAL SHIP LOSS IS 198

Allies and Neutrals Together Suffered Toll of 736 Vessels.

Washington, May 1.—British estimates of the European war's toll of merchant ships, given in figures by the department of commerce, put the number at 736, with a tonnage of more than two million. Allied vessels lost number 538 and neutral 198. The estimates, made by a British admiral, give British losses as 410 ships, French 53, Russian 35, Italian 27, Belgian 10 and Japanese three. This does not include the loss of 237 trawlers by the British, seven by the French and two by the Belgians.

Norway, with 81 vessels destroyed, leads the neutral nations in losses. The United States has lost seven ships.

NEGRO T. R. SUPPORTER WINS

Trenton, N. J., May 1.—Complete but unofficial returns from the late presidential primary election in New Jersey indicate that William F. Cozart, colored, who favors the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt, was elected delegate to the Republican national convention from the second congressional district.

He defeated Richard More, unpledged, by 250 votes.

Dr. Waite to Go to Trial May 15.

New York, May 1.—District Attorney Swann intends to send Dr. Arthur Warren Waite, charged with murder in the first degree in poisoning his father-in-law, John E. Peck of Grand Rapids, Mich., to trial May 15. He will ask for a special panel of 150 talesmen.

Got His Reply.

A funny man indulged in a practical joke recently. He put an advertisement in a paper for a wife and requested each candidate to inclose her carte de visite. It was a foolish thing to do, but one of the candidates served him out very well by sending the following letter: "Sir, I do not inclose my carte, for, though there is some authority for putting a cart before a horse, I know of none for putting one before an ass."

Fast Fliers.

The great German naturalist Gaetke relates that with the aid of a telescope in his observation of migrating birds he had seen the plover and curlew, not fast flying birds as we know them, travel four miles per minute, 240 miles per hour, in the attenuated air of high altitudes.

DUBLIN REBELS GIVE UP FIGHT

Leaders Surrender and Back of Revolt Is Broken.

QUIT AFTER 700 ARE TAKEN

Dublin Heads of Uprising Order Revolters All Over Ireland to Give Up Resistance—More Deaths Added to Government Troops' List—Many Houses Destroyed.

Dublin, May 1.—All the leaders of the insurrection are reported to have surrendered unconditionally. It also is reported that the Four Courts district has been recaptured.

Revolt's Back Broken.

London, May 1.—An official statement issued by the official press bureau regarding the rebellion in Ireland says:

"The rebels are surrendering freely. The back of the rebellion has been broken.

"Messengers have been sent from the [illegible] other rebels in Galway, Clare, Wexford, Louth and Dublin counties ordering them to surrender.

700 Prisoners Taken.

The complete official statement follows:

"The general officer commanding the Irish command has reported the situation in Dublin much more satisfactory. Throughout the country there was much more to be done, which would take time, but he hoped that the back of the rebellion had been broken.

"Last night messengers were sent out from the rebel leaders in Dublin to the rebel bodies in Galway, Claire, Wexford, Louth and Dublin counties ordering them to surrender, and priests and the royal Irish constabulary are doing their utmost to disseminate this information.

More Incendiary Fires.

"As regards the situation in Dublin, rebels from the areas of Sackville street, the postoffice and the Four courts are surrendering freely. More incendiary fires took place in Sackville street last night, but the fire brigade is now able to resume work.

"It is further reported that up to the present 707 prisoners have been taken. Included among these is the Countess Markievicz.

"The rebels at Enniscorthy are reported to be still in possession of this place, and a mixed column of cavalry, infantry and artillery, including forty-seven guns, has been sent from Wexford with a view to engaging the rebels. The latest information from Enniscorthy shows that the rebel leader at this place does not believe the rebel leader's message from Dublin, and has proceeded to that city in a motor car under escort to verify the informathion. In the meantime a truce exists.

Disbanding at Galway.

"A deputation for a similar purpose from the rebels at Ashbourne (County Meath) has also been sent to Dublin. At Galway the rebels are believed to be disbanding, and few arrests have been made.

"At New Ross, Gorey, Wicklow, Bagenalstown and Arklow the situation is reported normal. Carlow and Dunlavin are believed to be quiet."

An official list of casualties among the army officers at Dublin given out contains twenty-seven names. Of this total five were killed, twenty-one wounded and one missing.

This list is additional to the one announced last week, giving the names of two officers killed and five wounded.

Many Houses Burned.

Fires still are burning in the Sackville street center. Throughout the night the flames rose high above the roofs. It was, of course, impossible for the firemen to do anything to fight the conflagration as both sides still were sniping each other.

The military authorities are unable to give any idea of the damage done by these fires, or of the number of buildings consumed. They think, however, that between fifteen and twenty houses, mainly business concerns, have been destroyed.

GEORGIA JOINS DRY STATE

New Prohibition Law Aims at Purveyors of Alcoholic Beverages.

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—Georgia's new prohibition law, designed to drive breweries, locker clubs, and "near beer" saloons from the state, is effective.

Under it, no beverage containing more than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol may be manufactured or sold, and no person may bring in from outside the state more than two quarts of liquor or forty-eight pints of beer a month.

British April Loss 20,511.

London, May 1.—British casualties for April as compiled from published lists are slightly in excess of those in March. The total from all fields of operation is 1,255 officers and 19,256 men, compared with 1,107 officers and 19,317 men in March.

Luck.

Luck is that which has made your successful neighbor what he is and has conspired to prevent you from becoming what you would like to be. Luck is good or bad, according to whether you are contemplating your neighbor's success or accounting on your own failures.

Luck is a handy little thing to have around, for if it does not benefit you it at least affords you an objective kicking point. Also, the mere mention of its name relieves you of the necessity of making many embarrassing excuses. Luck is a barb which may prevent disaster from poaching on your domains, but if it does not do this you at least have the satisfaction of impaling upon it all reasons for your defeat.

Luck is perhaps more unlucky than you are.—Judge.

CHICAGO RECEPTION PLEASES ROOSEVELT

Plan for Universal Military Service Popular One.

Chicago, May 1.—Colonel Roosevelt returned to Oyster Bay convinced, "down in my boots," as he phrased it, that the middle West is awake to the need of preparedness.

He did not give out a statement on political conditions as intended. With the shouts with which 1,300 banqueters greeted his cry of "Prepare, Prepare!" still ringing in his ears, the colonel decided an utterance on politics would be pure, unadulterated anti-climax. The scene when his listeners at the Bar Association dinner climbed on chairs and tables and yelled and shrieked their approval of universal training and universal service, led the sage of Sagamore Hill to conclude that a political statement might rob the demonstration for preparedness of some of its value.

"The demonstration of the lawyers of Chicago when I touched upon universal army training and service for the men of the country brought me one of the proudest moments of my life," he declared.

THOMPSON SETS AIR RECORD

Flies Mile with Passenger Over Hempstead Course in 33 1-5 Seconds.

New York, May 1.—Walter Wellman, explorer, journalist and a student of air traffic, announced that De Lloyd Thompson, one of the most daring of the new young aviators, had broken all previous world's records when he flew a mile over the Hempstead course in 33 1-5 seconds with a passenger.

In every part and corner of our life to lose oneself is to be a gainer; to forget oneself is to be happy.—Stevenson.

COAL PARLEY ENDS IN AN AGREEMENT

Efforts of Miners and Operators Avert Strike.

New York, May 1.—The joint subcommittee of anthracite miners and operators, which has been attempting to negotiate a new contract for the hard coal fields, announces that a satisfactory tentative agreement had been reached. A strike thus will be averted.

The agreement recognizes the United Mine Workers of America, grants an eight-hour working day, and a 7 per cent increase for contract miners with a 3 per cent increase for day workers.

The tentative agreement contains important concessions on the part of the operators, embodying formal recognition of the union. The miners demanded a wage increase of 20 per cent, but it is not believed they expected full compliance on this point by their employers.

HUSTING SHUTS OFF APPEAL

Stream of Hyphen Telegrams to Washington Ceases on Exposure.

Washington, May 1.—The flood of hyphen protests to congressmen has stopped with a jar following the exposure of the source of the propaganda in the senate by Senator Husting. Only a few telegrams on the German question were received the day following the speech, and those were mostly not of the form kind sent out by the American embargo conference, but the usual run of genuine appeals from constituents to representatives.

In fact, the flood stopped within a few minutes of Senator Husting's speech, and before news had been printed.

In this issue we print a communication from one of our citizens relative to a site for our new school building. We are glad to see the people take an interest in this matter for it is a question that the school board will soon ask the district to decide. "Where are we to locate our new school?" should be thought out by every citizen of the district and when the meeting is called, get out and make your influence felt. We will be glad to hear from others interested in this matter.

Our office for the past week has been in more or less confusion due to the fact that we have been instaling a new Model 15 Mergenthaler Linotype. We wonder how we have been able to print a paper at all these last two issues, but hope to be in normal condition within the next few days, be able to give you far more home reading matter and our paper will have a better appearance as we will be using a new face issue. The Linotype casts new type for each paper and the old type is never used again, but is melted up and comes out again brand new.

The Linotype has attracted a good deal of attention and we have had many calls. We will be pleased at any time to show it to you and explain its use.

You will want your news items set on this new machine so don't forget to send them in or to give them to our reporter. The Herald is here to serve you. A great many people fail to give us items and then wonder why they are not printed. Don't be one of this class. Help boost!

EXPERTS IN TRACKING.

Australian Natives of Both Sexes Trained From Childhood.

On many occasions they have performed feats which are almost beyond belief. But to them the work is quite habitual. The boys are taught to track from birth.

The women are just as expert as the men. Horse tracks are child's play to them. They can track a horse at full gallop. They can track anything—possums, snakes, iguanas, even beetles leave sufficient trail for them to work on.

The standard of honor among these tribes is high. When one of them breaks their strict code, fearing the wrath of the tribe, he bolts and, knowing he will be pursued, uses all his knowledge in an effort to elude those in search of him. But it is questionable if there is a single case on record where he escaped.

What might be called classes in tracking are held for the youngsters. The tutor will get them in a body and then disappear into the bush and do everything he can to make them lose his tracks. He will tiptoe along fallen logs, swim a quarter of a mile along a stream, double on his tracks, and so on.

Finally he returns to the boys, who then set out to pick up the tracks.

ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH.

Diet Hints For Sufferers Afflicted With This Trouble.

Acidity of the stomach and ulcerated stomach are largely on the increase in both England and America, if statistics are to be believed. And Dr. Willard J Stone points out in the Journal of the American Medical Association that these are the two countries in which the consumption of sugar is greatest.

Dr. Stone recommends an almost starch and sugar free diet for persons troubled with acidity. He says the following articles of food may be eaten with safety: Fresh fruit pulp or fruit juices, such as grapefruit, oranges, peaches and watermelon, without sugar; broth, soft boiled or poached eggs, fish, chicken, broiled or baked meats, bacon, milk, tea, cream, butter, green vegetables, such as asparagus, spinach, cauliflower, watercress, endive, squash, carrots, turnips, lettuce, fruit and lettuce salads, with olive oil dressing containing a very small quantity of lemon juice; Brazil nuts, pecans or filberts.

The following foods are prohibited: Candy, sugar, sirups and condiments; the fresh fruits which contain more than 10 per cent carbohydrates, such as apples, pears, bananas, cherries, currants, plums; of the vegetables, peas, parsnips, beans, potatoes, corn; the cereals, rice, macaroni, bread, crackers, cocoa, chocolate and coffee.

Franklin as a Printer.

A letter of Charles Wilson Peale, who painted the first portrait of Washington, is dated Oct. 23, 1814, and discusses inventions, windmills, etc. In it he says:

"Dr. Franklin when he was a young man went to London and worked in divers shops and in different parts of the printing business. I heard a curious anecdote of him. He hired himself to work at press in an office. When a friend of the owner of the press came to see him, the printer told his friend that he was in great want of a compositor and asked where he could find one. 'I am much surprised that you should want a compositor when you keep a man at the press (pointing to Franklin) who is the best compositor in London,' he said."

DELICATE MONSTERS.

How Warships Are Lined to Protect Them From Fire and Water.

Although it may look very strong, a battleship is really a very delicate monster. Its vital parts have to be protected by several coverings of a material chiefly obtained from cocoanuts. This is to prevent certain portions becoming either too cold or too hot. For instance, it will be seen that the results would be exciting if the powder magazines became overheated.

A dreadnaught is entirely clothed in a suit of underwear to protect it from fire and water. The actual construction of the material is a secret, but it is known to be for the most part cellulose, which is obtained from the fibrous rind of the cocoanut.

Cellulose swells when it touches salt water. Therefore if a hole should be made in the ship's side, say, by a shot this cellulose expands and covers the opening, so preventing an inrush of water. The cellulose is also treated to make it fireproof.

Mineral wool is a material used upon the latest type of battleship. It looks like wool, but is really composed of snowy threads of a sort of glass. The men who pack mineral wool have to wear masks to prevent the needlelike particles from being inhaled. It is a remarkable nonconductor of heat, and is used to cover the refrigerators and cold storage chambers and also the explosive stores.

The boilers and steam pipes of a dreadnaught have "jackets" in order to prevent waste of fuel. Sometimes these jackets are of mineral wool, sometimes wool and sometimes ordinary blanketing.—Pearson's.

VALE OF KASHMIR.

A Beautiful Spot With a Record of Natural Calamities.

Beautiful and unfortunate is the wonderful vale of Kashmir, lying high among the Himalayas, ringed with gigantic peaks, "clothed in evergreen fir and deodar, the light green bed of Jehlam strung across its dun breast like a jade necklace, blushing with the ghostly pink of peach and plum blossoms."

Kashmir has a persistent record of natural calamity. Jehlam overflows its banks at intervals and sends destroying floods that wipe out whole districts. The giant peaks around the valley stir now and again in their sleep of ages and shake the flats with mighty earthquakes. Famine and cholera kill more than the river and the trembling mountains.

Fire frequently sweeps the fields and cities. As one looks up at the hills on either side from the bed of Jehlam it is seen that one slope is covered with cool, dark forest, while the other grows nothing but [illegible] grass. A spark in this grass starts the blaze. Among the Himalayas the air is biting cold and the Kashmiri carries a little charcoal brazier under his robe to warm his body. These peripatetic furnaces start many a flame.

With a history dotted with such calamitous landmarks the people of Kashmir have acquired a pessimistic expression and disposition. They are superstitious, too, ascribing all manner of miraculous attributes and fairy inhabitants to the mountain springs.—Argonaut.

Magic of a Century.

An examination of American cities a century ago presents many curiosities. In 1800 not New York, but Philadelphia, was our largest city—a pre-eminence it held until 1830. After Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore and Boston, Charleston, S. C., was the largest American city. But I defy any one to give the name of the sixth largest American town in 1800. It was Northern Liberties. How many Americans today ever heard of this metropolis? An antiquarian research discloses that it is now part of Philadelphia. After Northern Liberties, our biggest city was Southwark, Pa.; then came Salem, Mass. Such were the places a hundred years ago which entered in the competition for primacy.—World's Work.

First Test of the Air Pump.

The first public test of the air pump was in 1654, by its inventor, Otto von Guericke, in the presence of Emperor Ferdinand of Germany.

Guericke applied the carefully ground edges of metallic hemispheres, two feet in diameter, to each other. After exhausting the air by his apparatus he attached fifteen horses to each hemisphere. In vain did they attempt to separate them because of the enormous pressure of the atmosphere. The experiment was a great success.

Changed the Koreans.

Koreans were quick to quarrel in ancient days and won a bad reputation on this account. At one time, a historian explains, fatal quarrels became so frequent in the country that drastic measures were necessary. A law was promulgated ordering adult males to wear on all occasions a china headdress shaped like an inverted flowerpot. It was impossible to fight when crowned with this fragile gear, and the penalties for removing it were severe. The first offense entailed fifty blows on the soles of the feet, and the second meant decapitation. This decree had the most soothing effects, the nature of the inhabitants changed as if by magic, and Korea was called the Land of the Morning Calm.

REMINISCENCES

School Days in the Old Tecumseh Court House in the Early Fifties

In reference to the article on the Tecumseh schools in the Adrian Telegram of April 18, Mrs. Mary Josephine Cook of Clinton says she was a pupil of Prof. Joseph Eastabrook when he taught in the old Tecumseh Court House. Although only a girl of 12 or 13 at the time, she remembers that the school was a notable one, containing a greater number of bright and exceptionally talented pupils according to its size than she ever met in larger places or institutions

And she remembers how Scove Stacy used to convulse the audience while declaiming in his inimitable style, "Cut off my whiskers! Zounds, Ye Gods! I'd rather lose my ears by odds—" Although the smallest, he was one of the brightest pupils

Among the young men of promise was James Hillock whose untimely death a few years later was mourned by the whole community, and whose brilliant sister Abi or Elizabeth is still remembered by many in this vicinity as a fine scholar, teacher and writer. He also had a younger sister in school, Susan Hillock

Waller Adams, now with us no longer, was the best declaimer in school. Anyone who ever listened to his rendering of the maniac could never forget it. A fine actor was lost to the stage when he reluctantly gave up following the profession.

Another model pupil was William Fisher. afterward Dr. [illegible]. His sister Hattie Fisher was the lady principal. Although well known in Tecumseh as Mrs (Dr) Fulton, there were not many who appreciated her splendid qualities of heart and mind as did her pupils. She was a ready and eloquent speaker, an original writer and exceptionally capable and pleasant teacher and very much beloved by every one.

Mary Anne Gove, Hattie Patterson, Hattie Fisher and Lotie Baxter wrote an original play for the younger girls, called "The Country Cousins," to be acted at the school exhibition. It was so clever and comical that it took the house by storm and was repeated the next night, and afterward had the run of the country schools till worn threadbare.

Among the best declaimers were Bridgeman and Nathaniel Wells. Their dialogue of Tristram was invariably one of the best pieces spoken at an exhibition. Bridgeman as the father is lecturing his son for being so fickle and not settling down to something when the young man says he is going to be a lawyer and begins to walk back and forth on the stage, making gestures and speaking. The father, first astonished and then delighted follows him back and forth looking over his shoulder, and finally proudly exclaims "What a figure he will cut on the King's bench."

This was over 50 years ago and where are the speakers of the present day? Prof. Estabrook trained these speakers directly and, although an orator himself, his pupils did him justice The whole school was delighted when they could prevail upon the professor to speak "The Sailor Boy."

There are no exercises in the modern schools to compare with the old time exhibitions and their passing is to be lamented. As a means for bringing out original talent both in composition and oratory they had no equal. They fitted for the broad stage and arena of life quite as much as the literary curriculum.

Among other prominent pupils were Caroline and James Colvin whose fine residence near Tecumseh was a delight to the beholder.

Frances Hampton of Franklin was another talented pupil. Until after her death in Toledo, the knowledge that she was a loyal friend of the writer did not reach her. She married Theo Brown. Many of our sweet surprises wait for us above.

Dewitt Tallman and oldest sister were also prominent pupils. At that time they had recently moved from York State and settled a few miles west on the turnpike.

Among the then younger class of school girls were Fanny Brewer afterward Mrs. (Dr.) Stewart, Abbie Murray afterward Mrs. (Dr.) Fisher, Frances Blanchard, Sarah Whitehead, Metta Quackenboss, Gusta Patterson, Tip Snell and Josie Halbert.

Many of the young men have since become noted lawyers and doctors and one at least a millionaire.

Mrs. Lotie Baxter Selfridge is too well known here to need mention, having spent some years in Tecumseh previous to her brother's death But it is only just to her lovely traits of character, mind and disposition to state that she was always as much beloved as a young lady in school as she has since become in her brilliant career as a society leader. As a noble and loyal friend, to which the writer can testify, and many others no doubt, and a cultivated Christian lady, it is not often that celebrity falls upon one so deserving, and when it does, we should give all honor to our grand American Christian Womanhood.

The Telegram had the date wrong of Prof. Estabrook's going to Tecumseh. He did not go as a teacher till 1851 or '52. He attended the university preparatory school founded in 1839 as a pupil himself.

COMMUNIATIONS

EDITOR HERALD:

I notice you offer several suggestions as to school site one is the old Brewer foundry which is a good one but too expensive by far better build on the old site and save several thousand dollars for we will need all our loose change at the finish

If, however the people wish to change location there is only one place, that is the old Bills property at the south end of Oneida street. Plenty room for play ground, ball ground, tennis court and a mighty big improvement in two ways getting rid of the unsightly old buildings rapidly going to decay and there's no place where the new school would look any better.

WISHING AND GETTING.

An Old Man's Realized Day Dream and the Moral It Teaches.

They had started in the most primitive way, the man and his wife, back in the little log house, but they were dreaming of the day when they would own a farm of their own and not have to work so hard. After a time their hard toil was rewarded, and they owned a farm. Then it seemed desirable to add to this tract, and they worked a little harder. A new house seemed a necessary accompaniment to the large farm, so the work could not stop.

A son came to the age when he must be educated and have his chance in life, and they toiled on. All the time the old man dreamed of the days ahead when he could stop work and take life easy. Somehow the days did not come, or he did not recognize them when they came, for he kept on working until he had grown old and worn. Then his health failed, and he had to stop work.

The son for whom they had given precious years out of their lives now showed his gratitude by his gentle, unfailing love and care. It seemed to others that the goal had been reached—that the old man could now enjoy life, surrounded as he was by every comfort and attention. But he was quiet and sad, sitting with head bowed on his toil worn hands.

A neighbor, stopping in for a little visit, asked, "How are you getting along, grandpa?" Then the secret of all his sadness burst forth as he answered earnestly. "Oh, if I could only get out and work!"

What queer things our dreams are after all!—Indianapolis News.

PRETTY ROUGH SPORT.

Many extraordinary forms of amusement have been devised by army officers from the earliest times down to the present day, but none perhaps have more startling characteristics than the following new and original game, which Sir Robert Baden-Powel describes in "Memories of India:"

It was introduced into the mess by a brother of our colonel, who came to stay with him. We believed him to be a quiet, harmless planter from Behar, and so he seemed throughout the evening, both during and after dinner, when he remained watching us playing the fool in various ways for our own amusement. But evidently our ways did not strike him as original, and he therefore invited us to play the great game of the bounding brothers of the Bosporus, and when he had once shown us we joined most heartily in the sport.

The game had few rules, but a certain amount of etiquette. The apparatus consisted of all the furniture, which was piled in a heap near the center of the room, and a writing table, which was placed a couple of yards from it. You were expected then to clap your hands three times—that was the etiquette of the game—then run at the table and turn heels over head on it into the pile of furniture, shouting as you did so, "I am a bounding brother of the Bosporus!" That was all. It was quite simple, but how it hurt when you landed on the upturned legs of a chair or the side of a table!

ATTENTION! LOCAL INVESTORS.

The Board of Education of School District No. 1, Township of Tecumseh, will receive sealed bids from local bidders only, for the purchase of the bonds of said District which were authorized April 20th, 1916. Bids must be in the hands of Mr. Charles F. Patterson, Secretary of said Board, by noon of the 8th day of May, 1916; they must clearly indicate the amount desired; the price to be paid, and year of maturity selected, together with denomination of bonds desired, and signed by the bidder; it being distinctly understood that the Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, should such course be determined to be for the best interests of the District considered as a whole.

J. H. Smith
Pres. Board of Education
C. F. Patterson
Sec. Board of Education.
E. D. Brown
Treas. Board of Education.
Flora Bidwell.
Fred B. Wood.

All the members of the Board of Education would be best pleased if the entire issue of the school bonds lately authorized, could be taken by local buyers It is, however, the duty, and also the earnest desire of all members of the Board to dispose of these bonds in such manner as shall result to the greatest benefit for all, and in such case the benefits to the few must be subordinated to that of the many.

It has been the universal experience, in floating a bond issue, such as is now to be made, that the best price is obtained by offering the entire issue intact; and the most money for the District can undoubtedly be obtained by such disposition; and it is a well established fact that if this issue is not offered complete and entire, that, to produce the next best price, withdrawals therefrom must be only the maturities of one or more certain years, and not allowing such withdrawals (bonds sold locally) to be scattered throughout the years of maturity

It is hardly to be supposed that the entire amount of these bonds ($75,000) can possibly be taken by local purchasers, as these bonds are not ordinarily purchased by individual investors. Such bonds as these, having very low income return, are only marketable because banks, required to hold certain portions of their deposits in reserve, and large investors, such as large insurance companies, etc, find them desirable for their purposes and are usually the final purchasers from the bond companies, who are generally the only buyers from municipalities originally issuing the same, the successful distribution (or digestion) of such securities having come necessarily to be through individuals or corporations acting in the business world as brokers.

However, while the proposition of authorizing this issue of bonds was under discussion, there were many expressions by local residents of a possible desire to purchase these bonds, and the Board of Education, realizing that it is merely representative of all the tax payers and school patrons of the District, desiring to serve all, is anxious that every opportunity for the absorption of these bonds locally to be given which shall be consistent with the best interests of the Distrsct as a whole.

For these reasons, as soon as all the bids are in, the same will be accepted, providing a price high enough is offered and if the bids can be so arranged that they will absorb all, or substantially all, of the maturities of any one or more years, and if the issuance of such bonds can be made without serious loss to the District in the final sale of the remainder of ihe bonds, and necessarily the time for local bidding must be made as short as possible, that the final sale of all the bonds may not be delayed The members of the Board of Education will gladly give prospective bidders any information which may be desired at any time.

WALKING FERNS.

These Curious Plants Travel About In a Novel Manner.

Some plants when they get the wanderlust and want to travel send out their seed children fastened to tiny airships or winged kites. Others shoot their seeds like bullets from guns. This one reaches out his foot, takes a long step and travels just like you do when you visit the woods. That's why we call him the walking fern.

His fronds are green and heart shaped. They taper at the ends, and at each tip a bud forms. From this bud a cluster of small fronds and roots develop, dangling from the end of the frond like weight on the end of a spring.

As the cluster grows and gets heavier the top of the frond bends toward the earth. The weight of the rain and dew helps bend until finally the tip touches the earth. There the partially developed roots take hold and start a new plant.

So the fern keeps on walking, sending out new fronds, bending them to the earth and starting new plants. The plants are linked together by the fine, threadlike fronds until instead of one walking fern they have a whole parade.

Unfortunately this interesting plant is more or less rare, although it is a native of the eastern United States. It doesn't thrive well as a cultivated plant, or perhaps we would see more of it.—Philadelphia North American.

Worse Than Working.

The stage carpenter went to the theater manager and asked for an increase in his wages. The manager appeared surprised.

"Why," he exclaimed, "I really don't see my way to giving you a raise. You have nothing much to do. Half the time you are merely standing in the wings listening to the play."

"Yes, sir," replied the carpenter grimly; "that's just it."—Pittsburgh Telegraph.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

BUSINESS MEN'S MEETING

Met to Plan for Special Attraction During the Summer, Friday Evening April 28.

The Tecumseh business men met Friday evening at the Tecumseh Club rooms to formulate plans for special days to be run during the summer and commencing the latter part of this month and to continue until fall.

These present expressed themselves as very much pleased with last summers attractions and it was the unanimous opinion that a similar weekly program should be carried out on Wednesdays.

It seemed also to be the opinion that more money should be spent for attractions and less for advertising.

There is no doubt but what the attractions of last year drew in many to Tecumseh, besides getting better acquainted with our neighbors and gave them much enjoyment as well as availing themselves of the opportunity of special bargains.

Guy Nemire was elected chairman of the meeting and F. S. Anderson, secretary.

The following committees were appointed.

Adv.. Com.,—Leon Rosacrans, Louis Schneider and Guy Nemire.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

The delicious Irish wit of "Peg O' My Heart" which is announced for presentation at the Bradley Opera House soon is the kind one often reads about. No similar work written in the past twenty years has achieved anything like the success that has come to it, Skillfully written and studded with exquisite comedy and clean lines, it serves as a model in the art of true play building. The author J. Hartley Manners, has written the story of a young girl, daughter of an aristocratic English woman, and an unsuccessful Irish Socialist Florence Martin interprets fascinating and roguish "Peg" in this ever welcome comedy. She is said to play the role with real coquetry, with a delicious tinge of the brogue.

Florence Martin, who is considered by theatre-goers to be the best "Peg" that ever essayed the title role in "Peg 'O My Heart" not excepting Laurette Taylor, its creator, is to head the Boston company that will make its final appearance here on Friday evening, May 19.

Her wonderful performance of the sweet little Irish lass, endeared her to Boston theatre-goers last season, and her visit here will be most welcome.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONFERENCE

Next Thursday afternoon at 1:30 there will be a conference of Sunday-school workers. It is held under the direction of the County Sunday-school Association which includes all denominations. The session will be held at the Baptist church.

East Indian Monkeys.

A naturalist who has traveled in the East Indies says: "The effect on the monkeys of man's appearance is most interesting. The expression of their emotions is certainly almost human as they sit and stare at him, coughing and snarling with anger and contempt drawing back their heads and throwing the hand before the face with a gesture of abhorrence and other movements indicative of shocked and outraged feelings. But predominant is the expression of absolute horror, which, coming from those we consider our still degraded cousins, is to our superiority very aggravating."

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte & Pottawatamie Sts., Tecumseh, says: "The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp shooting pains across the small of my back, which made it almost impossible for me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did, procuring my supply at C. A. Wright & Son's drug store. After I had taken this remedy a short time the pains and aches left and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering no longer troubled me, in fact, I felt like a different person."

USES DOAN'S AGAIN, OVER FIVE YEARS LATER, Mrs. Stevenson said: "I am always glad to speak a good word in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel the need of a kidney medicine, I take Doan's Kidney Pills and they always give me the best of relief."

CHINESE PRINTING.

Queer Old Ancient Methods Are Still Used by Many Natives.

Chinese hold that the art of printing was discovered in China about fifty years before the Christian era. Until the discovery of the art of paper making, A. D. 95, they printed on silk or cloth cut in the form of leaves. The method employed to this day by many native Chinese printers is substantially as follows:

No printing press is used. The delicate nature of the Chinese paper will not admit of it. When the blocks are engraved, the paper is cut and the ink is ready one man with his brush prints a large number of sheets in a day. The block to be printed must be placed perfectly level and secured firmly. The printer has two brushes, one of them stiffer than the other, which he can hold in his hand and use at either end. He dips it into the ink and rubs the block with it, taking care not to moisten it too much or leave it too dry. If it were wetted too much the characters would be blurred; if too little they would not print.

When once the block is got into the proper condition he can print three or four impressions without dipping the brush into the ink again.

The second brush is used to rub over the paper with a small degree of pressure that it may take the impression. This it does easily, for, not being sized with alum, it receives the ink the instant it comes in contact with it.

It is only necessary that the brush should be passed over every part of the sheet with a greater or smaller degree of pressure and repeated in proportion as the printer finds there is more or less ink upon the block.—Los Angeles Times.

THREE RACIAL INSTINCTS.

One Reason, Perhaps, For the Interest Taken In Baseball.

How shall we explain the absorbing interest in baseball and football? In baseball we have a game combining three of the most deep seated racial instincts—the instinct to throw, to run and to strike. During untold periods of the life history of our race survival has come to him who could throw the straightest, run the swiftest and strike the hardest. To throw something at something is almost as natural for a boy as to breathe.

Throwing, batting, running, are no longer of any service in this age of mind, but they were the conditions of survival in the distant past. Baseball reinstates those ancient attitudes and brings a thrill of cherished memories. Any one who has ever held a bat in hand and assumed the expectant attitude of the batter knows the peculiar thrill which is explained only by recalling that his distant ancestors in just that attitude beat down with a real club many an opposing foe, whether man or beast, and those who held clubs in this position and struck hard quickly survived and transmitted this instinct.

The awkward throw of girls, like the left arm throw of boys, is widely known. The plays of girls reveal their own set of instincts recalling the habits of primitive. "We are the descendants of those men who could throw and those women who loved children." —From "The Psychology of Relaxation," by G. T. W. Patrick.

No Help.

"Few actors are satisfied with their newspaper notices."

"Nor can they ever be. Of necessity the name of the actor must be printed in smaller type than the name of the newspaper."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

STORY OF A LAWSUIT.

Queer Way In Which an Umbrella Case Was Decided In Poland.

The Central Law Journal says that the old fable of the lawyers and the oyster, in which, the ownership of an oyster being contested, the lawyers ate the oyster and gave a shell to each of the litigants, is matched by a story of a lawsuit which a Russian journal relates as entirely authentic.

In a city of Poland, it appears, two men came into court with a suit over the ownership of an umbrella which had been left in a restaurant. Each one introduced evidence to prove that the umbrella was his. Being unable to match the wisdom of Solomon by dividing the umbrella between them, the judge postponed the case. Pending its decision the umbrella was left in the judge's private room.

Later, as he left the court to go home, the judge found that the weather was rainy. He went back to his room, took the umbrella which was in litigation and spread it over his head in the street. On his way home he went into a restaurant and left the umbrella on the rack, and when he was ready to leave the place he found that it had been taken away by some unknown customer. Then he bought another umbrella and took it to his courtroom.

When the case came up the litigants were confronted with it, and neither was able to identify it as his own. The court thereupon fined them both for invoking the law on a frivolous pretext, and they departed empty handed and decidedly "nonsuited."

THE IDEAL CITY.

A Vision of What May Perhaps Come to Pass In the Future.

A city, sanitary, convenient, substantial; where the houses of the rich and the poor are alike comfortable and beautiful; where the streets are clean and the sky line is clear as country air; where the architectural excellence of its buildings adds beauty and dignity to its streets; where parks and playgrounds are within the reach of every child; where living is pleasant, toil honorable and recreation plentiful; where capital is respected, but not worshiped; where commerce in goods is great, but not greater than the interchange of ideas; where industry thrives and brings prosperity alike to employer and employed; where education and art have a place in every home; where worth and not wealth give standing to men; where the power of character lifts men to leadership; where interest in public affairs is a test of citizenship and devotion to the public weal is a badge of honor; where government is always honest and efficient and the principles of democracy find their fullest and truest expression; where the people of all the earth can come and be blended into one community life and where each generation will vie with the past to transmit to the next a city greater, better and more beautiful than the last.—Mayo Fesler, Secretary of the Civic League of Cleveland, O., in New York Independent.

The Iscaria Steel Works

By JOHN Y. LARNED

There are in Europe a number of petty kingdoms, principalities and dukedoms that in the various changes of the map which have occurred during ten or a dozen centuries have for one cause or another been left out of the great divisions. One of these is the duchy of Iscaria, which several centuries ago, on readjusting the boundary between Italy and Austria, became independent. It consists of seventeen square miles in a mountainous region, the capital, Arancon, lying in a beautiful valley in the center of the dukedom. This little state has always maintained all the ceremony of an empire. The duke, being a reigning sovereign, associates on equal terms with the crowned heads of the world. He has a prime minister and a cabinet, and his army numbers 400 men. On state occasions he sits on a throne and wears a crown. The royal family, being members of the family circle, find it difficult to gather about them sufficient persons within the dukedom of high enough rank to form a court society.

Bob Anderson was a young American whose grandfather had established a foundry which had grown to be the Pemberton Steel company. Bob a few years ago came of age to find himself the sole owner of these extensive works. [illegible] of the concern, but there was an efficient manager who relieved the owner of the responsibility.

The young man, having a taste for adventure, on completing his education set out to see the world. During three years he traveled, returning only at long intervals to satisfy himself that all was going well with his steel works, for he had inherited from his father a natural gift for administrative action. He not only knew what kind of man to get to carry out his ideas, but took care to make an examination of what he was doing at such intervals as he deemed essential. After each investigation he would start out again on another ramble.

One day Bob found himself in Arancon, the capital of Iscaria. It happened to be a field day, and the reigning duke, Michael III., reviewed his army. Bob tried to hire a presentable livery rig in which to view the spectacle, but found everything engaged except the most rattletrap cab in the dukedom. He was obliged to be content with this and drove on to the grounds where the review was to take place.

During the ceremonies Bob's cabby got on to grounds reserved for royalty, and his old trap, desecrating a space on which stood the splendid equipage of the duchess, was ordered off by a policeman. Bob slipped a fistful of gold pieces into the man's hand, who straightaway, pretending that there was no way for the cab to get out of the tangle of vehicles, permitted him to remain. The duchess looked daggers at the official and at Bob, but said nothing.

Beside the wife of the sovereign was her daughter, Eudoxia. There was something so discordant between the cab and the carriage in which she sat that she could not repress a smile. That smile brought a resolve to the American to show her royal highness that he was used to better equipages than a cab that was ready for the scrap heap.

Now, the dukedom of Iscaria was like a Parisian shop, where about all the stock is in the window. The duke was financially the poorest sovereign in Europe. His territory, being mountainous, was unproductive, and his subjects were gradually going elsewhere to make a living. Smarting under the young duchess' smile at his rig, Bob, as soon as the troops had passed, returned to his hotel to think over a plan whereby he might show those impoverished royalties that he was able to ride in as fine a coach as they. The result of his thought and investigation was as follows:

Through the city of Arancon ran a mountain torrent directly before the hotel in which Bob was stopping. While cogitating a plan to show his power through his wealth he was looking on this stream.

"I have it," he said suddenly. "That's a splendid water power. I will line the stream with mills. I will show these people that I can turn the flow of emigration to immigration. I will build up the dukedom. Then I will ride through the capital in a donkey cart if I choose and they will have something to laugh at."

Anderson spent some time inquiring what manufacture would be best suited to the locality and found that there were undeveloped iron mines in mountains near by that were very rich. His first move was to buy a large tract of land on both sides of the waterway below the city. Then he sent to America for a corps of engineers and mechanics, and buildings began to go up, enormous dams were constructed, and machinery by the hundreds of tons began to arrive.

Meanwhile the builder of this water power plant went off on his travels, leaving instructions with his managers that they should keep the ownership a secret. The duke, seeing what was being done, sent his grand chamberlain to inquire what it all meant. He was told that the Iscaria Steel company was building a plant to smelt the iron to be taken from the mines in the mountains, but as to who or what was the Iscaria Steel company the chamberlain was given no satisfaction.

The building of the works, the opening of the mines, caused the influx of workmen to the capital. A park was laid out a few miles from the city, but near the plant, on which long rows of laborers' cottages sprang, as it seemed, out of the ground. Hundreds of men who had left their families to go elsewhere in search of employment returned. It seemed as if Iscaria had been dead and some unseen power had breathed into it the breath of a new life.

The government reaped a substantial pecuniary benefit. Those who were in arrears for their taxes paid them, and there were thousands more to be taxed. The duke discarded the tarnished tinsel of a hundred years and purchased new and modern articles. The duchess and Eudoxia sent to Paris for gowns of the latest fashion. Families of the head men of the steel company came to live at the capital, and a social circle was formed similar to that existing in the capital of a democratic monarchy.

[illegible] prosperity? No one but the president of the steel company knew, and he would not tell. But what had been done was only the beginning. The large force that was employed in opening the mines, preparing the water power for use, building the vast city of machine shops, was as nothing to the influx of workmen that took place on the completion of the plant and the commencement of manufacture. Certain property belonging to the crown was sold in town lots, bringing in a sum of money that enabled the reigning sovereign to pay his debts and invest the balance at an interest that brought him a truly ducal revenue.

Shortly before the works were started Robert Anderson returned to the capital, bringing letters of certain persons influential in various governments to members of the cabinet of Iscaria. Being a young man of good appearance, tall and well built, he progressed rapidly in a social way in the court circle. He made no display of wealth, dressed plainly, and no one suspected that he was very rich. One of the important functions he attended was a ball at the palace, the first given since the royal ladies had put off their old fashioned gowns and appeared in their Parisian costumes. Anderson was taken to the royal family for introduction and, on giving place to others before the sovereign, joined the young Duchess Eudoxia.

"It seems to me," she said, "that I have seen you before somewhere."

"And your highness' face is familiar to me," replied Bob.

"I have it," said the lady. "I saw you at the last review of the troops."

The remembrance of his rattletrap cab brought back the smile that Bob had seen on that occasion. It was a becoming smile, and now that Bob had prepared the way for his revenge he returned the smile in kind.

"The steel works are to be opened tomorrow," he replied. "I confess that [illegible] the review of the army. Tomorrow it will be more appropriate. We Americans are representatives of commerce and manufacture. We do not put on much style."

"The court attends the inaugural ceremony. My father has been invited to press the electric key that starts the machinery."

"I shall be present."

Anderson passed on, but after the brief interview with her highness Eudoxia had no further interest in the assembly and soon took his departure.

The next day a procession of the managers and the operatives of the Iscaria Steel company started from a given point and marched to the building where the duke was to press the electric key. The route led them past the palace, and the young duchess viewed it from a balcony. At the head of the procession, in the same rattletrap cab in which he had attended the review, was Bob Anderson. Next behind him was the president of the steel works. Following them were the managers of the different departments and their subordinates. Last came the vast body of workmen.

What Anderson's presence at the head of the procession meant Eudoxia was at a loss to know. She descended to a carriage waiting below and was driven to the building where her father was to open the works. Shortly after her arrival the managers entered, followed by representatives of the workmen. Two seats were placed on the platform, one on each side of the electric key. Anderson took the one on the left. When, in a few minutes, the duke entered Anderson arose and, with a profound bow, said;

"I feel honored, your royal highness, that you have consented to open the plant that I have built in your dukedom. May it give work to your people when I shall have passed to another existence!"

The duke, not wishing to betray his astonishment before so many people, bowed and pressed the key.

The Duchess Eudoxia rose from her seat in the royal compartment and left the hall. What prompted her to do this before the ceremonies were finished was not known. The next day Bob Anderson, hearing that Mount Aetna was sending up a column of flame and smoke, left the capital for Sicily.

Nevertheless there is a report that the Duke of Iscaria has offered to make Ned a baron and give him the hand of his daughter in order to secure Ned's vast wealth. It is also rumored that Ned is willing to accept the daughter, but not the title.

An Ancient Idea of the North Pole.

The north pole is the place of greatest dignity in the world, and the people who dwell near it "have a wonderful excellency and an exceeding prerogative above all nations of the earth." How blessed we may think this nation to be, for they are in perpetual light and never know what darkness meaneth, by the benefit of twilight and full moons, as the learned in astronomy do very well know, which people, if they have the notice of their eternity by the comfortable light of the gospel, then are they blessed and of all nations most blessed. Why then do we neglect the search of this excellent discovery, against which there can be nothing said to hinder the same?—"Hakluyt's Voyage" (Sixteenth Century).

Wonderful!

"Just think of it! A whole splendid dinner—soup, fish, entree, joint with two vegetables, dessert and cheese—for a dime!"

"Wonderful! Where can you get such a dinner at such a price?"

"Nowhere; but just think of it!"—Exchange.

TECUMSEH AND THE TECUMSEH STATE SAVINGS BANK

have been inseparable for the past twelve years. In that time the people of Tecumseh have placed thousands and thousands of dollars with us for safe keeping and their trust has never been betrayed. That accounts for our continued growth and success.

At the same time the Tecumseh State Savings Bank has performed its duty by doing its part in the upbuilding of Tecumseh. A bank is a place to put your money, but it must be more than that. It must be a prime factor in the upbuilding of the community. That's what the Tecumsen State Savings Bank has been doing for the past decade.

We have loaned money conservatively and wisely and where it would be a benefit to the whole community as well as our depositors and stockholders. Tecumseh's best interests have always had first consideration with us. That's another reason for our continued growth and success, because our customers have profited by the support we have given them.

Among the patrons of thi[illegible] will find the successful men of this community. [illegible] are as much a part of this institution as though they had official connection with it.

CAPTURE 1,200 IRISH REBELS

Dublin Is in Grip of Famine After "War."

SCORES OF WOMEN PRISONERS

Enniscarthy Insurgents Yield to Troops and Only a Few Fighting Against Authorities—Loss of Property May Reach $20,000,000—Much Looting.

LONDON, ENG.—The war office issued an official statement from Dublin saying that the rebels at Inniscarthy have surrendered to the military authorities unconditionally.

Prisoners taken in Dublin total over 1,200. Four hundred and eighty-nine of these have been sent to England, adds the official report. The prisoners include practically all the Sinn Fein chiefs and rebel leaders of Dublin.

Many women are among the captives. The principal feminine rebel taken is the Countess Markievics.

Information received here from Kingston stated that the rebels in Dublin had almost exhausted their supply of ammunition and that the fighting there had died down to intermittent sniping.

Famine Threatens Dublin.

Throughout Dublin and the suburbs the supply of food has become so low that poor families are threatened with famine. This is due to the fact that railroads have been used during the last six days past for military purposes and no foodstuffs were sent into the Irish capital.

In official circles it is claimed that the revolt of the Sinn Feiners has been crushed. However, military law will be maintained in Ireland until order has been restored.

Capture German Officers.

The declaration that German submarines were used as filibusters to land arms in Ireland is borne out by the statement of a British officer in Dublin that two German officers were found among the slain in the streets of the Irish capital. It was supposed that they too had been landed on the Irish coast by a U-boat.

Women Fire from Behind.

Women took a prominent part in the uprising. The Kingstown correspondent of the Chronicle says that several English officers were shot in the back by women. One officer was killed by a woman who struck him over the head with the butt of a rifle.

Loss in Property Heavy.

It is impossible to estimate accurately the loss throughout the zones of fighting in the southeastern and western parts of Ireland, but it is expected to exceed $20,000,00. There was much looting. One correspondent describes scenes in Dublin in which poor women, whose ragged clothing was partly hidden by greasy shawls, wore diamond tiaras in their hair. These had been stolen from jewelry shops into which the rebels broke to secure material for street barricades.

BENJAMIN FAY MILLS DIES

He Was One of Greatest Revivalists World Has Known.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Rev. Benjamin Fay Mills, noted as one of the most eloquent as well as eccentric leaders in the religious world, died at Grand Rapids, Mich., after a brief illness. He was 58 years old. It was said of him that 500,000 people were converted under his ministry during ten years of his early evangelistic career. Since his return into the Prebyterian church last fall, he has been holding numerous union revival services in the vicinity of Chicago and attracting much attention.

Twenty years ago Mr. Mills left the Presbyterian church and became a Unitarian. He was readmitted to the Presbyterian church last summer.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Thursday, April 29.—The Irish revolt it is admitted by Premier Asquith has spread to the south and west of Ireland. All of Ireland has been put under martial law. The press censorship has been lifted. There have been no further outbreaks.

In France a German attack from Avocourt to Pepper Heights was repulsed.

Germans captured part of a British trench near Givenchy.

Friday, April 28.—The killing of two more soldiers and wounding of five indicates street fighting at Dublin continues. It is admitted the situation is the gravest Great Britain has confronted since the war.

Constantinople reports that a British regiment of 800 was wiped out in fighting at Quatia, Egypt, and 300 were taken prisoners.

The British battleship Russell, 14,000 tons, the eleventh sunk since the war begun, hit a mine and sunk in the Mediterranean, the British admiralty reports. A German submarine was sunk, the report says, and its crew made prisoners.

London reports a British relief ship for the garri[illegible] at Kut-el-Amara went aground in the Tigris a few miles form its destination.

Saturday, April 29.—Another phase of the ill-fated British campaign in Mesopotamia has closed with the surrender of Gen. Townshend and the garrison at Kut-el-Amara on the Tigris River, about 130 miles below Bagdad, after a seige of 143 days. Despite the official announcement that less than 10,000 British surrendered, a Constantinople dispatch received by way of Berlin says that the vice chief commander of the Turkish army announces that the garrison at Kut-el Amara numbered 13,100 men.

Peter Pearce, who was nominated president of the Irish Republic following the rebellion, has surrendered, and James Connolly, commander in chief of the Irish Volunteer corps, has been killed. The Dublin postoffice has been destroyed by fire. The rebellion, it is stated, is on the verge of collapse.

Sunday, April 30.—The Irish revolution has been suppressed. Its leaders have surrendered and ordered their subordinates to do so and the Sinn Fein heads are on their way to England as prisoners.

Capture of a German trench north of Dead Man Hill with fifty-three prisoners, the ejection of the Germans from trenches they had taken south of Lassigny, and the repulse of German assaults in the Vosges, are reported.

Loss and recovery of trenches in a desperate fight with Austrians and the capture of 600 men is told in an official communication from Petrograd.

"South of Narocez Lake four more Russian cannon and one machine gun were captured and eighty-three prisoners taken," says a German official statement issued.

TEACHERS' UNION IS UPHELD

Illinois Appellate Court Restrains Board from Firing Federationists

CHICAGO, ILL. — The Chicago Teachers' Federation won its first fight with the board of education when the Appellate court invalidated the Loeb rule. The upper court sustained the decision of Judge Denis E. Sullivan of the Superior court, who issued a temporary injunction restraining the board from enforcing the rule which bared all public school teachers from membership in the Teachers' labor union.

President Jacob M. Loeb said he would carry the fight to the supreme court. He immediately called a conference of board members, who voted for the Loeb rule.

J. V. Sheehan, proprietor of book stores of Ann Arbor and Detroit, and Democratic candidate for congress in 1910 in the Second congressional district, died at his home in Ann Arbor of heart disease.

Mrs. Abraham Asselin, a Cheboygan mother, and her eight-year-old daughter were burned to death, and a son six years old, was fatally hurt in an early morning fire which destroyed their home.

What is said to be the most disastrous fire at Richmond in 50 years occurred when the Hotel Elliott and Cooper & Son company's three large department stores were destroyed with a loss of near $100,000.

Harry McDonald, Cadillac, and Beatrice Hall, sixteen years old, were remarried by Justice Andrew Carlson. He married the couple three weeks ago before they eloped and were apprehended in Grand Rapids.

Sheriff John Simmons of Alpena county offered a reward of $500 for the return, alive, of Beatrice Gagnon, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gagnon, of Alpena township, missing since the 16th.

While at Paw Paw Grant M. Hudson, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league, and H. R. Pattengill, of Lansing, challenged officials of the Michigan Federation of Labor to permit the rank and file of organised labor to declare itself on the saloon issue.

Elmer Hall, of Flint, startled shoppers on the main street at Cadillac by leaping from a speeding automobile into another moving car in which Hall's wife and P. J. Hans, of Flint, were riding. He said Hans had stolen his wife, but was subdued when Hans twice threw him out of the machine.

Rev. F. S. Devona, who, while in Detroit, failed to have Bishop Charles D. Williams reverse the sentence of the trial court which recently suspended him from his office as rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, St. Clair, states that he will not formally accept charge of the new Trinity parish, organized by his sympathizers.

LAD CLEARS MYSTERY OF BELOIT MERCHANT

Rudolph Walvig Murdered for His Money and Auto.

JANESVILLE, WIS. — On April 3 Rudolph Walvig, a Beloit merchant, disappeared. His automobile was found in the possession of Archie Fowler, aged twenty years, who told of buying it with money borrowed from Andrew Gunderson. Since then hundreds of Beloit citizens have taken part in countrywide search. Private detectives and a Chicago clairvoyant were employed to aid.

Fowler was arrested and after ten days in solitary confinment made a confession. It is reported that he and Earl Reynolds of Beloit killed Walvig and buried his body on Gunderson's farm, near the town of Newark. Handcuffed to officers he is said to have pointed out the place. The body was recovered.

The crime was committed for money, it is said. Fowler paid Walvig for the automobile, then slew the man and recovered it.

ATTACKS LINER; NO WARNING

Americans Aboard French Steamer Missed 10 Feet by Torpedo.

NEW YORK. — Shaving death by ten feet is an experience revealed here when the French passenger steamer Patria arrived from Naples and Palermo. Captain Pierre Dechelle reported that on the liner's last outward voyage it was attacked at 10 a. m., April 5, by a submarine. A torpedo passed under the ship's bow, missing it only by a short margin. Failure of the captain to see a periscope leads him to believe the submarine was equipped with an underwater sight device.

The Patria had thirty-eight passengers aboard, of whom at least one was an American named Vincent Howell, according to the passenger list for the trip. In addition to Howell, whose home is in New York, there were eight or nine Italian-born passengers claiming American citizenship.

A. J. GRAHAM, BANKER, DIES

He Was Among Banquetters Made Sick by Poisoned Soup.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Andrew J. Graham, one of the best-known private bankers in the United States and head of Graham & Sons, the largest private bank in the middle west, died at his home, 3340 Washington boulevard, after a comparatively brief illness.

Mr. Graham's death was due to a disorder of the kidneys, for which he had been under treatment for some time and which recently became acute. The banker was made seriously ill at the time of the banquet given on Feb. 10 to Archbishop Mundelein at the University club, when many guests suffered from a wholesale poisoning attempt made by Jean Crones, the anarchist assistant chef of the institution, who has since been a fugitive from justice.

NOYES GETS HONOR AT IOWA

His Alma Mater Show Appreciation for $20,000 Gift for Lake.

AMES, IOWA. — An anonimous giver donated $10,000 to Iowa State College to build a scenic lake on the large campus, which was waterless until a trickly stream was dammed to make the lake that now fills a campus ravine.

The anonymous giver was found to be La Verne W. Noyes of Chicago of the class of 1872, and to thank him and show appreciation for his gift students and faculty folks crowded State Gymnasiaum to adopt resolutions of thanks to Mr. Noyes. Mr. Noyes has been honored by his alma mater with a doctor's degree.

Ruth, two-year-old Cadillac girl daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maitre, was badly cut about the face when attacked by a rooster while playing in the yard.

C. C. Gaige, of Jonesville, 67 years old, widely known in Michigan as a fruit grower and ranching operator died at the Hotel Iosco, in East Tawas, of Bright's disease.

Stanley Brownley, 35, and H. Malesky, twenty-five years old, both Polish, were drowned in the Escanaba river fifteen miles north of Escanaba when the river ferry capsized.

Mrs. Will McMorris, 26, popular Bay City matron, died after a brief illness. Mrs. McMorris was preparing for a social call the evening before when she was stricken and failed rapidly.

C. H. Kimmerle, once Democratic candidate for governor of Michigan, has had his son, Howard, arrested on a charge of assault.

William B. Stiles, aged 67, lumberman of Grand Rapids, dropped dead on an interurban car while on the way from Mt. Clemens to Detroit.

Walter Ottmer, an eight year old Battle Creek lad, is near death with a fractured skull as the result of hitching on a wagon loaded with ties.

Mrs. Charles Burmeister, aged 65, four miles west of Shelby, dropped dead just after the marriage of her daughter, Tillie, to Mark Hendrickson.

Death called twice at the home of James H. Lyons, Ludington resident, secretary of the board of education, within twelve hours, taking his wife and son.

John S. Linton, aged 61 years, secretary of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers, died at his home in Otsego. Death was due to pneumonia.

John Fifield, sixty-seven, pioneer resident of Kent county, dropped dead at his home in Sparta. Mr. Fifield was editor and publisher of the Sparta Sentinel.

John Engelbertz, 14, and Norman Melcoir, twelve years old, were instantly killed near Harris when struck by lightning while going home from a country school.

ARMY OF 250,000 IS PLAN OF CONFERENCE

Standing Force of 180,000 Is Agreed on by Joint Body.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Substantial agreement with the senate's plan for army reorganization was reached by the senate-house conferees on the military bill. It was considered a marked triumph for "big army advocates."

A regular army of 180,000 men at peace strength has practically been agreed upon by the conferees. With the plans for expansion as provided in the bill which has passed the senate, this would produce an army of about 250,000 men in war strength. The bill as it passed the senate fixed the peace strength at 250,000 men.

The agreement on the size of the army is tentative and dependent upon settlement of other features of the bill still in dispute. It was urged by the conferees that there should at least be a tentative basis for the size of the army before they could make any progress on details.

MEXICAN MINISTER PROTESTS

Arredondo Renews Request That U. S. Forces Be Withdrawn—General Funston Requests That National Guardsmen Be Sent to Border—U. S. Wants Brigandage Ended.

WASHINGTON. — After a fifteen minute conference with Secretary Lansing, Eliseo Arredondo, General Carranza's ambassador, said he had renewed the suggestion for withdrawal of the American expedition. He stated, however, he had not been especially instructed to present a more formal demand than has been made. Mr. Arredondo said he told Secretary Lansing that immediate withdrawal would be most desirable, as the Villa bandits were dispersed and Villa himself had not been heard from for several weeks. Secretary Lansing stated that no reply to General Carranza's note proposing withdrawal would be made until after the border conferences.

U. S. Won't Withdraw.

WASHINGTON. — The war department has sent a dispatch to General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff, directing him not to make any terms with Mexican Minister of War Obregon conditioned on the withdrawal of the American troops from Mexico. The dispatch was sent after a series of conferences of high officials. Secretary Baker conferred with President Wilson at the White House and with Secretary Lansing and Counsellor Polk at the state department.

Funston Wants National Guard.

EL PASO — General Funston renewed his recommendations to the war department for reinforcements from the National Guard. The number requested is not known, but it is understood the forces in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona were mentioned as being available for immediate duty.

ADVOCATES COUNTY POSTMASTER,

Should a certain piece of legislation hat is pending in congress, and that is receiving ardent backing from the postmaster-general, be enacted into a law, all postoffices in this country outside of Ann Arbor would become substations and operate under the direction of the Ann Arbor office. The same sort of situation would be created in every other country throughout the country.

That such legislation is even contemplated will be news to most persons, as it has attracted virtually no attention. Under its sweeping provisions 50,000 postmasterships throughout the country would be abolished. The offices themselves would not be wiped out, but after the postmasterships have been abolished the offices would be open to the appointment of superintendents Postmaster-General Burleson is openly and earnestly backing the legislation and is doing all he can to procure its passage.

In a statement before the house committee explaining the operation of the proposed legislation, First Assistant Postmaster-General Daniel C Roper said:

By making the county the unit and subsidiary to the main office situated at the county seat, the number of accounting officers would be reduced from 56000 to 3,000. The county postmaster would be assisted by a clerk in charge, under his immediate supervision, at each subsidiary office "—Ypsilanti Record.

COMMUNICATIONS

EDITOR HERALD:

I notice remarks in regard to the old Brewer Foundry site being to expensive for school house. It seems to me this is the best site in the town tho if it can be secured I would like to have some one explain why it should be expensive

From any standpoint I can think of it would seem to me if, I owned any interest in that property of an income I would appreciate the opportunity to have it off my hands as I can see no prospect of an income from it and it certainly is the most disgraceful advertisement we have in our town. This is the only opportunity we will [illegible] to be rid of it. A nice school building in its place would certainly be a great improvement and it seems almost incredible that any one could' object to the change.

The next best place is the old site with a little additional ground which ought not to cost much.

One thing more I would like to ask, What is the objection to using the military park for a play ground with proper restrictions.

Respectfully
D. P. A.

Editor Herald:

I notice in the Herald of Tuesday a communication signed B. J. about the location of the new school. We have heard of some people who are well off and some are way off and I think "B. J." is way off. In the first place the old Bills property is too much one sidee of town, which would make it "a long way to Tipperary" for some of the school-children, so I am going to mention the best and only spot. That is the park east of Mr. James Elliott's property. Get an elegant east and west front. Then if it's possible to do so, purchase Mr. Elliott's property and you have the finest, most conspicuous and right in the heart of town location in Tecumseh.

I should like this put to vote along with some other locations that probably will be mentioned.

The Early Circus.

Leaving out of count the great circuses of Rome and Antioch and coming down to something of modern times, the first circus in England was on a footpath known as Halfpenny Hatch, in the Waterloo road, London There, in 1770, Astley's first performance was given, with the aid of a drum, two fifes and one clown. A charge of sixpence was made for the front standing places. There was no building and not even a tent, but merely a ring of ropes and stakes. Primitive as were the arrangements, Astley soon attracted good audiences and was able to add to his program conjuring, transparencies, vaulting and tumbling, with displays of fireworks. In course of time he was able to hire an inclosed ground and erected seats under a substantial roof. He called the place Astley's amphitheater riding house.

Women and Golf In Olden Days.

Clark, in his "Golf, a Royal and Ancient Game," printed a few decades ago, recounts how strangers at the old St. Andrews course abroad were given a trial on the famous holes, and if they proved to be of the tribe of turf diggers and sand lifters they were ignominiously thrust into the outer darkness of the "women's green." The accommodations accorded to women in the old days were in the nature of a sop to Cerebus, merely to keep them quiet and satisfied while the men indulged in the more serious pursuit of a serious business with a better equipment on a finer course. In the annals of one old golf club it is recorded that since a certain green was habitually flooded and generally useless it was recommended that a new hole be built in its place and the old green given over to the women.

Wax Matches.

Wax matches, so called, are made by drawing strands of fine cotton thread, twenty or thirty at a time, through melted stearin with a small admixture of paraffin. The wax hardens quickly upon the threads, and the long tapers thus produced are smoothed and rounded by pulling them through iron plates perforated with holes of the desired size. Finally the tapers are cut into match lengths and dipped.

Fred B. Wood.

All the members of the Board of Education would be best pleased if the entire issue of the school bonds lately authorized, could be taken by local buyers. It is, however, the duty, and also the earnest desire of all members of the Board to dispose of these bonds in such manner as shall result to the greatest benefit for all, and in such case the benefits to the few must be subordinated to that of the many.

It has been the universal experience, in floating a bond issue, such as is now to be made, that the best price is obtained by offering the entire issue intact; and the most money for the District can undoubtedly be obtained by such disposition; and it is a well established fact, that if this issue is not offered complete and entire, that, to produce the next best price, withdrawals therefrom must be only the maturities of one or more certain years, and not allowing such withdrawals (bonds sold locally) to be scattered throughout the years of maturity

It is hardly to be supposed that the entire amount of these bonds ($75,000) can possibly be taken by local purchasers, as these bonds are not ordinarily purchased by individual investors. Such bonds as these, having very low income return, are only marketable because banks, required to hold certain portions of their deposits in reserve, and large investors, such as large insurance companies, etc, find them desirable for their purposes and are usually the final purchasers from the bond companies, who are generally the only buyers from municipalities originally issuing the same, the successful distribution (or digestion) of such securities having come necessarily to be through individuals or corporations acting in the business world as brokers.

However, while the proposition of authorizing this issue of bonds was under discussion, there were many expressions by local residents of a possible desire to purchase these bonds, and the Board of Education, realizing that it is merely representative of all the tax payers and school patrons of the District, desiring to serve all, is anxious that every opportunity for the absorption of these bonds locally to be given which shall be consistent with the best interests of the Distrsct as a whole

For these reasons as soon as all the bids are in, the same will be accepted providing a price high enough is offered and if the bids can be so arranged that they will absorb all, or substantially all of the maturities of any one or more years, and if the issuance of such bonds can be made without serious loss to the District in the final sale of the remainder of the bonds, and necessarily the time for local bidding must be made as short as possible, that the final sale of all the bonds may not be delayed The members of the Board of Education will gladly give prospective bidders any information which may be desired at any time.

The Rest of Your Farm Is Up-to-Date —What About Your Home?

You modern business farmer—with your up-to-date machinery, labor saving equipment and improved methods of farming—what about your home?

Have the improvements in your home kept up with the improvements you have purchased to save your labor on the outside?

Or, in your efforts to succeed have you been too busy to think of and provide the modern comforts and conveniences for your wife and children?

Times have changed. The dirty, dangerous oil lamps and lanterns have long ago gone out of fashion—where progressive farmers are concerned.

Pilot-Carbide-Outdoor Lighting and Cooking Plants

have totally changed the old-fashioned methods of house and barn lighting and cooking in the country home.

Hundreds of thousands of farmers—men like yourself—in all parts of the country—have already equipped their homes with this permanent improvement.

Some are friends and neighbors of yours. Their families are now enjoying this comfort, safety and convenience—without which your home will never be complete.

They have chosen the PILOT not only because it gives them all the bright, safe, clean light they can use—but cooking fuel as well.

Because they can light their houses and barns without matches. Because the PILOT entirely eliminates all the dirty, disagreeable daily labor of caring for lamps. Because they have an abundance of brilliant light always on tap whenever they need it.

Because the PILOT takes up no room in the house, but stands out of doors — on top of the ground—anywhere. It is simple, automatic, dependable. Needs but a few minutes' attention once a month or so.

Write for our illustrated catalogs and descriptive booklets giving all the facts. Find out today about the PILOT.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F J Cheney & Co, Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. An 8-foot Spread From a 45-inch Box

IN the Low Corn King catalogue it takes pages to tell about the good construction that backs up the "8-foot-wide spread from a narrow 45-inch box." Here the space is limited.

See the spreader and study these things: The simple worm and worm gear which drive the apron can be reversed, doubling the wear qualities. The gear is entirely enclosed, away from dust and dirt. The relation of beater and apron is just right to do the best work on the manure with the least power. Low Corn King is a steel spreader—frame, beater axles, wheels, driving parts—all of light, strong, compact steel. You return the apron by a convenient foot lever—no hand cranking, no getting down from seat.

These things—remember—back up the even, satisfactory 8-foot-or-better wide spread. Get acquainted with the Low Corn King spreader. See the local dealer who sells it.

GENTLEMEN'S EVENING

Annual Affair Held Last Evening at the M. E. Church by

THE MONDAY CLUB

Those who attended the annual Gentlemen's Evening given by the Monday Club Thursday evening vote it to have been a most charming social function as well as literary feast, holding its own among the long list of delightful affairs for which this club is well known.

The club members and their guests numbering over 150 gathered in the M. E. church at the informal reception and were received by officers of the past year assisted by the incoming staff. Mrs. J. D. Shull, who has made such a popular presiding officer, her faithful secretary, Mrs F. S. Turner, and Mrs. T. C. Harris, who will occupy the chair for 1916-17, with other club officials met the guests with a warm welcome.

To the strains of beautiful music played by Willett's orchestra of Adrian, the members and guests marched to the dining room where they were served to a dainty feast by 25 charming members of the club headed by Mrs. Floyd Heesen and Mrs. F S. Anderson. The tables which filled the large room were a veritable fairy's bower due to the art of this efficient committee.

A fine program was presented as follows: The music, all of a high order, was under the strong chairmanship of Mrs. F. B Wood and Mrs. B. S. Moore.

Doxology.........Led by Mrs. Moore
Introduction of Toastmistress,
Mrs. J. D. Shull,

At the piano—Mrs F. B. Wood

Chairman of program committee—Mrs. G. W. Jennings

A comedietta in one act with the following cast of characters proved very amusing and showed decided dramatic talent on the part of these young people:

Frank Glynn.....Mr. Ralph Cuthbert
Alice Glynn .....Mrs. G. A. Rathbun
Mrs Glynn, Frank's mother
Mrs. B. J. Pulver
Stella Glynn, his sister
Miss Marian Rosecrans
Gertie, Alice's cousin
Mrs. F. M. Mulvanoy
Nora, a servant girl
Mrs. Duaine Service
Ed Asbury, Frank's college chum
Mr. Burton Garlinghouse

The Monday Club added one more pearl to the string of memory gems marking its long period of existence. Mrs Chas. Mattis was the very proficient caterer.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION.

Every Indication That This Will Be the Greatest Gathering of Men Interested in Roads Ever Held.

Battle Creek, Mich., April 29.—There is every indication that the eighth annual convention of Michigan Good Roads Association, to be held in this city May 10 and 11, will be the greatest gathering of men interested in good roads ever held in the state.

Under the Highway law of 1915 the Michigan Legislature provided that the actual expenses and per diem wages be paid every township Highway Commissioner who desired to attend the annual Good Roads meeting.

From an educational standpoint each township who needs a Commissioner will be benefited by his attendance, for all visiters and delegates will be in a position to see the actual building of a 16-foot concrete road, they will hear the best Good Roads authorities in the country, they will see the exhibit of road building being sent by the Goverment, and will see an exhibit of all kinds of road-building machinery and appliances, which manufacturers will place on exhibition during the convention.

"PEG" HAS SUIT WHICH BRINGS HER LUCK

The suit which Florence Martin wears in the first act of "Peg O' My Heart", is the most prized article of her extensive wardrobe.

All last season while playing in "Peg" during the Boston run. Miss Martin was dissatisfied with the suit she was wearing, as it did not strike her as being exactly the proper one to faithfully "dress" the part portrayed.

While rehearsing in New York. she made the rounds of the department stores on the lookout for something that appealed to her as more fiting. In one of these stores, standing in front of the cases containing the latest imported creations, she was attracted by a slip of a girl in a dark blue serge coat and skirt, who was gazing with longing eyes at the beautiful gowns which seemed so far out of her reach. It did not take Miss Martin long to make up her mind that the shiny but neat looking suit on the little girl was exactly what she wanted A few moments conversation, an exclamation of surprise and joy from the girl were followed by a trip to the dressingroom accompanied by a saleswoman. Twenty minutes later, the girl attired in a wonderful suit, fresh shoes, stockings, gloves etc. her face beaming with joy, thanked her benefactress and hurried away, no doubt, the happiest girl in New York Miss Martin equally as happy in the possession of the much desired suit for her first act, hurried to rehearsal eager to tell her friends of her good fortune.

Down in the depth of her heart Miss Martin feels that this suit, which she wears when she makes her first entrance, with Michael under one arm, and the telescope under the other, is bound to bring her good luck. Should you see "Peg" at the Bradley Opera House, Friday May 19, note the dress she wears in the first act.

Wednesday will be bargain day at Gaston's. adv

Stomach Catarrh Is Very Prevalent

In this climate catarrh is a prevalent disease. Catarrh affects the stomach as often as any other organ. Perhaps every third person is more or less troubled with stomach catarrh. Peruna is extensively used in these cases.

PERUNA THE RELIABLE FAMILY REMEDY

DOUBLY PROVEN

Tecumseh Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This Tecumseh citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

Mrs. C. Stevenson, Wyandotte & Pottawatamie Sts., Tecumseh, says: "The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was a sharp shooting pains across the small of my back, which [illegible] almost [illegible] me to lie down. Someone advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and I did, procuring my supply at C. A. Wright & Son's drug store. After I had taken this remedy a short time the pains and aches left and gravel that had been a source of constant suffering no longer troubled me, in fact, I felt like a different person."

USES DOAN'S AGAIN. OVER FIVE YEARS LATER, Mrs. Stevenson said: "I am always glad to speak a good word in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I feel the need of a kidney medicine, I take Doan's Kidney Pills and they always give me the best of relief."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mrs. Stevenson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props. Buffalo, N. Y. adv

Ada Rehan's Bandsman.

Miss Ada Rehan used to say that the finest appreciation of her acting she ever observed came from a bandsman in the orchestra of a Birmingham theater. When she played the angry Katharine she had one piece of superb fury—a swift march to the back of the stage, a right about turn and then a straight march down the stage, pulling up short and sharp at the footlights. One night she saw a bandsman sitting directly in her line of advance shrink back in his chair at the moment of the full stop at the footlights.

"Sure, he thought, I wasn't going to stop on the stage," Miss Rehan said. "I wonder if he is married to a Katharine."

The next day she sent him a box of cigars.—Manchester Guardian.

Home Ties.

A sedate banker of Hamilton, Canada, was sitting in his office one morning when his ten-year-old hopeful drifted in, bearing with him an expression of unutterable gloom.

"Anything gone wrong, boy?" interrogated the financier. "Why, at your age you ought to be cheerful all the time."

"I know it, Frank; I know it," responded the youngster. "I'm doin' the best I can; but, honest, I had a terrible time up at the house with your wife this morning."—Saturday Evening Post.

The Parental Bulwark.

"I'm going to be a burglar when I grow up."

"Why, Johnny, that's very wicked and, besides, burglars are sent to prison."

Hearing but Not Listening.

In the course of a vist to Nagpur, the capital of the central provinces, writes Mr. Stanley Coxon in his Indian reminiscences, I heard of an amusing ending to a civil case. It was an appeal case, and on one side was a Mr. Stanyon, an English barrister, and on the other a number of native pleaders. The arguments on both sides had been heard, and the case closed for judgment.

Suddenly one of the native pleaders got up and addressed the court once more. Mr. Stanyon suffered it for some time; but, losing patience, he also stood up and, addressing the court, said, "Your honor, I would beg with all respect to point out to the court that my learned friend opposite is entirely out of order in addressing the court, and if I may be permitted to say so the court has no right to be listening to him."

The court, who at that time was writing, put his head over the desk and said, "Mr. Stanyon, it's a great piece of impertinence on your part to assume that the court is listening to him."

Moving Picture Shows.

An observer says the reason that all classes like motion picture plays is that each person puts into the mouths of the silent actors the exclamations, words and lines that he himself would use under like circumstances.

Incidents and situations are flashed on the screen, but the spectator tells the unspoken story to himself, and there is no possibility of artificial, strained or incomprehensible dialogue. What the spectator imagines is the thing that is natural to him. To one who watches Hamlet with Yorick's skull the words of the play may come, "Imperious Caesar, dead and turned to clay, might stop a hole to keep the wind away." To another's imagination Hamlet says, "Well, we all gotta come to it."

Uncle George—Come here, Willie. Don't you know who I am? Willie—You bet I do! You are ma's brother, who stayed here two months one time and never offered to pay a cent for board. Oh, yes; I've heard pa speak of you often.—Indianapolis News.

Argument Spoiled.

She—Too many men expect their wives to run their homes on practically nothing. They forget that no one can make bricks without straw. He—My wife does—out of flour.—Stray Stories.

No Breach of Confidence.

"Say, what do you mean by telling Jones that I was a blockhead?"

"Why, it isn't a secret, is it?"—Boston Transcript.

THE MODERN TORPEDO.

How It Travels and Its Effect Upon Striking a Vessel.

The present day torpedo is a very different sort of weapon from that used half a century ago. It is shaped something like a cigar and is about twenty-three feet long and twenty-one inches in diameter. It weighs considerably more than a ton, and its construction costs from $5,000 to double that sum.

It is made to travel in a certain direction in a fixed time and to explode when it strikes some solid object, such as a ship's bottom. A torpedo of the largest and most modern type will tear a gaping hole in the stanchest ship ever built. The nose or "explosive head" of a torpedo contains the deadly charge of high explosives, nitroglycerin and guncotton being oftenest used.

When the torpedo strikes its target a tremendous detonation follows instantly, driving in both the outer and inner "skins" of a vessel. The hole it makes in a ship's bottom varies in size, but is seldom less than ten by thirty feet. The torpedo travels toward its victim at the rate, roughly, of about a thousand yards a minute. The distance and rate of speed have to be calculated to a nicety before the torpedo is discharged. It is kept to its destined course by perpendicular rudders in its tail.

The modern "dirigible" torpedo was first used in a naval war during the Chilean revolution of a quarter of a century ago.—New York World.

A Curious Ball Game.

Theodore Roosevelt, writing in Scribner's of his Brazilian journeys, describes a curious game of ball played by the Parecis Indians, in which the head alone is used.

"There are, of course," he writes, "no such rules as in a game among civilized men, and I saw no disputes. There may be eight or ten or many more players on each side. The ball is never touched with hands or feet or with anything except the top of the head. It is hard to decide whether to wonder most at the strength and dexterity with which it is hit or butted with the head as it comes down through the air or at the reckless speed and skill with which the players throw themselves headlong on the ground to return the ball if it comes low down.

"Why do they not grind off their noses I cannot imagine. Some of the players scarcely ever failed to catch and return the ball if it came in their neighborhood and with such a vigorous toss of the head that it often flew in a great curve for a really astonishing distance."

Clever Reasoning.

Rather an original lesson in political economy was that once taught by the Japanese nobleman Awoto and thus translated by Sir Edwin Arnold in "Seas and Lands:"

One evening as he was going to the palace to take his turn in keeping the night watch he let 10 cash drop out of his tinder case into the stream and then bought 50 cash worth of torches to search for the lost coin. His friends laughed at him for spending so much in order to recover so little, and he replied, with a frown:

"Sirs, you are foolish and ignorant of economics. Had I not sought for these 10 cash they would have been lost forever—sunk in the bottom of the Namerigawa. The 50 cash which I have expended on torches will remain in the hands of the tradesman. Whether he has them or I is no matter, but not a single one of the sixty has been lost, and that is a clear gain to the country."

Watch Your Shoulders.

When standing before a looking glass notice if your shoulders are the same height. Generally the right is higher than the left. The reason for this unevenness lies in the way one sits. You get into a comfortable chair at your desk, and at once you rest your right elbow on the arm of your chair or your desk, thus throwing one shoulder higher than the other. This is especially the case where one writes a great deal. When you notice that one shoulder is higher than the other the thing to do is to change your way of sitting at your desk. Two simple exercises will be beneficial. The arm of the lower shoulder should be extended upward, the hand grasping a dumbbell. That of the higher shoulder should be lowered and made to support a heavy weight.

Madagascar.

The great island of Madagascar, in the Indian ocean, lying off the east coast of Africa, was officially recognized as a French colony in 1896 after a war of occupation. The majority of the natives are not Africans, the Malayan element predominating in their greatly mixed blood. Of the total population of more than 2,500,000 by the last census, the Hovas, the dominant race, numbered about 850,000, and they are regarded as belonging to the Malayan stock.

The Sakalavas, whose negro affinities are strongly pronounced, rank next in numbers, and besides other indigenous races there are many persons of Arab and Indian descent. The seat of the government is at Tananarivo, which has a population of about 60,000.

Nature the Healer.

The influence of the forms and actions in nature is so needful to man that in its lowest functions it seems to lie on the confines of commodity and beauty. To the body and mind which have been cramped by noxious work or company nature is medicinal and restores their tone. The tradesman, the attorney comes out of the din and craft of the street and sees the sky and the woods and is a man again. In their eternal calm he finds himself. The health of the eye seems to demand a horizon. We are never tired so long as we can see far enough.—Emerson.

Stung no doubt by the spring wanderlust, Peter Miller, aged ten; George Campbell, aged ten, and Floyd Simpson, aged fourteen, inmates of the Michigan School for the Blind, disappeared from the institution. The next night a farmer living near Lainsburg, fifteen miles away, reported that he had found the trio sleeping in his barn.

Belgian Relief Ship Torpedoed.

PORTLAND, MAINE. — The British steamship Hendonhall, reported to have been torpedoed, carried a cargo of 231,000 bushels of wheat consigned to the Belgian relief commission from this port on April 7 for Rotterdam. There is no record of the crew, except it is known that one American left the ship here.

Consoling Her.

Bess—I sometimes wish I might see myself as others see me. Nell—Oh, you poor dear! Why, you just couldn't believe your eyes!—Browning's Magazine.

No liberal man would impute a charge of unsteadiness to another for having changed his opinion.—Cicero.

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, High Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and consider myself in a truly normal condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills ten months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 16-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

GERMAN MAKES GAIN IN VERDUN FIGHTING

French Trenches East of Hill 304 Are Taken.

Paris, May 8.—In fierce attacks on both banks of the Meuse the German forces gained ground from the French. They entered the French communicating trenches east of Hill 304 and gained a footing in the first trench line between Haudromont wood and Fort Douaumont over an extent of nearly a third of a mile.

The repulse of a strong German reconnoissance south of St. Mihiel and a successful surprise attack on a patrolling force near Lanfroicourt, in Lorraine, also are reported, as is the break dwn of a strong German attack on French trenches near Lihons, south of the Somme.

SON LIED, FATHER IS FREED

Lad, 8, Admits Accidentally Killing Mother, Clearing Father of Murder.

Portsmouth, O., May 8.—George Jordan, eight years old, who told officials that his father, Roy Jordan, killed his mother with a shotg[illegible] a quarrel b[illegible] early enough to get breakfast, has confessed that he shot his mother, officials say. He was playing with the gun when it was accidentally discharged.

The officials had brought George, another son, and Fred, a little three-year-old son, before the probate judge for further questioning, when Fred innocently asked George why he had killed his mother. The eight-year-old lad, when asked if the accusations were true, admitted them.

Town Sees Zeppelin Shot.

Paris, May 8.—A Havas dispatch from Saloniki says that the entire population of the town witnessed the destruction of a German Zeppelin which was shot down by the French fleet in the harbor. The dispatch says that the airship was one of the newest and largest type known as super-Zeppelins.

Sausages Now Hit by War.

Berlin, May 9.—Following a conference just held with the sausage manufacturers of Germany the central foodstuffs control commission has announced that conditions require a radicial decrease in the production of sages of all kinds.

EXPLOSION OF TIRE BLOWS OF CLOTHES

Graud Rapids Injured in Peculiar Accident.

Grand Rapids, May 8.—Samuel J. Schildroth, of Grand Rapids, was stripped to the waist, made temporarily deaf and severely cut about the chest when an extra tire, carried on the running board of a motor car exploded.

Schildroth was inflating the tire when the accident occurred. His clothing from the waist up was stripped off, with the exception of his bow tie, which still encircled his neck. When pedestrians picked him up he was ten feet from the machine. He is seriously injured.

MRS. WAITE TO BE AT TRIAL

To Attend Court Action Against Slayer Husband in East.

Grand Rapids, May 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Percy C. Peck and Mrs. Clara Peck Waite will leave for New York May 16 to attend the trial of Dr. Arthur Warren Waite for the murder of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Peck.

Mrs. Waite, it is said, is willing to go on the stand and testify against her husband, but under the New York law cannot do so. She will, however, be able to give the district attorney's representatives in court valuable assistance by being present at the trial. Divorce action started by Mrs. Waite is now pending in court here.

Organize "The Grocers."

Battle Creek, May 8.—Announcement of the formation of The Grocers, Inc., a $75,000 corporation, is made. A four-story building will be erected. Howard B. Sherman, head of the H. B. Sherman Manufacturing company and of the Consolidated Press company, Hastings, as well as director of the Commonwealth Savings bank, Detroit, and the Central National bank, Battle Creek, is president.

Street Baseball Banned.

Muskegon, May 8.—So many complaints have been received by Police Chief L. A. Knapp about broken windows, children nearly run down by motorists, and ruined garden plots, that he has forbidden all baseball playing in the streets.

Michigan Postmaster Indicted.

Bay City, May 8.—The federal grand jury has indicted a Michigan postmaster, who is charged with embezzling $1,200. United States court officials refuse to give out his name, as he has not been arrested.

Policeman Gets Wrong Girl.

Muskegon, May 8.—Ruth Durham, arrested by Night Sergeant William Feeney on a charge of disorderly conduct, was granted a judgment for $135 against Feeney in the circuit court.

Two Hurt in Auto Upset.

Greenville, May 8.—Alex Miller, a traveling man, and George Kroman, of Greenville, while riding in an automobile, were badly injured when the machine turned turtle.

Jumps Prison Farm.

Jackson, May 8.—John Murphy, who was sent to prison from Kalamazoo, December 28 last, on a three years' sentence for larceny, disappeared from one of the prison farms.

"JOKER" MAKES LAW EASY FOR MINISTERS

Des Moines Squires Lose Authority to Perform Marriages.

Des Moines, Ia., May 8.—Couples wishing to be married in Des Moines will have to get a preacher to perform the ceremony. There are no justices of peace in the city since the Municipal court became an actuality, and judges of the Municipal court can not perform marriage ceremonies.

A joker in the law that omits any specification for the Municipal judges to perform marriages was discovered by Judge Joseph Meyer when he prepared to marry a waiting couple.

"I guess you'll have to go to a minister. The law doesn't provide for us to do anything of that sort."

The next legislature will be asked to amend the Municipal court law to permit Municipal judges to preform ceremonies.

GETS VALUABLE PARCHMENT

Illinois University Given Translation of Aristotle of 13th Century.

Urbana, Ill., May 8.—President Edmund J. James of the University of Illinois has presented to the university [illegible] illuminated parchment manuscript of the fourteenth century. The manuscript consists of sixty-six folios which contain a Latin translation of a portion of Aristotle's works. It is regarded as a rare and interesting work. The university library rapidly is becoming one of the major collections in the state.

The manuscript was presented to President James by Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus of Chicago. Dr. Gunsaulus thinks it is the work of a scribe who lived in Bologna in the thirteenth century. In his opinion this translation is valuable because Michael Scotus must have brought from a Greek text a purer Aristotle to modern times than would have been possible, or at least probable, if it had come around by the way of an Arabian translation.

WILSON ACCEPTS ANSWER

But It Is to Put Germany's Good Faith on Trial.

Washington, May 8.—President Wilson has decided to accept Germany's reply as a compliance with his demand that "illegal methods" of submarine warfare be abandoned, but in so doing has decided to place Germany's good faith on trial, with the United States as judge of the results.

Thus the danger of a diplomatic break is authoritatively described as past for the present.

Al Davis' Wife Badly Hurt.

New York, May 8.—Eugenia Kelly Davis, the heiress, who married Al Davis, the Broadway cabaret singer, against her mother's wishes, and whose escapades have occupied much space in the newspapers, was badly hurt at Mineola, L. I. She was thrown by her horse and lay for hours unconscious.

APPEAL 2 CENT FARE RULING

Bondholders of Pere Marquette Take Michigan Case to High Court.

Washington, May 8.—Beekman Winthrop and other bondholders of the Pere Marquette railroad company appealed to the supreme court from the decision of the federal circuit court of appeals, holding constitutional the Michigan 2 cent fare law as applied to the road.

They contend that the receivership of the road is due largely to the enforcement of the 2 cent rate on Michigan interstate traffic.

FOOD RIOTS ARE CONTINUED

Many Women Wounded by Soldiers in German Troubles.

London, May 8.—The food riots that were renewed in Berlin Thursday, when the German reply to President Wilson's ultimatum was started to Washington, continued both in Berlin and Leipsic. Several hundred persons, mostly women of the laboring classes, have been wounded by soldiers and police in their efforts to disperse the crowds.

The women demand peace and better food. The death list in the food riots is estimated at fifty.

Mountain Trees.

Some interesting facts relating to mountain trees are given by Enos A. Mills in his "Rocky Mountain Wonderland." He says:

"A few timber line trees live a thousand years, but half this time is a ripe old age for most of the timber line veterans. The age of these trees cannot be judged by their size or by their general appearance. There may be centuries of difference in the ages of two arm in arm trees of similar size. I examined two trees that were growing within a few yards of each other in the shelter of a crag. One was fourteen feet high and sixteen inches in diameter and had 337 annual rings. The other was seven feet high and five inches in diameter and had lived 492 years.

"One day by the sunny and sheltered side of a bowlder I found a tiny seed bearer at an altitude of 11,800 feet. How splendidly unconscious it was of its size and its utterly wild surroundings! This brave pine bore a dainty cone, yet a drinking glass would have completely housed both the tree and its fruit."

The Sleep of Seeds.

Oats, corn, fennel and some flower seeds were exposed during 118 days to a temperature of 40 degrees F. below zero. Afterward, when placed in suitable surroundings, nearly all of the fennel, oat and corn seeds and many of the others germinated. It is concluded that the protoplasm, or the principle of life, in a resting seed is in a state of inaction not comparable to that of a smoldering fire, but rather like that of a chemical mixture which is capable of forming a combination whenever the required conditions of temperature and illumination are present.

MEXICANS RAID 2 U. S. TOWNS

Four Americans Are Slain in Attack in Texas.

THREE OF VICTIMS TROOPERS

Bandits Sweep Down on Glen Springs Texas, and Loot Stores, Then Make Raid on Boquillas Next Morning—Fight for Five Hours—Routed by Handful of Soldiers.

El Paso, May 8.—A detachment of nine American soldiers forming the patrol at Glen Springs, Texas, was almost wiped out in a raid of Villista bandits across the border Friday night, according to reports received by Major General Fred Funston from Major O. B. Meyer of the Thirteenth Cavalry at Marfa, Texas.

A band of Mexicans which is believed to be the same raided the village of Boquillas near by the following morning, Major Meyer added.

Fire Patrol Camp.

According to Major Meyer the Glen Springs raiders numbering fifty men, set fire to the patrol camp and fired on the troopers as they tried to escape.

Three troopers were killed, two were wounded and four were not accounted for, he said.

Later reports from Major Meyer said the four men reported missing have been accounted for. They were Sergeant Smith, in command of the patrol, and three other men, who hid behind rocks with a few civilians and fought the raiders five hours, finally putting them to flight.

Smith Proves Hero.

Sergeant Smith was wounded, but refused to leave the scene. During the thick of the engagement he loaded two desperately wounded men on a motor truck and sent them north toward Marathon.

Loot Glen Springs.

According to the first reports of Major Meyer the bandits, after killing the American soldiers, looted Glen Springs, kiling the 10-year-old son of Ellis Woods, a wax plant owner. One civilian is missing.

The same band of Mexicans is reported to have raided Boquillas Saturday morning, and then to have crossed back in to Mexico taking with them a storekeeper named Deemers.

Troops to Relief.

Two Troops of Eight Cavalry from El Paso and two troops of the Fourteenth Cavalry from Fort Clark, ten miles north of Spofford, have been ordered by General Funston to take special trains to Marathon, the railway station nearest to Glen Springs. They will have to march eighty-five miles to reach the scene of the raid. The troops also will go to the relief of Boquillas.

Sibley to Command.

Colonel Frederick W. Sibley, commander of the Fourteenth Cavalry, will proceed from Fort Clark to take command of the troops proceeding to Glen Springs and Boquillas.

Nothing has been reported here as to the identity of the bandits other than that they are supposed to be Villistas. Roving bands have been reported in the section south and southwest of Ojinaga for some time.

Location of Raid.

Glen Springs is a little village a few miles west of Boquillas, which is situated not far north of the Rio Grande in the isolated stretches of the Big Bend district.

The troops forming the patrol there belong to Troop A of the Fourteenth Cavalry, which is scattered along the border in small detachments. They were under the command of a noncommissioned officer.

Captain Caspar W. Cole at Alpine commands the troops in the immediate section. He has left for the scene of the raid with fifty men.

FOUR SHIPS ARE SENT DOWN

Two Steamers and Two Submarines Go to the Bottom.

London, May 8.—Two steamers and two submarines were destroyed and another steamer badly damaged as a result of the subsea warfare. They were.

Ruabon (British), 2,004 tons, sunk by a submarine. The crew was rescued by an Italian liner. Le Pilier (French), 2,427 tons, sunk. Clan MacFadyen (British), arrived at Gravesend badly damaged as a result of battle with two German submarines. Submarine (nationality unknown), sunk by fire, of Clan MacFadyen. Submarine (Austrian), sunk by French "diver" Bernouille in lower Adriatic.

Bank Robber Is Shot.

Columbus, Ohio, May 8.—After causing a panic in the Ohio National bank by flourishing a revolver and pointing it at Policeman Charles W. Smith, over the head of Emil Wiesewetter, president of the bank, George Airey, fifty-eight years old, stabbed Policeman Smith when taken to police headquarters and later was shot by the policeman when he attempted to escape.

WILL BOOM MICHIGAN PIKE

Detroit Men Will Make Trip to Mackinaw Early in July.

Detroit, May 8.—In an effort to arouse enthusiasm for the East Michigan pike, 100 Detroiters will make the first annual tour over this route during the week of July 10. The party will be joined by others along the route and the enterprise will culminate in a large joint meeting with the West Michigan Pike association and several state development bureaus July 14, at Mackinaw.

At the principal towns along the route short meetings will be held and men of prominence will give good roads talks. Various forms of literature containing good roads information will be distributed at each of the stops.

U. S. TO REPLY TO KAISER NOTE

Charges in Germany's Answer to Be Challenged.

U. S. LIVES ABOVE DOLLARS

Offenses of Allies Not in Class with Those of Submarines—Whenever U. S. Presses Demands on Entente, Germany Stirs Nation to Anger by New Submarine Outrage.

Washington, May 8.—Study of the German submarine note is convincing President Wilson's advisors that a reply must be made in order to repudiate certain charges against the United States made in that document.

These charges are:

First —That the United States had discriminated against Germany and in favor of Great Britain in its demands that international law be obeyed.

Second—That the United States would have brought freedom of the seas had it insisted upon its rights against Great Britain.

Thi[illegible] States has aided Germany's enemies by supplying them with all kinds of war materials.

Discrimination Is Denied.

The president and his advisors declare there has been no discrimination for or against any belligerent the war began.

In order to bring about the adoption of a submarine policy, based upon recognized international law, it was necessary for the United States to conduct negotiations with Germany which have extended over a period of thirteen months. For fifteen months the United States has been negotiating with Great Britain and her allies to put a stop to violations of international law leveled against neutral commerce.

Mr. Wilson holds, his advisors declare, that it was far more important to obtain protection for human life than it was to arrange for protection for dollars, and it was for this reason that he proceeded with such vigor against Germany. But attention is caled to the representations and protests which have been made to Great Britain and France as proof of the effort of the administration to prevent the seizure of innocent goods by ships of the allied powers.

If Germy will give the government here a chance it is declared, he will have no reason to complain at the lack of vigor of the president.

Overshadows Allies' Acts.

The difficulty is, according to the officials, that every time the president begins to consider action against the allies, a German submarine commits an act which excites the public against the German government and its methods of warfare. The misconduct of the allies, thereupon, is thrown into the background and there is only a tepid popular interest in what may be done to stop it. In order to obtain effective results in negotiations, it is imperative there should be a well-informed public sentiment back of the chief executive.

Germany claims in her note that naval warfare, like warfare on land, implies unavoidable dangers for neutral persons and goods entering the fighting zone. International law experts say there is no such similarity

Seas Free to Neutrals.

The seas are presumed to be free and neutrals have the right to navigate them in full security, subject only to visit and search and loss of their goods should they be contraband in character. There is no such thing as a "fighting zone upon the high seas."

MRS. FRANK RISING

Mrs. Martha Rising passed away Friday May 5, 1916, at the home of her neice, Mrs. Florence Griffith, in Bellvue, Pa. The remains were brought to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Butrick Saturday night and the funeral was held at the M. E. church Sunday at 1 o'clock p. m. with burial beside her husband in Brookside.

Martha Maynard was born in the state of N. Y., and came to Michigan when quite a young girl living in Lake Ridge. She was united in marriage to Frank Rising of Tecumseh who passed away some years ago. She is survived by one brother Thomas D. Maynard and two nephews Lawrence and Leon Maynard and her niece Mrs. Florence Maynard—Griffith. She was 66 years of age at the time of her death.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all those who so kindly assisted us in our hour of sorrow.

Her brother and family

M. H. TAYLOR

Friday morning, May 5, Mr. Marcus H. Taylor died at his home, aged 77 years and 5 months.

He was born Nov. 29, 1839, in Mount Vernon, Ohio, and was married to Artemisia M. Jeffers Feb. 11, 1862, in Mount Vernon. To this union three children were born, two daughters, Mrs. W. Fisher and Miss Ida, and a son Charles. The son died several years ago and was brought to Tecumseh and buried in Brookside.

Mr. Taylor had been in failing health for some years and, coupled with failing eyesight, his lot was a sad one. His growing infirmities he bore with cheerfulness and great patience. When his eyesight became so dim that he could only recognize his friends by the voice, there was a smile on his face and a welcome in the friendly grasp of the hand. One of the crosses he had to bear was being debarred from attending church services on account of his infirmities.

An especially glad time of the year, to him, was when his daughter Ida came home from teaching to spend the vacation He was faithfully and tenderly ministered unto by his faithful and devoted wife and an adopted member of the family until two weeks before his death when a niece came from Ohio to assist in his care. Miss Ida was also by his bedside the last week of his life.

Mr. Taylor was a veteran of the Civil War and the members of Beers Post attended the funeral in a body. The funeral services were held Sunday, May 7th, conducted by Rev. W. A. Rex who spoke words of comfort and faith. Sunday was an ideal spring day and his comrades laid him to rest in beautiful Brookside beside his son.

The green grass and fragrant flowers told of the resurrection of nature from the winter's sleep and it was fitting to lay Mr. Taylor in the grave to await the sure dawn of a more glorious Resurrection Day.

F. D. R.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our grateful appreciation of the kindness shown us by friends and neighbors during our recent bereavement. We wish also to thank the choir of the Presbyterian church for their services and the Rev. W. A. Rex and the members of Beers Post for their tributes to our loved one. MRS. M. H. TAYLOR AND DAUGHTERS.

Growing Up.

Percy Poodles—Congratulate me I'm engaged to Molly Multirox. Ain't I the lucky dog?

Polly Pickles—You certainly must be. But how time does fly! It seems but yesterday I heard her father speak of you as a puppy.—New York Globe.

"A detective, my son, is a man who pokes his nose into other people's affairs while minding his own business."

Death Watches In England.

Prisoners under sentence of death are never left alone for a moment. In England two warders are in attendance both day and night to prevent the possibility of suicide or escape. Three clear Sundays of life are allowed to the murderer after his sentence. Usually he is hanged upon the Tuesday after the third Sunday. Some visitors are allowed, but not even the most intimate relatives may kiss, embrace or even take the hand of the prisoner. During the awful three weeks of waiting the condemned man may choose any food within reason, may smoke and may read what he likes. Just before execution he may have a drink of brandy. A man about to be hanged is the only person who can hear his own burial service read.—London Express.

The Various Ages.

In the Greek mythology four—the golden, self sufficient; the silver, self indulgent; the brazen, warlike, and the iron, violent; together with the heroic, nobly aspirant, between the third and fourth.

In archaeology three—the stone age, the bronze and the iron.

In history the middle and dark, between the ancient and the modern.

In Fichte five—of instinct, of law, of rebellion, of rationality, of conformity to reason.

THE ANN ARBOR MAY FESTIVAL

The Ann Arbor May Festival, to be held May 17, 18, 19, and 20, has assumed unusual proportions. A cast of soloists such as never before has been assembled in Michigan or in this section of the country has been engaged to take part in the annual classic.

As usual it will consist of four evening concerts and two matinees, with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under Frederick Stock, Conductor, The University Choral Union and a Special Children's Chorus of several hundred voices under Director Stanley, furnishing the musical background.

Frieda Hempel, the distinguished coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, whose success has been sensational, will be heard in a miscellaneous program at the Wednesday evening concert.

Thursday evening the Choral Union will present a new choral work - "Paradise Lost" by Bossi. Florence Hinkle, America's favorite soprano; Sophie Braslau, Contralto of the Metropolitan Opera Company; Reinald Werenath, whose tour with Geraldine Farrar has attracted so much attention; and Gustaf Holmquist, bass of wide recognition will take the solo parts.

At the Friday afternoon concert the Children's Chorus will appear in a sparkling work by Pierne - "The Children at Bethlehem". Florence Hinkle will also appear as soprano soloist. The Childran's Chorus has become a prominent feature and their contributions this year are of unusually important nature.

Friday evening will bring to Ann Arbor for the first time that eminent Irish tenor, John McCormack, who will appear in a program of miscellaneous numbers, especially chosen for the occasion. To hear so eminent an artist under so favorable conditions will mark a memorable occasion.

The Fifth Concert Saturday Afternoon will bring to Ann Arbor Ralph Kinder, well known concert organist and composer. Every organist of note is familiar with his work in both fields, while those interested in this particular instrument are especially happy at his selection. Lovers of good music in general will have an unusual opportunity of hearing the Frieze Memorial Organ in the hands of an exceptional master.

The climax of the Festival will be reached, however, in the last concert Saturday Evening, when Saint-Saens "Samson and Delilah", one of the most familiar melodious operas adaptable to the concert stage, will be given by an all-star cast composed of Pasquale Amato, Baritone, who will take the part of the High Priest; Morgan Kingston, Tenor, of the Century Opera Company, will appear in the role of "Samson"; and Margarete Matzenauer, whose "Delilah" at the Metropolitan Opera Company has been sensational; and Reinald Werrenrath, who will appear in the role of "Abimilech" and the "Old Hebrew".

With so select a series of offerings unusual interest has been awakened throughout the state and country and musicians and music lovers from all quarters will appear in large numbers for the occasion.

The sale of tickets has been exceptionally heavy, but there is still a limited number available which will be disposed of on a series basis up to May 6, after which time such tickets as have not been sold for the course, will be offered for the individual concert.

Persons desiring further information or a copy ofthe Illustrated Booklet, should address the Secretary.

A Queer Fish.

A male fish which hatches the young of its mate is the Chromis paterfamilias. It is found in the lake of Tiberias, Palestine. Strange to say, this industrious fish hatches its young in its mouth. When the female has spawned in the sand the male approaches and draws the eggs into his gills, where they remain until hatched, when they struggle out of their confinement into the parent's mouth. As many as 200 perfect young are sometimes found in the mouth of an adult male. How the fish manages to feed itself without swallowing its young is a mystery. The grown fish is about seven inches long and one and three-quarters wide. Its back is olive green, shot with blue, and the belly is silver white, marked with green and blue.

Reason For Complaint.

"I keep the best bread," said a certain baker the other day to a poor fellow who complained of the inferior quality of the article he had purchased of him the day before.

"I do not doubt it," replied the customer.

"Then why do you complain?" asked the baker.

"Because I would suggest that you sell the best bread and keep the bad." was the reply.—Pittsburgh Telegraph.

Some Evidence.

"You say that preparation will make the hair grow?" asked the thin haired man of the druggist.

"Why, say," came from the drug man, "I know a customer who took the cork out of a bottle of that stuff with his teeth, and now he's got a hair lip."—Yonkers Statesman.

Double Action Waterfall.

There are a good many salt water cataracts in existence. They may be found in Norway, southern Chile and British Columbia, where narrow fiords, or arms of the sea, are obstructed by barriers of rock. The rising tide flows over the filters through such reefs into the great natural reservoirs beyond, but the water is held back at the ebb until it breaks over the obstruction in an irresistible torrent. Most curious of all is the waterfall at Canoe passage, where the island of Vancouver approaches the British Columbia main land. Here the floodtide from the gulf of Georgia to the southward is held back at a narrow cleft between two islands until it pours over in a boiling cascade eighteen feet high with perhaps double the volume of the Rhine. At the turn of the tide, however, the waters from the north rush back into the gulf, producing a cascade of equal height and volume. The waterfall actually flows both ways.—Baltimore Sun.

A PERFECT DAY

The high price of gasoline did not keep many people home Sunday. The day was perfect and every conceivable motive power was used to get out and to see the wonderful transformation which the warm weather of spring was making. Every country road leading out of Tecumseh saw its share of autos and rigs.

The lakes attracted many. The young mens club left in a body Sunday morning for Wamplers Lake where a dinner at the hotel was prepared for them at noon.

Those who did get out were not disappointed for nature had worked a miracle during the night, the trees were green with leaves, the fruit trees were heavy with fragrant blossoms and flowers were everywhere to be seen

Those who could not ride were out a foot. The Quaker Mill pond, the Globe Mill pond and the walk around to the Standish pond all had a host of visitors. The cemetery was beautiful with the wealth of flowers that were scattered over the graves by loving hands. Everywhere people were rejoicing in the brightness of this perfect spring day.

Through grief and sadness filled the heart of those who were called upon to lay their loved ones away, yet even that cloud had its silver lining for this day only foreshadowed the glorious everlasting day, into which their loved passed.

83 YEARS YOUNG

Honoring her father, Minor Davidson's birthday Sunday, Mrs Daniel Hall entertained a family party with a turkey dinner. There were four generations present; grandpa Davidson, grandma Hall, mother Mrs. Clare Beland and her children Eunice Neoma and Clarles Clare. Guy Davidson of Detroit was also a guest.

Monday evening about 30 of the neighbors and friends gave him a surprise, coming with congratulations and best wishes. Light refreshments were served and a very pleasant time was passed with their honored friend.

British Red Tape.

An English officer who had been, through mistake, reported "killed in action," on his return from the front went to his bank to cash one of his checks. The clerk at the counter, instead of asking the welcome question, "How will you take it?" looked doubtful and puzzled, stared at the soldier and finally hurried away to seek advice elsewhere. He presently returned with the news that the check could not be cashed. "But you know me, and that is my signature!" exclaimed the astonished officer. "M—yes," said the clerk hesitatingly, "but the fact is, sir, that you're—you're dead, you see, and I'm told we shall require you to give proof to the contrary before we can pay the money."

The Eyes of the Musk Ox.

The skull of the bull musk ox is remarkable for the development of the eye orbits, which project sufficiently beyond the plane of the frontal bones to compensate for the interruption the horns would otherwise make in the range of vision. The musk ox, however, does not seem to rely greatly on keenness of sight, far less on acuteness of hearing, for the ears are of small dimensions and are completely covered by the heavy growth of fur about them. The organs of scent are evidently more highly developed, and they exact of the hunter his greatest cunning.

Mind Reading.

"Do you think there is any such thing as mind reading?" asked the eminent diplomat.

"Oh, yes!" replied Miss Cayenne. "If I pay very close attention to what you say and analyze it carefully I often fancy I get a glimmer of what you are thinking about."—Washington Star.

Modern Affliction.

"Doctor, what shall I do to stop this constant ringing in my ears?"

"Better have your telephone taken out."—Baltimore American.

MOTHER'S DAY PROCLAMATION.

By the Governor.

During the last fifty years the American home has undergone little less than a revolution. Science and invention have wrought marvelous changes in our economic and industrial conditions. Some of these changes have a tendency to destroy the unity of home interests. Time and distance have been annihilated. Home permanence has in a large measure been destroyed. The responsibilities of the mother have been increased. She finds it impossible to keep her flock together; she finds her task of inspiring and directing her children more and more difficult. She must, therefore, do her greatest work when her children are, "little tots" when they are most responsive to the tenderest and wisest suggestions. American mothers recognize this necessity, and are making holy sacrifices to this end.

The mother's of every country are more important than armies and munitions of war. The mothers are the source of civilization. To our mothers we owe our patriotism, our religion, our holiest aspirations. It is especially fitting in the year nineteen sixteen that we pay tribute to the "Mothers of America" Let the boys and girls and the "grown-ups," who are away from home on Mother's Day, write a letter of gratitude to Mother. "Let those who are home meet Mother with a smile, a kiss and a handful of flowers. Recite to her the prayer she taught you at the bedside."

Therefore, I, Woodbridge N. Ferris, ask that the people of Michigan set apart the second Sunday in May (the 14th) as Mother's Day. In obedience to a Resolution by the United States Congress, I ask the people of Michigan to display on this day the United States flag on all government and public buildings, at their homes or other suitable places, 'as a public expression of their love and reverence for the Mothers of our country." As far as possible let parents in their homes and both young and old in public meetings discuss the theme of "Mother with that enthusiasm and sincerity which characterizes all loyal Americans.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this third day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixteen, and of the Commonwealth the eightieth.

ATTEMPT TO STEAL AUTO FRUSTRATED BY ELMER SLAYTON OF ADRIAN.

Saturday night Elmer Slayton heard some one tampering with his auto which was standing in front of his house 19 North Winter St., and going to the door he discovered four men in the act of making way with the machine. His sudden appearance started the men and the driver killed the engine. The men started to attack Mr. Slayton and knocked him down cutting a gash over one eye, and otherwise bruising him.

They then started on a run The sheriff was at once notified and with his aides later captured the four men who were all working in the city but came from Ft. Wayne, Ind. They were lodged in jail awaiting arrangement before the Court

Elmer was in town Monday evening with a large patch over his right eye. By some freak of good luck he removed his eye glasses as he went to the door, had it not been for that he surely would have lost an eye as the cut was so low.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. WIT AND WISDOM

The Wit and Wisdom club held a most delightful meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rosacrans Monday evening. There was a large attendance, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Slayton of Adrian, old members of the club were the out of town guests. [illegible] business meeting the program was opened with an instrumental duet by Mrs. F. S. Turner and Mrs. Ella Hodges.

Dr. North then gave a very interesting talk on his trip to Cuba, and showed several canes made from the native woods of htat country. He carried his audience with him as he visited the various points of interest.

Miss Edna Taylor gave a very pleasing vocal solo and responded to an encore, Miss Camilla Hayden accompanied her on the piano.

Chas. Slayton, who has just returned from his trip to California was called upon and after a few introductory remarks, read a few selections from the Daily Doings published in Los Angeles which were very amusing.

Ernest Church followed with a vocal solo and was heartily encored responding in a very pleasing manner.

Rev. W. A. Rex was called upon for a recitation and proved himself a fine elocutionist.

A few preparatory stunts for our coming sports days were then pulled off to the great amusement of the onlookers.

After the serving of light refreshments, Miss Alice Wimple chairman of the nominating committee made the announcement of the officers for the ensuing year:—

President—F. J. Temple
Vice-president—Mrs. A. Waring
Secretary—Miss Nannie Kyle
Treasurer—F. S. Temple.

As the guests departed to their several homes, it was with the feeling that the evening had been a pleasure to all.

A MAY ENTERTAINMENT

First Presbyterian Church, Friday Evening, May 5th.

At the close of the Best Series of Concerts given at the Presbyterian church it was announced that an extra concert composed of local talent would be added to their course and as announced the concert was given last Friday evening. This entertainment was given gratis to those holding course tickets and was a big success.

The program was as follows:

Piano Solo—"Souvenir" Franv Drdla
Burton Garlinghouse
Reading—Scene from "Hamlet"
Wm. A. Rex
Violin—"Fantaisie" (Il Trovatore) Alard
Duaine Service
Solo—"A Birthday" Woodman

Tte program was a delight to all who heard it and we heard many say that they enjoyed it the most of any of the series. Certainly our home people were at their best and as always, we were exceedingly glad to hear our talented musician, J. D. Service. He handled the difficult selections with the touch of a professional.

Rev. Rex made his appearance under difficulty as he was suffering with a severe throat trouble and, although very hoarse, delighted his audience with two readings.

The Baby show proved an interesting number. Twenty-five baby pictures, all home grown were shown andthose present had the opportunity of voting for their favorite. The prize going to Majel Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Jones.

Home pictures which were shown recently at the Opera house were thrown on the screen which created much merriment. The playlet given at the Monday Club banquet was repeated for the closing number.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knight of Jackson spent Sunday with their daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bryan.

Ed. T. Smith and family are now living in the Chilson house, corner of Kilbuck and VanBuren streets, just vacated by J. K. Waldron and family.

CLEAN UP YOUR PROPERTY.

Most of the papers throughout the state and nation have been running "Clean-up-week" features or have been urging upon the people the necessity of cleaning up.

Here in Tecumseh our people take great pride in keeping up the appearance of their property, but still there is a good deal of work that ought to be done along this line. Most everyone in the spring of the year finds his back yard with a good sized ash pile, including tin cans and more or less rubbish. This should carted off and the ground raked up to give the yard a neat appearance.

Vacant lots, unless attended to by someone, detract wonderfully and make it discouraging for the neighbor who keeps his property up.

Flowering bushes, plants flowers, etc. add much to the appearance of your property and help to make your town more beautiful.

Let us not be behind our neighbors but let each one do his or her part in cleaning up and taking care of his property. The spring of each year is the time to do this work and if each one will do his part, wonders will be worked out for Tecumseh.

The annual meeting of the W. F. M. S. of the M. E. Church was held Sunday morning. Mrs Gordan Gage Corresponding Secretary of the West Detroit District made the address. Over $20.00 as received as a thank offering.

Quite a number of our school teachers will sever their connection at the close of the year, among whom are H O. McLaughlin, Misses Genevieve Halladay, Helen S. Pavey, Ethe Parker and Ruth Kelley. Each one has a position elsewhere to teach for the coming year.

Copper Came From Cyprus.

The word copper is generally admitted to be derived from Cyprus, as it was from that island that the ancient Romans first procured their supplies. In those remote days Cyprus and Rhodes were the great copper producing districts.

The test of a lover is not how many he has loved, but how well; the test of a philanthropist is not how well he has loved, but how many.—Alice Wellington Rollins.

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGINQ

But Not So Bad If You Know How to Reach the Cause.

Nothing more discouraging than a constant bachache. Lame when you awaken, pains peirceyou when you bend or lift. It's handsto work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys. Tecumseh people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this case:

W. C. Witherell, W. Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I had acute pains across the small of my back and in my hips. Often, after stooping, a sharp twinge darted through my loins, obliging me to lie down. I was laid up in bed for several days and I believe that the trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Wrights & Son's Drug store and a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken Doan,s Kidney Pills and the results have been very pleasing.

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S.

After a lapse of more than five years, Mr. Witherell said: "I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pils, which I expressed some years ago."

Price 50c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pils—the same that Mr. Witherellhas twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

Old Time Witchcraft.

Jane Wenham was indicted at the Hertfordshire assizes on March 4, 1712, for "conversing with the devil in the form of a cat," under the provisions of the act of 1604, repealed in 1736. Her prosecutors wished to have her also indicted for practicing witchcraft to the harm of Ann Thorn, a servant girl sixteen years old, but this was not allowed, although evidence was produced at the trial to show what injury had been done the victim by means of crooked pins and by placing cakes and cats' hair in Ann Thorn's pillow and how the prisoner had caused the death of some cattle simply by walking through a turnip field.

The jury brought her in "guilty," and Justice Powell passed sentence of death, but took steps to quash the verdict. Wenham's prosecutors published an account of the case, but their arguments were pulverized by scientific men. Jane Wenham herself was liberated and taken under the protection of Colonel Plummer, who gave her a cottage, and we are told by Dr. Hutchinson that in 1720 the whole country was fully convinced of her innocence.—London Spectator.

Kings and Shaving.

The classic case of a king who knew better than to let anybody else shave him is that of Dionysius the elder, tyrant of Syracuse, who appears to have been unable to shave himself, for he is said to have resorted to the uncomfortable device of singeing off his beard with hot walnut shells, says the London Chronicle. We may suspect that Napoleon's was another case of the kind. Rogers asked Talleyrand whether Napoleon shaved himself. "Yes," replied Talleyrand; "one born to be a king has some one to shave him, but they who acquire kingdoms shave themselves." That way of putting it pleasantly emphasizes the practical superiority of the parvenu to the helpless, spoiled child of heredity, but prudence probably entered into the matter also, if Talleyrand's statement was correct.

Part Often Overlooked.

"It is all right to pat yourself on the back occasionally," said the dispenser of sage advice.

"Yes?" said the player up.

"But don't forget to call yourself down when you need it, my boy."—Pittsburgh Post.

Superstitions About Fowls.

Diviners of East Africa perform divination by killing a fowl and sprinkling its blood on or near the threshold, "a practice most frequently observed when a chief has fallen seriously ill." It is a far cry from Uganda to the shores of Scotland, but here is an incident that runs the Uganda custom close enough, surely. In a certain place which does not consider itself less enlightened than similar communities of its size a friend was one day suddenly asked by a woman, a neighbor (whose son, a young lad, had fallen down in a fit), to run for a doctor. This he promptly did, and, returning before the arrival of the doctor, was pleased to see the lad had come to in the interval, and said so to the mother. "Yes," she replied, "but what a pity we hadn't a live cock to bury in the garden." Not only so, but my friend, on expressing his surprise to another party, was shown a garden quite close where a live fowl had been buried on a precisely similar occasion, thus testifying to a more general belief in the efficacy of such a charm than could be imagined.—London Tit-Bits.

Meant Well, But—

Viscount French of Ypres often tells an amusing story about a French review that he attended a good many years ago.

General French, as he then was, attended the men's dinner in camp one day, and as he puffed on his cigar he noticed that 300 young Frenchmen had nothing to smoke whatever.

Accordingly he sent to his tent for three boxes of Havanas, and these were quickly distributed among the troops, a rare treat truly. To show their gratitude the soldiers without consulting their sergeants lined up in two files, marched toward the English general, and, raising their right hands to their caps and holding their lighted cigars in their left hands, they shouted as with one voice:

"Vive la Russe!"

They had mistaken the uniform.—Washington Star.

The Price of Eloquence.

The auctioneer held up a battered fiddle.

"What am I offered for this antique violin?" he pathetically inquired. "Look it over. See the blurred finger marks of remorseless time. Note the stains of the hurrying years. To the merry notes of this fine old instrument the brocaded dames of fair France may have danced the minuet in glittering Versailles. Perhaps the vestal virgins marched to its stirring rhythms in the feasts of Lupercalia. Ha! It bears an abrasion—perhaps a touch of fire. Why, this may have been the very fiddle on which Nero played when Rome burned."

Sailing Orders.

"What's that sheet there?" asked the sick sailor.

"That," explained the nurse, "is your chart."

"So? Well, what's the next port I make after quinine? I don't like that stop."—Kansas City Journal.

Madeira.

Conchologists hold that the finding of certain land snails on the island of Madeira, known to exist or to have affinities in no other place in the world except Europe, is sufficient proof that Madeira was at one time connected with the mainland.

Origin of the Letter V.

The letter V may be regarded as the mutilated remains of one of the symbols used by the ancient Egyptians in their hieroglyphics or picture writing. A common animal in their country was the two horned sandviper, a representation of which stood for V. The priests ultimately found that for the practical purposes of everyday life it was a waste of time to use elaborate hieroglyphics and invented a kind of short hand to meet the occasion. In this the snake was reduced to a V with a dash (V—) to represent horns and body. The Phoenicians adopted this letter, and from them we get our V by loss of the dash, leaving only the two little horns of the original picture. This snake is still common in Egypt and is probably the one mentioned in Genesis xlix, 17, "Dan shall be a serpent by the way, an adder in the path, that biteth the horse heels, so that his rider shall fall backward." Travelers tell us that it is still addicted to this unpleasant habit.

Music of the Church.

Nothing is plainer than the seemingly hopeless decadence of the music of the church as compared with modern possibilities and realities of musical art today. It is now some 200 years since the spirit of music left the church—since the church could hold and spiritually feed a great composer as it had done in the preceding centuries. The spirit of music, emancipated from the materialistic and puritanical influences which overtook established religion brought forth the great modern art of music, with Beethoven as its leader says Musical America. What has happened to that art at the hands of composers less lofty and less spiritually minded than he the world knows only too well, especially of late. The divorce has become almost complete Not only has music, in its greatest powers, forsaken the forms of the church; latterly it has departed from spiritual vision and aspiration within its own artistic province.

Factors That Determine Salaries.

In the Woman's Home Companion a successful business man says that salaries are fixed by the amount and quality of work that a man can deliver "Pull," in his opinion, is a negligible factor in the business world.

"And that applies to the man who is getting $30,000 a year just as truly as it does to the man who is getting $30 a month. The only way that I can be paid more money than I am getting is by delivering more work to my company than I am now delivering or by showing my company how to save more money and so have a larger profit at the end of the year."

The Game of Life.

Life becomes, as the stoics more than once tell us, like a play which is acted or a game played with counters. Viewed from the outside, these counters are valueless, but to those engaged in the game their importance is paramount. What really and ultimately matters is that the game shall be played as it should be played. God the eternal dramatist, has cast you for some part in his drama and hands you the role. It may turn out that you are cast for a triumphant king. It may be for a slave who dies of torture. What does that matter to the good actor? He can play either part. His only business is to accept the role given him and to perform it well. * * * Success or failure is a thing he can determine without stirring a hand. It hardly interests him. What interests him is that one thing which he cannot determine—the action of your free and conscious will.—Gilbert Murray.

How She Was Named.

A little colored girl, a newcomer in Sunday school, gave her name to the teacher as "Fertilizer Johnson." Later the teacher asked the child's mother if that was right.

"Yes, ma'am, dat's her name," said the fond parent. "You see, she was named for me and her father. Her father's name am Ferdinand, and my name is Liza. So we named her Fertilizer."—Boston Transcript.

A Hungarian Barbizon.

All that is most vital and interesting in present day Hungarian art is directly or indirectly traceable to the activities set in motion at Nagybanya, a beautifully situated little town in eastern Hungary. Here, under the inspiring leadership of Simon Hollosy, a group of the most progressive artists were united by kindred aims. They reaffirmed the gospel of light and air triumphantly enunciated by Monet and Manet; they introduced into Hungarian art a fresh and vigorous note of realism that liberated personal and racial traits of character. "Nagybanya became the Hungarian Barbizon in the sense that here art returned to nature and was purified." With this return to nature came a revival of interest in their long neglected peasant art, and thenceforth naturalism developed hand in hand with a marked tendency toward decoration that found its inspiration in the oldest traditions of the race After many and diverse wanderings Hungarian art came back to its own and was rejuvenated.—J. Nilson Laurvik in Century.

Her Suggestion.

In the American Magazine a woman tells of a suggestion she made as the result of a butcher's indifference.

"I don't wish to complain about your service," she stated to the manager, "but I should like to tell you how to improve it—at least in my town."

The manager smiled in a wearied sort of way and resignedly asked. "Well?"

"Tell your butcher at Blank to extend the same courtesies to a woman who makes a twenty cent purchase of pork chops that he does to one who buys a two dollar leg of lamb. Your man is a good butcher, but he is hurting trade by humiliating your poorer customers. His method of obtaining big sales will result in no sales."

The manager, to her surprise, jumped up and grasped her by the hand "Thank you," he said, "for the sanest criticism that has come to me for weeks." And he gave her a good job then and there.

Birds as Oracles.

A most remarkable superstition of the Kenyahs of Borneo is the consultation of birds. If, for example, a Kenyah has to undertake a long journey he will not risk it without having first consulted the "flakki," a kind of hawk. If the hawk flies with its wings spread out to the right side it is a good sign, but if it goes to the left or flaps its wings then the journey is not begun in any circumstances. The next day the Kenyah tries once more until the hawk gives the sign which he wants. Thus the continuation of the journey depends on the flight of the birds. Some birds are of greater importance than others, and also to the singing of the birds attention is given. Other animals are also consulted, and the sea Dyaks call every animal a "bird" when they consult it.

Phonograph Records.

Phonograph records are made by the cutting of lines in wax, from which a matrix is then formed for the manufacture of the records for use. Edison found that this matrix could be made by gold plating the wax impression and backing up the film of gold with copper. A special wax is used, made of stearin and paraffin, and when the record is originally made on the wax it is electrotyped with copper and nickel to give it a hard wearing surface. The actual records used on the phonographs are made from the matrix of shellac, wood charcoal, barium sulphate and earth coloring matters the matrix is heated and placed in the warm plastic material, where it is pressed and cooled. Records are made by the various phonograph manufacturers.

One of Garrick's Reforms.

It was Garrick who first struck a blow at the custom of allowing members of the audience upon the stage, a practice which at Lincoln's Inn theater, in London, in 1721, led to a most dangerous disturbance, only quelled by calling out the military. In October, 1747, a Drury Lane playbill had the following appended notice: "As the admittance of persons behind the scenes has occasioned a general complaint, on account of the frequent interruption in the performance, it is hoped that gentlemen won't be offended that no money will be taken there for the future."

Matrimonial Considerations.

"Why do you object to my marrying your daughter?"

"Because you can't support her in the style to which she has been accustomed all her life."

"How do you know I can't? I can start her on bread and milk, same as you did."—Chicago News.

Real Troubles.

"Does it require great mental effort to be a photographer?"

"Yes, indeed," replied Mr. Snappum, "You have to sit up nights learning funny stories to tell customers in order to make 'em smile and look natural."—Chicago News.

Paradox.

"There is only one way that people can live happily—that's together."

"Yes, and there is only one way that people can live at peace—and that's apart."—Judge.

He Removed the Danger Signal

Frank W. Sherman, Laconia, N. Y., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble, had a tired feeling in my back, did not have any ambition and felt all tired out. I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered and have had no return of my painful symptoms."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

Foley Kidney Pills get right at the source of trouble. They invigorate the kidneys to healthy action and when the kidneys properly perform their functions the poisonous waste matter is eliminated from the system.

WILSON'S NOTE WARNS KAISER

Break Is Promised If Germans Fail to Keep Compact.

TEUTONIC CRISIS IS REVIVED

President Puts "Absolute Responsibility" for a Break Up to Imperial Government—Accepts Pledge of Lawful Subsea Warfare, but Rejects Condition of Making Britain Obey Sea Laws.

WASHINGTON. — President Wilson in a formal note dispatched to Berlin has accepted as meeting his demand the announced change in Germany's submarine policy.

Coupled with this acceptance is a veiled threat that diplomatic relations will be severed unless the new orders issued by the German admiralty are scrupulously observed.

Spurns German Plan.

The president further notifies Germany that this government will not for a moment entertain, much less discuss, the suggestion that respect by German naval authorities for American rights upon the high seas should "in any way or in the slightest degree" be made contingent upon the conduct of any other government affecting the rights of neutrals and noncombatants.

The president's reply absolutely commits the United States to a rupture of diplomatic relations should German commanders exceed the limitations of the recognized rules of international law admitted and declared by their government.

The Note.

Following is the text of the note cabled by Secretary Lansing to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, with instructions to deliver it to the German minister of foreign affairs:

"The note of the imperial German government under date of May 4, 1916, has received careful consideration by the government of the United States. It is especially noted, as indicating the purpose of the imperial government as to the future that it 'is prepared to do its utmost to confine the operation of the war for the rest of its duration to the fighting forces o fthe belligerents,' and that it is determined to impose upon all its commanders at sea the limitations of the recognized rules of international law upon which the government of the United States has insisted.

Accepts Proposal as Absolute.

"Throughout the months which have elapsed since the imperial government announced on Feb. 4, 1915, its submarine policy, now happily abandoned, the government of the United States has been constantly guided and restrained by motives of friendship in its patient efforts to bring to an amicable settlement the critical question arising from that policy. Accepting the imperial government's declaration of its abandonment of the policy which has so seriously menaced the good relations betwen the two countries, the government of the United States will rely upon a scrupulous execution henceforth of the now altered policy of the imperial government such as will remove the principal danger to any interruption of the good relations existing between the United States and Germany.

"The government of the United States feels it necessary to state that it takes it for granted that imperial German government does not intend to imply that the maintenance of its newly announced policy is in any way contingent upon the course or result of diplomatic negotiations between the government of the United States and any other belligerent government, notwithstanding the fact that certain passages in the imperial government's note of the 4th instant might appear to be susceptible of that construction.

Can't Discuss British Relations.

"In order, however, to avoid any possible misunderstanding the government of the United States notifies the imperial government that it cannot for a moment entertain, much less discuss, a suggestion that respect by German naval authorities for the rights of citizens of the United States upon the high seas should in any way or in the slightest degree be made contingent upon the conduct of any other government affecting the rights of neutrals and noncombatants. Responsibility in such matters is single, not joint; absolute, not relative."

35 YEARS AGO

May 12, 1881

The Howe Scale Co. has purchased the property of John F. Hicks for $5000.

No place of its size can show so many fine streets and neat lawns as Tecumseh.

Wolcott and Temple sold to James Colvin of Raisin 100,000 shingles one day this week.

The village marshal has ordered all defective sidewalks in town to be rebuilt or repaired within twenty days.

Mrs. J. D. Robbins and daughter departed yesterday morning to take up their residence in Cleveland where Mr. Robbins is located.

H. W. Stevens was in Cincinnati last week and bought a car load of buggies to be shipped to his agent W. S. Pennington at Petoskey, Mich.

Slayton & Son have just received one of the Columbus Buggy Co.'s carriages. If you would like to see a fine job call at their warehouse.

Last Monday evening was one that is seldom equalled in this climate for beauty. The air was of the moist agreeable temperature and the most agreeable temperature and the moon cast a reflection upon the blooming trees that made them picturesque in the extreme—It reminded us of the time "When we were in Europe enjoying the beauty of the Italian scenery." Ahem.

Leg Broken

Tuesday afternoon as Rudolph Heesen was drawing a load of rubbish from the yard to a dumping place on the Raisin river bridge going up the hill the horse broke both of the tugs and the wagon run down hill backward, thus sending Dolph who was holding onto the lines, over the dashboard. As he fell his right leg struck one of the shafts, breaking the bone between the ankle and knee comqletely in twwo. He sent a boy to the stave factory for help. Wm. Brown came and placed him on a cushion in the wagon.

Dr. Woodward was hunting in came to the scene of the accident and soon set the bone before the flesh had swollen. Dolph was then taken home, the bone being set so soon will probably knit much sooner and cause less pain.

Real Estate transfer Mrs. Louise Redding to James H. Potter land in Tecumseh, $800.

Looking over the market report we find they were paying 17 and 18c a lb. for butter, 10c. a dozen for eggs 45 and 50c a bushel for shelled corn 10c a lb. for dressed chickens, and other things in proportion.

CAN'T TALK

But Would Like to tell His Experiences.

If Michigan horses could talk, some might say to their owners what Chauncey Botton's (of Chittenango, N. Y.) horse would say, if it could speak, namely, that a simple liniment "removed some mighty bad galls." And thousands of other grateful animals all over the world could testify that Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh often cures when all other liniments have failed. It's good for human wounds, burns, etc., too. TECUMSEH LADY HONORED.

By World-Equitable Motion Pictures Corporation.

The Beauty and Brain Contest, a nation wide enterprise, which, under the guidance of the World-Equitable Motion Pictures Corporation has been running for the past eight months in the Photoplay Magazine is drawing to a close. Lillian Russell, one of the judges, has made the first selection.

Imogene VanDoren, of Tecumseh, one of the original candidates, was selected by Miss Lillian Russell and is one of the hundred who will enter the final elimination. The elimination is now going foward to select the eleven successful candidates.

Imogene VanDoren, when the contest originated, was prevailed upon to send her photograph with the result that when the eight thousand likenesses were gone over she was selected as one of the hundred most likely film subjects by Lillian Russell. The contest called for an equal amount of brains and beauty. It was essential for the candidate to write a letter in her own hand-writing, stating her reasons for desiring to become a film actress. The applicants, or candidates, were then grouped as to the section of the country in which they lived and two candidates from five different sections will be finally chosen. Lillian Russell, Sophie Irene Loeb, noted New York society writer, William A. Brady, the famous theatrical manager, and Arthur H. Spiegel, President of the World Film and Equitable Corporation are the judges There will be ten winning candidates from the United States and one from Canada. The eleven successful young ladies will be taken to New York, a month will be devoted to teaching the value of various dramatic angles, and then those who show proper interest and sufficient ability, will become permanent members of the World and Equitable stock companies, and at goodly salaries appear in films.

Lectures theatre parties, studio lessons and a number of events are carded for the successful candidates and it is very likely that Imogene home of Tribou LeBaron Tuesday evful entrants.

The winning candidates will be announced throughout the country early in June.

WILSON DEFENDS BRANDEIS

President Sharply Criticises Opposition to High Court Nominee.

WASHINGTON. — President Wilson's letter giving his reasons for nominating Louis D. Brandeis for the supreme court and urging confirmation was read to the senate judiciary committee by Chairman Culberson but no vote was taken as had been expected and no time was fixed for one.

President Wilson characterized the charges against his nominee as "intrinsically incredible to any one who really knows Mr. Brandeis," and said that they "proceeded for the most part from those who hated Mr. Brandeis because he had refused to be serviceable to them in promotion of their own selfish interests, and from those whom they had prejudiced and misled." The president added that the "propaganda in this matter has been very extraordinary and very distressing to those who love fairness and value the dignity of the great professions."

FRENCH WIN BACK THEIR LOST LINES

Paris Announces Recapture of Trenches at Hill 304.

LONDON. — The battle for Verdun, both east and west of the Meuse, in which the Germans struck a staggering blow at the French, has again shifted in favor of the latter. Furious counter-attacks drove the Germans from their newly won positions between Hill 304 and Dead Man and recovered for the French the lost ground south of Haudremont, north of Verdun.

This report from Paris, however, is not substantiated by the Berlin official statement, which indicates that the great new German offensive is generally successful, but the German statements are issued a day later than those of Paris, and the offensive referred to by Berlin was admitted in the French statement of the day before. Berlin claims an advance to the summit of Hill 304 and the capture of 1,320 officers and men, with the repulse of violent French attacks and the capture of 300 more east of the river. Berlin estimates that 800,000 Freshmen are now employed at Verdun in opposing 300,000 Germans.

PROGRESS TOWARD BAGDAD

Petrograd Reports Russians Drowning Nearer to Mesopotamian Plain.

PETROGRAD. — According to recent news from the Russian expedition aiming at Bagdad, the Russians, after being held for some time, have again scored a success against the Turks defending the mountain paths betwen Kerind and Hanikin, and, having occupied Serinal-Kerind, are drawing nearer the Mesopotamian frontier.

The attainment of Hanikin, it has been pointed out by militar authorities here, would give the Russians access to the rear of the Turkish Bagdad army, the expected plan being for Russia to strike north of Bagdad in an effort to cut the railway and sever the only important line of communication over which the Turkish army in the Bagdad region is being supplied.

BRITISH LINER WITH WAR STORES SINKING

Cymric, White Star Steamer, Lost in Atlantic.

LONDON, ENG.—The White Star liner Cymric, carrying from New York to Liverpool, with a crew of about 100 officers and men, is sinking in the Atlantic, according to authoratative information received here.

German submarines are reported to have marked for sinking the Cymric as well as other British liners which have been carrying munitions from New York to Liverpool.

The Cymric sailed on April 29 from New York for Liverpool.

The Cymric has been in the service of the British government for some tim. She had on board no passengers on her last trip.

The Cymric is a steel twin screw steamer built in 1898 at Glasgow and displaces 13,370 tons. She carries three decks and is 585 feet long with a beam of sixty-four feet and a depth of about forty feet. She was registered at the port of Liverpool.

Buy an Up-To-Date Low Corn King Spreader

PLEASE note that in the Low Corn King the box is narrow—only 45 inches in width. The Low Corn King can be driven into a modern barn and loaded directly from the stable. That saves work.

The spread is eight feet or wider. That shortens the unloading time. The manure is thrown well beyond the wheels. That enables the driver to match up the edges of his strips without driving on manure-covered ground. You know what a big advantage that is.

The manure gets two thorough beatings. It lands on the ground in a finely-pulverized condition. The soil immediately takes up the fertilizing properties. There is no loss or waste of valuable fertilizing material.

FLORENCE E. MARTIN
THE INCOMPARABLE "PEG"
IN OLIVER MOROSCO'S
GREAT COMEDY
PEG O'MY HEART

Miss Martin and the city cast and production of "Peg O' My Heartt" that played the Garrick Theatre. in Detroit, in September, will be at tee Bradley Opera House next week Friday, May 19, Easily one of the very best attractions and companies ever playing in Tecumseh. Well worthy of the patronage of the best people in this vicinity.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

The farewell engagement of the popular comedy, "Peg O' My Heart" which comes to the Bradley Opera house, next week Friday May 19 will be a theatrical event of exceptional interest, revealing as it does one of the most popular and successful comedies ever presented on the local stage. Despite the fact that it is now its third year in this country, its drawing powers show no sign of waning. In sending it on its present tour Manager Oliver Morosco has provided a corps of principals, which is said to give the best performance the play has ever had. Miss Florence Martin, who played the title role in Boston seven months, and Philadelphia five months, last season has been declared by eastern critics to stand head and shoulders above any other artist that has assayed the role of "Peg" will be sent here with practically the same company that supported her in the long eastern engagements. As for the play itself little need be said, except perhaps a brief sketch of the plot. The story concerns a little Irish girl brought up by her father in poverty and suddenly introduced into a family of aristocratic relatives in England. Her appearance shocks her high born relatives, and her unfamiliarity of ways of the aristocracy, leads to many humorous situations. The play is brimful of clever wit and humor, interwoven with a thread of love and affection. Mr. Morosco has mounted the production in a lavish manner requiring a 60 ft. car to transport the scenery etc. A complete scenic production in every way, and the supporting cast includes Fred L. Tiden, Edmund Dalby, Madeline L. Estrange, Yorke Erskine, Lillian Kemble Cooper and John Pearson.

"We Know That's True, Father—Every Word of It"

You folks in the country know that there is nothing in the world so comfortable and homelike as plenty of good, bright light—and nothing so depressing and gloomy as poor, dim, smoky light.

For years people had to stand the poor light—disagreeable smell and danger of kerosene lamps—because they couldn't get anything better.

But these last few years have so changed living conditions that up-to-date farm families won't be satisfied—any longer—with poor light.

Pilot-Carbide-Outdoor Lighting and Cooking Plants

have totally changed the old fashioned methods of house and barn lighting and cooking in the country home.

Hundreds of thousands of progressive farmers in all parts of the country have taken advantage of this wonderful modern improvement.

They have selected the PILOT because they have been quick to see the value of good light—its safety and the convenience it brings to their homes.

They have selected the PILOT because it gives them not only all the fine, bright, inexpensive light they can use—but cooking fuel as well.

There is no excuse—today—for any family to struggle under the burden of out-of-date old fashioned lighting methods.

Just because your father and grandfather used oil lamps and lanterns is no reason why you should any longer put up with their danger and poor light.

Light the modern way—the safe way—with the PILOT.

The PILOT stands out of doors—on top of the ground—anywhere. It is simple to install, automatic in operation and requires only a few minutes' attention for re-charging at infrequent periods.

Find out today about this modern lighting plant. You owe it to yourself. You owe it to your wife and children. You can well afford the little it will cost.

Write for illustrated catalogs and descriptive booklets giving all the facts.

CRUELLY BURNED

Little Irene VanWinkle Burned This Morning—No Hope,

Ab[illegible]0 o'clock this morning Irene the [illegible]-year-old daughter of Mr and Mrs. Reuben VanWinkle, found some matches and set herself afire. The mother hearing her scream, ran into the room and found the little one in flames. Soon after the flames were extinguished, Dr. Jones reached the scene and did all in his power to alleviate the agony of the little child, but gave no hope of her recovery.

MRS. L. SAVIERS.

Carrie Bills was a resident of Tecumseh from her childhood until the time of her marriage to Col. Lemmel Saviers and has many friends here who will regret to hear of her passing away.

MRS. ROSALIE R. STEWART

At her late home in Pleasant Valley April 26 occurred the death of Mrs. Rosalie R Stewart. Mrs Stewart's maiden name was Read, daughter of the late Ira Read and Ethelinda Gallinghouse, early settlers of this town, where she was born July 11, 1830.

For a number of years she had lived with a sister, Miss Mary Read, a mile from this village, on the Bath road

For sometime her health had been feeble, largely the result of fall. The funeral was held at the home on Thursday last, the Rev. W. F Colclouth officiating. The body was sent to Brighton, Michigan, her former home for interment, The surviving members of the family are Miss Mary Read and Mrs Shaw of Penn Yan.

CASE OF C. BERT SMITH FOR WIFE DESERTION DROPPED.

C. Bert Smith who deserted his wife and family was in court for trial this week. A petition presented by his wife to have the case dropped was considered. Mrs. Smith claimed to have experienced a change of heart, also that she had been over persuaded to make her complaint against her husband by her family. After due deliberation it was decided that Smith must give some security for the future support of his family.

Mr. Smith then filed a bond of $1000 guaranteeing their support and the case was then discontinued.

The Britton boys, Brown and June, who were arrested charged with stealing chickens in Raisin Township were convicted and are awaiting sentence.

FIRES

About 12:30 Wednesday the fire partment was called out by a blaze from the chimney in the shoe department in the People's Store. On investigation it was found that the fire originated from a stove in Truman Croossman's apartments over Miss Chase's Novelty Store. Mr. Palman has no stove in that department and the stove hole in the chimneywas covered.

The firemen used chemicals to extinguish the blaze and the soot which had been accumulating for several years came down into the store ruining over 150 boxes, and quite a number of pairs of shoes. The shelves were a mass of wet soot and can only be made good by a coat of paint. The linoleum on the floor was also in bad shape. Damage in the Crossman room was slight.

With the high wind that was blowing, it was a wonder that the buildings were not set afire. Prompt action by the fire laddies undoubtedly saved Tecumseh from a conflagration.

The fire department was called out early Thursday for a small blaze in an out building belonging to the Century Post Co. The building was destroyed, but no further damage was done.

RIGHT MERRY CLUB

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGING

But Not So Bad If You Know How to Reach the Cause.

Nothing more discouraging than a constant bachache. Lame when you awaken, pains peirce you when you bend or lift. It's hand to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys. Tecumseh people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this case:

W. C. Witherell, W. Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I had acute pains across the small of my back and in my hips. Often, after stooping, a sharp twinge darted through my loins, obliging me to lie down. I was laid up in bed for several days and I believe that the trouble was caused by excessive stooping. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Wrights & Son's Drug store and a few boxes restored me to good health. Since then whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and the results have been very pleasing,

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S.

After a lapse of more than five years, Mr. Witherell said: "I have had no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pils, which I expressed some years ago."

Price 50c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pils—the same that Mr. Witherellhas twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

HOW TO REGULATE HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Take SAN-YAK. It prevents a bone-like harding of the arteries at ages past 50 years. DR. BURNHAM'S SAN-YAK is the sure way to prevent Paralysis and Apoplexy In its use you have prevented or cured kidney and bladder trouble. It is the greatest in use to prevent the clumsy stiff joints and muscles and for Neuritis and rheumatism and constipation. It has no parallel for quality and results.

Geo. Soper, of Quincy, says: He has been an invalid since out of the hospital three years ago. I could scarcely eat or walk. SAN-YAK has made a new man of me. I was broken out so I was not fit to be seen..SAN-YAK has cured the terrible sores in the flesh and I am free from rheumatism for the first time in years. I can do a nice day's work and not lag at the end of the day.

G. F. Walburn, Wabash engineer of Montpelier, O., says: I was saved from a dangerous operation of the bladder by using SAN YAK two years ago. He says he has not an ache or pain from rheumatism, nor lumbago since he took SAN YAK. I have friends who were cured of kidney trouble after their case was diagnosed as hopeless.

Mrs. J. B. Taylor, of Kendallville, says: I had stomach trouble for years. I was dizzy, sick and so weak I could scarcely walk. I was clumsy by swollen limbs. Since taking SAN YAK I am feeling fine. I am 70 years old and can walk a mile with any of the young folks. Before I took SAN YAK if I went any where I had to ride. I have not had a cold for two years. I have recommended SAN YAK to my friends and it is highly praised by all who have used it.

G. W. Sparks,, of Montpelier says: "I took six bottles of SAN YAK about three years ago. I was suffering with great weakness due to kidney and bladder trouble. I am 73 years old and my health is fine since I took the SAN YAK. It is a wonderful regulator for the bowels."

B. J. PULVER, TECUMSEH.

SINCE TAKING PERUNA

I can say my bowels are much more regular.
My heart is stronger.
My appetite is much better.
My throat is much better.

Mrs. William H. Hinchliffe, 20 Myrtle St., Beverly, Mass., writes: "I have taken four bottles of Peruna, and I can say that it has done me a great deal of good for catarrh of the head and throat. I recommend Peruna to all sufferers with catarrh. I do not think I ever felt much better. I am really surprised at the work I can do. I do not think too much praise can be said for Peruna."

Those who object to fluid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

Mr. Went-And-Cut-It —Here's Mr. 'Gets-It'

The New Plan Corn Cure That's as Sure as the Rising Sun.

"Glad to meat you!" says the razor to the corn. "I'll bleed for you!" says the corn to the razor. Razors and corns love each other. Corns love to be cut, picked, gouged, salved, plastered and jerked out,—they grow faster. Mr. and Mrs. Went-and-Cut-It realize it now,—they use "Gets-It" instead—it's the wonderful, simple corn-cure that never fails. Stops pain. You apply it in 2 seconds, it dries at once, the corn is doomed. Nothing to stick to the stocking or press on the corn. It means good-night to plasters, salves, diggers, razors and toe-bundling. You can wear smaller shoes. Your corns will come right off, "clean as a whistle." Never inflames healthy flesh. The world's biggest selling corn cure.

"Why, O Why, Did I Do It? 'Gets-It' for Me After This—If I Live!"

Sold in Tecumseh and recommunded as the world's best corn remedy by B. J. Pulver. adv

Thomas Salkeld, a laborer living at Saginaw, has died from pellagra, the first case known here to the health authorities, and one of the very few reported in Michigan.

The state industrial accident board ruled in a recent decision that deputy sheriffs and policemen do not come under the terms of the workingmen's compensation act.

Martin V. Rork, former M. E. minister, aged eighty years, pioneer resident of Hastings, who had been ill since he returned from the west several months ago, is dead.

Word was received by Bay City friends of the wedding in Chicago of Miss Gertrude Grabowsky, supervisor of music in the public schools of Bay City, and Edwin Simon, of Omaha.

Despondent over ill health, Mrs Bethuel Martin, sixty-five years old, widow of a prominent Jonesville resident, committed suicide in her home by slashing her wrists with a razor.

Section men, shop men, and train men and many others of the interurban running between Grand Rapids, Muskegon and Grand Haven were granted a ten per cent increase in wages.

The authorities of Iron county are investigating the placing of a stick of dynamite on the porch of Justice of the Peace W. D. Van Allen. The deed follows numerous decisions against the dries.

Blaze at Border Fort Arouses Suspicion—Deliberate Attempts to Destroy Buildings at El Paso Post Are Suspected—Bandit Leader Killed and Band is Routed.

Marathon, Tex., May 16.—Mexican bandits, operating on the American side of the Rio Grande, far in the rear of the second punitive expedition, visited McKinney Springs, sixty-seven miles south of here, Friday night, exactly one week after the raid on Glen Springs.

Seven American cowboys at the McKinney Springs ranch on the army line of communication between this point and Boquillas frightened the raiders away in the darkness by opening fire on them.

San Antonio, May 15.—General Funston has [illegible] an investigation of the fires at [illegible]. They were incendiary, it is said, and evidently deliberate attempts to destroy the garrison.

Two stables were burned, according to the official report, and an attempt was made to set fire to an ammunition house.

General Funston is curious to know, it is said, how the incendiaries eluded the pickets and ignited two structures an hour apart.

New Raid Reported.

Another attempted raid on the border has been reported. According to dispatches from Donna, Texas, two automobiles filled with infantrymen and ten mounted troopers, were dispatched hastily from that point toward the border to intercept a band of armed Mexicans, which was reported marching on the little town.

A telephone message from Donna received later said no report had been received from the soldiers nor had there been any disturbance in the vicinity.

Houses Are Burned.

El Paso, Tex., May 15.—Army posts and stations along the border are on their guard against incendiaries following two fires at Fort Bliss here, where flames of unknown origin destroyed a storehouse, three cavalry stables, three horses and some tents. There were machine guns in the storehouse, but they were saved.

It was reported that an attempt was made to set fire to the ammunition house, but this was denied.

Army officers express the opinion that an investigation will disclose the fires could not have been of spontaneous accidental origin.

Two other fires of recent occurrence have been of a suspicious nature. At the field base at Columbus, N. M., about $700 worth of hay was destroyed. Two weeks ago the El Paso Country Club, not far from Firt Bliss, burned to the ground with a loss of $35,000.

Bandit Leader Killed.

Torreon, May 15.—The notorious bandit leader Pedro Cedillo, who has for a long time infested northern Vera Cruz, two officers and fifty or his men have been killed in an engagement with government forces under General Eugenio Lopes at Ciudad del Maiz. Fifty of the outlaws surrendered. General Lopez captured Ciudad del Maiz, and in further skirmishing killed Pedro Cedillo's brother Martin. The fifty captured bandits will be executed. The Carranza losses are few.

The battle with the Cedillos is looked upon as the successful beginning of a campaign that will clear northern Vera Cruz of bandits.

STRIKE AT ARSENAL LOOMS

Union Machinists at Rock Island Serve Notice of Walkout.

Davenport, Ia., May 15.—Union machinists at the Rock Island Arsenal served notice on Colonel George W. Burr, commandant at the arsenal, that beginning next Tuesday, at 10 a. m., they would quit work until their wages were adjusted so that they would be the same as paid in Chicago for similar work, as well as the same as paid in other plants in the tri-cities.

The machinists at the arsenal number about 800 of the 2,000 employes, of whom about 200 are members of the union.

ARTILLERY PLANS SPOILED

All U. S. Batteries to Border—Michigan Men Lose Out on Trip.

Lansing, May 15.—Adjutant General John S. Bersey of the Michigan National Guard received word from the war department that the two batteries of artillery in Lansing would not go to Tobyhanna, Pa., for their summer encampment.

Friday it was announced that owing to the fact that no regular artillery was available for Sparta, Wis., the Lansing artillery would train with the regulars at Tobyhanna. Now it is announced there will be no United State batteries at Pennsylvania, as all available batteries have been rushed to the Mexican border.

POLICEMAN KILLED IN BANDIT BATTLE

Three Youths Arrested and Two Have Confessed.

Detroit, May 15.—One policeman was shot to death, another was severely wounded and several other persons figured in a revolver duel with bandits which culminated with the arrest of three young men.

Patrolman Leland Alexander was killed while pursuing suspected gunmen in an alley on the East Side. Patrolman Cornelius Ryan was wounded early the following morning, after he had come to the rescue of a candy store keeper who was exchanging shots with would-be hold-up men.

Shortly after Ryan was shot, a flying squadron of patrolmen arrested Frank Krupa, eighteen years old; Edward Wartner, ninteen, and Frank Oligschlager, twenty years old. The prisoners were heavily armed, the police said. It also was announced that Krupa and Oligschlager admitted having been present when Alexander was shot.

Many robberies, hold-ups and safe-blowers have taken place in Detroit during the past six weeks.

Is One of Fifteen Survivors.

[illegible] Newlands, formerly of this city, who enlisted in the Forty-eighth Canadian Highlanders, has written to his aunt, Mrs. Arthur V. Harmer, of this city, that he is one of the fifteen survivors of the original company that left Canada more than a year ago. Newlands was a minor officer in the company when it left Canada but he is now quartermaster.

Winship Calls for Sane Fourth.

Lansing, May 15.—State Fire Marshal John T. Winship, in his annual proclamation, urging a "safe and sane Fourth," requests that Independence day be observed for fraternalism, for sane amusement and for the cultivation of public spirit and patriotism, and issues a warning to parents against permitting their children to handle death-dealing explosives.

Couldn't Escape This Sheriff.

Albion, May 15.—Three men, giving Detroit as their home, wanted for the theft of articles from a local rooming house, tried to escape from the city in an automobile, but were overtaken by Deputy Sheriff McCarty after an exciting chase. R. L. Evans confessed to the theft and paid a fine.

GERMANY TO HAVE DICTATOR OF FOOD

Big Cities Fare Badly at Hands of Country.

Berlin, May 15.—The Koelnische Zeitung announces the impending appointment of a "food dictator" to take charge of and control all matters concerning food in the empire.

The newspaper says it is to be assumed that this new "food minister" is to have absolute control of the distribution and prices of all foods, so as to equalize matters and relieve a situation by which at present the large cities are suffering at the expense of the country.

In an editorial the Koelnische Zeitung welcomes the proposed plan. It reiterates that the plan has no connection with the retirement of Clemens Delbrueck, minister of the interior.

Baker for Vice President?

U. S. ARMY TO BE 240,000

House and Senate Conferees Agree on Measure Like Chamberlain Bill.

Washington, May 16.—The United States is to have a regular army of 254,000 men as a result of the agreement reached by the senate and house conferees on the Hay and Chamberlain bill.

The agreement represents a victory for Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, chairman of the senate military affairs committee, and a defeat for Chairman Hay of the house military committee and his organization of "little army" congressman.

BRYAN TREATY BARS ACTION WITH BRITAIN

U. S. Has No Such Obligation With Kaiser's Government.

Washington, May 15—United States is prevented from making effective protests against British sea aggression, officials by the provisions of the Bryan peace treaty.

This announcement from a high official source gave a new significance to the reference to the Bryan treaty made by Secretary Lansing in his recent German submarine note. In that note Lansing answered Germany's suggestion that the United States treat with Great Britain for relief from oppressive features of the blockade by pointing out that the United States had treaty obligations governing settlement of disputes with England. He said also that the United States has no such treaty with Germany.

It was said that if Great Britain invokes the Bryan treaty for settlement of its controversy with the United States no relief can be obtained for a year at the earliest, by which time it is believed the war will have ended.

$1,000,000 FOR RELIEF WORK

Judge Nippert Says This Sum Has Been Raised for East Prussia.

Berlin, May 15.—Judge A. K. Nippert of Cincinnati, vice president of the American relief committee for East Prussia, has arrived in Berlin and will confer with Field Marshal Hindenburg about relief work.

Judge Nippert said that more than $1,000,000 had been raised in the United States for East Prussia. He will remain in Germany for a month, visiting ransacked districts in East Prussia. He said more money would be raised in America at the conclusion of peace.

POINCARE HITS "PEACE" TERMS

French President Attacks Kaiser's Reply to U. S.

"OFFER" NEVER BEEN MADE

Kaiser Must Bow to Terms of Entente, He Declares—Peace Will Come When Germany Is No Longer In Position to Menace World, He Asserts.

Paris, May 15.—The most significant pronouncement made by President Poincare since the beginning of the war was uttered by him at Nancy, the capital of French Lorraine.

Replying to the reference to peace proposals contained in the Kaiser's reply to the American ultimatum, President Poincare, who was addressing a body of Lorraine refugees said:

"The Central Empires, haunted by remorse at having begun this war, and affrighted by the indignation and hatred which they have aroused among human kind, are attempting to make the world believe that the allies alone are responsible for the prolongation of hostilities.

Must Ask for Peace.

"This is ponderous irony that deceives no one. Neither directly nor indirectly have our enemies offered us terms of peace. But we do not want them to ask us for peace. We do not want to submit to their conditions; we want to enforce our own. We do not want a peace that will leave imperial Germany the mistress to begin another war and hang as an eternal menace over Europe; we want a peace that will bring restoration of rights and that [illegible] with it guarantees of equilibrium and stability.

"So long as this peace is not assured to us and so long as our enemies will not admit they are defeated we shall not cease fighting."

Germany [illegible] Discussed.

Discussing the reasons for Germany's acceptance of President Wilson's note, the semi-official Temps says:

"The Kaiser's hopes that President Wilson has been won over by his submission and will act as an intermediary for peace before all is lost. He expects to find American support for his peace proposals and the intrigues Prince von Beulow is weaving at the Vatican."

The most reliable information which has reached us from neutral sources shows that political, financial and commercial circles of Germany and Austria-Hungary are being told that they must expect peace by August at the latest.

GRENADE ATTACK REPELLED

French Assault on Hill 304 Position Fails, Says Berlin.

Berlin, May 15.—The repulse of a French attack with grenades on German positions in the vicinity of Hill 304, on the Verdun front, is announced in official statement.

Paris, May 15.—French positions near Dead Man Hill on the Verdun front were bombarded violently but there was no infantry attack. A German thrust south of Roye was repulsed, official statement says.

Why Do People Come Back?

For one of two reasons—They are either satisfied with the store, and its merchandise or they are not. We like to see both classes come back. If they return completely satisfied it shows that our methods are right, merchandise dependable and service pleasing.

If they are not satisfied, we want to know about it. We'll lose no time in rectifying the error or complaint and we'll leave no stone unturned in order to make the customer feel that he has had the biggest square deal he ever got.

We want to make this store a depository for your good will—will you give us a trial?

DON'T DIE ON THIRD.

For the past several weeks the Board of Commerce and a special Committee have been working to secure a branch of the Jackson Skirt and Novelty Company for Tecumseh.

Representatives of the Jackson Company were in town Monday afternoon going over the matter and things look brighter for the success of the undertaking. All preliminary work has practially been settled, with the exception of a suitable location for the facotry.

About $400.00 has yet to be raised to secure this factory.

The Committee in charge have been working hard to get the necessary funds, and have met with liberal responses from the majority of the business people. There are yet quite a number to be seen. All those who have not subscribed are earnestly requested to do so. Don't let this factory slip through our fingers, as it will be of great value to Tecumseh. It is a growing concern and, if located here, will distribute from $25,000.00 to $40- Won't this be worth while?

This will mean new money flowing into our town, and will be distributed broadcast, and everyone would be helped.

Don't die on third, but let us produce the winning hit, by providing the remaining funds necessary.

True Fish Stories.

The Cichlosama negrofasciatus will fight with the savage tenacity of a bulldog and will leap high out of the water in pursuit of a tantalizing finger.

The walking perch from India will climb out of the aquarium and take a stroll around the floor looking for another pool unless you put a wire over the top of his home.

The shishigashira has a round fat kewpie body topped by a chubby cheeked cherub head, with the tiny eyes, small mouth and nose of a human being. Its coloring is marvelous, and it is considered sacred in Japan.

The angel fish is wider than it is long and has a chameleon-like quality of changing its color at will.

The Indian gouramis has arms with which it feels its way about or inspects anything new in the aquarium.

There are tailless fish and scaleless fish and fish without fins, blue fish, pink fish, lavender fish and particolored red, white and blue fish, but they are all goldfish, especially as to price. —Philadelphia North American.

Abusing a True Friend.

The truest and most devoted friend that man ever had is the little inanimate bundle of nerves that stands guard by his bedside through the dead hours of the night, its palpitating little heart spreading cheer and confidence over the surrounding gloom. Yet man often forgets the debt of gratitude he owes this faithful and tireless little friend for the sleepless, watchful hours it subjects itself to in order that he may slumber in security and comfort, and when it sings its merry morning lay I have seen him, instead of bestowing fond caresses, reach from his warm quilts, grasp it ruthlessly and slam it into the farther and darkest corner of the room, crushing the dainty hands that seemed uplifted in an attitude of horror and protection, scornfully muttering such uncouth and unworthy reproach as "Hang that blinkety-blank alarm clock, anyhow!" then return to his snoring!—Zim in Cartoons Magazine.

Stevenson's Brownies.

Stevenson maintained that much of his work was only partially original. His collaborators were the brownies who ran riot through his brain during the hours of sleep. He instances the case of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." "I had long been trying to write a story on this subject," he writes, "to find a body, a vehicle for that strong sense of man's double being which must at times come in upon and overwhelm the mind of every thinking creature. For two days I went about racking my brains for a plot of any sort, and on the second night I dreamed the scene at the window and a scene afterward split in two, in which Hyde, pursued for some crime, took the powder and underwent the change in the presence of his pursuers. All the rest was made awake and consciously, although I think I can trace in much of it the manner of my brownies."

Lordly Disraeli.

Disraeli once told a woman that two possessions which were indispensable to other people he had always done without. "I made," she said, "every kind of conjecture, but without success, and on my asking him to enlighten me he solemnly answered that they were a watch and an umbrella. 'But how do you manage,' I asked, 'if there happens to be no clock in the room and you want to know the time?' 'I ring for a servant,' was the magniloquent reply. 'Well,' I continued, 'and what about the umbrella? What do you do, for instance, if you are in the park and are caught in a sudden shower?' 'I take refuge,' he replied, with a smile of excessive gallantry, 'under the umbrella of the first pretty woman I meet.'"

A Warning.

"Watch out how you boller fer de worl' ter look up at you when you gits ter de mountain top," said Brother Williams. "Of all time dat's de one time ter lay low, fer de worl' will find you when it gits good an' ready. An' dis other thing is what you got to consider: De minute you bollers old man Trouble locates you an' sets his traps ter trip you an' send you rollin' down ter de bottom, whar you come from!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Your Old Age Pension.

The average man in this country is spending every dollar he earns, and the consequences are he is facing poverty. It is an everyday occurrence to hear of some man who in his younger days had saved money dying penniless in his old age. Ninety per cent of the men of today who have attained the age of sixty-five years are depending for support either upon public charity or their children.

These figures are alarming. Start today to accumulate a fund for old age with a very little self denial. Open an account in a savings bank and deposit regularly every month one-tenth of your salary for ten years, and the result at 4 per cent will be as follows:

Monthly salary.	One-tenth deposited.	Amt. saved with int. in 10 years
$40	$4.00	$589
50	5.00	737
60	6.00	885
75	7.50	1,106
100	10.00	1,475

Through the above saving method you would not be compelled in old age to depend upon public charity or relatives.—V. M. [illegible] in New York World.

A Narrow Escape.

It was the woman's first visit to the cinematograph. For a long time she gazed in silent awe at the wonders of the screen, where all sorts of impossible things took place. She could hardly believe the evidence of her own eyes. These things were real—they were actually happening. She stared with goggling eyes as miracle succeeded miracle.

Then a motorcar appeared on the screen, coming into sight in the distance and racing along a country road at about a mile a minute, straight out of the picture at the audience. Catastrophe seemed inevitable, and she shrank back in her seat. Then, just at the critical moment, it swerved aside and dashed out of sight.

The old woman rose firmly to her feet, ignoring the protests of those behind her. "Come along, Annie," she said to her youthful niece. "It ain't safe here. That thing only missed me by a few inches."—London Answers.

The Accident Map.

On the walls of a room at police headquarters in New York city are large maps of the five boroughs. These maps are covered with many large and small pins of various colors. Each color denotes a particular kind of accident. The large headed pins represent fatal accidents and the small ones minor accidents. For example, a large white headed pin represents a fatal automobile accident, while a small one of the same color represents a similar but not serious accident. In the same manner a large green headed pin indicates a fatal trolley car accident. The map of Manhattan shows that a long stretch of Fifth avenue has an almost continuous line of accidents. The Thirteenth precinct shows a greater number of accidents than any other. This precinct contains Delancey street, with the approach to the Williamsburg bridge and many narrow east side streets.—Safety Engineering.

Seven Wise Men of Greece.

The seven wise men of Greece were Thales of Miletus, Periander of Corinth, Cleobulus of Lyndus, Chilo of Lacedaemon, Solon of Athens, Bias of Priene and Pittacus of Mitylene. Some fishermen of Miletus sold a draft of fishes to a bystander. When the net was drawn in it contained a golden tripod, and the purchaser claimed it was his, while the fishermen contended that they sold only the fish that might be in the net. The dispute was referred to the oracle of the Delphi, who awarded the tripod to the wisest man in Greece. Thereupon it was taken to Thales, who declined it and suggested that it be given to Bias. He in turn refused to accept it, and thus it was successively declined by all the seven, and they were thereafter known as the seven wise men of Greece.

Flower of the Air.

There is a plant in Chile and a similar one in Japan called the "flower of the air." It is so called because it appears to have no root and is never fixed to the earth. It twines around a dry tree or sterile rock. Each shoot produces two or three flowers like a lily—white, transparent and odoriferous. It is capable of being transported 600 to 700 miles and vegetates as it travels suspended on a twig.

A Scene from the delightful comedy "Peg O' My Heart" which comes to the Bradley next Friday night, May 19.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

Of particular interest to local play goers will be the farewell tour of Oliver Morosco's charming comedy "Peg O' My Heart" which comes to the Bradley Opera House, this week Friday, May 19, for in addition to its being one of the most popular plays that has appeared on any stage, it has for its chief player Miss Florence Martin in the charming role of "Peg."

Some people may say that they saw "Peg" when it was presented here before, perhaps they did, but a good thing bears repeating and besides we wish to call your attention to the fact that the company coming here this week is the big city company, the same which played the "Garrick" theatre, Detroit last September and since that time has gone to the Pacific coast and are now on their way back to New York (Mr. Mark has a copy of the San Francisco program for this company which the business manager gave him the other day) Just one incident of the difference in the two companies is the fact that Miss Martin received a salary of $175.00 per week. Some Tecumseh people have already remarked that they didn't see how anyone could play the role of "Peg" any better than Miss Mackeye, who was an almost perfect person for the part but there must be a difference or Morosco. who is considered one of the best men in the "theatrical game" and perhaps has more money invested in that business than any other ten men, certainly would not be paying the difference of $175.00 per week for an actress to play the part.

When "Peg O' My Heart" was first presented in New York, Miss Laurette Taylor played this charming comedy in the "Cort" theatre for two years and broke the record of every woman star the world has ever known. At the same time Miss Taylor was making the New York run, Miss Florence Martin was playing the long Chicago run with "Peg," last year, Miss Martin played an eight month engagement in Boston and it is this same Chicago Boston cast and production complete which is coming to the Bradley Friday night.

Patrons of the Bradley who desire the very best in theatrical offerings will have every wish fulfilled in this engagement of, "Peg O' My Heart" The company asks nothing of the local management in the way of furniture etc as a 60 foot carload of special scenery, lighting effects and furniture is carried by the company complete in fact even the stage carpets and curtains, which gives the production absolutely perfect stage settings.

The seat sale for, "Peg O' My Heart" opens at Hay's Thursday morning Get your seats as early as possible and avoid disappointment. If a town as small as Tecumseh is fortunate enough to have a company of this caliber "right at home" the people should appreciate the fact well enough to see that the attraction receives the support it deserves, nothing but a capacity house should greet "Peg O' My Heart" next Friday night

Luxury In Puritan Days.

At no time, of course, was luxury completely absent from America. Men spend when the purse is full, even though the purse be small. Not all the sumptuary laws of seventeenth century Massachusetts could prevent sober Puritans from launching into extravagance, from purchasing apparel—"wollen, silke or lynnen with lace on it, silver, golde, silke or threed." Even the pious slid back into embroidered doublets with slashed sleeves into "gold or silver girdles, hatt bands, belts, ruffs, beaver hatts," while women of no particular rank appeared in forbidden silk and tiffany hoods. A century later we encounter disapproval of John Hancock's "show of extravagance in living," of his French and English furniture, his dances, dinners, carriages, wine cellars and fine clothes. Washington starved with his soldiers at Valley Forge, but lived like an English gentleman in his home at Mount Vernon. Luxury, pomp, ceremonial were not absent in the eighteenth century.—Walter E. Weyl in Harper's Magazine.

Initiative and Resolution.

Every young man should adopt the I. and R. in his life. That means initiative and resolution. That is, originate something; think up something to do in the world. Don't depend upon others to initiate for you. The world owes no man a living. Every one owes the world a life.

Then there is resolution. That's a man's virtue. It is a man's soul put in action. This sounds like sentiment, but it is solid fact. Half of the social and industrial disasters we experience today in politics, education, commerce and industry is because we practice irresolution and dependence. We will never settle our social and industrial troubles that way. We must think of something else to do, something we can resort to in case of misfortune and disaster. A man should save his earnings and invest them in land, in mine, in shop, in store—something on the outside to take up in times of emergency. —Ohio State Journal.

Dolls as Scapegoats.

The earliest dolls found were the "Answers" of the ancient Egyptians, which were buried with important personages in order that they might fulfill such duties as the rulers of the nether world might impose on the dead dignitary in his next incarnation. The more important the dead the larger the number of dolls buried with him. Even to this day the doll plays its part in the folklore of the banks of the Nile. When the river does not appear to rise properly a doll is thrown into its waters, representing the living virgin or boy who used of old to be thrown in to propitiate the Nile god, and a similar performance takes place on the banks of the Tiber, where a doll made of plaited rushes is used as a substitute for the human victim.—Westminster Gazette.

George Washington's Sobriquets.

Washington was called by many sobriquets. He was first of all "Father of His Country." "Providence left him childless that his country might call him father." Sigourney calls him "Pater Patriae;" Chief Justice Marshall, the "American Fabius." Lord Byron in his "Ode to Napoleon" calls him "the Cincinnatus of the West." For having a new world on his shoulders he was called the "Atlas of America." The English soldiery called him by the sarcastic nickname of "Lovely Georgius." Red Jacket, the Seneca Indian chief, called him the "Flower of the Forest." The Italian poet Vittorio Alfieri called him "Deliverer of America." His bitter opponents sarcastically called him the "Stepfather of His Country" during his presidency.

Premonitory.

THE JUNIORS RECEPTION

Oddfellows Hall was a scene of beauty on Friday evening, when the Juniors of the High School tendered a reception to the Seniors.

The ante rooom was Japanese, lanterns and umbrellas, ferns and palms being used in abundances, the mystic light from the lanterns lending a charm to the scene. The reception hall was in blue and white the Junior colors with penants to harmonize, blue violets the class flowers were every where in evidence. Punch was served in this hall, as the guests were ushered in. The banquet was served in the I. O. O. F. lodge room, which was decorated in green and silver the Senior colors with American Beauty roses the class flower. Green crepe paper was used most charmingly in this decoration strips being draped from ceiling to sidewalls all around the room, and apple blossoms were everywhere.

The table was in T shape decorated in the green and white, small souvenir silver baskets with dainty candies and green cups with after dinner peanuts, were at each plate. The lights were turned off and green candles were used to illuminate the table.

Death.

Death, the dry pedant, spares neither the rose nor the thistle, nor does he forget the solitary blade of grass in the distant waste. He destroys thoroughly and unceasingly. Everywhere we may see how he crushes to dust plants and beasts, men and their works. Even the Egyptian pyramids, that would seem to defy him, are trophies of his power, monuments of decay, graves of primeval kings.—Heinrich Heine.

Simple.

"Those twin boys of yours are so much alike that I don't see how you can tell them apart."

"That's easy enough. When they're on their good behavior they answer to their own names, and when they've been in mischief each one answers to the name of the other."—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

FRIDAY AN UNLUCKY DAY.

That Friday is sometimes an unlucky day was proven last Friday when a number of accidents occurred between here and Clinton.

A drove of cattle was being driven towards the depot when one growing tired of life laid down to die. Just then a man drove along with a load of hay, his team became frightened at the struggles of the animal and ran away, and scattered man and hay promiscuously.

A woman and child in a buggy followed and the horse also became frightened and ran throwing both occupants to the ground. A third a wagon and teams were next on the program, going in mad haste down the street and finally a change of scene when a young man driving a runabout, struck gravel in turning the corner by Snell's store, tried to make a forcible entrance but only succeeded in battering the screen door. It was remarkable that with all these happenings no one was seriously hurt, a few bruses were the worst, so there was good luck as well as bad in the day's doings.

Cromwell and Quinine.

We owe to Sir Clements Markham the introduction of quinine yielding trees to British India and the consequent cheapening of the drug from a guinea to a halfpenny an ounce in Calcutta, but the medicinal properties of cinchona bark had long been known. They were discovered by the Jesuits after whom it was called Jesuits' bark. Concerning that. Sir Clements used to relate an odd coincidence. Oliver Cromwell died of tertian ague, and quinine might have saved him. In the very newspaper in which his death was announced, the Mercurius Politicus, there was an advertisement of Jesuits' bark for sale. But the name of Jesuit was abhorrent to the Puritans, and hence Cromwell's medical advisers would have nothing to do with it.—London Chronicle.

"Valley of Dried Bones."

The island of Jamaica possesses a "valley of dried bones." It is near the Cunacuma gap, in the Maroon country. This valley, though in the heart of the "wet country," is bare of leaf and life. The limestone rock is hot. Giant trees, which seem to have been blighted suddenly, stand up gaunt and dead. Although vegetation seems to have been dense here in former years, nothing will grow now. During the hot season the temperature is almost unbearable. It is visited by seismic disturbances, which cause the dead trees and hot stones to rattle like dry bones.

Too Old to Be Fooled.

"That man always buys fresh eggs," whispered a small egg, peeping out from the depths of the basket.

"Huh," scoffed the big egg on top, "yuh can't tell me that. I wasn't laid yesterday."—Judge.

A Sure Way.

There are several methods whereby pickpockets may be avoided on crowded street cars, but the surest way is to keep your money in the bank in your wife's name.—Kansas City Star.

Impossible.

"Do you think it safe to marry on $25 a week?"

"My boy, no amount of money can guarantee marriage to be safe."—Detroit Free Press.

To Live Long.

If you wish to be a Methuselah you will have to quit doing all the things that make it worth while not to be one.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Difficulties are not to be sought, but when they come they should be accepted as calls to heroic deeds.

IRENE IRIS VANWINKLE

In our last issue we spoke of the serious accident that happened in the forenoon when little Irene VanWinkle daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rueben VanWinkle was seriously burned

The little one lingered until four o'clock when death came to end her suffering. Dr O. Q. Jones rendered every aid possible but to no avail Her mother was working upstairs and hearing her scream, ran down to find her in flames, her clothing being almost entirely burned from her body. She had been upstairs with her mother but went down saying she was going to play.

She evidently climbed to where the matches were kept and went out of doors where the family had been burning some wall paper. Burnt matches were found with pieces of her clothing when her clothing caught fire she rushed to the house where the mother grabbed her and tried to put out the flames. In trying to save the child the mother's hands were badly burned.

The funeral was held at the home Sunday at 2 o clock, Rev. H. Lawrence Linton officiating with burial in Brookside. The bearers were Russell Comfort, Amos Wilson, Homer Hanham and Roy Brisbin.

Irene Iris VanWinkle, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben VanWinkle was born Jan. 18, 1913 being 3 years and 4 months old at the time of her death

She was a loveable child and a favorite with the neighbors and with those in the Friends church where she was a friend with all

The sympathy of the whole community goes out to the parents, the brother and sisters in this terrible affliction.

Those from out of town who were here for the funeral were A. S. VanWinkle of Detroit, Arthur Wonders of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Wonders of Adrian, Mrs Minnie Snellberger of Payne, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Starrell of Clinton.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heart felt thanks to the friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us in our late bereavement and for the beautiful flowers also the financial aid of the shopmates.

TECUMSEH ELECTRIC COMPANY MAY EXTEND ITS LINES

Franchise has been granted —by Deerfield.

The Tecumseh Electric Co. have been fairly flooded with petitions of late from farmers living in this vicinity asking for extensions of their lines that they may secure electric service.

The question is up at Deerfield and the village council, also the township board have granted them franchises The question will be voted on by the people May 29th. If it is sustained it will give the Electric Company the right to use the highways and village streets for their poles and wires

Deerfield is about 16 miles from Tecumseh The company's lines are already in Britton and this would make a further extension of nine miles into Deerfield.

The company have at present in operation about 17½ miles of country lines and if the Deerfield line is put through it will give them about 27 miles.

Mr. Schneider of the Electric Company stated this morning that petitions are coming to them from every direction. The farmers whom they now serve are highly pleased with the service and are using it not only to light their buildings but are putting in three quarter horse power motors for power purposes. They use it for pumping water up into a tank for fire protection, to run the separator, do the churning, washing, ironing, etc. Surely electricity is coming into its own.

Concerning Dreams.

Scientists assure us that the longest dream we ever have—even the dream that seems to carry us on through several days—actually occupies no more than a single second!

Some authorities maintain that if any one of our dreams were to last longer than a single second we should die. Other authorities are convinced that we do not dream at all when we are asleep, but only in the fraction of time when we are (as Shakespeare has expressed it) "'twixt sleep and waking."

It is also argued that dreams are nothing but distorted ideas and images passing through the drowsy mind and being no more than extraordinary variations of things that have happened or of things that we have thought or read in our waking moments; they can have no possible association with our future. But, on the other hand, dreams have been credited with prophetic meanings since the days when the world was young, and dream books are still published and purchased and consulted by the million.

Puss in Boots.

No collection of fairy tales is complete without "Puss In Boots," and it is interesting to know that it has amused the children of a hundred generations. The various versions of the story differ materially, however. It is believed that the Zanzibar version is the original. There the man is ungrateful to the clever cat and is punished by awaking to find his prosperity a dream. In France, Italy and India the cat is a swindler and the Marquis of Carrabas is his accomplice. In Russia and Sicily "Puss In Boots" is a moral story and the cat helps the man from motives of gratitude. When Cruikshank illustrated "Puss In Boots" he rewrote it and introduced the moral motive of gratitude in the cat, but the American version does not point out any motive. Why should the cat help his master to title and riches? In our story he is a weak fellow who does nothing to help himself, and we feel that the cat is throwing his energies away on an idler.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country thean all other disease put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitional disease, and therefore requires constitional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. G. Past Masters Night

OBSERVED BY TECUMSEH LODGE NO. 69, F. & A. M. FRIDAY EVENING.

Record Crowd Present

Tecumseh Lodge No 69 F & A. M. held their annual Past Master's evening last Friday with the largest attendance in years.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the M. M. degree was conferred on a class of 7. At 5:30 a banquet was served by Eastern Star ladies to over 200, the tables being filled three times.

After the banquet the time was spent in a social way, calling on friends in town and otherwise, until 8 o'clock when the lodge convened again. The chairs were filled by

W. M.—Jos. H. Smith
Senior Warden—R. A. Heesen
Junior Warden—J. R. Nyland
W. Treas.—John VanVleet
W. Sec'y—Minor Davidson
Senior Deacon—C. B. Mize
Junior Deacon—E B Rector
Stewards—H. S. Temple, Guy E. Nemire

In opening the lodge Past Master Smith stated that it was 22 years since he was master of the lodge, but despite the fact that he had been so long out of the work, he handled it in a most impressive manner, as did also the various past masters who filled the chairs.

Mr. Smith called J Q Look, grand past master, to the East and requested the visiting past masters also to be seated in the East.

An interesting and novel feature was that of the honor bestowed upon the ladies of the Eastern Star who were invited into the Temple after the opening services that they might see the Masonic Fraternity assembled and ready for work Worshipful Master Whaley escorted them to the East and presented them to Past Master Smith who welcomed them and expressed the pleasure of the lodge in their visit, after which the ladies departed.

After the degree had been conferred W. M. Whaley asked for remarks from distinguished visitors: Past Grand High Priest Kingsley and Past Master Blosser of Manchester, Worshipful Master Cotton of Clinton and Past Grand Master J. Q. Look of Grand Rapids. The lodge was especially honored in having a past grand master present, the more so as Mr Look is a member of this lodge.

It was a late hour when the meeting closed and it was decided that this was the best meeting they had enjoyed for years. There was a large delegation from Manchester and Clinton lodges.

TECUMSEH CHAUTAUQUA WILL OPEN JULY 26TH.

Tecumseh will have a Chautauqua this summer beginning July 26th and extending five days. For two seasons the Lincoln Chautauqua has filled dates in Tecumseh but last November a contract was signed with the Coit Alber Chautauqua Company of Cleveland, Ohio. The program to be given this summer is the same as that purchased by the Winona Assembly at Winona Lake, Ind. and will be given in 65 towns in Ohio, Ind. and Mich.

This is the third year that the Adrian committee have contracted with the Coit Alber people.

In addition to an unusually fine program, the company furnishes the tent, seats and pays all local expenses relieving the committee of any burden in providing accommodations.

The committee incharge think that they have secured the strongest program ever put on in Tecumseh. Further information will be given from time to time in this paper.

Ed. Baker of Ridgeway was a business caller in town to-day.

Will F. Hopkins of Jackson was a caller of his father-in-law R. A. Cole, between trains Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hardenburg returned from Battle Creek Monday.

Miss Gladys Griswold of Milan, spent Sunday with friends in town.

C. A. Slayton spent Sunday in Adrian with his son Elmer and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Anthony of Clinton were weekend visitors with her father Wm. Cassel.

Sunday was a strenuous day in Tecumseh, rain, wind, and hail prevailing. In the evening a most terrific storm prevailed and then again about two o'clock in the morning Monday another storm woke the sleepers.

JOHN F. HICKS

John F. Hicks, one of Tecumseh's best known citizens and prominent in Southern Michigan, passed away Sunday afternoon May 14 1916 at 1 o'clock at his home on North Union street.

Mr. Hicks had peen in failing health for a number of months suffering from throat trouble. He was 82 years of age and has resided in Tecumseh the larger portion of his life For 63 years he has been engaged in the Lightning Rod Business and his rods have been placed on buildings throughout a large section of southern Michigan.

Mr Hicks was a successful business man and a valued citizen, always interested in his town and ready with advice, and contributed largely of his means to anything of a worthy public nature, a loyal churchman and greatly interested in the Masonic Fraternity and was a Pastmaster of Tecumseh lodge.

A little over a year ago Mr. and Mrs. Hicks erected the Parish house and presented it to the Parish of the Episcopal church. Mr. Hicks was a member of the Vestry for many years. He is survived by his wife and three children; Mrs Elizabeth Knox of Ontario, Mrs Raynor Anderson, Tecumseh; and William W Hicks a travelling salesman with a territory in Texas.

Funeral services will be held from St. Peter's church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev F. Hewitt officiating

The Masonic Fraternity will attend in a body and will have charge of the services at the grave.

At the close of the exercises each child and guest were presented with a narcissus.

MOTHER'S DAY

Union services of the Baptist and Presbyterian churches were held at the latter church Sunday evening with a good attendance. Rev. W A Rex preached on "The Holy Mother" and paid a loving tribute to all mothers. The pulpit was draped with the American flag and a large boquet of white tulips. The male quartette rendered some beautiful music. Small delegations from the G. A. R., T. B. A. and S. of V. were present. Many were kept away by the storm that came up just before the time of opening of the service.

NOTES FROM COUNCIL MEETING.

At a regular session of the Common Council held Monday evening the Council appointed as members of the Board of Review, G. B. Garlinghouse and John McIntyre. Several matters of importance came before the Council but as the attendance was light, they adjourned to reconvene Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Here is a case in point:

Mrs. George Burroughs, West Pottawatamie street, Tecumseh, says "My whole body ached and my strength and energy left me. Knowing several people in Tecumseh who had been helped by Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply of this remedy at Wright & Son's Drug store and began using them. In a few weeks, I improved in every way and the pains and aches were a thing of the past."

DOAN'S MADE A CURE.

Nearly three years later, Mrs. Burroughs added: "I cheerfully endorse Doan's Kidney Pills again for the benefit they brought me has been permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Burroughs has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Chronometers Aboard Ship.

A ship's chronometer is the most wonderful and accurate timekeeper made, for upon its accuracy depend the lives of all on board. So accurate, indeed, is a ship's chronometer that it does not vary a second a day. An error of only a few seconds may put a captain of a vessel miles out of his reckoning at sea and run the ship into great danger. For that reason every ship's timepiece goes through the most thorough tests before it is pronounced perfect. It is set going in a very hot room and then transferred to a cold one, for it may be used in any part of the world, from the polar regions to the tropics, and it must always keep good time.

Most large vessels have three chronometers on board in case of accident, and whenever a vessel goes into port they are sent on shore and tested to see if they are still accurate. On board ship the chronometer is kept amidships, because there are the least motion and the smallest variation of temperature.

How Japs Play Ken.

In its most widely practiced form the basis of the Japanese game of ken is that the fully outstretched hand signifies paper, the fully closed hand a stone, and two fingers alone extended, the rest being closed, scissors. Each of the players, counting one, two, three, throws out his hand at the moment of pronouncing three, and the one whose manual symbol is superior to that of the others, according to the theory of the game, wins the trial. Superiority is determined on the hypothesis that whereas scissors cannot cut a stone they can cut paper and whereas paper is cut by scissors it can wrap up a stone—consequently scissors are inferior to stone, but conquer paper; stone is inferior to paper, but conquers scissors, and paper is inferior to scissors, but conquers stone. There are innumerable varieties of the game.

Why Mothers Sing to Babies.

Psychologists who have carefully studied the characteristics of instinct in women have discovered just why mothers sing their babies to sleep. It is not merely inspired by the expectation of better sleep in their children, but it is the primeval call of the feminine nature. It is a material prompting which occurs naturally to each mother.

Savage mothers who are never known to sing upon other occasions invariably hum and croon to their children at night and upon one other instance, when they are planting seed. It is a peculiarity of the Zuni native women and one which has been but recently understood. The theory of primitive peoples is that there is some mysterious connection between the sound of a woman's voice and growing things.—Columbus Dispatch.

Nice Ballroom Ornaments.

Count Moltke in 1856 accompanied the crown prince of Prussia to Moscow to attend the coronation of Alexander II. At a ball in the Kremlin Moltke was introduced to a group of picturesque potentates from central Asia, with their girdles stuck full of daggers and pistols in the Albanian manner, and he begged to know whether these firearms of theirs were loaded. "Why should I carry them if they were not loaded?" replied the spokesman of the party, and in a letter to his English wife Moltke confessed that he had never experienced such a setback all his life. "Here at last," he said, "I have found 'un homme serieux,' " a man who is what he looks and means what he says.

An Ingenious Picture.

There is in one of the European picture galleries a painting called "Cloudland." It hangs at the end of a long gallery, and at first sight it looks like a huge repulsive daub of confused color without form or comeliness. As you walk toward it the picture begins to take shape. It proves to be a mass of exquisite little cherub faces like those at the head of the canvas in Raphael's Sistine Madonna. If you go close to the picture you see only an innumerable company of little angels and cherubim.

Dodging Her Cooking.

"Jack, are you coming home from the office tonight?"

"No, Juliet, dear; I am going to the club for dinner with visiting friends, and then we are going to the play."

"Well, it's all right, Jackie. I will accept an invitation to the Whillikens' bridge party and dine with them. And, besides, this is Mary's day out."

"Yes, I knew that."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Athletic Mosquitoes.

Singapore is on the Malay peninsula, that shoe tongue that hangs down from the southeast corner of India. A Singapore mosquito will lie slothfully around all day, not turning a hand, but the moment it sees you retire for the night and pull down the bed netting it leaps to its feet, trembling with eagerness. They will pass up thousands of Chinese and Malays a few blocks away, sleeping without cover of any kind, to come and work and plan the whole night through to get just one taste of white meat. Their persistence is wonderful. An ant in comparison to a Singapore mosquito is a happy-go-lucky creature, with no thought of the morrow. Here in the luxurious tropics mosquitoes grow to splendid proportions, perfectly formed and splendidly muscled, and in any catch-as-catch-can conflict can defend themselves against all comers, irrespective of nationality. In a clinch they have a way of balancing on their tails and leaping on to their opponent and tearing him with their hind feet after the manner of the cornered Australian kangaroo. — Homer Croy in Leslie's.

Tiger Sharks.

When a Hawaiian sees a shark near the surface with eyes which shine red, as though they had red glass in them, he will not go in the water or even on the water or if he is on the water he will get to shore, for the red eyed fish is the tiger shark, and it does not hesitate to attack. They will not only attack a man in the water, but they will follow a fisherman in a canoe after he has taken a lot of fish aboard, and it is said they will attack and overturn a canoe if they are very hungry.

Men who know fish do not want to have anything to do with the tiger shark.

A shark does not turn on its back to bite, as is the common opinion of those who have not lived near shark infested waters. It turns on its side and when in this position can travel almost as fast and handle itself almost as well as when it is in its natural position.—Honolulu Star.

Frozen Food In Siberia.

The markets of Irkutsk, in Siberia, are an interesting sight, for the products offered for sale are in most cases frozen solid. Fish are piled up in stacks like so much cordwood, and meat likewise. All kinds of fowl are similarly frozen and piled up. Some animals brought into the market whole are propped up on their legs and have the appearance of being actually alive, and as one goes through the markets one seems to be surrounded by living pigs, sheep, oxen and fowls standing up. But, stranger yet, even the liquids are frozen solid and sold in blocks. Milk is frozen into a block in this way and with a string or a stick frozen into and projecting from it. This, it is said, is for the convenience of the purchaser, who is thus enabled to carry his milk by the string or stick handle.

Chicory In France.

Chicory, so extensively raised in France, is harvested either by hand or by plowing. As fast as the plants in one line are pulled the roots are gathered in heaps after the removal of the leaves and are roughly cleaned. They are then transported to the factories, where they are mechanically washed in flowing water and dumped on a perforated conveyer that permits them to drain while traveling toward the root cutters. The roots, when cut in small pieces, are conveyed to the malt kilns or special driers, where they remain thirty-six hours or more, and after cooling they are bagged. The chicory having now become friable, passes into a series of crushers. After each crushing the broken material is passed through sifters that divide it into four grades. From the crushers the chicory goes to the roasting retorts and then receives a final manipulation, that of tinting, which consists in giving the grains a coating of impalpable chicory dust. The last operation is that of packing the chicory, either by hand or by machinery.—Argonaut.

To Use Small Oriental Rugs.

The abuse of the small oriental rug, no less an object of art than of utility, is an especially common mistake. By all logic any rug used for a floor covering should emphasize the function of the floor as a solid foundation under our feet. To do this it must honor and obey the lines of the floor, at least that part which it decorates. Yet time and again, where several small rugs are used for the carpeting of a room, we find them all thrown down on the bias, often at different angles. With none of the sides of a rug parallel to the bounding lines of the floor, we are made conscious of a new decorative idea, one built on top of and at cross purposes with the original one. Chairs, tables and other pieces of furniture must then be placed either to conform with the position of the rugs or with the structural arrangement of the room; both sets of lines they cannot follow. So, at best, we have a confusion of ideas, a room which seems to rest on an insecure foundation.—Agnes Rowe Fairman in Good Housekeeping.

Hissed His Own Play.

Baron de Frenilly, who figured prominently in France during the days of "the terror," must surely have been the only author who ever hissed his own play. This was entitled "Les Trois Tantes" and was produced at the Vaudeville theater, Paris.

"Before half of the first scene had been played I said to myself, 'Oh, but this is execrable!' The public was of the same opinion and, while my friends kept applauding, hissed with all its strength. I ended by heartily hissing myself, for the further the play progressed the more convinced I was that the people were right.

"On leaving the theater a friend who was not in the secret of the authorship said to me, 'What a piece of extravagance, what a wretched farce!' 'Detestable,' I replied, and whatever he said I went one better. 'It is said to be by Comte de Segur,' he continued. 'No,' rejoined I; 'it was written by me.' The poor man was fixed with amazement."—From "Baron de Frenilly's Reminiscences."

Riddle Making Epochs.

There have been epochs at which riddle making has been more especially in vogue, and such epochs would appear to occur at seasons of fresh intellectual awakening. Such an epoch there was at the first glimmering of new intellectual light in the second half of the seventeenth century. This was the age of Aldhelm, bishop of Sherborne, the first in the roll of Anglo-Latin poets. He left a considerable number of enigmas in Latin hexameters. Aldhelm died in 709. Before his time there was a collection of Latin riddles that bore the name of Symphosius. Of this work the date is unknown. We only know that Aldhelm used it, and we may infer that it was then a recent product. The riddles of Symphosius were uniform in shape, consisting each of three hexameter lines.—Cornhill Magazine.

Explosive Barrels.

Nitroglycerin, though an explosive, is rarely used by itself, being mixed with guncotton to form blasting gelatin or with a certain earth to make dynamite. Huge quantities of the explosive liquid are kept in casks, and the wood of these casks becomes so highly explosive through being soaked with the liquid that a kick will blow them to pieces. It is not safe to use the empty casks again for refilling them with the explosive, nor can they be used in any other way, even for firewood. There is only one thing, indeed, that can be done, and that is to explode the casks. They are placed on waste ground and usually exploded by means of a rifle bullet fired into them. Very little of the cask remains after the explosion.—London Standard.

Social Distinctions.

"What train do you take coming into town in the morning?"

"I used to take the Pinochle express at 7:44, but since I became a member of the firm I've been traveling on the Bridge Whist limited, which leaves at 8:28."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Chicken Talk.

The chickens were gathered together in the farmyard conversing with one another, as is the custom among all self respecting chickens who have been brought up by a careful and judicious mother hen.

"What would home be without a mother?" asked one little fellow, looking tenderly at old Mrs. Hen, who was searching among the neighbor's freshly planted seeds for some dainty morsel with which to treat her brood.

"An incubator, I guess," answered his small sister, who had inherited her old man's unseemly sense of humor.—Pittsburgh Telegraph.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS
FOR BACKACHE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER
Sold Everywhere

Was Troubled at Night

Painful, annoying bladder weakness usually indicates kidney trouble. So do backache, rheumatism, sore, swollen or stiff muscles or joints. Such symptoms have been relieved by Foley Kidney Pills. Henry Rudolph, Carmi, Ill., writes: "Since taking Foley Kidney Pills I sleep all night without getting up." Sold everywhere in Tecumseh. adv

Colds Quickly Relieved

Many people cough and cough—from the beginning of Fall right through to Spring. Others get cold after cold. Take Dr. King's New Discovery and you will get almost immediate relief. It checks your cold, stops the racking, rasping, tissue-tearing cough, heals the inflammation, soothes the raw tubes. Easy to take antiseptic and healing. Get a 50c bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery today "It is certainly a great medicine and I keep a bottle of it continually on hand," writes W. C. Jesseman, Franconia, N. H. Money back if not satisfied. adv

Keeping up to the Mark

"Spring fever" is not always a joke. If you feel dull and sluggish, tired and worn out, suffer from backache or weak back, rheumatism, sore muscles, stiff joints or other indication of kidney trouble, it will pay you to investigate Foley Kidney Pills. They are highly recommended as prompt and efficient aids to health. Sold everywhere in Tecumseh. adv

Dangers of Draft

Drafts feel best when we are hot and perspiring, just when they are most dangerous and the result is neuralgia, stiff neck, sore muscles or sometimes an attack of rheumatism. In such cases apply Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the sore and painful part. The blood flows freely and in a short time the stiffness and pain leave. Those suffering from neuralgia or neuralgic headache will find one or two applications of Sloan's Liniment will give grateful relief. The agonizing pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth and quiet rest and sleep is possible. Good for neuritis, too. Price 25c at your druggist's. adv

LADIES CAN WEAR SHOES

One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease, the Antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes and used in the foot-bath for hot, tired, swollen, aching, tender feet. It makes tight or new shoes feel easy. Sold everywhere, 25c. Ask for Allen's Foot-Ease. Don't accept any substitute.

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, High Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and consider myself in a truly normal condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills ten months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 16-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

Wreck Train Near Capital and Burn Passengers.

LANGHORNE ENGAGES BANDITS

Three Outlaws, Among Them Julio Cardenas, Villista Leader, Are Slain by an American Detachment Near Rubio Ranch—Mexicans Rob Train—Funston Guards Bridges.

MARATHOR, TEXAS. — Major Langhorne's command, eighty miles below the border in pursuit of the Glen Springs raiders, has had an engagement with bandits. At least one trooper was wounded.

LAREDO, TEXAS. — Accordnig to reports brought by American passengers arriving here, a train which left Mexico City for Cuernavaca last Thursday night with 1,000 passengers aboard was derailed at Ayuzco, a short distance from the capital, by Zapatistas.

One hundred and fifty persons are said to have been burned to death in one car.

Another car turned over and many were badly injured, according to the reports.

Kill Three Mexican Bandits.

LAKE ITASCATE, MEX.—Three bandits, including Julio Cardenas, the Villa leader, were killed in a skirmish with an American detachment near Rubio ranch, twenty miles east of here, Sunday.

The Americans, twelve strong, under Lieutenant George S. Patton, comprised an automobile detachment sent to purchase forage. The bandits fired upon Lieutenant Patton and his guide after they had alighted from the machines and were approaching the ranch house. The Americans deployed to prevent the escape of the snipers and Lieutenant Patton returned the fire, wounding the bandits, who meanwhile fired through the rear of the house. Overtaken later, the Mexicans engaged the Americans in a rifle duel, in which the three Mexicans were killed. There were no American casualties.

Mexicans Rob Train.

LAREDO, TEXAS. — A train, attached to which was the private car of Charles A. Douglas, President Wilson's representative in Mexico, was derailed by an explosion between Queretaro and Palma Gonzales, Mexico, last Friday and the passengers, including a Carranza paymaster, were robbed, according to a report brought here by passengers of the train, who arrived from Mexico City. They said the private car of Mr. Douglas was not molested.

Seven Persons Are Killed.

The engineer, the fireman and five persons riding on the tender, were killed by the derailment.

The paymaster was carrying new currency to pay soldiers, it was said. American passengers also are said to have been robbed of $3,000 in gold.

The bandits, according to the arrivals here, were Zapata followers, who, while robbing the passengers, cried "Viva Villa!"

U. S. Troops Guard All Bridges.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS.—Every bridge on the Southern Pacific between here and El Paso will be guarded by American troops, it is announced at General Funston's headquarters. That railroad parallels the Rio Grande a great part of the distance, and its immediate safeguarding is to be one of the first moves in the proposed redistribution of troops.

Columbus Raiders Are Reprieved.

SANTA FE, N. MEX.—Governor McDonald granted a twenty-one day reprieve to the seven Villa bandits now in the penitentiary here and sentenced to hang at Deming, May 19, for first degree murder for their part in the raid on Columbus.

WILSON NAMES NOMINATOR

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Wilson has asked John W. Wescott, attorney-general of New Jersey, who made the speech nominating him at the Baltimore convention, to make the nominating speech at St. Louis. Mr. Wescott has accepted and conferred with the president.

When the president asked Mr. Wscott to make the speech he did not know that the New Jersey delegates on the same day had selected Governor Fielder. In view of the president's wish to have Mr. Wescott, it is expected the governor will withdraw.

TARIFF BOARD TO WILSON

Rep. Rainey and President Discuss the Final Rraft of Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Representative Rainey of Illinois, in charge of the tariff commission bill in the house, discussed the final draft with President Wilson and told him that he expected the ways and means committee would report it favorably within a few days.

Administration leaders plan to have the bill passed before the political conventions in June.

U. S. TAKES SANTO DOMINGO

Marines Who Had Previously Landed Enter City Unopposed.

SANTO DOMINGO.—The American marines who had been landed on Dominican soil entered Santo Domingo and took possession of the center of the city.

The rebel leaders had withdrawn with their forces Saturday night after being warned by the American minister, W. W. Russell, that the city would be taken by force unless the rebels evacuated it by Sunday morning. The entry of the American forces was unopposed.

35 ARE DEAD IN CAFE COLLAPSE

Fifty Diners Trapped in Akron, Ohio, Disaster.

FALLS LIKE HOUSE OF CARDS

Blasting in Excavation Next Door Loosens Foundation of Restaurant as Guests Eat Evening Meal—Twenty-five Taken from Ruins Soon After Catastrophe.

AKRON, OHIO. — At least thirty-five were killed and many others injured when diners in the Crystal Restaurant, Main and Quarry Streets, were crushed under the crumbling brick walls of the building as the structure collapsed. Twenty-five bodies have been taken out.

The accident occurred shortly after six o'clock, at a time when the restaurant was crowded with diners. The building crumbled into a mass of wreckage so suddenly that none of the patrons had an opportunity to move from their tables and rush for the doors.

Fifty in Restaurant.

Rescuers who came running to the scene a few moments later heard no sound of groans or cries for help, those who were not killed outright being knocked unconscious.

Of fifty persons known to have been in the restaurant, only two or three carried out by rescuers showed any signs of life, and they were so badly crushed as to make death a matter of few hours. One of the proprietors, a cook and several dishwashers escaped from a door of the kitchen, but were injured by falling bricks.

Foundation Shaken by Blasts.

Blasting in an excavation for a new building next door to the Crystal restaurant unsettled the foundations of the structure and, following the collapse, part of the ruins slid into the excavation.

The entire fire department of Akron was called out. As firemen, police and volunteers from the crowds that choked the streets nearby worked, a line of ambulances waited. Bodies were rushed to hospitals, which quickly became morgues.

Like House of Cards.

Scarcely a tremble preceded the crash, according to eyewitnesses across the street. A sudden roar, which stilled screams of the victims, was heard for blocks, and the structure fell like a house of cards.

The front wall, a two-story affair, crashed backward onto the diners. They were also caught by the north wall, while the south wall tumbled outward. The mortar between the brick, brittle with age, crumbled under the weight of the roof, and the walls sank into broken particles, rather than fell in any certain direction.

As the bodies of victims were borne from the ruins, members of their families stepped forward to identify them. Touching scenes were enacted as a wife recognized the body of a husband and onlookers were moved to tears when a mother picked up the body of child.

While Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Dempsey, Hillsdale parents, were in Toledo making arrangements for an operation for Mrs. Dempsey, their one and a half year old daughter, Dorothy, was scalded to death at home.

Fred Blanding, ex-American league pitcher and once University of Michigan star, who quit the game to become a farmer, has started suit against his aunt, a wealthy Birmingham, Mich., woman for eighty acres of land.

Fire started at Cheboygan and under the fanning of the high wind spread until five buildings were aflame. Two residences were destroyed, the other three badly burned before the fire was under control.

After a tidal wave into Little Traverse bay from Lake Michigan, Petoskey was visited by a severe electrical storm. Several buildings, including the Presbyterian church, were struck, but the damage was not great.

Samuel J. Schildroth, of Grand Rapids, while he was inflating it, was stripped to the waist, made temporarily deaf and severely cut about the chest when an extra tire, carried on the running board of a motor car, exploded.

So many complaints have been received from Muskegonites by Police Chief L. A. Knapp about broken windows, children nearly run down by motorists, and ruined garden plots, that he has forbidden all baseball playing in the streets.

Recognization of the work of Deputy Sheriff John Bujka, a former Michigan League Baseball player, and resident of Manistee, in capturing a murderer and two accomplices in a Denton, Mont., brawl, is expressed in an issue of a paper of that city.

The authorities of Grand Rapids are investigating the manner in which John Bourhouse, seventy years old, whose body was found on the right of way of the Holland interurban, near Grandville, when it was run over by a car, met his death.

Beekman Winthrop and a committee of other bondholders of the Pere Marquette railroad company appealed to the supreme court from the decision of the federal circuit court of appeals, holding constitutional the Michigan 2 cent fare law as applied to the road.

W. E. Flanders, of Maxwell Motor company, emphatically denied a report that the Maxwell company would join in a reported merger of motor car companies. There is no foundation for the report and there will be no change in ownership or management, said Mr. Flanders.

John S. Kinney, one of the largest mine owners in Northern Michigan, and richest men in Cloverdale, made famous by the $500,000 heart balm suit of Mrs. Ida McNabb of Milwaukee, surprised the home folks by returning with a bride, formerly Mrs. M. E. Hilbert of [illegible].

GRAND DUKE IN DASH TO CUT OF BAGDAD

Russ Commander Outwits Teuton and Tnrkish Strategists.

PETROGRAD. — Developing a swift offensive movement in the extreme south, the Russians have crossed the Persian frontier southwest of Lake Urumiah and are now within eighty miles of the main line of communication of the Turkish army south of Bagdad.

That the grand duke has outwitted the Turks and their German tutors is the belief here. Following the victories at Erzerum and Trebizond, the Russians pushed on in the direction of Erzingan and Diarbekr, as if to cut off the Turkish Bagdad armies by a drive through the latter city.

The Turks moved re-enforcements eastward dfrom Constantinople an strengthened their lines on the Erzingan-Bitlis front to meet the expected attack. Meanwhile the Russian left wing entered Mesopotamia at a point 300 miles southeast of the region in which the main Turkish force was concentrated.

Explosion in Repauno Plant of Du Pont Powder Mills.

GIBBSTOWN, N. J. — About eight men are reported killed and a dozen injured in an explosion at the Repauno plant of the Du Pont Powder company, near here. Among the dead are believed to be the superintendent and his assistant.

Five buildings were demolished by the explosion, which was felt a distance of many miles.

FEAR MASSACRE IN SYRIA

U. S. Warned Murders, Surpassing the Armenian Outrages, Are Imminent.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Danger of massacres of Christians in Syria has been privately reported to the state department, it is learned.

These advices indicated the expected murders might surpass in horror many of the Armenian masacres of the past. The Menonites, a large French-Catholic group, is reported to be in particular danger.

U. S. PROTESTS MAIL SEIZURES BY BRITAIN

Vigorous Note Being Prepared in Behalf of Neutrals.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The American government is preparing a protest characterized by officials as "very vigorous" against the interference with mails to and from the United States by Great-Britain. A note to be sent forward in the near future will take the position that the United States can no longer countenance seizure and detention of mails to and from the United States, particularly those concerning neutrals.

The reply recently received from Great Britain to the latest American note protesting against interference with American mails is considered unsatisfactory.

Protests have been made to the government by many individuals and firms injured by the frequent long delays to which mails between Europe and the United States have been subjected.

GERMAN REVOLT AID BARED

..Trial of Sir Roger Casement for Treason is Begun.

LONDON, ENG.—Part of the carefully laid plans by which Sir Roger Casement and his confederates plotted to set up an independent republic in Ireland were revealed when Sir Roger was brought from the Tower of London for a preliminary hearing in the Bow street police court.

The crown reserved much of its evidence for the formal trial to be held later. Enough was presented, however, to show that Casement planned with German aid to land not only one but several expeditions on the coast of Ireland and elsewhere on the British isles.

WILL DODGE ON BRANDEIS

Senate Committee Expected to Report Nomination Unrecommended.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Louis D. Brandeis' nomination to the supreme court was discussed again by the senate judiciary committee in executive session and the senators present were bound to secrecy.

LOW CORN KING

An 8-foot Spread From a 45-inch Box

IN the Low Corn King catalogue it takes pages to tell about the good construction that backs up the "8-foot-wide spread from a narrow 45-inch box." Here the space is limited.

See the spreader and study these things: The simple worm and worm gear which drive the apron can be reversed, doubling the wear qualities. The gear is entirely enclosed, away from dust and dirt. The relation of beater and apron is just right to do the best work on the manure with the least power. Low Corn King is a steel spreader—frame, beater axles, wheels, driving parts—all of light, strong, compact steel. You return the apron by a convenient foot lever—no hand cranking, no getting down from seat.

These things—remember—back up the even, satisfactory 8-foot-or-better wide spread. Get acquainted with the Low Corn King spreader. See the local dealer who sells it.

RAISIN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH TO BE REDEDICATED NEXT SUNDAY

Tecumseh Presbyterians Invited.

May 21 will be a notable day in the history of Holloway. The improvements and repairs on the Presbyterian church have been completed and the building will be rededicated on Sunday Rev. Matthew McNutt of the Presbyterian board, a man who looks for great things in the future of the country church, will be speaker of the day.

Morning services at 11:30.
Service of dedication 2:30 p. m.
Platform meeting 7:30 p. m.

The ladies will serve coffee at noon to any who bring a basket dinner.

The Tecumseh Presbyterians have been invited to attend the dedicatory service at 2:30 p. m. and many will accept the invitation. Especially as there are many of the Tecumseh church who spent their early days in Raisin and these will be glad to meet with their old friends.

There will be no evening service at the local church as Rev. Rex will remain for the 7:30 service.

HOW THE WOMEN SAVED THE NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

Following is the poem read by F. J. Temple at the Wit and Wisdom Club banquet in response to the toast "How the Women Saved the New Schoolhouse." It was interspersed with remarks which added to its interest.

THE OLD INDIAN TRAIL

'Twas here that Henry Conkling crossed the trail
To catch the fish or e'en to bag the quail,
'Twas here that Fanny Rector came along
And listened to the warble of the song,
'Twas here that Fred first brought his grist to mill
And traveled slowly up the dusty hill.
'Twas here that Dr. North came riding by
And someone said, "Is it a girl or boy?"
'Twas here that Hartzog thought he caught a whale
While on a picnic party up the trail.
'Twas here that Jennings thought he saw a light
While waiting for the little fish to bite.
'Twas here that Rex looked for a place to board,
While riding to and fro with Henry Ford.
'Twas here Frank Turner crossed the trail
And ran his tire on a rusty nail.
'Twas here that Charlie Slayton made a wish,
But hurried so he had no time to fish.
'Twas here the Hurrys hurried up the pike
And met the Hewitts on their daily hike.
'Twas here Fred Rosacrans first played
Upon the green with many a comely maid.
We leave these scenes just for a minute now
To let the women show just when and how.

How the women won the schoolhouse fight
In District Number Seven.
In baking bread they make it light
By introducing leaven.

They used a little common sense,
Good judgment and some tact
And when the votes were counted,
The thing became a fact.

This schoolhouse question long has been
A subject much debated;
Not many things were left unsaid,
But many things related.

In former years the question
Was debated thru and thru,
But when the votes were counted
It had met its Waterloo.

But when the ladies buckled
On the armor with a smile,
They carried the election
And did it by a mile.

The scheme that was considered
Was to merge the north and east
And have one central building
For the greatest and the least.

The Brownvillans are to vacate
Where Musgrove Evans mused
And leave the site of General Brown
Where knowledge was diffused,

To desert the camp where the red man wooed
The dusky maiden fair
Though the air was damp and the pigeons cooed
While the fox was in his lair.

These lovers sat by the camp fire dim
He close to her and she close to him,
While the embers burned out—
For them all too soon,
And over the hill
They could see the new moon.

They little dreamed
As they sat there that night
That the pale face would come
And put them to flight.

But such is the fate
Of Lo and his clan,
He's been pushed to one side
By the oncoming van.

To desert the camp of the red man,
Where the dusky maiden's face
Greeted that of her lover
As he returned from the chase—

To desert the site of the wigwam,
The teepee and the trail—
To retain it only in memory,
And now our memories fail—

To desert the old, old schoolhouse,
That schoolhouse made of brick,
And migrate to the southward,
This side of Evans Creek—

There to mingle with the pupils
On this side of the strand,
And by amalgania
Become one happy band.

The pupils from the East end
Can just move up a bit,
And if they do it pleasantly
Are sure to make a hit.

You have read in ancient history
And often have been told
How the Spartans won their battles
In the good old days of old.

Those Spartans were a wonder,
They were marvels in a fight,
But they never pushed a button
And got electric light.

You have heard how brave Horatio
By his valor held the pass
And was aided in his effort
By neither lad nor lass.

Or was it the bridge he defended,
I'm sure I cannot tell
That is a trivial matter—
He did his duty well.

He certainly was a wonder
In standing off the horde,
But he never had the privilege
Of cranking up a Ford.

You have heard how Grecian warriors
By preparing of a noose,
Gained victory by strategy,
In springing of a ruse.

They were a noble people,
Though ruled by king and queen,
But they never saw a machine gun,
Nor used a submarine

You have heard just how Napoleon
Was wont to drive them through Until he met disaster
On the field at Waterloo.

As a general he was skillful,
He could lead an army line,
But he never used a telephone
Nor saw a trolley line.

You have heard how General Washington,
Who never told a lie,
By George! rowed o'er the Delaware
When the waves were rolling high.

He saved the day, he saved his men,
He saved his country too,
But he never saw an airship,
As have the most of you.

You have read Petroleum Nasby
(How his writings made you laugh)
But he never saw a picture show,
Nor heard a phonograph.

You remember Horace Greeley
Without a coat or vest
The thing that he most harped on
Was "Go west, young man, go west."

Now Horace was an able man—
He built up the Tribune—
But he never saw a jitney buss,
Nor rode in a balloon.

You have heard of all these warriors
Who introduced the leaven,
But not one word have you e're heard
Of District Number Seven.

How the ladies by their cunning,
Their tact and skillful ways,
Carried the election
For a schoolhouse would amaze.

Some far more experienced
In politics and note,
They carried the election
By getting out the vote.

They let their household duties rest
On this glad April day
And while the sun was shining
They were gathering in the hay.

From early morn till dewy eve
They marched up to the polls,
And with their little ballots
Punched the skimmers full of holes.

They saved the day,
They won the race,
And in so doing
Saved their face.

They carried the election
By being much alive,
Being aided and abetted
By the twenty and the five.

LECTURE AT M. E. CHURCH.

The lecture at the M. E. church last evening by Charles Hurry of Mont. Clair, N. J., was a very interesting one. He took for his subject "Panama and Central America," and with the aid of a stereopticon caried his audience with him as he told of the different countries, their scenery and business enterprises. The pictures used were those taken by Mr. Hury on his recent trip.

Charles is an old Tecumseh boy and his many friends enjoy seeing and hearing him as often as he can be with us.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country thean all other disease put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitional disease, and therefore requires constitional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. G. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address

HOW TO REGULATE HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Take SAN-YAK. It prevents a bone-like harding of the arteries at ages past 50 years. DR. BURNHAM'S SAN-YAK is the sure way to prevent Paralysis and Apoplexy In its use you have prevented or cured kidney and bladder trouble. It is the greatest in use to prevent the clumsy stiff joints and muscles and for Neuritis and rheumatism and constipation. It has no parallel for quality and results.

Geo. Soper, of Quincy, says: He has been an invalid since out of the hospital three years ago. I could scarcely eat or walk. SAN-YAK has made a new man of me. I was broken out so I was not fit to be seen. SAN-YAK has cured the terrible sores in the flesh and I am free from rheumatism for the first time in years. I can do a nice day's work and not lag at the end of the day.

G. F. Walburn, Wabash engineer of Montpelier, O., says: I was saved from a dangerous operation of the bladder by using SAN YAK two years ago. He says he has not an ache or pain from rheumatism, nor lumbago since he took SAN YAK. I have friends who were cured of kidney trouble after their case was diagnosed as hopeless.

Mrs. J. B. Taylor, of Kendallville, says: I had stomach trouble for years. I was dizzy, sick and so weak I could scarcely walk. I was clumsy by swollen limbs. Since taking SAN YAK I am feeling fine. I am 70 years old and can walk a mile with any of the young folks. Before I took SAN YAK if I went any where I had to ride. I have not had a cold for two years. I have recommended SAN YAK to my friends and it is highly praised by all who have used it.

G. W. Sparks, of Montpelier says: "I took six bottles of SAN YAK about three years ago. I was suffering with great weakness due to kidney and bladder trouble. I am 73 years old and my health is fine since I took the SAN YAK. It is a wonderful regulator for the bowels."

Panama-Pacific Exposition
Gold Medal awarded to Pilot Lighting Plants
For Country Homes

We are proud of the Pilot. It is a big thing to win the Gold Medal at a great World's Exposition.

It is a bigger thing, however, to win the approval of hundreds of thousands of users in all parts of the country by delivering satisfactory, reliable lighting and cooking service every day—year in and out.

Proud as we are of the Gold Medal, we are prouder of the Pilot's record in use, of the unequalled service it delivers and the lasting friends it has made.

If there had been no exposition, we would still know by the universal satisfaction of its users, that for economy, reliability, efficiency and safety, from the country home owners standpoint, the Pilot is the Gold Medal Lighting and Cooking Plant.

The Gold Medal award at the Exposition is the official confirmation by experts of the popular verdict of long ago rendered and repeated every day by satisfied users from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf.

These facts make it easy for you to decide the best method of supplying modern lighting and cooking service to your home. The Pilot—the Gold Medal winner—will be your choice.

Write for illustrated catalog and descriptive booklets for all the facts today.

HIGH SCHOOI TRACK MEET.

Good Records Made at Tuesday's Meet.

The Tecumseh High School class meet was held Tuesday P. M. at the race track and proved a success. The primary object of this meet is to have every boy in the high school take part and to receive the training thru practice. It is not to benefit the athelete who is in training for baseball and other sports, but to develop every boy in the high school. Also the girls have an active part to play thru Basket Ball and Tennis.

The plan this year is as follows:—First—Each boy in the High school must enter these five events Broad jump, running broad jump, high jump, base ball and shot put. Each competes against a standard of points that are divided into three weigh classes so as to put the Seniors, Juniors, Sophmores and Freshmen on an equal base. The Boys and Girls Tennis and Girls Basket Ball games wil be played this week and next and certain points go to the winner which will be added to the average made by each class at the met. The trophy for the winner is a loving cup. The present standing of the classes—

Seniors	332
Sophmors	2348
Juniors	2223
Freshman	1345

The second part of the meet was seven events entered by representatives from the 4 classes. Each class entered 2 men in an event. Five, 3 and 1 points were given for first, second and third places. The Seniors won this and will be presented with a large class pennant.

The standings:

Seniors	34.5

WIT AND WISDOM BANQUET

The Wit and Wisdom club held their annual banquet in the Barrett Tea Rooms, Tuesday evening with a fine attendance. The room and tables were decorated with flowers, apple blossoms, lilacs, tulips and other flowers being used in abundance. Number of candelabra with white candles added to the beauty of the tables. Rev W. B. Hartzog gave the invocation, after which a bountiful banquet was served.

Those waiting table being the Misses Marjorie Rosacrans, Gertrude Turner, Vie Temple and Arthur Brown. At the close of the banquet the president, Mrs. F. Rosacrans introduced the toastmaster, Rev. W. A. Rex, who proved himself right at home in the work and introduced those on the program. A piano solo by Mrs. F. S. Turner was followed by F. J. Temple, who told how the women saved the day for our new school house, after a few general remarks he gave an original poem of an historical nature.

A solo by Ernest Church who also responded to an encore came next on the program, with Mrs. Hodges at the piano.

Mrs. E. D. Brown, responding to clubs and their characteristics gave a very interesting talk, and remarked that so far as she has discovered there were some 67 clubs of various natures in Tecumseh.

Mesdames Hodges and Turner then favored the company with a piano duet.

Dr. L. G. North responded to the toast "Bachelor Girls".

Solo, Ernest Church.

A toast for the gentlemen was responded to in verse by Mrs. F. Rector, each member of the club coming in for their share of popularity.

At the close of the program a short business session was held, F. J. Temple having refused the office of presidency the nominating committee then proposed the name of Mrs. F. S. Turner. Mrs. Rosacrans the retiring president handed over her position to Mrs. Turner, and Nannie Kyle passed the books of the secretary to her successor Mrs. Charles Kemp. The club then adjourned.

MRS. CHAS. E. JARVIS

ord has just been recieved announcing the death at her home in London Ont. of Mrs. Lela Doty Jarvis.

Before her marriage to Dr. Jarvis in 1885, Lela Doty was for many years a resident of Tecumseh and a graduate from the High School, in the class of 1882. Although Mrs. Jarvis has been in failing health for some time, yet the news of her death comes as a shock to her many friends in Tecumseh.

She is survived by her husband, Dr. Chas. E. Jarvis and an aunt, Miss Lucile Berger, who has made her home with Dr. and Mrs. Jarvis for a number.

AT REST

The funeral of the late John F. Hicks Wednesday was largely attended, St. Peter's church being filled to its capacity. About sixty of the Masonic fraternity were present. Rev. F. Hewitt, assisted by Rev. Kemp, a former rector of the parish, gave the impressive Episcopal service after which the solemn funeral rites of the Masonic order were given by R. A. Heesen. A male quartet composed of W. S. Dickinson, Fred Dickinson, Floyd Juckett and Harold Lowry sang several selections.

The Masons then escorted the funeral cortege to the cemetery where the burial service was given by Rev. Hewitt and Rev. Kemp followed by a short ritualistic service by the Masons and the depositing of sprigs of evergreen by the members. A wealth of beautiful flowers were left upon the grave, mute tributes of the love and esteem of the many friends of the departed.

The active bearers were the employees past and present of Mr. Hicks, the honorary bearers being Gen. F. B Wood, F. J. Temple, Jos. H. Smith, C. F. Patterson, Col. A. S. Cummins and C. A. Wright.

ELIJAH ALLEN

Daddy and the Kiddies.

We'll call him "daddy," because that's what his kiddies call him, and this is an intimate story of "daddy" and his two youngsters.

Frequently "mother" and the kiddies go to the picture show in the evening while "daddy" stays home alone.

"I'm too tired to go along," is his reply to invitations.

But the other evening the pleadings of the youngsters won. "Daddy" enjoyed the pictures, but he enjoyed the kiddies' fun more.

When the trip home was made and the youngsters tucked in bed "daddy" heard one youngster say to the other:

"Don't you think the show's lots better when 'daddy' goes with us?"

The answer came, "Lots better."

And how many "daddies" would cease to be "too tired" if they realized how much the kiddies yearn for them!—Detroit Free Press.

Wet Weather and Camels.

Camels are very sensitive to moisture. In the region of tropical rains they are usually absent, and if they come into such with caravans the results of the rainy season are greatly feared. The great humidity of the air explains the absence of the camel from the northern slopes of the Atlas and from well wooded Abyssinia. This sensitiveness expresses itself in the character of different races. The finest, most noble looking camels, with short silklike hair, are found in the interior of deserts, as in the Tuareg region in north Africa, and they can not be used for journeys to moist regions. Even in Fezzan, south of Tripoli, the animals are shorter and fatter, with long coarse hair, and in Nile lands and on coasts it is the same. These animals, too, are less serviceable as regards speed and endurance.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS
FOR BACKACHE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER
Sold Everywhere

Was Troubled at Night

Painful, annoying bladder weakness usually indicates kidney trouble. So do backache, rheumatism, sore, swollen or stiff muscles or joints. Such symptoms have been relieved by Foley Kidney Pills. Henry Rudolph, Carmi, Ill., writes: "Since taking Foley Kidney Pills I sleep all night without getting up." Sold everywhere in Tecumseh. adv

Watch Child's Cough

Colds, running of nose, continued irritation of the mucous membrane if neglected may mean catarrh later. Don't take the chances—do something for your child! Children will not take every medicine, but they will take Dr. King's New Discovery and without bribing or teasing. Its a sweet pleasant tar syrup and so effective. Just laxative enough to eliminate the waste poisons. Almost the first dose helps. Always prepared, no mixing or fussing. Just ask your druggist for Dr. King's New Discovery. It will safeguard your child against serious ailments resulting from colds. adv

Keeping up to the Mark

"Spring fever" is not always a joke. If you feel dull and sluggish, tired and worn out, suffer from backache or weak back, rheumatism, sore muscles, stiff joints or other indication of kidney trouble, it will pay you to investigate Foley Kidney Pills. They are highly recommended as prompt and efficient aids to health. Sold everywhere in Tecumseh. adv

Pills Best for Liver

Because they contain the best liver medicines, no matter how bitter or nauseating, for the sweet sugar coating hides the taste. Dr. King's New Life Pills contain ingredients that put the liver working, move the bowels freely. No gripe, no nausea, aid digestion. LADIES CAN WEAR SHOES

One size smaller after using Allen's Foot-Ease, the Antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes and used in the foot-bath for hot, tired, swollen, aching, tender feet. It makes tight or new shoes feel easy. Sold everywhere, 25c. Ask for Allen's Foot-Ease. Don't accept any substitute.

He Removed the Danger Signal

Frank W. Sherman, Laconia, N. Y., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble, had a tired feeling in my back, did not have any ambition and felt all tired out. I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered and have had no return of my painful symptoms."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

Foley Kidney Pills get right at the source of trouble. They invigorate the kidneys to healthy action and when the kidneys properly perform their functions the poisonous waste matter is eliminated from the system.

J. G. Roberts left in our office a buff cochin egg which measured 7½ inches in circumference.

Ed McKinney has as yet made the largest run of billiards for the gold headed cane offered by Charlie Severance.

Last Sunday part of the floor in Hayden's warehouse gave way and precipitated about 500 sacks of flour to the ground luckily no sacks were broken and the damage only amounts to rebuilding the floor. There were 15,000 sacks weighing 200 lbs. each and the pessure was to much for that part of the floor.

RAISIN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH REDEDICATED

The Raisin Presbyterian church, which was recently moved into Holloway, has been enlarged, redecorated outside and in, and equipped with a furnace and an acetelyn gas plant. New horse sheds are a further improvement.

Sunday this splendid little church was rededicated to the Master's service Loving hands had beautifully decorated the shining interior with a profusion of dogwood, lilacs and palms. Rev Matthew B. McNutt, of the department of rural churches of the Presbyterian board of home missions, gave addresses at all three services which were attended by large crowds

At the afternoon service the church was packed, over thirty going from the Tecumseh church in response to an invitation from the Holloway people Nearly all of these were former Raisin residents. Many came from a distance as each former member of the church had been invited, and the church was the scene of a regular home coming, all happy to see their church home so prosperous.

Rev. McNutt's text for the afternoon was from Prov. 29:18: "Where there is no vision the people perish," and it was listened to with marked attention.

About $1000 was raised at the forenoon and afternoon services to apply on the expense of moving and finishing the building which was $2400 With what had previously been pledged only $882 50 remains to be pledged. The Ladies Aid had put in the gas plant and paid for the papering which by the way, was the work of Bert Miller of Tecumseh and showed exquisite taste.

When the efforts of Rev. McNutt began to wane in the raising of the money Rev. Rex, who was assisting in the service, came to his rescue and how the Tecumseh and Raisin $5 bills then poured in!

The dedicatory service was most beautiful, at its conclusion Edgar Rogers, chairman of the building committee, handing over the keys to William Rainey, chairman of the board of trustees.

At the evening service Rev. Rex also gave a short address. Rev. Cargo of Detroit, a former pastor, was to give an address but was unable to come.

To the efforts of the pastor Rev. C. B. Hawkins are the Holloway people indebted for the splendid improvements to their church for he has worked faithfully, but he has been loyally assisted by his board of trustees and building committee. Fred Kopke, as chairman of the shed committee, and John Calhoun, the superintendent of the Sunday school, also have worked hard for the organization

It may be of interest to add that the church was organized at the home of Obadiah Rogers March 4, 1835 as a Congregational church with the following original members: Daniel Raymond, Lucy Ann Raymond, Obadiah Rogers, Lydia Rogers, Alexander O Wells, Julia Wells, Benjamin Green, Lavina Green, Phoebe Chatfield, Lydia Raymond, Azuba Patterson, Osamore Horton, Hannah Horton, Allen Haight, Sally Haight, Josiah Chatfield, Olive Chatfield. August 2, 1868, they reorganized as a Presbyterian church and affiliated with the Monroe Presbytery

DECORATION AND MEMORIAL DAY PROCLAMATION

By the Governor.

At this hour the great European nations are engaged in deadly conflict. History fails to record any other war of like magnitude and ferocity. Human imagination utterly fails to appreciate the agony of the millions of mothers and children whose wishes were never consulted. Millions of human lives have been ruthlessly sacrificed, to say nothing of the widespread destruction of property. Chaos has been substituted for order; hate and revenge dominate the minds of the contesting rulers of these great nations. Death is their watch word.

In the United States peace reigns. This great nation is fearlessly conserving the faith and loyalty of its people. Our watchwords are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." At this hour we look back to our last awful sacrifice upon the altar of Liberty. On May 30 the remnant of the Grand Army of the Republic, together with one hundred million freemen, will pay tribute to the living and the dead. Let us reverently and lovingly join the spirit of the immortal Lincoln in dedicating our lives to the task of increasing our "devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of their devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, [illegible] God, sh[illegible] birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, shall not perish from the earth."

May the democracy of our beloved nation in this hour of world peril fearlessly and successfully point the way to universal peace. The regenerating need of Europe and of the whole civilised world is democracy and more democracy.

While decorating the graves of the "Boys in Blue" let us lovingly remember our Spanish War Veterans, [illegible]wise the patriotic self sacrifice of American mothers who gave us our heroes.

Therefore, I, Woodbridge N Ferris, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby issue this, my Proclamation, and heartily urge the observance of Tuesday, May 30, 1916, as Memorial Day.

As a part of the public exercises of Memorial Day. I suggest that bells be tolled from 12:00 o'clock noon until 12:05; that flags be placed at half mast, and that comrades stand with uncovered heads during this period.

> Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this eighteenth day of May. in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixteen, and of the Commonwealth the eightieth.

"WISE AND WITTY HUSBANDS"

The following poem was given at the Wit and Wisdom Club bauquet last week by Mrs. F. D. Rector, a toast to the "Wise aed Witty Husbands "

Wise and witty husbands what an array,
Surely has not been seen in many a day;
Looking with admiration on them are we!
There is our professor, two M. D.s and ministers three.

We, none of us, doubt the wisdom of Professor Reed,
He is in his element when analyzing a weed;
But when dealing with a refractory youngster
No one would think of calling him a witty punster.

Our doctors, North and Conklin, are happy when dealing out pills,
It makes little difference whether the dose cures or kills.
Then they look as wise as school-teachers,
Isn't it their duty to help undertakers and preachers?

Our preachers, Hartzog, Jennings and Rex, are so wise and bright,
That for me to say much about them would be most impolite.
To my mind they can each easily beat Billy Sunday
When so tired they are glad of a rest, and a joke or two on Monday.

To H. C. Conkling is honor due, our sage of years ninety two,
To the Wit and Wisdom Club he is ever loyal and true,
In the halls of Congress he is seen in the winter of every year,
But always comes home when fishing time draws near.

In wit who can excel F J Temple, our poet of renown,
He is closely followed by C. A. Slayton and Dr. Brown.
Joe Eaton, Mr Hurry and Mr. Kemp are wise if not very witty,
But what matters it, as long as their wives still call them pretty?

Mr Rosacrans and Mr. Turner embody all the graces,
To know it, you have only to look into their faces
Mr. Turner insists on collecting all the money,
And Mr. Rosacrans smiles be the day cloudy or sunny.

Our lone bachelor, J. F. Rector, is not marri-d yet,
But will be some day, we are willing to bet;
We don't understand why he has not made a hit,
It must be he is too wise, or else is lacking in wit

We drink to the health of husbands wise and witty,
Who have been the subject of this simple ditty;
We are proud of them, we love them, they are such dears,
We have not often told them so, but we will in the coming years.

RUSS JOIN ALLY IN MESOPOTAMIA

British Forces Joined by Slavs in Asia Minor.

ADVANCE TOWARD BAGDAD

Islam's Capital Is Menaced by Dash of Grand Duke's Troops — Soldiers Reaching British Line Are Advance Guards of Army Which Is Approaching.

London, May 22.—Russian troops have joined the British in Mesopotamia and an allied drive on Bagdad is now believed to be imminent. The British, with their Russian comrades, it is believed, soon will strike heavily at the Turks in a determined effort to wipe out the series of defeats inflicted upon General Townshend's troops before their final capitulation from starvation at Kut-el-Amara.

The Russians, after a wild and adventurous ride from Persia, joined the column of General Sir G. Gorringhe, which is fighting its way up the Tigris toward Kut. This British force, originally dispatched as a relief expedition to succor the beleaguered army at Kut, now is the wedge for a Russo-British campaign against the sacred city of Islam.

Form Advance Guard.

The Russian forces which joined colors with the British are merely the advance guard, it is stated, of strong commands now on their way to effect a junction. The combined armies are about 130 miles from Bagdad. They are fighting on the same ground over which Townshend advanced to Ctesiphon, just below Bagdad, where he met his disastrous defeat.

British Drive Turks Back.

BREAKS LONG-FLIGHT RECORD

Victor Carlstrom Flies 416 Miles in Four Hours, One Minute.

New York, May 22.—Victor Carlstrom, in a 160-horsepower biplane, flew from Newport News, Va., to the Sheepshead Bay Speedway in this city a distance of 416 miles, in four hours and one minute. This is a record for this distance, according to an announcement made by the Aero Club of America.

The Aero club announced that the best previous American cross-country flight was 332 miles in four hours and forty-four minutes, made in 1914 between Des Moines, Iowa, and Kentland, Ind.

EXPECT INCOME TAX TO BE $110,000,000

McAdoo Estimates an Increase of $30,000,000.

Washington, May 22.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, in an official statement, estimates that income tax receipts will yield $110,000,000 during the current fiscal year. These figures are $30,000,000 above last year's total and $25,000,000 greater than the estimate submitted to Congress at the beginning of this season.

The official estimate was based upon income taxes already paid, and the assessments which Commissioner Osborn of the internal revenue bureau has just made upon returns of income for the calendar year ended December 31, 1915.

The internal revenue bureau has assessed during the current fiscal year $113,175,928.84. This includes $52,127,604.05 corporation income tax and $61,048,324.79 individual income tax

Secretary McAdoo ascribes the increase to the country's prosperity, and the vigorous enforcement of the income tax law.

TECUMSEH WILL BE WIDE AWAKE THIS SUMMER

Tecumseh will commence her Wednesday Gala Days Wednesday, May 31st, and will continue them each Wednesday during the summer and early fall months. The business men are planning to give a far better entertainment than was given last year and people who visit this town this summer will be sure to get their money's worth. Committees are at work and report everything coming along finely.

Tecumseh's business men were all pleased with last summer's Bargain Days and people in this section of the country will make no mistake in driving into Tecumseh on Wednesdays during the summer. There will be something doing and you won't want to miss the fun.

A full announcement will be printed in an early issue of the Herald. Watch for it!

THE PROPOSED SITE FOR THE NEW SCHOOL.

In this issue f The Herald we print an article signed by Joseph. H. Smith which deals with the school house site. Mr. Smith has gone to some length to place the matter clearly before the people, and with the aid of the cut showing the locations considered, one can get an inteligent idea of the merits of the several sites mentioned.

As this question of location will soon be put up to the district for vote, it is wise to read this article carefully and consider thoughtfully the merits of the several sites mentioned.

He has held back nothing, but has covered the subject well. This plat of land covered in the cut seems to be the best available place to locate our new building. It is central and would make a fine appearance if located on the Brewer site, as it would face Monument Park on the south, the present school site on the southeast and the Episcopal Park on the west. Plenty of light and space about the building would be assured. Besides making a more attractive location, the Brewer site could be secured at a lower cost to the district, as stated in Mr. Smith's article.

Origin of the Penny.

The "maiden name" of the penny was "denarius," and the English penny is a survival of the Roman rule in the British isles. Like the coin which preceded it in Rome, it has been debased in value until its name has lost its original meaning. The first denarius was minted in Rome about 268 B. C. and was the principal silver coin of both the republic and the empire. It at first weighed seventy-two grains troy and was as nearly pure silver as durability would permit. It bore on one side the helmeted head of Roma and the mark X and on the other side the images of Castor and Pollux. Later these twin gods were replaced by the head of the Roman emperors. By 215 A. D. the coin had deteriorated in value until it was only 40 per cent silver. The X, which signified the value of ten asses, had wholly lost its meaning. Diocletian finished the degradation of the denarius by applying the name to a small copper coin. In England the largest silver coin was called a denarius at a time when the English florin was called a gold penny. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Edison and His Mother.

During the short time that he attended school Thomas A. Edison was nearly always at the foot of his class. On one occasion a teacher remarked to the inspector that the boy was "addled" and that trying to tutor him was a mere waste of time.

The youth overheard the remark. He repeated it to his mother, who promptly took the child back to the school and told the teacher he did not know what he was talking about and that the lad had more brains than the teacher.

Referring to this critical period of his existence, Mr. Edison once said: "Had it not been for my mother's appreciation and faith in me I should very likely never have been an inventor. She was so true, so sure of me, that I felt that I had some one to live for, some one I must not disappoint. The memory of her will always be a blessing to me."—Columbus Dispatch.

Proof That We Are Sheepish.

The Pittsburgh man who several years ago won a dinner from an Indiana county relative by taking a small piece of wood, a hammer and a nail and blocked traffic on lower Fifth avenue of the steel metropolis by hammering the nail into the shingle resting on the sidewalk has a follower here who did a similar stunt. The New Yorker won his wager by placing a ball of paper six inches in diameter at the corner of Wall street and Broadway and by staring at it got a crowd of a hundred people in five minutes. It proves the old contention of the psychology of crowds, showed that all the yokels are not living in the country and revealed that we humans all are more or less sheep.—New York Letter to Pittsburgh Dispatch.

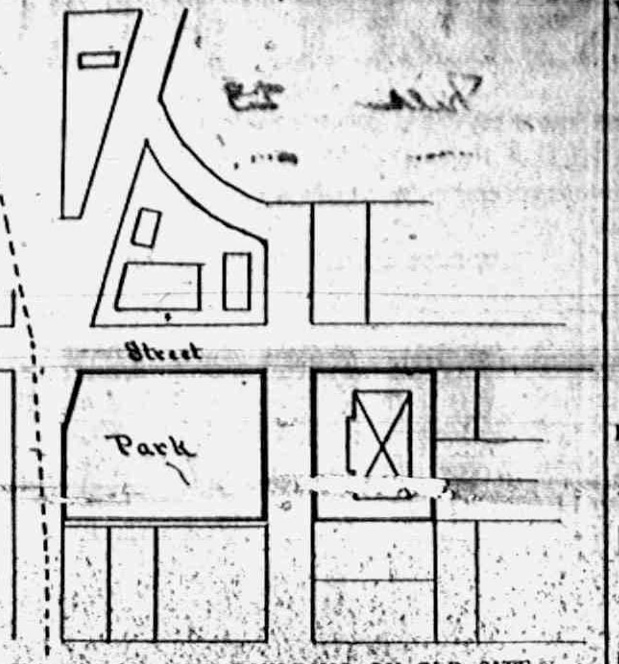
NEW BUILDING ON BREWER SITE



NEW BUILDING ON OLD SITE

WHERE

SHOULD THE PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL BUILDING BE LOCATED?

A question which probably interests every voter in the district is where can the new school building be located to serve the best interests of all concerned. Perhaps some have decided in their own minds what site would be best. Some are undoubtedly undecided. It is a question I believe not easily decided only upon careful consideration in all its different phases.

There are several things that enter into the selection of the site. Perhaps the most important are, a site that is the most centrally located and accessable to all, the site most economical and the site upon which we are about to expend a considerable sum of money may show to the best advantage. It seems to be nearly the unanimous opinion the site should be somewhere near the present site and not removed to some other part of the village. This being the case suppose we consider the two or more sites suggested near the present or old site as shown on a drawing in this issue which is intended to give a fair and impartial view of the situation.

FIRST; so far as convenience is concerned there is little or no difference in any of the Parks as shown in the drawing.

SECOND; the site most economical; here comes an essential feature. Let us consider first the old site. A glance at the drawings should convince one that the present site if used must be enlarged. We doubt if any one for a moment would consider building a building of the proposed size upon a lot the size of the present or old site as there would be very little grounds surrounding the building. And the matter of ground is one of the essential features to any School or public building. It is also one thing which the laws of some states demand sufficient playgrounds to all school buildings. It is also likely to become a law in this state soon, and the state now demands the right of examination of any and all plans and specifications of school buildings before the building can be built and it is fair to presume plans for a building on a site which had not sufficient grounds would not meet the approval of the state authorities. It is possible to acquire additional grounds to the present site but in so doing it will be necessary to buy a house and lot on the east and a house and lot on the south as both places have houses on them and a part of each can not be bought. It is also necessary to buy parts of three other lots. The board of education have asked the property owners for options on lands which might be wanted and have received prices on some of the property. The Hoag property on the east is offered at $1550. The Chapman property on the south is offered at $1,500 Then there is yet to figure on the back ends of lots owned by C. M. Gilbert, Edward Holdway and Edward Gillen. One of these parties said he would not consider less than $800 and would not say as he would accept that for the reason the selling of part of his lot would spoil the lot for other purposes. It is reasonable to expect that $1000, would be a very low estimate at which these three places could be obtained. This would make a total cost for grounds $4050, to this must be added an expense which would come to the district of dismanteling the old building and housing something over two hun[illegible] year while the new building is being built. It would be necessary to secure many rooms about town if it were possible and the matter of fitting the rooms with seating, blackboads, fire escapes if rooms were on second floors and paying of rentals not counting the inconvenience of coning school under such conditions, $1000, would be low estimate of the cost and this added to the cost of grounds would mean about $5000. If the old site is used.

THIRD; For a time the Park in front of the old site was considered favorably for the location of the new building provided the Park could be secured but that sentiment has changed and very little support seems to be given that location as a site.

FOURTH; Another site which seems to be very favorably considered is the H. Brewer & Co. foundry property. This property is offered the district for school building purposes at $3500. There is a number of buildings on the property which could be dismantled and the ground cleaned at no cost to the district. Perhaps they could be sold so as to produce some revenue. Should this site be selected the old building could be used during the construction of the new one and when the school year closed the old building could then be sold and it is safe to say at $500, or more which would reduce the price of the Brewer property purchase to $3000 or less. If these figures given are fair estimates of the costs of sites we then have

The Old site enlarged at an estimated cost of $5000.

FIFTH; Now as to the site upon which the new building may be situated to the best advantage as to surroundings and conditions;

Should the old site be selected the only pleasant view from the new building would be across the Park. On the one side of this is the business properties of Moore Brothers and Brown & Co. on the other side is the old foundry buildings. The business property on the one side is likely to remain as it now is for business purposes, the Foundry property certainly would be an eyesore for years to come for the reason if not laying idle as it now is it would very likely be used for some factory purpose which would be equally an undesirable frontage to the new building.

On the other hand if the Brewer site should be selected the present site could be cleared off the old building at the close of the school year and the grounds made into a beautiful playground for the grade pupils. The Street between the Brewer property and the Park can be closed as a street and the two properties Brewer property and Park made into one Park and the grounds ample large for the new building. We would then be rid of the old buildings on the Brewer property and the new building would be surrounded by Parks on all sides, the Episcopal Park being on the West side.

Some have said the matter of situating the New building so as to show off well cuts no figure that what is wanted is the building provided with ample accommodations on the inside. I believe this view is entertained only by a few people. Would any resident of the district think of building a fine house on a lot with bad surroundings. If we are to spend $75,000, in building a fine New High School we want something which we may point with pride when completed.

The location of the New School building is no personal matter to me any more that to every person in the district. But I think we should consider well all conditions before we decide and that we get the most desirable location and the most for our money that is possible.

I have tried to consider all these sites from the various points and am led to believe the most feasable as well as the least expensive site offered is the Brewer property site in connection with the other Parks.

SOME FISH STORY

Ed. Heilman and Thomas Ellis took an early walk Sunday morning and stopped at a pleasant spot on the bank of the pond. Fishing tackle was soon in evidence, and the result was 50 lbs of pickerel ranging from 2 to 7 pounds each The fish were generously distributed among the neighbors and Monday night a fine fish dinner was served at the Gaston home

Another party later in the day caught 18 pickerel from the same place.

Origin of Patents.

Patents (from pateo, I lie open) originated with the so called nobility of France. Lest their superiority to other folks should be in doubt, the nobles got out titles of nobility, so that the fact that they were better than the rest of the people might "lie open" to all the world. It was in connection with the printing of books that the first real patents were issued, about 1550. By 1625 it began to be customary to issue patents protecting the rights of inventors in the arts and manufactures. Since that time the patent offices of the world have had a steadily increasing business.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

"Peg O' My Heart" made her second appearance in Tecumseh Friday evening at the Opera House with a good attendance to greet her.

The characters were all well chosen and each entered into the spirit of the play finely Especial mention must be given to Miss Florence Martin who as "Peg" delighted all by her perfect rendering of the part Also Alaric Chichester, as played by York Erskine was a great success Many who saw the play when it was here before were pleased to see it again and enjoyed it heartily. "Peg" surely has won her way into the hearts of the people by her quaint good humor and ready wit.

Special Fitting of GOSSARD CORSETS

Gossard Corsets

ONE DAY, FRIDAY, MAY 26.

Through a special arrangement with The H. W. Gossard Company of Chicago, we engaged Mrs. Bird Grey of their organization to assist our corsetiere in a special demonstration of Gossard Corsets.

The radical change in styles this season from the slinker slouch to the erect, well-poised, somewhat military form, calls for considerable care and attention in the fitting of your new corset.

There is a decided tendency toward the adoption of a smaller waist this season and a fitted bodice, with a return to the full skirt of former periods. All of this has a direct bearing on your corset. Authentic information regarding these new styles is yours for the asking during this demonstration.

You can come and be fitted to any of the newer models and make your selection at a later date, if you so desire. Whether you expect to purchase your corset at this time or not, we suggest that you arrange to attend this demonstration.

While the original front-lacing Gossard Corsets sold at $25 some ten years ago, increased manufacturing facilities and an international distribution have reduce the price until now you can purchase a Gossard Corset for as little as $5.00, $3.50, and $2.00.

It will be a privilege to serve you and to have you visit our Corset Department some time during this demonstration.

SOME GOOD ADVICE

Strengthened by Tecumseh Experiences

Kidney disease is too dangerous to neglect. At the first sign of backache, headache, dizziness or urinary disorders, you should give the weakened kidneys prompt attention. Eat litle meat, take things easier and use a reliable kindey tonic. There's no other kidney medicine so well recommended as Doan's Kidney Pills. Tecumseh people rely on them. Here's one of the many statements from Tecumseh people.

W. W. Shurtz, Kilbuck St., Tecumseh, says: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills at different times during the past ten years and they have always given me relief from distressing symptoms of kidney complaint. I have procured my supply of Doan's Kidney Pills from Wright & Son's Drug Store and my experience has been so satisfactory that I willingly give this public account of it."

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mr. Shurtz added: "I willingly re-endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. I have found this medicine acts just as represented."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Shurtz has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HELFFERICH AID TO HOLLWEG

Succeeds Dr. Delbrueck as Vice Chancellor—New Agriculture Chief.

Copenhagen, May 22.—The Berliner Tageblatt states that Dr. Karl Helfferich, secretary of the imperial treasury, has been appointed to succeed Dr. Clemens Delbrueck as vice chancellor.

The Tageblatt also says that Baron von Schorlemer, Prussian minister of agriculture, has been relieved of his post, and that Herr Hoesch, a conservative member of the reichstag, has been appointed to succeed him.

JINX STILL PURSUES JOHN

Odd Accidents Just Keep Tagging Our Great Singer About.

Ann Arbor, May 22.—The largest audience that ever gathered for a May festival concert, assembled at Hill auditorium to hear John McCormack, was almost compelled to go home disappointed, for the chauffeur of the automobile in which the renowned Irish tenor and his accompanist, Mr. Edwin Snyder, drove from Detroit to Ann Arbor, was suddenly stricken with illness and collapsed just before the party reached Wayne, early in the evening, according to Mr. McCormack.

Farther along on the route the machine was stalled in the muddy roads, causing further delay. Mr. McCormack finally reached the auditorium about one hour and 30 minutes late.

BONES BARE OLD MURDER

Grave of Suicide who Killed Baby 75 Years Ago Unearthed.

Jackson, May 22.—Human bones, believed to be those of a Detroit man who murdered his child and then came to Jackson county and killed himself seventy-five years ago, were unearthed by Frank Benn, a farmer, while plowing in a 15-acre field on the Anson Townley farm in Tompkins township.

Sheriff Davis, who took charge of the gruesome discovery, is convinced from the story told by an old woman, that the bones are those of the Detroiter of early days. The aged woman says that she was a child at the time of the crime, but that she has often heard her parents tell of the murder and the suicide which followed.

Mrs. Steenard Will Get Trial.

Kalamazoo, May 22.—Mrs. Eva Steenard at her own request held a long interview with Judge George Weimer relative to the charge that she had killed her baby. Judge Weimer announced after the interview that he would not accept a plea of guilty from the woman and that he would order a trial.

Quick Thinking Saves Child's Life.

St. Joseph, May 22.—Quick thinking and action saved the life of seven-year-old John Brickson. The lad was about to take a bath when a flame from a defective gas heater caught his clothing, enveloping him in fire. He tore off the garments escaping all but minor burns.

Aged Lumber Man Dies at Flint.

Flint, May 22.—Julius J. Wells, eighty-four eyars old, pioneer lumberman and builder of mills, is dead at the home of his daughter of pneumonia.

HUGHES HAS GREAT LEAD

Oregon Reports Show Vote Double That of Two Rivals.

Portland, Ore., May 22.—Returns from various parts of the state from Friday's presidential primary showed that Justice Charles E. Hughes' Republican vote was nearly twice the aggregate vote given former Senator Theodore E. Burton and Senator Albert B. Cummins.

An increase was noted in the number of Republican voters that had written in the name of Theodore Roosevelt as their choice for president.

HUGE INCOME TAX FRAUDS

Attempts to Cheat Uncle Sam Out of $8,380,185 Frustrated.

Washington, May 22.—Attempted frauds and invasions of the income tax law, aggregating $8,380,185, have been frustrated by the treasury department, during the first nine months of the current fiscal year.

The $8,380,185 has been added to the incorrect returns, assessed against the delinquent corporations and individuals, and will be collected. Whatever additional evasions and omissions may be uncovered in returns yet to be investigated will be similarly treated.

More than 80,000 individual and corporation returns have yet to be examined before the total of the amount withheld can be ascertained.

Army Bill Passes House.

Washington, May 22.—The house, by a vote of 349 to 25, adopted the conference report on the Hay-Chamberlain army bill. The report was approved by the senate earlier in the week and now goes to President Wilson for his signature.

FRENCH LINE IS BEATEN IN DASH

German Attack Brings Gain on Dead Man's Hill.

TEUTONS CLAIM BIG VICTORY

1,300 French Soldiers, Eight Cannon and Sixteen Machine Guns Captured in New Assault—Austrians Drive Italians Further Back—Bombs Dropped on Cairo.

Berlin, May 22.—More han 1,300 French, including thirty-one officers, in addition to sixteen machine guns and eight cannon, were captured in a new German assault on the Verdun front, in the region of Dead Man Hill, the war office announces.

This statement says the German lines were advanced on the south and southwest slopes of he hill. The communication follows:

"On the south and southwest slopes of Dead Man Hill our lines were advanced after effective artillery preparation. Thirty-one officers and 1,315 men were taken prisoners, and in addition to other war material, sixteen machine guns and eight cannon were captured. Minor counterattacks by the enemy were abortive.

"It has been ascertained that the French atack with hand grenades in [illegible] the night of May 20 was repulsed. There was no infantry action at this point Sunday.

The firing on both sides at times was very violent. Minor expeditions west of Beaumont and south of Gondrexon were successful.

Four Aeroplanes Felled.

Near Ostend (Belgium) a hostile aeroplane was brought down by the fire of our anti-aircraft guns and fell into the sea. Four other machines were shot down in aerial encounters. Two of them fell within our lines, one near Lorgies, north of La Basse, and the other near Chateau Salins. The remaining two fell within the enemy's lines, one in Borrus wood, west of the Meuse, and the other beyond a hill east of Verdun.

"Our aeroplane squadron again dropped bombs freely on Dunkirk during the night."

French Admit German Gain.

Paris, May 22.—The battle for possession of important strategic positions on he Verdun fron west of the Meuse River coninued with unabated severity. The French war office announces that the Germans, although repulsed in most of their atemps, succeeded in capuring a first line trench on Dead Man Hill and gaining ground on the slopes west of the hill.

Italians Driven Back Again.

Berlin, May 22.—The official Austrian reports of May 19 and 20 show further extensive gains in the new offensive movement in the southern Tyrol, which has carried the Austrians on to Italian territory.

Drop Bombs In airo.

Cairo, Egypt, May 22.—An areal attack on Cairo was made, causing the death of two persons and the injury of a number of others.

LYNCH IS GIVEN TEN YEARS

Irishman From America Has Sentence Delayed at U. S. Request.

London, May 22.—It is reported to the American consular office that Jeremiah C. Lynch of New York has been sentenced to ten years imprisonment for complicity in the rebellion in Ireland.

Washington, May 22.—Ambassador Page at London has been notified by the British Foreign Office that sentence of Jeremiah C. Lynch, a naturalized American, arrested for complicity in the Irish revolt, will not be confirmed until it has been sibmitted to the prime minister.

TO HAVE FIELD KITCHENS

Germany Will Take Over Cooking for the Whole Empire.

Amsterdam, May 22.—The German socialist newspapers discuss the new proposal for dealing with the food problems, namely; that each city, town or community through its chosen officials shall take over the feeding of its people, doing away entirely with private buying and even private cooking.

Under this scheme the local governments would have the right to confiscate all foodstuffs at fixed prices, assemble them at kitchens and distribute them ready cooked to the people.

CURES DRUG USERS, BUT BECOMES VICTIM

Eminent Physician and Wife Forge to Buy Dope.

Milwaukee, May 22.—The court sentence of hospital treatment for Dr. John B. Dexter, former Grand Rapids physician, was changed to a year in the county bridewell, in order to save his being extradited to Louisville and other southern cities, where he is wanted for forgery.

His wife, however, also of Grand Rapids, former nurse, is not affected by this change, and will be given hospital treatment. Dr. Dexter, it was shown, was an expert in treating cases of the morphine habit.

In curing others, however, he contracted the habit himself, as did his wife, and he is accused of many forgeries to raise money to buy the drug.

Fail to Find Waite Insanity.

Grand Rapids, May 22.—While the examination of witnesses in the Waite case which began here at the instruction of the New York court was held behind closed doors, it was given out on good authority that the defense failed entirely in its efforts to prove that Dr. Arthur Warren Waite has any abnormal qualities or that he has ever shown any signs of insanity.

Rat Law May Cost Hillsdale $1,000.

Hillsdale, May 22.—Apparently the new rat law is going to cost Hillsdale county about $1,000 a year. So far the 1916 County Treasurer Chesnut has paid orders amounting to $551.63. After the law went into effect he paid $188 for 1915. This makes $539 that has been paid out in less than nine months. During the present month, May, he has paid out $161.40.

He Had Patience.

An elderly gentleman was rambling along a country road one afternoon when he saw a small boy who had been sitting on the bank of a creek roll up his fishing line, pick up his can and start away from the piscatorial scenery. "You shouldn't give up so soon, my boy," remarked the elderly one chidingly. "The fish will be biting better in an hour or two."

"I know that," answered the boy a little sadly, "but I am"—

"You give up too quickly," interjected the other. "The next time you come out here you want to bring more patience with you."

"Tain't that, mister," said the boy, sighing deeply. "I got plenty o' patience, but I hain't got no bait."

Protection.

A man who employed a number of boys to pick raspberries was quite anxious to protect them from mosquitoes, so he had veils made to tie down around the neck. The boys were very grateful for his kindness until they found that there were no mosquitoes in that locality and also that they couldn't eat any berries with those veils on. The "protection" was of another sort.—Pittsburgh Press.

Expurgating It.

"Elfreda, what did your father say when he heard that I had been here calling on you?"

"He said you were a numskull, a mollycoddle and a jolterhead."

"Is that all?"

"That's all, Guy—except the adjectives."—Chicago Tribune.

Strategy.

"Pa, what is strategy?"

"Well, my son, suppose you should see a man coming toward you with a borrowing look in his eye; then it is strategy to hurry and ask him for a loan before he can ask you."—Boston Transcript.

He Removed the Danger Signal

Frank W. Sherman, Laconia, N. Y., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble, had a tired feeling in my back, did not have any ambition and felt all tired out. I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered and have had no return of my painful symptoms."

One cannot help becoming nervous and feeling tired and worn out when the kidneys fail to filter and throw out of the system the poisonous waste matter that causes kidney troubles and bladder ailments.

Backache is one of Nature's danger signals that the kidneys are clogged up and inactive. It is often followed by rheumatism, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, puffy swellings under the eyes, swollen ankles and painful joints.

Foley Kidney Pills get right at the source of trouble. They invigorate the kidneys to healthy action and when the kidneys properly perform their functions the poisonous waste matter is eliminated from the system.

BUSINESS MENS BANQUET

Tuesday Evening at Barretts Tea Rooms

The first monthly banquet of Tecumseh business men was held Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Barrett Tea Rooms was a very enjoyable affair. Covers were laid for about 60 and a bountiful fish banquet was served. Music was furnished by a victrola from the Webster Anderson Co. store, Wilfred Orr, presiding.

Four young men Perry Hayden, Robt. Moore, Joseph Satterthwaite and Wylie McCann served the guests The tables set in the form of an U present a fine appearance.

Rev. W. B. Hartzog pronounced the invocation.

After the banquet F. J. Temple as chairman made a few remarks and brought up a few questions which were presented to the meeting for discussion. He called upon J. H. Smith to speak on the proposed site for the new school building, a drawing of the two proposed sites was posted on the wall and Mr. Smith read his article that appeared in Tuesday's Herald ging into detail regarding the merits of the two sites [illegible]. A general discussion followed. Supt. Reed was called upon and made a few remarks. A straw vote was then called, for which resulted in an unanimous vote for the Brewer site. Chairman Temple next called on Louis Schneider who took up the subject of the Jackson Skirt & Novelty C. He reviewed the work that had been done by the Board of Commerce and the various committees and asked for the co-operation of the business men in securing the balance of the necessary funds about $500.00.

J. R. Nyland also spoke on this question which was followed by a general discussion. The chairman called next upon F. S. Anderson who took up the question of Wednesday Berge's days. Mr. Anderson stated that everything was progressing nicely and that arrangements had been made to open the season Wednesday May 31. He stated that our Gala days had attracted a good deal of attention and that he had received a communication from one of the largest dry goods journals in the country asking about the gala days that were put on last summer. The fact that they were new and original has attracted wide attention.

The evening was an enjoyable one and many things wre brought out which proved to be a benefit to all. These monthly meetings can be of great help and it is hoped that the get-to-gether spirit will prevail and that a bigger and better Tecumseh maybe the out come.

RAILROAD COLLISION

D. T. & I. Railroad Scene of Disaster

Wednesday morning at 2 o'clock the people in the south east part of town were awakened from their peaceful slumbers by a fierce crash which on investigation proved to be a collision of freight cars on the D. T. & I.

A section of a freight train was being switched in the yards when the engine gave a shove towards the tresstle bridge.

It being down grade the cars gained momentum as they went. There were two brakesmen on the train, one at each end of the train, the brakesman on the gondola car failed to judge the distance properly with the result that the train ran into a section that was standing on the track. Realizing that a collision would occur he jumped and saved himself unnjured, the brakesman in the rear stuck to his post, and the force of the collision threw him to the other end of the car. He was badly bruised and suffered a sprained ankle.

The collision [illegible] near the west end of the tresstle bridge where three cars of the moving section were hurled from the track, down the embankment

The first car was cut in two and one end was entirely demolished, one of the others turned turtle, and the third lay on its side.

The ca[illegible] barrels of alkali and drums of calcium chloride.

Had the standing section been a rod further on the bridge the cars would have been precipitated into the river, and the freight would have been the death of every fish in the stream for miles.

ABOUT "GALA WEEK"

Not Only Wednesday but Every Night Next Week Will be "Gala Night"

Arrangements are being made for a big "Gala Week" at the Bradley Opera House for the entire week commencing next Monday, May 29th Six of the biggest and best feature programs ever presented in Tecumseh will be given that week starting with the charming Jackie Saunders, the Maude Adams of the screen in the handsomely hand colored film "The Adventures of a Madcap". Taken in the sunshine of California and colored in France, Pathe's "Adventures of a Madcap" makes a most charming picture. All the Wealth of beauty of the Land of Sunshine is brought out in its natural colors through the magic of Pathe color.

On Tuesday May 31st "Nedra" a charming story of adventure by George Barr McCutcheon, author of "Graustark" will be presented, "Nedra" is equally as good and as full of thrilling adventures as was the well known drama "Graustark". We have booked this big feature for Decoration day to assure you of an exceptionally good program for that holiday.

Wednesday evening, May 31st Miss Jackie Saunders will again be presented in a new hand colored photoplay "The Shrine of Happiness". So good was this picture when first presented that it was sent to Paris to be hand colored in the Pathe studios.

Thursday June 1st, Mr. Edwin Arden in the six act American drama "The Beloved Vagabond". Every foot of this photoplay is hand colored, one of the finest films we have ever seen.

Friday night, Florence Reed in A. H. Wood's latest stage success "New York." Story photography and scenes beyond discription. Saturday night our regular program including the fourth of the "Who's Guilty?" series, two screaming comedies and Pathe News.

Oh! Yes! One thing we nearly forgot. We will start our "Gala Week" by presenting for the first time in films Bud Fishers greatest of cartoons "Mutt and Jeff". Monday "Jeff's Toothache."

TIPTON

The Memorial sermon will be preached by Rev. C. H. Brewer at the Methodist church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, The Decoration Day services will be held Monday afternoon May 29 at one thirty o'clock. Rev. Earl R. Rice of Detroit is the speaker. The Tipton band will furnish the music.

F. E. Derby, wife and daughter Geraldine, Miss Frances Snow and Mrs. Eliza Crittendan attended church in Tecumseh Sunday.

The chairmen of decorating and flower committees for Decoration request all who can meet at the Congregational church Saturday afternoon to help arrange for Monday.

The improvement committee of the M. E. church will serve ice cream proceeds to go toward improving the church property.

Miss Geraldine Derby spent a few days with relatives and friends in Detroit and heard Teddy speak.

Miss Evah Linton and friend, Mr. Burnett drove from Jackson Saturday afternoon and spent Sunday at the home of Irving Luce.

H. R. Ladd, wife and son Nelson, Wade VanValkenburg and the Misses Esther and Ella Tingley of North Adrian attended church here Sunday morning.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and neighdors for the many acts of kindness to us in our late affliction, also for the beautiful flowers. To he Rev. W. A. Rex and to all who showed their sympathy by their presence at the funeral of our husband and father.

Mrs. James Eccles,

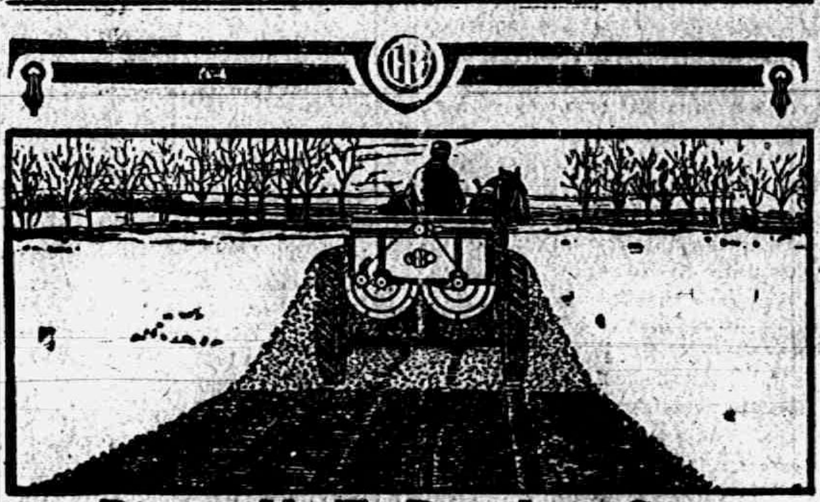
BURNED BY ACID

Many a Michigan mother has probably used this 68-year-old liniment on some member of the family. Maybe it did not happen to be some notably hard case like that of A. M. Millard, of Cortland, N. Y., who was almost burned to death by sulphuric acid, and who said this simple liniment "not only cured him, but removed the scars." Perhaps your mother used this same Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh just to cure a lame back, or to heal a wound, or a sore, or a burn, or to fix up any other external ill. adv



Buy an Up-To-Date Low Corn King Spreader

PLEASE note that in the Low Corn King the box is narrow—only 45 inches in width. The Low Corn King can be driven into a modern barn and loaded directly from the stable. That saves work.

The spread is eight feet or wider. That shortens the unloading time. The manure is thrown well beyond the wheels. That enables the driver to match up the edges of his strips without driving on manure-covered ground. You know what a big advantage that is.

The manure gets two thorough beatings. It lands on the ground in a finely-pulverized condition. The soil immediately takes up the fertilizing properties. There is no loss or waste of valuable fertilizing material.

VACATION

The school year is drawing to a close.

The days of rest and play are at hand for you school children.

All the summer days will not be play days—at least they should not be.

You will have work to do. For many of the tasks you perform you will receive pay.

This money you earn yourself you will not wish to spend hurriedly or carelessly.

You will need a safe place in which to keep it.

So we suggest that you ask father or mother for a dollar now and come to the Lilley State Bank for a savings-book.

You can add to your balance from time to time and in September you will have something to show for your summer.

You cannot mistake the place. It's the Bank with the Chime Clock.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT.

LOUIS B. SCHNEIDER DEAD, AND J. H. LUDLUM OF MARION IND., IN A SERIOUS CONDITION.

Accident occurred at Detroit this morning at 2:35 o'clock.

Tecumseh people were shocked this morning to learn of the death of our fellow townsman, Louis B. Schneider. Full particulars have not yet been ascertained. The Herald received the following details from Detroit.

Mr. Schneider accompanied by J. H. Ludlam of Marion, Ind. were driving north on Woodward Ave. in Mr. Schneiders car, when the car struck a piece of lsippery pavement and Schneider who was driving lost control of his car which jumped the curb and crashed into the front of a confectionery store located at 1366 Woodward Ave. Eye witnesses state that at the time of the accident the car was travelling at a very high rate of speed. The front of the building was demolished and the car was a total wreck.

Mr. Schneider and Mr. Ludlum were picked up in an unconcious condition and taken, to Grace hospital in an auto patrol. Mr Schneider passing away a few moments after their arrival at the hospital. Mr. Ludlum at last reports was still unconcious and in a very serious condition. Mr. Ludlum was manager of the Manchester Bros. Burlesque Co. now playing at the Gayety Theatre in Detroit.

Mr. Schneider left Tecumseh yesterday afternoon driving through to Detroit. His son Louis and Duaine Service left this morning at an early hour and expect to bring his remains back to his home this afternoon.

LIGHTNING FREAKS

During the fierce thunder storm this morning lightning was busy along north Pearl street The home of Richard Moiles was visited and a mirror in the bathroom was shattered and the wall somewhat scorched A piece of the glass was thrown from the bath room where Mrs. Moiles was dressing.

Mrs. Henry Anderson was the next victim. Her telephone wire was burned out. the awning over her west window was burned and a piece of glass was broken from a window under the porch

The next point of interest was in the kitchen where a hole in the floor near the stove showed where the lightning had passed through

At Charles Berry's the well curb was torn out, walks around the house destroyed and entrance made into the house, passing to the bedroom occupied by Mr. Berry where things were scattered around promiscuously. Fortunately at each place the damage was not heavy and none of the occupants of the home were stunned or injured.

MAY PARTY

The young ladies were very busy all day Thursday in arrangements for the success of their May Party Loads of lilac blossoms and branches of maple were used in the decoration of Witherells hall, which was certainly a bower of beauty and sweet fragrance

Many easy chairs and tete-a-tete furnished cozy corners for a quiet chat or a rest between dances numberless Japanese lanterns, fans and parasols were also used in the decorations.

Prompt at 8 o'clock a grand march opened the evenings festivities. In the first feature dance dozens of balloons floated among the dancers and later in the evening came another balloon dance.

The orchestra was screened in by a lattice work covered with the white and purple lilac which with the many colored lights was a charming addition to the scene and then the pretty girls with their dainty gowns, the young men with their jaunty airs and smiling faces, made the onlookers wish that they were young again,

Light refreshments were served at small tables. There were 50 couple in attendance. The music was furnished by a Toledo orchestra.

SOME GOOD ADVICE

Strengthened by Tecumseh Experiences

Kidney disease is too dangerous to neglect. At the first sign of backache, headache, dizziness or urinary disorders, you should give the weakened kidneys prompt attention. Eat litle meat, take things easier and use a reliable kindey tonic. There's no other kidney medicine so well recommended as Doan's Kidney Pills. Tecumseh people rely on them. Here's one of the many statements from Tecumseh people.

W. W. Shurtz, Kilbuck St., Tecumseh, says: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills at different times during the past ten years and they have always given me relief from distressing symptoms of kidney complaint. I have procured my supply of Doan's Kidney Pills from Wright & Son's Drug Store and my experience has been so satisfactory that I willingly give this public account of it."

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mr. Shurtz added: "I willingly re-endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. I have found this medicine acts just as represented."

Price 50c, at all derlers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Shurtz has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Some Farmers Still Use Oil Lanterns to Light Their Barns

Of course—back in the old days—30 years ago—you couldn't get anything better. But—these last few years have so changed living conditions that up-to-date farm families won't be satisfied any longer—with poor light.

The modern farmer is quick to see the value of good light—its safety and the convenience it brings him and his family. There are now hundreds of thousands of farmers who have chosen the for it gives them not only all the fine, bright, inexpensive light they can use—but cooking fuel as well.

Pilot-Carbide-Outdoor Lighting and Cooking Plants

This wonderful machine stands out of doors—on top of the ground, anywhere. It has totally changed the old-fashioned methods of barn and house lighting.

You can now flood your barn with safe brilliant light—instantly. No matches needed. No dangerous lanterns to tip over or upset.

Think what this means to you! Think how much better and quicker you can work, with plenty of good bright light in place of a smoky, dim oil lantern.

You will find the barn lighting feature alone worth the entire investment for the PILOT. And its use in the house, as well, means added happiness—safety—comfort and convenience for your whole family.

Just because your father and grandfather used oil lamps and lanterns is no reason why you should, any longer, put up with their danger and poor light. Light the modern way, the safe way, with the PILOT.

Find out today about this modern light plant. You owe it to yourself. You owe it to your good wife and to your children. You can well afford the little it will cost.

Write for our illustrated catalogs and descriptive booklets giving all the facts.

A Mistake in the Policy of the Bethlehem Steel Company

To the People:

The Senate of the United States has passed a bill to spend $11,000,000 of the People's money to build a government armor plant. The measure is now before the House of Representatives.

> It is said that manufacturers of armor have "gouged" the country in the past, and that a government plant is necessary to secure armor more cheaply.
>
> The mistake of the Bethlehem Steel Company has been that it has kept quiet.
>
> We have allowed irresponsible assertions to be made for so long without denial, that many people now believe them to be proven facts.
>
> We shall make the mistake of silence no longer.
>
> Henceforth we shall pursue a policy of publicity. Misinformation will not be permitted to go uncorrected.

It is and has been the policy of our Company to deal with the American Government fairly and squarely.

We shall henceforth place the details of our relations with the Government before the American People.

> The United States has for twenty years obtained the highest grade of armor and has paid a lower price for it than has any other great naval power.
>
> Figures officially compiled for the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs from the Naval Year Book show that under conditions prevailing just before the European war, the chief naval powers of the world were paying these prices for armor:
>
> England, $503 per ton; France, $460; Germany, $490; Japan, $490; UNITED STATES, $425.

A government plant cannot make armor any cheaper than we can do it; and—

We are prepared to manufacture armor at any price which the Government itself shall name as fair. THAT BEING SO, SHOULD $11,000,000 OF THE PEOPLE'S MONEY BE WASTED TO BUILD A GOVERNMENT PLANT?

HOW TO REGULATE HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Take SAN-YAK. It prevents a bone-like harding of the arteries at ages past 50 years. DR. BURNHAM'S SAN-YAK is the sure way to prevent Paralysis and Apoplexy In its use you have prevented or cured kidney and bladder trouble. It is the greatest in use to prevent the clumsy stiff joints and muscles and for Neuritis and rheumatism and constipation. It has no parallel for quality and results.

Geo. Soper, of Quincy, says: He has been an invalid since out of the hospital three years ago. I could scarcely eat or walk. SAN-YAK has made a new man of me. I was broken out so I was not fit to be seen. SAN-YAK has cured the terrible sores in the flesh and I am free from rheumatism for the first time in years. I can do a nice day's work and not lag at the end of the day.

G. F. Walburn, Wabash engineer of Montpelier, O., says: I was saved from a dangerous operation of the bladder by using SAN YAK two years ago. He says he has not an ache or pain from rheumatism, nor lumbago since he took SAN YAK. I have friends who were cured of kidney trouble after their case was diagnosed as hopeless.

Mrs. J. B. Taylor, of Kendallville, says: I had stomach trouble for years. I was dizzy, sick and so weak I could scarcely walk. I was clumsy by swollen limbs. Since taking SAN YAK I am feeling fine. I am 70 years old and can walk a mile with any of the young folks. Before I took SAN YAK if I went any where I had to ride. I have not had a cold for two years. I have recommended SAN YAK to my friends and it is highly praised by all who have used it.

G. W. Sparks, of Montpelier says: "I took six bottles of SAN YAK about three years ago. I was suffering with great weakness due to kidney and bladder trouble. I am 73 years old and my health is fine since I took the SAN YAK. It is a wonderful regulator for the bowels."

FIRE KILLS FOUR AT PENN COLLEGE, IOWA

Two Others Are Hurt; Loss May Be $100,000.

Oskaloosa, Ia., May 29.—Four men were killed, two injured probably fatally and property damage estimated at between $80,000 and $100,000 wrought by the fire which at four o'clock in the morning broke out in the main building of Penn College here. Robert H. Williams, business manager of the college and state secretary of the Prohibition party, and Harry Oakley, a freshman, were killed. George Minear and Howard Kelley, students, are in the hospital and may die.

According to the chief of police two additional dead are George Raber, a railroad fireman, and an unidentified man. They [illegible] party of half a dozen who were carrying books from the library when the four ton bell in the cupola fell through the building, splitting and collapsing its front walls.

BIG SUITS AGAINST HEARST

Judge Wm. Fenimore Cooper Asks $400,000 Damages from Newspapers.

Chicago, May 29.—Judge William Fenimore Cooper of the superior court filed two suits in the circuit court, each for $200,000 damages, against William Randolph Hearst, Charles S. Stanton, named as publisher of the Chicago Examiner; Roy D. Keehn, counsel for the Examiner, and the Illinois Publishing and Printing company. The suits are based on an editorial attacking Judge Cooper published in Friday's Examiner and American.

The suit filed by Judge Cooper against the Chicago American names the same persons and corporation with the exception of the publisher. William A. Curley is named as publisher in the second suit.

DIVORCE RULE MADE STRICT

Methodist Minister Who Marries Divorced Person Must Answer.

Saratoga Springs, May 29.—A Methodist minister who officiates at the marriage of a divorced person in violation of the rules of the church is guilty of an act of maladministration and may be compelled to answer charges before his conference, according to an amendment to the discipline of the church adopted unanimously by the general conference.

Prof. Scott Nearing Upheld.

Philadelphia, May 29.—The report of the committee in inquiry named by the American Association of University Professors to investigate the case of Professor Scott Nearing and his failure to be reappointed a member of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania was made public Friday night. The report upholds Professor Nearing.

Dr. Shurtz Denied Decree.

Champaign, Ill., May 29.—Dr. S. W. Schurtz was refused a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Lulu Tanner Shurtz, daughter of the late Governor Tanner. He alleged desertion, but Mrs. Shurtz contested, declaring she had not refused to live with him.

GREECE IS STIRRED OVER BULGARS' ACT

Invasion of Territory Followed by Protest.

Saloniki, May 29.—As an outgrowth of the popular indignation resulting from the violation of Greek territory a big meeting has been called here to protest against the action of the German and Bulgarian troops.

Athens, May 29.—Greece's protest against the military operations undertaken by the central powers and Bulgaria in Greek Macedonia was forwarded to the ministers of Greece at Berlin, Vienna and Sofia.

The Bulgarians entered Greek territory unopposed and this has caused violent comment in the press and considerable agitation among the population.

The belief is general here that it is the intention of the Greek government to confine its action to a protest.

WAITE IS RESIGNED TO FATE

Convicted Poisoner Will Be Sentenced to Chair June 1.

New York, May 29.—Convicted of murder in the first degree for poisoning his father-in-law, John E. Peck, a millionaire drug manufacturer of Grand Rapids, Mich., Dr. Arthur Warren Waite is in the Tombs prison, where he will remain until Justice Clarence J. Shearn sentences him on June 1 to death in the electric chair.

Waite declined to make any statement from his cell, but said he might issue "some impression" later. That he was inclined to accept the verdict as final and was resigned to his fate seemed to be indicated by his remark, "This is a great relief," as he was led from the courtroom.

BUSINESS MAN ENDS LIFE

Charles T. Servis of La Crosse Steps Off Street Into Mississippi.

La Crosse, May 29.—Charles T. Servis, sixty years old, many years head of Servis tailors and haberdashers, committed suicide by drowning in the Mississippi river.

Leaving a note to his wife that "He was going to the river," he walked to the foot of Mount Vernon street and stepped off. A few minutes later he was discovered in an eddy by a boy in a rowboat. He raised the man's head above the water and held him until help arrived. Servis, however, was dead.

GIRL AT CALUMET IS KILLED BY LIGHTNING

School House Hit and Pupils In Narrow Escape.

Calumet, May 29.—During a fierce thunderstorm Eleanore, five year old daughter of Charles Bedard, was killed by lightning when the house was struck. Her mother was knocked down, but five other children in the same room were not hurt. Three barns were struck and burned.

Norway, May 29.—During an electric storm which swept this district lightning struck and set fire to the Central School. The fire department was soon on the ground and extinguished the flames.

The school management of the teachers soon got the 400 school children out of the building through fire escapes in about two minutes. The damage was slight.

OWOSSO HAS LABOR FAMINE

Sugar Beet Factories Compete for Workmen.

Owosso, May 29.—So acute has the laborer shortage become that the sugar companies are fighting each other for men.

Five families of aliens that an Owosso sugar company agent induced to come here failed to show up at the appointed time at a Cleveland hotel. He found on looking them up that the agent of another company had offered higher wages.

SOUTH HAVEN GIRL DROWNS

16-Year-Old Miss Drifts Into Deep Water and Sinks.

South Haven, May 29.—Ina Sims, sixteen years old, eldest of four daughters, of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sims, was drowned in Lake Michigan.

She was swimming with a party of young people and while floating on her back drifted into deep water, became frightened and sank.

Dies at 80; Rode on Trains But Once.

Mason, May 29.—Mrs. Ellen Field, eighty years old, widow of Leonard Field, is dead at her home in Alaidon. The only time in her long life that Mrs. Field ever rode on a train was when she came from Rhode Island, sixty years ago. She and her husband left the railroad at Ypsilanti and drove through to the farm in Alaidon.

School Examiners in Dispute.

Muskegon, May 29.—The claim of Theodore Rumbaugh, of Three Rivers, who says he is the oldest school examiner in Michigan, is disputed by James H. Cogshall, of Muskegon. Rumbaugh is seventy-six years of age, and Cogshall seventy-nine years.

Most Religious Books Read.

Jackson, May 29.—An inventory just completed by the public library staff discloses the fact that books on religious subjects led in the number of volumes given out during the last year.

Stockbridge Boy Drowns.

Stockbridge, May 29.—While swimming at Nichols lake with several schoolmates, Raymond Ives, aged sixteen years, son of Luther Ives, was drowned. The boys were diving from a boat.

Light Superintendent Dead.

Bessemer, May 29.—James Kever, superintendent of the Ironwood and Bessemer Light company, dropped dead at his home from heart failure

JEALOUS, TRIPLE TRAGEDY

Prominent Battle Creek Man Kills His Wife, Rival and Himself.

Battle Creek, May 29.—Louis Werstein, Battle Creek society man, shot his friend W. Skinner, a young haberhasher, through the head, as the latter stepped off a train, then he went home, and killed his wife and then himself. Jealousy is supposed to have been the cause of the shooting.

Thus far the only evidence suggesting improper relations between Mrs. Werstein and Skinner has been the statement of this or that person that the couple had been seen together often at Lake Goguac. The Skinner and Werstein cottages are on the same beach, however, and the families have long been on intimate terms. So far as the general public has observed, there have been no evidences of impropriety.

Frost Cracks.

In the annual lists of earthquakes registered at the Harvard seismographic station occasional shocks occurring in winter are noted as due to "frost cracks"—i. e., the sudden opening of fissures in the ground, resulting from freezing. The late Professor Shaler in one of his lectures mentioned the occurrence of a sensible shock at Cambridge some forty years ago, which he traced to a crack in the frozen ground. An apparent earthquake near Akron, O., probably due to a frost crack, was described in the American Geologist, Vol. 1, 1888, while another, which caused a mild panic at Attleboro, Mass., was reported in the Attleboro Sun of Jan. 23, 1903. Professor Woodworth says that "this idea of frost cracks is very widespread in New England as an explanation of many small shocks coming at a time when the frozen ground is known to have cracked open."—Philadelphia Press.

Discomforts of Coaching Days.

Posterity will know nothing of the misery their forefathers underwent in the traveling way, and whenever we hear—which we often do—unreasonable grumblings about the absence of trifling luxuries on railroads we are tempted to wish the parties consigned to a good long ride in an old stagecoach. Why, the worst third class that ever was put next the engine is infinitely better than the inside of the best of them used to be, to say nothing of the speed. As to the outsides of the old coaches, with their roastings, their soakings, their freezings and their smotherings with dust, one cannot but feel that the establishment of railways was a downright prolongation of life.—Surtees (1853).

ALLIES COLD ON TALK OF WILSON

Germany Plans Reply to President's Peace Plea.

ITS FORM IS NOT YET KNOWN

Berlin Reported Appreciative of the Speech of U. S. Executive—Entente Diplomats Are off of Peace Talk and Resent "Meddling" by Outsiders at This Time.

Washington, May 29.—President Wilson's overture for peace in the address he delivered here will be met by an official expression of German appreciation within the next few days.

Whether the expression will take the form of a request for the use of the good offices of the United States will not be known until consideration has been given the matter by the authorities in Berlin.

The German government may decide, in order not to be placed in the attitude of asking inauguration of negotiations, that it is preferable merely to say to Mr. Wilson that his views meet with its hearty approbation and that any steps taken to put them into effect would be in the interest of humanity.

No Reply from Allies.

The allies, on the other hand, will refrain from making any official communication to the United States on the subject.

If the president should transmit a German request for peace it will be answered by a statement of such conditions that the attempt to terminate the war will be rendered abortive. If the president should "suggest or initiate a movement for peace" (all the diplomats here are agreed that his speech was such a suggestion), the allies would at this time reject it.

Indeed, in allied diplomatic circles resentment is expressed that the president, to quote the exact words employed, should have permitted himself to become one of the spokesmen of the German propaganda.

It is a matter of keen regret to allied diplomats that Mr. Wilson should have spoken words which in their judgement will tend to help the German cause by throwing the onus of the continuance of the war on the shoulders of their countries. One neutral diplomat pointed out that the policy of the administration had provoked deep bitterness in Germany and he predicted that a similar bitterness would develop in allied government circles in consequence of the "meddling" character of his efforts.

ILLINOISAN TRIES TO DIE

Providence Prevents Albert L. Pearson from Suiciding at Battle Creek.

Battle Creek, Mich., May 29.—Albert L. Pearson, fifty years old of Carrollton, Ill., tried for hours to take his life and failed. Brought here for mental treatment, he escaped from the custody if his brother, J. H. Pearson, stayed all night in a shack west of the city, and the next morning started to drown himself in the Kalamazoo river.

Every time his head went under his subconscious mind made him swim But, determined to die, he would wade above his head again and swim again. In this way he covered a mile down stream, until his feet struck quicksand and he sat down exhausted, in midstream where the police rescued him. A crust on the quicksand was all that saved him.

ABAS SOLDIER DRINK SIGNS

Descendant of Ethan Allen Opposes Patriotic Booze Ads.

Chicago, May 29.—William C. Dickerson, a descendant of Ethan Allen and a line of fighting men, has written a letter to the commanding officers of the central department asking if they cannot compel the disuse of the signs of breweries and distilleries which insinuate that American soldiers are drinkers.

The sign he refers to advertises a brand of whisky and pictures two soldiers, one in the uniform of General Jackson's men and another in the modern uniform. It bears the inscription, "From Jackson's Soldiers to Funston's Men."

American Girl Set Free.

THINKS HIS WIFE PURLOINED

Benton Harbor Man Tells Chicago Police Stranger Has Stolen Her.

Chicago, May 29.—William L. Beed, a mason contractor, of Benton Harbor, told the police he believed his wife, who went away with a stranger in a green racing car on May 6, has been kidnaped by agents of organized vice.

Beed told Lieutenant Philip Miller of the detective bureau that he and his wife had been happily married five years ago, and that she was lured away by the stranger while she was at the home of a neighbor awaiting the return of her husband, who had been at work in South Bend, Ind. He offers a reward of $100 for information which will enable him to find his wife.

SERBIAN TROOPS REACH SALONIKI

FORCE MOBILIZED AT CORFU

Army Said to Be Well Equipped and in Fine Condition to Take Part in Entente Offensive in Balkans—Bulgars Take Greek Forts Without Resistance.

Paris, May 29.—After crossing the Aegean Sea without loss, the Serbian army in full strength now has been landed at Saloniki, according to a dispatch received here by wireless telegraph.

Serbia's new army has been variously estimated as numbering between 80,000 and 100,000 officers and men. It was reorganized on the Island of Corfu, which is approximately 700 miles distant by water from Saloniki.

Best Regiments Survive.

The Serbian army, totaled about 300,00 men at the outbreak of the war, but this force was greatly depleted as a result of an epidemic of typhus and bitter engagements fought in an endeavor to check the Austro-German and Bulgarian invasion of Serbia and Montenegro.

The remnant of the original armies saved itself by retreating through the Albanian mountains to the eastern shores of the Adriatic. The survivors are reported to have included some of the best Serbian regiments.

Get New Equipment.

On reaching the sea coast the Serbians were transported to the Island of Corfu, off the southern coast of Albania, where they were supplied with new rifles and clothing and efficiently equipped for further service on the Balkan battlefield.

When the reorganization had been completed the entente allies sought permission of the Athens government to transport the soldiers from Corfu to the base at Saloniki, across Greek country, by rail. It would have cut down the length of the journey by some 500 miles, besides lessening the danger of attack on the transports by Teutonic submarines operating in the Adriatic, Ionian, Candian and Aegean seas.

Greece Stands Firm.

Greece, however, refused to allow the troops to cross her territory, taking the stand that it would be a violation of her neutrality, and she is reported to have persisted in her refusal in the face of threats made by the entente allies to employ force.

Two weeks ago an agreement was reached, the entente powers deciding to transport the Serbians to Saloniki by sea.

Bulgars Take Greek Forts.

London, May 29.—At the French headquarters in the Balkans it was announced that Bulgarians had occupied the Greek forts of Rupel, Dragotin and Spatovo and were advancing from Demir-Hissar toward Kavalla.

RESERVE RESOURCES HUGE

Washington, May 29.—The abstract of condition of all national banks in the central reserve and recerve cities as of May 1 shows that their resources have reached another high-water mark, total resources being reported at $7,976,000,000, an increase of $259,000,000 over the call of March 7. The deposits in these national banks were $6,593,000,000, an increase of $249,000,000, while loans and discounts increased only $48,000,000, or from $4,164,000,000 to $4,212,000,000 May 1.

In the central reserve cities of New York, Chicago and St. Louis, deposits increased $186,000,000, while there was an actual reduction in loans for the period of over $24,000,000. In reserve cities deposits increased $62,000,000, while loans increased $73,000,000.

CHARGES ABUSE OF FRANK

Hardware Firm Claims Mail Order House Put One Over on Senator.

Chicago, May 29.—M. L. Corey of Argos, Ind., who the secretary of the National Retail Hardware Dealers' association, has filed complaint with members of congress against Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida, chairman of the joint congressional committee on printing, charging misuse of his franking privilege.

The substance of the charge is that Senator Fletcher supplied his frank to Montgomery Ward & Co. to send out to all its customers agricultural literature relating to a plan for "direct dealing between producer and customer through parcel post service employing mail order methods."

Washington, May 29.—The three Riggs bank officials, on trial here for perjury, were found not guilty after the jury had deliberated nine minutes.

DARNED COPS SPOIL TRADE

Illinois Farmer and $10,000 Thwarted in Plan to Meet "Nephew."

Chicago, May 29.—George W. Cowle, farmer of Moweaqua, got hopping mad at the Chicago police for holding him and $10,000 at the station, while an alleged real estate man, who gave the name of Evans and claimed to be a long lost nephew of Bowle's dead wife, ran from one telephone to another about the city, in the double stunt of trying to connect with Cowle and avoid the police.

It seems that the bank where Cowle kept his money became suspicious when he withdrew so much, and notified a Chicago correspondent who notified the police. Cowle was to get a "$20,000 farm" at Bloomington for his $10,000.

Tuesday., May 30th, our National Decoration Day will be observed in Tecumseh in an appropriate manner. Exercises will be held at the opera house, after which the procession will form for the march to the cemetery and the graves of the Soldiers of the 'Sixties and the Spanish War will be decorated with flowers.

All over the country this day will be fittingly observed and in many places where the feeling of preparedness is strongest demonstrations will be made. The National Spirit will be felt all over our nation. such as has not been felt since the days of the 'Sixties.

Our people have prospered wonderfully, have been content with their daily pursuits and have been too busy piling up wealth to pay much attention to patriotism Now let us set aside this day, refraining from pleasure trips and pay tribute to the Boys of the 'Sixties and the Spanish War Veterans. Let us foster the spirit of patriotism and love of country.

At Morrice in this state there is not one old soldier living ln the town. One by one they are passing away all over our country and soon we will know them no more How fitting that we pay all honor to them today as they march with feeble tread while the graves of their comrades are being covered with flowers May Decoration Day be made a day of consecration to their memory.

BARGAIN DAY

Wednesday will be Bargain Day in Tecumseh and we are expecting a big crwd here. In planning for our Wednesday Bargain Day's this year, the committees in charge have decided to give far better attractions than were seen here last year.

The Clinton band has been engaged to play and there will be both afternon and evening performances on the fore corners of the town.

The afternoon's entertainment will begin at 2 o'clock and the evening at 7:30.

Chief Long Wolf and his band of Indians will be here to entertain you. Chief Long Wolf is assisted by Princess Red Feather, a Mohawk Indian lady and will give a musical act on different instruments.

These people are graduates of vocal and instrumental music of the Haskell Indian School, Lawrence, Kans. If you are a lover of good music and singing, these people can please you. Come and see the War Dance, Sun Dance, Snake Dance, the Indian Wedding, just as performed on the reservation. Wedding ceremony, Courtship Dance, Wedding Dance. Be sure and see the Indian Village.

Four Indians: Chief Long Wolf, Princess Red Feather, Standing Bear and Alexander the Great. Alexander the Great will put on an act that will be sure to please you and will be worth a trip many miles to see. He is claimed to be the only man that ever escaped from the chains of Siberia. There is a standing offer of $50. for any one who can rope, chain or handcuff him so that he cannot escape. Those who have seen him perform say that it is a wonderful act.

Clinton will give you a picture show. Tecumseh will entertain you with something you have'nt seen before. You will have a good time here Wednesday. The merchants are putting on special bargains for Wednesday and it will be worth your time to spend the day in Tecumseh.

[illegible] Jackson, former clerk of Jackson county and a lifelong resident, ended his life by swallowing carbolic acid and inhaling gas at his home.

While wading in shallow water at Hastings, the ten-year-old son of Chester Granger fell in a fit. He died an hour after being rescued by his father.

Mrs. Adeline T. Chambers, who resided near the Allegan-Ottawa county line, has just celebrated her one hundred and third birthday anniversary.

Cadillac Board of Trade has opened a campaign to increase its membership and to engage a secretary who will give all his time to the interests of the city.

Arthur Clark, farmer living at Ludington, narrowly escaped death when a package of dynamite caps in his coat pocket exploded. His unusually heavy clothing saved his life.

Florence Hairurda, a Grand Rapids girl, thought Nick Van Derlaan a Polish fued enemy when he was working at her home and emptied a pail of ice water on his head.

After being out three hours, the jury at Marshall in the Hastings-Horton $5,000 damage suit, in which Miss Hazel Hastings accused her employer's wife, Mrs. Hazen A. Horton, of slandering her, disagreed.

Ezra Levins, in charge of the agricultural department of the Kalamazoo public schools, and John Bursma, a student, were seriously hurt when an automobile driven by Levins went into a ditch near Kalamazoo.

Ethel Pearce, a nurse who disappeared from her home two weeks ago, wandered into St. Mary's hospital, at Marquette, dazed and unable to tell where she had been or what she had done in her absence.

LOUIS B. SCHNEIDER

The last sad rites over all that was mortal of Louis B. Schneider were observed at the home Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. F. Hewitt officiating with burial in Brookside cemetery. The bearers were Henry McClure, Geo. Church, H. S. Temple, R. T. Mead, R. N. Lowe, F. S. Turner.

Mr. Schneider was born in Adrian July 21, 1863 and departed this life in Detroit May 26, 1916. He was the son of George and Wilhelmina Schneider and one of eight children four of whom survive, Mrs. Sofia Juengel of Caro, Mrs. Mary Reh of Adrian, G. A. Schneider, Lansing and Henry Schneider of Breckenridge. June 10, 1891, he was united in marriage to Margaret Smith of Tecumseh. To this union two sons were born Louis and Carl.

Previous to his coming to Tecumseh in 1900 he was engaged in the shoe business in Adrian for about thirteen years. In 1901 the present management purchased the electric light business. And Mr. Schneider affilicted himself withthe business as general manager which position he has filled ever since and at the time of his death was president and one of the stockholders.

The success of the company has been largely due to his management. He has not confined his activities to Tecumseh alone but the companies lines have been extended into Ridgeway, Britton and many miles of service has been given to farmers living to the east of Tecumseh and he has just about completed a deal to connect cumseh alone but the company's lines with Deerfield. The company has now one of the most complete plants in this section of the country with but one piece of machinery a Corliss engine that belonged to the original plant.

Mr. Schneider was deeply interested in anything that was for the advancement of his town and his consul and advice will be greatly missed He was a member of the Lutheran church being confirmed in Adrian a number of years ago. He belonged to the Elks and the Jovans, a national organization of electrical men.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to his family, who have been so greivously afflicted.

WM. A. LOWRY

William A. Lowry passed away Friday afternoon death resulting from an attack of pneumonia, aged 58 years. Mr. Lowry had been a poor health for several months, but had been around until a few days before his death. He leaves a widow and five children, Mrs. Glen Kemp of Tipton, Will Lowry of Detroit, Minnie, Kenneth and Luella at home.

The funeral was held Monday morning at the home, Rev. Rex officiating. Burial in Brookside cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors for their many deeds of kindness to us in our late sad bereavement, especially to those who so kindly furnished their cars for the funeral, also to the singers and those who gave the beautiful flowers.

REUNION OF OLD FOURTH

The reunion of the Old Fourth Infantry will be held in Hudson June 20th, and the Business Men's Association has decided to help the old veterans by defraying the expenses, including meals. Auto rides and other features are also promised.

It is also suggested that merchants make the occasion a gala day, with special inducements to people to come to the city and do their trading.

This may be the last reunion of that famous regiment for the boys who wore the blue are each year getting more feeble. But quite a number have expressed a determination to come to Hudson, and meet the comrades of long ago.

The Great Civilizer.

In many recent editorial contributions and magazine articles it is conclusively proved—were new proof necessary—that the railroad is the most potent of all factors in the civilization of mankind. Not only in a commercial sense, but in an ethical and religious sense, the railway is a pioneer, for it makes possible the intercourse of nations, the broadening of ideas, the seeking of newer and better things and the escape from the undesirable. In the wake of the railway come better conditions of every sort, for better transportation advantages beget better commercial conditions, and they in turn beget more intellectual development and higher ethical standards. That the railway is built primarily as a business investment does not alter the case. No claim was ever made that the railway was an ethical enterprise, but the fact remains, whatever the motive, that the railway is the handmaid of national progress, commercial, intellectual and religious.—New York Mail.

WHAT HAS BECOME OF OUR STATE ROAD?

People in this part of the country have been wondering what has become of our promised state road between Tecumseh and Adrian. Last fall we were promised that work would begin in the spring as soon as the frost was out of the ground.

A few weeks ago surveyors were at work on the Monroe pike and stakes were driven as far east as Tecumseh

This piece of road is nearly as good as a state road especially from the town line in and seems to get attention first, but the town line road leading south from the Monroe pike into Adrian has not yet been surveyed and is really one of the worst in the county. However the following letter seems to indicate that the proposition has not been dropped

The following is a letter from Frank F. Rogers, State Highway Commissioner which bears on this subject

Mr. J. H. Smith,
Pres. Tecumseh State Savings Bank
Tecumseh, Mich.

Dear Sir:

Replying to your letter of May 22nd, in regard to the trunk line from Adrian north to Tecumseh, I would say that this trunk line route has not been abolished Mr J L. Richard, County Surveyor of Lenawee County has orders to make the survey of this road as soon as he can get to it.

Very truly yours,
Frank F Rogers
State Highway Com,

SUFFRAGE ORGANIZATION OF THE SECOND CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

For the purpose of organizing the Second Congressional District, comprising the counties of Lenawee, Monroe, Washtenaw and Jackson, a meeting was held at the home of Mrs Jenny Law Hardy, Tecumseh, on Friday.

Miss Lillian Snedicor, state organizer for the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, was present She told about the Woman's Party, which is being formed to organize the four million voting women of the West, and the coming convention in Chicago at which 30,000 women delegates are expected to be present

The following officers were elected:

Chairman—Mrs Ada Mumford, Adrian

Vice Chairman—Mrs. Jenny Law Hardy, Tecumseh.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Alma Tate Clinton.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Anna Burridge, Tecumseh.

Treasurer—Miss Jennie Buell, Ann Arbor.

ASCENSION DAY

Sunday, June 4th, the Adrian Commandery, Knights Templar, will observe Ascension Day in Tecumseh They will meet at the Masonic Temple at 10:30 a. m, going from there at 11 o'clock to the Presbyterian church where the Commandery will have charge of the services. Rev. W. A. Rex will deliver the sermon

At the close of these services the Knights will form in line and march to the cemetery where the graves of their departed brothers will be decorated.

On their return from the cemetery the Knights will assemble at Hotel Barrett for dinner This is the second time only that these services have been held outside of Adrian.

Theodore Hook and His Chest.

Thomas Moore held the post of registrar in the Bermuda government, but he only held it for a few months and left after appointing a deputy. Another famous man of letters, Theodore Hook, held a somewhat similar position in Mauritius, but left suddenly under a cloud, owing to some irregularities with the treasury chest. It is said of this incorrigible joker that on his passage home he was asked by one of the passengers why he was leaving Mauritius and calmly replied that it was owing to "a little trouble with his chest."—Westminster Gazette.

Expensive Lighting.

It takes 40,650,000 candle power to light up the outside of the Woolworth building. In New York, every night. Six hundred projector lamps, with reflectors covered with silver—not mercury—filled with nitrogen gas, each consuming 250 watts of current and delivering 67,750 candle power, are used in this illumination, which makes the tower visible twenty miles away.—New York World.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Cancer Precautions.

A writer in a medical journal mentions, among the kind of things on the skin which must be observed for cancer, all moles and warts which grow in size; all moles which change their color and grow dark brown or black; all scaling warts, especially on the lips, the ears, the eyelids, the cheeks or the hands. He further states that "perhaps the most frequent excitant of all, so far as skin cancer is concerned, is dandruff. It falls from the scalp and lights on the ear, eyelids, nose, neck, lips and face, and if there is already a scaling spot or a thickening or a wart, a mole or a gland ready to receive the dandruff scale it sets this spot alive with activity, and it goes on to form a skin cancer. Probably 60 per cent of skin cancers are due to this cause, and many a cancer has been prevented and may be prevented by curing the dandruff or by preventing it."

Mrs Inez Tenney Arner who died one year ago today May 31, 1915

One long year has passed away.
Still we are grieving day by day
For our darling so full of love;
Has gone to dwell in Heaven above.

God called her home, It was his will
But in our hearts, she lingers still
Her memory is as clear today,
As in the hour, she passed away.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

At the close of a beautiful Sabbath day, the people gathered at St. Peter's Episcopal church for the memorial service in honor of those who served our country in her time of need and have passed on to the Great Beyond where war and turmoil never more shall greet them.

The living members of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Sons of Veterans were present in a body and listened with close attention to the most excellent sermon delivered by Rev. F. Hewitt

In his sermon he touched on the question of "Preparedness" and impressed upon his hearers the need of being ready for any emergency that might arise. He spoke of the wars of the past, and also of the war in Europe which is now raging with cruel force

The Church was well filled and as the people departed for their homes they each felt that it was good to have been there.

The Boys'Camp conducted under the County Y. M. C. A. has a new site, namely near Waller's Landing on round lake. A very attractive program of activities and speakers are in store for this season. A large attendance is in prospect. Boys 12 to 18 years of age may make application to the county secretary, E. J. Arnot, Adrian for reservation as a camper. In spite of the increased cost of provision, etc., the charges to each boys have been held down to $4.00. Further information will be furnished upon request.

The camp will be held from June 26 to July 3.

The Gegenschein.

The Gegenschein is the name given to one of the most inexplicable objects known to astronomers. It is visible in the night sky under favorable conditions, is rounded in outline and is situated always exactly opposite the place of the sun. It has been termed by one eminent astronomer "a sort of cometery or meteoric satellite" attending the earth. He supposes it to be composed of a cloud of meteors situated about a million miles from the earth and revolving around it it in a period of just one year, so that the sun and the meteors are always on opposite sides of the earth. It is estimated that the size of this ghostly satellite may be nearly the same as that of the planet Jupiter—i. e., about 86,000 miles in diameter.

LIGHTNING PROTECTION

The United States Government's Bureau Of Standards Publishes
These Facts

Lightning loss to property, the greater part in rural districts, is $8,000,000.00 per year.

1500 persons (one-third killed, two-thirds injured) are annually affected by lightning; nine-tenths are in rural districts.

When a stroke of lightning falls on an unprotected house, of average family, the chances are about even that one or more of the members will be killed.

The Place of Greatest Safety is a Well Rodded Building

Lightning Rods on barns reduce the fire hazard 99%.

The Bureau of Standards further recommend the STAR GALVANIZED IRON SECTION ROD as among the most ADVANTAGEOUS SYSTEMS of LIGHTNING PROTECTION.

The Hicks Lightning Rod Co., of Tecumseh, Michigan, has for 57 years represented our Star Galvanized Iron Section Rod in the State of Michigan. The Flag of Denmark.

In the year 1219 King Waldemar of Denmark, when leading his troops to battle against the Livonians, saw, or thought he saw, a bright light in the form of a cross in the sky. He held this appearance to be a promise of divine aid and pressed forward to victory. From this time he had the cross placed on the flag of his country and called it the Dannebrog—that is, the strength of Denmark. Aside from legend, there is no doubt that this flag with the cross was adopted by Denmark in the thirteenth century and that at about the same date an order, known as the order of Dannebrog, was instituted, to which only soldiers and sailors who were distinguished for courage were allowed to belong. The flag of Denmark, a plain red banner bearing on it a white cross, is the oldest flag now in existence. For 300 years both Norway and Sweden were united with Denmark under this flag.

Considerate.

Mrs. Brindle—Now, Mary, I want you to be extremely careful. This is some very old table linen—been in the family for over 200 years and— Mary—Ah, sure, ma'am, you needn't worry. I won't tell a soul about it, and it looks as good as new, anyway.—Chicago News

Getting Up in the Morning.

The truth is that there is no time at which it is pleasing to get up. Getting up in the world is a pleasure, but we refer to getting up from anything between a fifty cent cot and a forty dollar mattress after having tried to indulge, to a point of satiety, a normal appetite for sleep.

To get up willingly is, as Lord Dundreary would say, "something no fellow can do." It simply isn't done and can't be done. Absolutely nobody does it.

Early rising is with some persons a sort of religion, like flagellation. But they, like the rest of us, unless they are afflicted with a loss of the normal capacity for sleep, find the moment of rising painful, however compensating the pleasure of boasting their early rising, the joy of bullyragging and belittling persons who frankly do not like at any time to get up, although they do it heroically every morning.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Making Friends.

Blessed are they who have the gift of making friends, for it is one of God's best gifts. It involves many things, but, above all, the power of going out of one's self and seeing and appreciating whatever is noble and loving in another.—Thomas Hughes.

Philadelphia and Carpets.

More than a third of all American carpets are woven in Philadelphia, which, it is claimed, leads any other city of the world in the volume of production. Wilton, in England, has given its name to one of the most widely known and useful rugs in the world, but now the Wilton rug producing center of the world is in Philadelphia. Axminster, too, gave its name to a carpet, but it long ago ceased to produce any of it. Brussels likewise is known all over the earth for its carpet, but Brussels does not begin to produce the carpets and rugs which are turned out in Philadelphia. Philadelphia enterprise embarked in the carpet business while Washington was president of the United States, but it was not until more than half a century later that Pennsylvania led all the states in carpet production. As early as 1791 there was a factory in Philadelphia engaged in the manufacture of Axminster and Turkey carpets. China and Russia send to Philadelphia most of the long, coarse wool used in the manufacture of the finest Wiltons.—Argonaut.

More Urgent.

"Daughter, don't you want to improve your mind?"

"Of course, ma, but I'm busy with my complexion now." — Kansas City Journal.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country thean all other disease put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitional disease, and therefore requires constitional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. G. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address

TECUMSEH EVIDENCE FOR TECUMSEH PEOPLE

The Statements of Tecumseh Residents are Surely More Reliable Than Those of Utter Strangers

Home testimony is real proof.

What a friend or neighbor says compels respect.

Here's a Tecumseh man's statement.

And it's for Tecumseh people's benefit.

Such evidence is convincing.

That's the kind of proof that backs Doan's Kidney Pills.

A. C. Aylesworth, W. Chicago St., Tecumseh, says: "About four years ago, I had an acute attack of lumbago and my kidneys were disordered. I, at length heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and procuring a supply at C. A. Wright & Son's Drug store, I began using them. In a short time I was relieved. I have had no no return attack of the trouble. I hope other kidney sufferers will read my statement and be led to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Aylesworth had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Troublesome Tonsils.

Rheumatism is only a minor consequence of enlarged tonsils. Tuberculosis, asthma, epilepsy, articular rheumatism, goiter, valvular heart disease, stomach and intestinal ulcers, gallstones, glandular troubles and a dozen other serious or even fatal diseases are caused directly or are materially predisposed to by infection originating in the tonsils. The cure is simple. Have them either amputated or atrophied. Radical removal is more effective than slower shrinkage. But get rid of them in any event if they persist in occupying more than their proper share of space and attention. The operation in efficient hands is quick, safe and certain. And if the tonsils reappear the operation or the shrinkage treatment can be repeated.

URGES PRAISE FOR FRANCE

Resolution Offered In Congress Blames Germany for War.

Washington, May 29.—A resolution declaring the vast majority of the people of the United States believe Germany and Austria precipitated the present great war and asking congress to congratulate France and her allies "for punishment of international faithlessness" was introduced in the house by Representative Gardner.

A Test of Youth.

You often see a woman at the market pinching the end of a chicken's breastbone to find out how tender—in other words, how young—the fowl is. Oddly enough, the same test with human beings is one of the most reliable known. If in advanced life the lower end of your breastbone feels elastic when pushed inward, you may assume that no important changes have yet taken place in your arteries or otherwise in your anatomical makeup.

The human breastbone is shaped like an ancient Roman sword, and the upper part of it is like the sword handle. Its point is a piece of cartilage, which anatomists call the "xiphoid" cartilage. The early hardening and stiffening of it indicate that the changes that accompany old age have prematurely begun.—Youth's Companion.

Insect Sits on Its Eggs.

Family matters in the case of insects usually mean only the depositing of eggs in suitable situations for the independent development of the offspring, the parent insects often dying before the young appear. The earwig, however, provides a remarkable exception to the general rule, for it sits upon its fifty or more eggs until they are hatched, just as a bird would do, and, moreover, if the eggs get scattered it carefully collects them together again. In the early months of the year, when digging the soil, female earwigs may frequently be found together with their batch of eggs. At the slightest sign of danger the young ones huddle close to their mother, hiding beneath her body so far as it will cover so large a family.—Strand Magazine.

Insect Wonders.

Nothing can exceed the perfection of the minutest parts of the insect organization in general. The finest strand in a spider's web, which can scarcely be seen, is said to be composed of no less than 4,000 threads. On a single wing of a butterfly have been found 100,000 scales and on that of a silkworm moth 400,000, each of these minutes scales being a marvel of beauty and completeness in itself. So thin are the wings of many insects that 50,000 placed over each other would only be a quarter of an inch thick, and yet, thin as they are, each is double.

Elephants In Uganda.

"Elephants in Uganda have a peculiar aspect that I have not noticed elsewhere," writes a traveler. "They cover their bodies, as a protection against flies, with the bright red volcanic dust contained in the soil. This gives them a remarkable appearance, as instead of being a slaty gray, as in the Nile valley, their color when thus covered with dust resembles that of a chestnut horse."

His Birthday Present.

Fair Customer—I want a birthday present for my husband. Dealer—Yes, mum. How would this old clock suit you? Fair Customer—Let me see. I've got a corner in my boudoir that will just do for it! And I've been wanting an old clock for a long time. Yes, that will do!

Unhappiness.

They who have never known prosperity can hardly be said to be unhappy. It is from the remembrance of joys we have lost that the arrows of affliction are pointed.—Emile Zola.

Not Jealous.

Mrs. Jawback—John, I do believe you are jealous of my first husband. Mr. Jawback—Well, no; I don't believe I'd call it jealousy. Envy is the word.

The only wealth which will not decay is knowledge.—Langford.

Crab Locomotives.

The queerest locomotives are the types used in mining and called "crabs." Gliding into the black galleries of coal mines and halting at a crevice in the wall from which issues the distant ring of pick and shovel, the crab lets out a flexible tentacle (a steel cable) for perhaps 200 or 300 feet, drawing it back presently with a car of coal in tow. Feeling into the holes, first on one side, then on the other, it moves along and never fails to secure its prey. Finally, with a dozen or more cars in its wake, it proceeds to the shaft or outlet and delivers its booty to the crusher.

These crabs operate by trolley conductors. They run through the main passages of the mine. Each crab is furnished with an electrically operated drum, on which are carried 200 or 300 feet of steel cable. This is hauled into the side passages or drifts by a man, who couples the end to a loaded car, then gives a signal, and the crab does the rest.—George Frederick Stratton in St. Nicholas.

Eccentric Paving.

It is related that when Maximilian Emanuel succeeded to the throne of Bavaria he celebrated the event by causing one of the roads leading to his palace to be paved with plates of burnished copper. This, gleaming in the sunshine, gave all the effect of the more precious metal—gold.

We are told also that Louis XIV. paved one of the courts at Versailles with squares of silver, each of which had recorded upon it some triumph of the French arms. In the center of the court stood a large tablet of gold in representation of the luxurious monarch's favorite emblem—the sun. Memoirs of the time of Louis make mention of a lodge erected to the love of his youth, the fair Louise de la Valliere. The approach was paved with mirrors, wherein was painted an allegory setting forth the undying devotion of the king to Louise.

In court at Mason Reverend Hiram Voorhies, former pastor of the Locke township Free Methodist church, confessed to slandering Miss Cecil Cobb, when he agreed to the entering of a judgment of six cents in the $10,000 damage suit which had been brought against him.

G. A. Woodford, Menominee, 67 years old, cranked his own automobile in the garage when the self-starter failed. The machine, in gear, moved forward, crushing Woodford against the wall. Both legs were broken, and other injuries may cause fatal results.

Three years ago, Arthur Stephenson, a Bay City young man, was run into by an automobile and his left leg below the knee was crushed. The leg, continuing to give trouble, has just been amputated below the knee and two rusty shingle nails were drawn from the bone of the amputated portion.

E. K. Converse, of Menominee, aged 39, head of the business department of the high school, was knocked from his bicycle by an auto. The machine dragged Converse along the pavement, breaking his leg and injuring his back. Converse is in the hospital opposite a seven year old son just operated on for appendicitis.

Was Troubled at Night

Painful, annoying bladder weakness usually indicates kidney trouble. So do backache, rheumatism, sore, swollen or stiff muscles or joints. Such symptoms have been relieved by Foley Kidney Pills. Henry Rudolph, Carmi, Ill., writes: "Since taking Foley Kidney Pills I sleep all night without getting up." Sold everywhere in Tecumseh. adv

Rheumatic Pain Stopped

The drawing of muscles, the soreness, stiffness and agonizing pain of rheumatism quickly yield to Sloan's Liniment. It stimulates circulation to the painful part. Just apply as directed to the sore spots. In a short time the pain gives way to a tingling sensation of comfort and warmth. Here's proof—"I have had wonderful relief since I used your Liniment on my knee. To think one application gave me relief. Sorry I haven't space to tell you the history. Thanking you for what your remedy has done for me."—James S. Ferguson, Philadelphia, Pa. Sloan's Liniment kills pain. 25c at druggists.' adv

Keeping up to the Mark

"Spring fever" is not always a joke. If you feel dull and sluggish, tired and worn out, suffer from backache or weak back, rheumatism, sore muscles, stiff joints or other indication of kidney trouble, it will pay you to investigate Foley Kidney Pills. They are highly recommended as prompt and efficient aids to health. Sold everywhere in Tecumseh. adv

To Rid Child of Worms

Don't scold the fretful, nervous child. Often its due to worms. Get rid of these by giving one-half to one lozenge Kickapoo Worm Killer, a laxative worm candy. Give only plain nourishing food, lots of out-door exercise and put to bed early. Watch stools and continue giving Kickapoo Worm Lozenges, they will positively remove the worms. 25c at druggists.' adv

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, High Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and consider myself in a truly normal condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills ten months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 16-year-old girl."

Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

THE DOLLARS THAT DOUBLE THE OPPORTUNITIES

ARE THE DOLLARS YOU SAVE NOW

Don't let someone else with no more initiative than you "cash in" on the opportunities that you might seize and gain by.

It's money and credit you really need to prove yourself—and you can have both.

You're entitled to a profit from every "spare" dollar you receive—but it's up to you to get it by putting it where it's safe from the spending impulse—so it will earn interest, grow and establish credit.

A safe and profitable place is the Tecumseh State Savings Bank—and it's just as open to you as the Post Office. Every officer in the "Friendly Bank" is a courteous officer.

EXPLAINS "SAVING" CLAUSE

Head of Trainmen Says It Is to Guard Against Reduction.

New York, June 5.—The joint conference of railroad managers and heads of the four trainmen's brotherhoods on the demands of the employes for an eight-hour basic pay day opened with an explanation by A. B Garretson, spokesman for the men, of what is known as "the saving clause."

This privilege is, said Garretson, that, whatsoever settlement is reached, it shall not cause a reduction in pay schedules on any road which may be higher than those provided for in the settlement. Working conditions under existing rules are being compared with conditions as they would prevail under the proposed new schedules when the conference adjourned.

EFFORT TO KILL WIFE FAILS

Muskegon Heights Man Shoots Her, but Is Wounded by Policeman.

Muskegon, June 5.—After having sent three bullets from his revolver crashing into the back of his nineteen-year-old wife, from whom he was on the eve of separation, shot a boarder through the arm before the weapon was wrested from him and then attempted to kill Police Chief M. L. Phillips, of the Heights, with an ax, Wm. Farrington, a cafe owner was shot.

The officer, cornered in the backyard of the Fairbanks property, shot the cafe proprietor through the left lung and again through the head. The uplifted ax dropped cross Fairbank's forehead and inflicted another serious injury. Mrs. Fairbanks will recover, but Fairbanks will die.

ASCENSION DAY

ADRIAN COMMANDERY KNIGHTS TEMPLAR VISIT TECUMSEH SUNDAY

Service in Presbyterian Church with 75 Knights in line.

About 75 Knights Templar from the Adrian Commandery visited Tecumseh Sunday for Ascension Day services. They were entertained at the Masonic Temple until 11 o'clock when they marched to the Presbyterian church, headed by the Adrian Imperial Band.

The services were under the direction of Prelate Roscoe Swift. An organ prelude by Burton Garlinghouse was followed by the processional hymn, "Soldiers of Christ Arise," after which a ritualistic service was given by the Prelate and Sir Knights, the Confessional Psalms for the day, the Creed, Collect for the day and responsive reading, W. S Dickinson sang "Not Ashamed of Jesus" as an offertory solo

After the program and the singing of an anthem, Rev. Rex welcomed the Knights and expressed the honor conferred by their visit to Tecumseh. While he knew nothing of their secret work yet he knew of their belief in a general way and said if they lived up to their motto, "In hoc signo vinces," they would be entitled to a place in any church in the land. Since 1118 they have been known by three names, "The Poor Soldiers of Christ," "The Knights of the Temple" and by their present title of "Knights Templar."

Rev Rex took for his text Rev. 3:21, "To him that overcometh, will I grant to sit with me in my throne; even as I also overcame, and am set down with My Father in His throne."

He made mention of the terrible conflict raging in Europe and of other wars of history. He said they never had settled anything, that it was merely brute force contending and that the present war could only be settled by the Peace Conference. The brains of men would settle it He thought we had much to learn from Germany in their obedience to law, but if Germany continued with some of the measures they were following they would deserve defeat. He condemned England for the execution of the Irish revolters.

He thought this country had achieved a great victory in keeping out of this conflict. He did not believe in militarism for this country of ours, but that we needed adequate preparedness to protect our country and our people. Roosevelt's doctrine is too radical and Bryan's too mild. We need a policy between to be ideal. Militarism would be a step into the yesterdays and not into the tomorrows This country has too much dollar diplomacy.

He spoke of the life of Christ, how he went about doing good and how he conquered without the use of the sword that his teachings were worth while, that the sacrifices of his twelve disciples were worth while, that his sufferings in Gethsemene, his death upon the cross. his ascension into Heaven were all worth while, as these have been felt throughout the ages for good.

If the nations of the earth would adopt the motto of the Knights Templar and conquer by the Sign of The Cross, they would prosper and avoid any necessity for war. He urged the Knights to follow the teachings of Christ whom they emulate in their order and live up to the teachings set forth in their ritual

Rev. Rex' sermon throughout was a grand appeal to the higher and nobler teachings of Christ and of the order of Knights Templar

Prayer and Benediction was followed by the Recessional hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers." The Knights then formed in line and marched to the cemetery. Arriving there, they formed a hollow square about the grave of their late brother Seaton W. Anderson where the final exercises were given.

After the decoration of the grave, the line was re-formed and the Knights marched to the Barrett House where dinner was served. Just as the sun went down the company motored to their homes in Adrian, leaving behind them the memory of a beautiful day.

FROM THE LONG AGO.

In the early fifties the warehouse formerly occupied by Slayton & Son and now by the Co-Operative Association, was used as a shipping station by J. Shepherd & Co., and while looking over old papers and books, Chas. Slayton came across their shipping book which we have now in the office.

The book is very interesting, recalling as it does so many of the old settlers. We find among the names of those shipping goods from this point Albert Anderson, B. J. Bidwell, Peter Aten, John Usborne, Asa Rosecrans, C. A. Stacy, Tindall & Slayton, Sam'l Rundell & J. Tilden, J. B. Hampton, G. D. Perry, N. A. Gillespie & J. H. Schreder, Philip Kehoe, James E. Estes, Arnold Smeltzer, John C. Smith and many others whose names are familiar.

Among the goods shipped wheat and flour take the lead. Boots, shoes and leather make a good second, then whiskey, five barrels at a time, is mentioned quite often, also firkins of butter, casks of potash, barrels of apples, household goods, burning fluid, etc.

Mention is made of the Brooklin flouring mill, the Atlas mill at Clinton, Tecumseh and Brownville mills and Raisin mill.

Teams were used to move these goods many times and we find the names of C. A. Stacy's team, A. Anderson's, H. Marvin's teams. The name of teamsters, Haviland and Clark. No price is given of the goods, just the number of pounds shipped.

Later in the book we find a memoranda of the Kirby American Harvester received from the Buffalo Agricultural Machine Works with the names of purchasers in 1863.

The book is in good condition and the writing clear and distinct, and one would enjoy looking it over as a relic of earlier days in Tecumseh.

HONORS TO THE OLD SOLDIERS

Washington, D. C., June—: The pretty custom of rendering an officer's salute to all veterans of the Civil War when they are reorganized on the street, started by enlisted men of the United States Marine Corps, may be made compulsory for all enlisted men of whatever service arm if the joint resolution introduced into the House by Representative L. C. Dyer, of Missouri, passes.

Sergeant Edward A. Callan, of the United States Marine Corps, is the author of the resolution which will require enlisted men of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps to salute the veterans of war from '61 to '65.

ASK HUGHES TO BREAK SILENCE

Roosevelt Ultimatum Is Sent to Court Justice.

THIRD PARTY IS THREATENED

Progressives Almost Persuaded That Roosevelt Will Not Be Named by Republicans—Van Valkenbergh and White Join in Demand for Hughes Statement—Gardner Is Surprised.

Chicago, Ill., June 5.—Roosevelt or Hughes.

That's the way the Republican situation still shapes up—with the Old Guard the deciding factor. As the state delegations pour into town the activities center mainly on the Hughes candidacy. Some of them were bullish and some bearish for the Hughes stock, but the leaders detected little change in underlying conditions.

The real conferences that may serve to clarify the situation have started, but the leaders assert that with 650 uninstructed and unpledged delegates in the convention they may be "in the dark" until the balloting has started.

Ball Rolling for Hughes.

The Hughes men started the ball rolling and prepared to organize their forces and to get a real line on the strength the justice may expect as first choice and as second. The guard and the managers of the "sons" continued their informal conferences with the Roosevelt forces with a view of getting their support in heading off Hughes.

Moose Wants to Know.

Here are the important developments of the day:

First—Colonel Roosevelt notified his followers over the telephone that he, for one wouuld not support Hughes unless Hughes would declare himself definitely. The colonel said he had picked one gold brick, meaning William H. Taft, and he did not propose to pick another.

Second—William Allen White, leader of the uncompromizing Progressives, said: "We will take Hughes if he convinces us by a straight-out statement that he is not another Wilson. We are satisfied with his record, but we want to know where he is on preparedness and foreign policy. And if he doesn't tell us we won't nominate him."

Van Valkenbergh Demands Statement.

Third—E. A. Van Valkenbergh, editor of the Philadelphia North American and a field marshal in the Progressive ranks, announced in so many words that unless Hughes comes across with an announcement acceptable to the Progressives a third ticket will be named, with Roosevelt at the head of it.

Fourth—Augustus Gardner, who is fighting for Roosevelt inside the convention, announced his horror at the lack of Roosevelt organization. He said that unless the colonel comes to Chicago and takes charge all is lost.

BRITAIN CLAIMS NAVAL VICTORY

Admiralty Report Says Germans Lost Eighteen Ships.

WERE CHASED BACK TO COVER

London Claims Enemy's Losses Were Heavier Than England's, "Not Merely Relatively, but Absolutely"—Says 2 Battleships, 5 Cruisers, 9 Destroyers and U-Boat Sunk.

London, June 5.—Great Britain officially claimed the victory in the great naval battle of Jutland, fought last Wednesday off the Skager Rack. The admiralty issued an official statement, saying the German losses in ships were heavier than the British.

The statement follows:

"Until the commander in chief has had time to consult with the officers engaged and to write the full dispatch, any attempt to give a detailed history of the naval engagement which began on the afternoon of the 31st of May and ended on the morning hours of the 1st of June, would evidently be premature. But the results are quite plain.

Germans Took to Flight.

"The grand fleet came in touch with the German high-seas' fleet at 3:30 o'clock on the afternoon of the 31st of May. The leading ships of the two fleets carried on a vigorous fight in which the battle cruisers, fast battleships and subsidiary craft all took an active part.

"The losses were severe on both sides, but when the main body of the British fleet came in contact with the [illegible] period sufficed to compel the latter, who had been severely punished, to seek refuge in their protected waters.

"This maneuver was rendered possible by the low visibility and mist, and although the grand fleet now and then was able to get into momentary contact with their opponents, no continued action was possible.

"They continued the pursuit until the light wholly failed, while the British destroyers were able to make a successful attack on the enemy during the night.

Searched for Wrecks.

"Meanwhile Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, having driven the enemy to port, returned to the main scene of action and scoured the sea in search of disabled vessels.

"By noon of the next day, the first of June, it became evident that nothing more could be done, and he returned therefore to his bases, 400 miles away, re-fueled his fleet and on the evening of June 2 was again ready to put to sea.

"The British losses already have been fully stated, and there is nothing to add to or subtract from the latest account published by the Admiralty.

Enemy Losses Hard to Learn.

"The enemy losses are less easily determined. That the accounts they have given the world are false is certain. We cannot yet be sure of the exact truth, but from such evidence as has come to our knowledge the Admiralty entertains no doubt that the Germon losses were heavier than those of the British, not merely relatively to the strength of the two fleets, but absolutely.

"There seems to be the strongest ground for supposing that included in the German losses are two battleships, two dreadnaught battle cruisers of the most powerful type, two of the latest light cruisers, the Weisbaden and Elbing, a light cruiser of the Rostock type, the light cruiser Frauenlob and at least nine destroyers and a submarine."

This makes a total of eighteen vessels.

GUILTY OF MURDERING GIRL

Jury Convicts Kansas Farm Hand for Slaying School Teacher.

Syracuse, Kas., June 5.—Archie Sweet, a farm hand, was found guilty of first degree murder for the killing of Miss Nellie J. Byers, a Grant County school teacher.

Under the verdict Sweet would be sentenced to the penitentiary for life. His attorneys gave notice of an appeal. The body of the school teacher, who was twenty-three years old, was found in the weeds on a lonely road in October, 1912, near here. She had been strangled to death. Sweet surrendered after bloodhounds had been put on his trail, but maintained his innocence.

Death of Royal Gorge Builder.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 5.—Sidney A. Butler, civil war veteran and the engineer in charge of construction of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad line through the Grand Canyon of the Arkansas, which is better known as the Royal Gorge, is dead at his home here. Mr. Butler was sixty-nine years old. He was born in Milwaukee.

American Officer Is Safe.

Baltimore, Md., June 5.—A cablegram was received here by relatives of Lieutenant Commander Powers Symington, United States naval attache in London, who was reported on board a British battleship sunk in the North Sea, announcing he was safe in London

JAMES AND WESCOTT AGAIN

Same Democratic Chairman and Nominator as at Baltimore.

St. Louis, June 5.—United States Senator Ollie M. James of Kentucky will be permanent chairman of the Democratic National Convention, which convenes in St. Louis at the Coliseum, June 14. John W. Westcott, attorney general of New Jersey, will nominate President Wilson for re-election. This is stated authoritatively by members of the Arrangements Committee of the Democratic National Committee.

This program makes for a historical repetition. Pames presided at Baltimore four years ago when Wilson was nominated and Westcott nominated Wilson.

COURT RULING BARS FALSEHOOD IN ADS

Upholds Monteith Act, Banning Deceptive Statements.

Lansing, June 5.—State officials are discussing a decision of the supreme court by which the Monteith act, better known as the "general deceptive advertising law," was held valid.

The Monteith bill is perhaps the strongest "pure advertising" law in the country. Unlike many others that have been tried and found wanting straight newspaper advertising is the smallest part of what the law is after. It prohibits false statements, or any statement of facts which may be misleading, in any sort of advertising, newspaper, circular, pamphlet, letter poster, placard or any document given to the public, if so placed that the public [illegible] it. Any commodity, coming under the classes of merchandise, services and securities (and this covers practically everything), must be advertised honestly or not at all.

The law was attacked by a Detroit grocer who alleged that an information against him for publishing an advertisement, by inference only misleading, was illegal. The court held the law good on every point attacked, and held further that the very information against him was good under the law.

LAKE SCAFFOLD FALL FATAL

Michigan Man Who Also Falls Is Revived After Being Taken Out.

Chicago, June 5.—Harry Paxton, a painter, was drowned in the lake when a scaffold on which he was standing while painting the name "Illinois" on a vessel owned by the Northern Michigan Transportation company, fell, dropping Paxton and Kay Hansen of Manistee, Mich., into the [illegible] of the Chicago avenue station ambulance corps were able to revive Hansen, who kept himself afloat after the fall.

PACKARD CAPITAL IS RAISED

Stockholders Vote an Increase of Common to $21,000,000.

Detroit, June 5.—Stockholders of Packard Motor Car company authorized an increase of $5,000,000 in the common stock of the company. The increase makes the total capitalization $21,000,000.

Henry B. Joy, who recently retired from the presidency, was elected chairman of the executive board.

Row Over Woman Is Fatal.

Cheboygan, June 5.—An auto ride, too much liquor and a quarrel over a woman resulted in the death by shooting of Charles Perue at the hands of John Lafrance, at Lafrance's camp in Maple Grove township, where Perue was employed.

Arrest Father and Son for Arson.

Muskegon, June 5.—Charles C. Johnson, of Whitehall, and his son, Louis, of Muskegon, proprietors of the Johnson Milling company, were arrested on a charge that they set fire to the store and mill of their Whitehall competitor, Reed Brothers, about two months ago, occasioning a $15,000 loss.

Mendon Bank Is Robbed.

Three Rivers, June 5.—Robbers blew the safe of the Mendon First State Savings bank, and escaped with $400 and a quantity of revenue stamps.

Escanaba Lumberman Killed.

HOW QUEEN MARY WAS SUNK

German Concentrated Fire Caused Explosion—Lost in Two Minutes.

London, June 5.—The manner in which the British battle cruiser Queen Mary came to its end is described by east coast town correspondent of the Weekly dispatch.

The ship, according to this correspondent, was sunk by the concenrated gun fire of the German capital ships causing its magazine to explode with terrific force. The forward part of the ship was blown away almost bodily and the Queen Mary went down in less than two minutes.

REPORTS BIG GERMAN LOSS

Teutonic Survivor Picked Up Says 20 Torpedo Boats Were Sunk.

Copenhagen, June 5.—The steamer Para arrived here, having picked up a raft aboard which were three German survivors from the torpedo boat V-48. They had clung to the raft for forty-eight hours and were semi-conscious when rescued.

They reported that ninety-nine of the V-48 crew perished and that in all about twenty German torpedo boats were destroyed.

MAY SOO TRAFFIC IS RECORD

Last Month's Tonnage Was Heaviest of Any Month in History.

Sault Ste. Marie, June 5.—The statistical statement issued for the month of May, 1916, of traffic through the canals at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Ontario shows the heaviest traffic for one month yet recorded, 12,293,476 tons passed through the canal.

Iron ore, grain and wheat continue to head the list, all showing a tremendous increase over May of last year. Of iron ore May, 1915, showed 4,906,788, and May 1916, 8,144,550 tons; grain, 1915 5,147,071; 1916, 15,837,140; wheat, 1915, 13,267,497; 1916, 37,333,403.

SCHOOL MEETING.

Called for Monday Evening, June 19th.

Elsewhere in this issue appears a cal for a special meeting of the voters of School District Number 7, for the purpose of considering and determining upon the purchase of a site to be used for the schoolhouse recently voted by [illegible]

The meeting is called for Monday June 19th., at 7:30 o'clock at Grange Hall. Although the proposed site mentioned in the call is what is commonly known as the Brewer Foundry Property, and this location seems to be the best available one for our new school, still it is up to the voters to decide whether or not they want it here. A two thirds vote of the District is needed to carry a new location.

Sentiment seems to be centering about the land surrounding Monument Park for the location of the new school. In advocating this location the Board have tried to put up to the District a site which would please the larger portion of the people, which would be as near central as possible, one which would provide ample play ground facilities for the pupils and one which would give our new schoolhouse the finest possible surroundings.

Many have opposed this Brewer site because of the noise from passing trains and the dust from the highway. If you understand the construction of the new building you will see how these objections will be largely removed. This new building will be built with a modern ventilating system. A fan system of ventilation will be installed which takes the fresh air into the building and distributes it through every room and hall forcing the dead air out making a complete change of air every few minutes. With this system in use windows are not thrown open as is the custom in buildings not ventilated with the modern system. It is plain to see how this would lessen the chances of filling the room with dust from the highway and would also deaden the sound from the passing trains.

Come to the school meeting, ask puestions. Someone will be there to explain some of these objections. If this is not your choice your opportunity of expressing yourself and voting for your favored location will be on Monday evening, June 19.

The Difference.

"Queer, isn't it, what difference an important little things in themselves will make?"

"Like what, for instance?"

"Like stripes on men's clothes. It makes all the difference in the world whether they run down or across."—Detroit Free Press.

Dr. Johnson's Appearance.

Dr. Johnson, who was extremely careless of his personal appearance called at the house of a friend one night to induce him to call with him upon Goldsmith. The philosopher was sprucely dressed, as neat in every way as any one could wish, and his friend, noticing the change, inquired why he had got himself up so spick and span. "Why, sir," replied Dr. Johnson, "I hear that Goldsmith, who is a very great sloven, justifies his disregard of cleanliness by quoting my practice, and I am desirous this night to show him a better example."

Consistency.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs Torkins, "did you forget to bring the things I told you to bring from the store?"

"No. This is one time I carried out instructions to the letter. Here's the whole bundle."

"Oh, I'm so sorry. I've changed my mind about wanting. I was sure you'd forget as usual. It's so hard to depend on a man!"—Washington Star.

Didn't Need It.

A book canvasser went into a barber shop and asked the proprietor if he could sell him an encyclopedia.

"What's that?" asked the barber.

"It's a book that contains information on every subject in the world."

There was a victim in the chair, and he put in feebly, "He doesn't need it!"

Plenty on Hand.

"Have you ever wondered about your husband's past?"

"Dear me, no. I have all I can do in taking care of his present and worrying about his future."—Boston Herald.

Sinclair Inn

Story of a Christmas House Party

By SARAH BAXTER

It was Christmas eve. A young lady, plainly dressed, emerged from Sinclair station and called a cab.

"Take me to the Sinclair House," she said to the cabman.

There were two houses in the place, one the Sinclair inn, the other the residence of Mrs Sinclair, a rich and fashionable woman. The hotel had been named for the Sinclair family, who had for generations been the mainstay of the town. Mrs. Sinclair, like most fashionable women of those days, had taken up a fad in the servant problem. Her theory was, that servants should be treated with the same consideration as governesses, secretaries and persons of that ilk. They should associate with their employers, in small families, where there were but one or two persons, eating at the same table with them.

But Mrs. Sinclair was endeavoring to work out her theory for others, not herself. In her homestead in the village of Sinclair—everything was Sinclair in the place—her servants treated her with the utmost deference. It happened that when the lady who had just arrived at the station, Miss Mildred Abercrombie, was being driven to the Sinclair House Mrs. Sinclair was entertaining a Christmas house party. The cabman, who was very stupid and a recent comer to the place, got the two houses mixed in his mind and drove Miss Abercrombie to the private house.

Now, it happened that several of the guests were sitting in the wainscoted hall before a huge fireplace, on the hearth of which blazed the Yule log. Naturally they were merry, and their principal amusement was cracking jokes at one another. When therefore Miss Abercrombie entered and asked if the proprietor were in, one of the young men, Mr. Jack Edwards, arose [illegible] "I am the clerk. Would you like a room?"

"Yes; I would like a room for the holidays."

The party sitting before the fireplace repressed smiles or hid them while Mr. Edwards took the lady's handbag and other light articles, set them in a corner, handed her a chair and said:

"Mrs. Sinclair runs this house. I will see her, and a maid will come and show you to your room."

With this he vanished and reported to the hostess that a pretty girl had arrived who had mistaken the house for a hotel and it would be jolly good fun to permit her to remain for awhile in ignorance. Mrs. Sinclair, who felt the responsibilities of an entertainer, seized upon the idea with alacrity, called a maid and, going to the new arrival, welcomed her and sent her immediately to a room. The young lady having gone upstairs, the hostess charged her guests to keep the secret from the new arrival, each one striving to carry out the joke.

An hour later, when the guests were dressing for dinner, Miss Abercrombie went downstairs to the hall or room used for lounging, where she found the hostess, whose manner was so friendly that she at once won her guest's confidence.

"I have come away from the city," said Miss Abercrombie, "to escape Christmas—not that I would not gladly welcome the holidays, but during the past few years I have lost all who might make them enjoyable for me. I felt this year that I could not remain at home, and, hearing of your family inn that it was comfortable and homelike, I concluded to pass the holidays here."

"I can understand your feelings perfectly," replied the hostess, "and we will endeavor to alleviate your loneliness so far as possible. My guests are all en rapport and will be happy to receive you into the circle."

"I have heard of a lady of your name in the city who is endeavoring to solve the servant problem."

Mrs. Sinclair pricked her ears. An idea came and developed into a purpose.

"That Mrs. Sinclair is a connection of mine and I am a convert to her theory. I have not dared, however, to put it in practice all at once, but am experimenting by treating certain of my—assistants, I call them—as my equals. My clerk, of course, is superior to a servant, and in his case I have no trouble. I have one maid who, being more refined than the others, is treated as one of us. My butler is treated likewise. Then, too, several of my lady guests, having been captivated by the new idea, are putting their maids on the same footing with themselves."

"That's very nice," replied Miss Abercrombie. "I have always pitied a poor girl in a family keeping but one maid—the lonely life she is forced to lead. I assure you that while a guest in your house I will do all in my power to carry out your benevolent plan."

Mrs. Sinclair excused herself and hastened upstairs to coach her guests before they should come down to dinner that their dupe had been prepared to consider some of them servants. Bob Elliot, an inveterate joker, was appointed to play butler, the regular butler lending Bob a livery. Miss Sterling, a success in private theatricals, was uniformed as chief maid for the inn, and several other girls were to play ladies' maids. All preliminaries having been attended to, the guests one by one went down to dinner.

At one end of the table sat Mrs. Sinclair, at the other Bob Elliot in butler's livery. Next to Elliot Miss Abercrombie was given a seat. There were one other man in livery and three girls in the black dresses and white caps and aprons of maids, the ladies' maids sitting next their mistresses and ministering to their table wants.

Bob Elliot was a very attractive young man. Moreover, he had a sympathetic way with him, and after pretending for awhile to have some doubts as to Miss Abercrombie's treatment of a butler as an equal and finding her complaisant he became a charming dinner companion. He and Miss Abercrombie were soon noticed by the rest of the company to be oblivious to every one except themselves.

Mr. Elliot, a college postgraduate, had been considered not only a good fellow at the university, but very bright. He now occupied an assistant professorship at his alma mater. When the attraction between him and Miss Abercrombie became noticeable the other guests looked at one another meaningly.

"What if there should be a match?" whispered one.

"If his mother were here she would take him away," said another. "She thinks that a poor professor should marry some money. This girl, judging from her clothes, is as poor as he."

Put a number of young persons of opposite sex under the same roof with nothing to do but make merry and flirt, and those who are naturally assimilative will very soon assimilate. Professor Elliot, alias Robert the butler, soon became absorbed in Miss Abercrombie, and vice versa.

The second day after her arrival Miss Abercrombie went to the hostess, confessed that she was a seamstress and, since the Sinclair inn was altogether too expensive for her, said she must leave at once, whereupon Mrs. Sinclair told her she might pay what she could afford. This somewhat dampened the enthusiasm of the house party, for a seamstress was persona non grata to most of the men and all the women. From this time on all except Elliot gave their attention largely to other matters. He, despite the fact that Miss Abercrombie had turned out a seamstress, seemed unable to withdraw his attentions from her.

The guests were invited for two weeks. After the first week they tired of keeping up the sham that had been devised and would have abandoned it but for the hostess, who would not consent. Despite her efforts to prevent, most of them turned a cold shoulder to Miss Abercrombie. Professor Elliot's position was complicated. He was playing a part humbler than Miss Abercrombie's position. How could he abandon it and become his real self? What he had entered upon as a joke, when revealed, would likely not be considered such by the girl, but offensive. Supposing he confessed his true character, he did not care to marry a seamstress, and she would consider that he had won her dishonorably.

A young person of either sex when once thoroughly in love is likely to throw prudence to the winds. Elliot forgot his mother's plans for him—the fact that as a college professor he should marry a woman of some means; that a seamstress would likely have a lot of relatives that would not at all accord with the families of his associate professors. One evening, sitting alone in the gloaming with Mildred Abercrombie, while "the fitful firelight danced upon the wall," he forgot himself so far as to make love to her, and that, of course, with an honorable man led to a confession of who and what he was and a proposition of marriage.

Miss Abercrombie did not reproach [illegible] her as an inferior when he was a superior. After a little thought she told him that she could not think of marrying one so far above her. He argued that she was refined and he would never be ashamed of her, but she gave no evidence that he had overcome her scruples.

When the party broke up it was regretted that Miss Abercrombie had turned out so low in the social scale, for otherwise the farce that had been played might have had a merry ending. As it was, few of the party took the trouble to bid her goodby. She gave Elliot the privilege of calling once at her humble home, giving him her address.

Soon after his return to his home he took a train for the city in which Miss Abercrombie lived and started for the address she had given him. The street was eminently respectable, and he thought there must be some mistake. When he reached the house he found it palatial. Thinking Miss Abercrombie had given him the address of a family for whom she was sewing, he paused, then went up to the door and rang the bell. A butler showed him into a drawing room and went away to announce the visitor.

Presently there was a footstep on the main staircase, and Miss Abercrombie entered the room. Her apparel was in accord with her present position, and he knew that she was a lady.

"Did you suppose," she asked, smiling, "that one who had been always used to a butler would mistake you for one?"

"What a fool I was to listen to the story that you were a seamstress! I should have known better."

"You played your part well."

"You played yours to perfection. You should be on the stage."

Then began a renewal of the courtship.

Elliot's mother was well pleased with his marriage, for his wife brought him a fortune. As for the guests at the Sinclair inn, they were surprised and ashamed, but young Mrs. Elliot and Mrs. Sinclair became fast friends.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Trichinosis.

The disease known as trichinosis, which may result from eating raw pork, is caused by certain round worms called trichinae. These are microscopic in size and infest the flesh of hogs.

Unlike many other infectious diseases, the severity of an attack of trichinosis depends upon the number of parasites swallowed. Large quantities of slightly infected pork must be eaten to produce appreciable effects. If severe illness follows the eating of a small amount of meat the pork must have been heavily infested.

To avoid trichinosis no form of pork in the raw state or in dried or smoked sausages and hams should be eaten. All pork used as food should be thoroughly cooked. If this is done the value or wholesomeness of the meat for food purposes is not impaired by the fact that the parasites were present.

Armed Plants.

Many plants protect themselves from their enemies by the use of spikes or prickles and venom, just as certain animals do. Of those using the first named device there are, as a naturalist pointed out, innumerable examples. The bramble, the gorse and the holly are familiar instances of shrubs and trees "armed to the teeth," so to speak. Many plants imitate the reptiles in arming themselves with venom.

Of these are the deadly nightshade, or belladonna, and the nux vomica. Less destructively inclined are those plants which are simply protected by their disagreeable taste. The common buttercup, which is one of these, is generally shunned by horses and cattle. A plant which is protected by a disagreeable smell is the figwort. Only that hardy and insensitive animal, the goat, will touch it.—London Answers.

Costly Economy.

"The secret of saving money is economy, don't you think?" I asked of the sad faced little man on crutches, adjacent to whose home I had just moved. We had been making our acquaintance through a common subject of interest.

The little man sighed. "Perhaps," he said rather sadly, "but one must always be careful in selecting those things on which it is best to economize."

I waited attentively, knowing that he had something on his mind which he would feel better for telling.

"My wife," he resumed, "wouldn't let me sprinkle ashes on the path and steps at our home for fear I would track some of it into the house and injure the carpets.

"I slipped on the top step, broke my leg, and it cost me $346 for doctor's bills, besides $425 thus far in loss of salary. This would have paid for new carpets in every room in the house and left enough for an extended vacation for my wife."

And I thought from his tone of voice that the last idea appealed to him rather strongly.—Judge.

Gasoline Once Despised.

It is interesting to note how a despised and perhaps, for the time, a harmful byproduct may develop into the chief product of an industry and a shortage seriously affect the general comfort and economy of our lives.

Just now gasoline is an everyday example. In the time of the early coal oil lamp many dangers lurked in the poorly refined oil, and every effort was made to increase the yield of high flash kerosene and remove for this reason gasoline from the oil. This gasoline was then little more than a waste product, to be disposed of when possible or thrown away and allowed to evaporate or even run into the rivers with the resulting danger of fire. Now all is changed, and the utmost effort of the chemist and engineer is called for to devise means of increasing the yield of this despised byproduct at the expense of the higher boiling fractions in the crude oil.—Metallurgical and Chemical Engineering.

WM. A. LOWRY

Tecumseh was called upon to mourn the death of her most esteemed citizens when William A. Lowry [illegible] his home Friday [illegible]. Although Mr. Lowry has been in failing health for some time, he was only confined to his bed three weeks from various troubles which finally developed into pneumonia causing his death three days later. All his sufferings he bore with remarkable cheerfulness and fortitude, trusting his Maker to know what was best.

Mr Lowry was born in Ballymena, Antrim county, Ireland, in 1858. He was the son of Alexander and Sarah Lowry and one of seven children, three of whom survive, one sister and brother living in Ireland and a brother John Lowry of Tecumseh.

In December, 1885, he was united in marriage to Mary Kennedy. To them were born three sons and three daughters, five of whom remain to mourn his loss. Will Lowry of Detroit, Mrs. Glenn Kemp of Tipton, Minnie, Kenneth and Luella at home.

Mr. Lowry came to Tecumseh in 1881 and here passed the remainder of his days. Although of a quiet and retiring disposition his sterling qualities gained for him a host of true friends. Soon after coming to Tecumseh Mr. Lowry became a member of the Presbyterian church and all his life has been a true Christian and staunch believer of the Bible.

A host of sorrowing friends join in sympathy with the family who mourn the loss of a loving husband and kind father.

"God calls our loved ones, but we lose not wholly
What He hath given
They live on earth, in thought and deed, as truly
As in His Heaven."
